CONDUCT MEDALS AWARDED TO 31

Bronze Loops Are Also Earned

Not only are the soldiers at Redstone Arsenal rated among the most intelligent in the Army, they also rate high on the conduct roster.

Thirty-one enlisted men received Good Conduct Medals, or clasps with bronze loops for the ones they had already earned, during the month of January.

Good Conduct Medals are awarded by direction of the President of the United States to soldiers who prove themselves worthy in their conduct and reflect credit on themselves and the armed forces.

Four of these men received clasps with four bronze loops to their Good Conduct Medals. They are M/Sgt. Robert T. Gibbs, M/Sgt. George L. Lindsley, M/Sgt. Vernon Miller and Sfc. Salvatore J. Cherry.

Six received the clasp with three bronze loops. They included Sfc. Salvatore J. Cherry, M/Sgt. Allen C. Helson, M/Sgt. Vernon Miller, M/Sgt. James E. Stacks, Sfc. James T. Brandon and Sfc. James M. Walden.

Men receiving clasps with two bronze loops included M/Sgt. Harold J. Moore, Sfc. Oliver Cotton, Sfc. Roger S. Culp, Sgt. Homer W. Parker, Jr., Cpl. Anthony J. Barnaba, and Cpl. Hubert A. Williams. Sfc. Salvatore J. Cherry also received a clasp with two bronze loops as well as a clasp with three bronze loops.

Work Simplification Improvement Cited

Representative of the improvements carried out by the supervisors taking part in the Work Simplification Program during the month of January was a change in the method of filling burster tubes on Ammunition Line No. 2.

This project started as an effort to improve the method of cleaning spillage from the sides of the tube after filling with tetryol. The cleaning method using acetone was costly and constituted a safety hazard.

In search for a better way to clean the burster tubes the way was found to prevent the spillage and, therefore, eliminate the necessity of cleaning.

The improved method now in operation uses a strip of one quarter inch rubber, one inch wide with holes punched in the sides of the various burster tubes. These holes are spaced to fit the ends of the tubes when the tubes are loaded in the filling racks. The tubes are filled through the holes in the rubber; therefore, any spillage is on the rubber and not on the tubes, thus cleaning the tubes is no longer necessary.

The benefits resulting from this change in addition to the elimination of the health and safety hazard would be in excess of $3,000 annually.

VISITING OFFICIALS—Redstone Arsenal programs and problems of personnel management were discussed last week by arsenal authorities and two visiting officials, Frank Orth (second from left) and Jefferson Keener (far right). Mr. Orth is deputy assistant secretary of the Army for manpower and reserve forces. Mr. Keener, who is vice president of the B. F. Goodrich Co., is a member of the Advisory Council for Civilian Personnel Administration in the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Manpower. Conferring with them are (left to right) Col. George D. Levings, Stuart Jones, General Toftoy and Louis Grabenstedter.

Rocket Society Sets Panel Discussion

"Liquid Versus Solid Propellants" will be the subject of the panel discussion slated at the meeting of the Alabama Chapter of the American Rocket Society on Thursday, Feb. 10, at 7:30 p.m. in Rocket Auditorium.

Dr. Martin Schilling will be moderator. Speaking for liquid propellants will be Dr. A. K. Thiel, Gerhard Heller and J. G. Tschinkel. Solid propellants will be discussed by Dr. H.W. Ritchey, Dr. H. M. Shuey and J. C. Cox.

A few of the topics to be examined by the panel are ballistics performance, safety, reliability and ease of production.

The program is classified confidential. Clearance cards similar to those used for weekly seminars must be obtained in advance from arsenal deputy security officers. The deputy security officers may obtain the clearance cards from Col. John O. Lawrence at Thiokol, Extension 114.

Accident Contest Is 'All Tied Up'

BY ED SUMMERS

As of Jan. 31, 1955 the contestants in both categories of the Accident Prevention Contest are "all tied up." Since no civilian disabling injuries occurred on the arsenal during January each agency has the same contest standing—a big O.

The indications are that special efforts have been put forth by everyone from the top right on down in the prevention of accidents in all work areas.

Any contest is primarily a promotional or publicity device; this one is no exception. In order for an accident prevention contest to be successful, however, a basic program must be formulated for the contestants to employ to improve their records.

A general rule to follow in formulating this basic program could be for each supervisor to analyze his operations for incorrect work practices and incorrect working conditions—search these out and replace them with the correct ones.

The safe way to think and act is not an added method; thorough instruction in the correct way to do any job is safety education. Safety Education aims to make the survival of a person possible.

We don't know yet who the winners in the big contest will be, but chances are they will be the agencies who do the best job of Safety Education.

$275 IN INCENTIVE AWARDS PRESENTED TO 19 EMPLOYEES

BY STEVE JANOVAK

The honors for adopted suggestions were distributed among GMDD, RDD, Ammunition Division, Consolidated Supply Division, Post Engineer Division, Industrial Accounting Office and the Medical Division. During the last two weeks, 19 awards totaling $275 were presented.

Cecil E. Teague, GMDD, received $20 for suggesting a positioning welding table which simplified welding procedures.

Walter Thomas, GMDD, improved safety and eliminated delays by suggesting a modification to a wood planer which eliminated jamming when long pieces of wood were being planed. He received $10 for his idea.

The fixture suggested by Leon Cryar, GMDD, permits precision angle cutting of tubing, etc., on DOALL saws. The fixture is particularly adaptable to quantity production, in that subsequent pieces of material can be cut to the same angle without adjusting the fixture. He received $20 for his suggestion.

Robert L. Young Jr., Technical Feasibility Studies, received $10 for suggesting a directory of units for Building A-120.

James D. Smith Jr., GMDD, came up with an idea which modified a flaring machine in his area. The modification included a gauging feature for various sizes of tubing and eliminated a bad safety hazard. Smith received $20 for his suggestion and the thanks of his associates for his contribution toward good safety practice.

Edgar O. Kinney, Fab Lab, received $10 for suggesting that fire extinguishers be installed on overhead electric cranes. Edgar has received several awards in the past.

Charles G. Given, Ammunition Division, contributed the idea of backup lights for explosive trucks. He was awarded $20 for this idea which decreased the safety hazard.

The following received awards of $10 for their suggestions:

Jessie Dorsey, Consolidated Supply Division, improved safety by suggesting a caution sign at Building 641.

Posey M. Quick, Post Engineer Division, suggested relocating a group of header valves in the steam plant to permit safer and easier maintenance.

Betty L. Sweetland, Industrial Accounting, eliminated a safety hazard by suggesting the removal of an electrical outlet in the center of the floor.

Anna Brown, Post Engineer Division, came up with an idea for a form that eliminates some of a Clerk-Typist's work and assures accuracy in maintaining personnel strength records.

Shelly D. Collier, Jr., OML, suggested thick, felt safety boots to protect the fellows who work around the sharp rudder edges of missiles.

William O. Turney, Ammunition Division, received credit for a suggestion that will be appreciated by all drivers using Patton Road. He suggested relocating the bus stop so that buses may pull off road to load passengers

$7,170 DONATED IN DIMES MARCH

Drive Chairman Thanks Employees

Dimes amounting to $7,170.65 were in the till for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis according to the count at Redstone Arsenal last Thursday when The Rocket went to press.

Lt. Col. Albert M. Ruemmele, March of Dimes chairman at the arsenal, congratulated all the people at Redstone Arsenal for being so extremely generous toward such a worthy cause.

In addition to the regular methods of collection on the arsenal, the Industrial Division staged a contest for a queen.

The two closest competitors in the division were Miss Pat Rozelle who collected $127.24 to become Miss Industrial Division and Miss Ophelia Campbell, a close runner-up with $124.49. The other three contestants were Miss Betty Newton, Miss Ann Jaggars and Miss Carolyn Arnold.

With the contributions from the current campaign, the National Foundation will be able to give more patient aid and conduct further experiments in their search for a polio control.

In the Spring, the evaluation of Salk vaccine and its influence on potential polio victims will be completed from data being collected by Foundation scientists. If this vaccine proves as valuable as the predictions, it will be purchased and used for all children in the first grade as well as being made available in communities where polio threatens to reach epidemic proportions.

The experiments will be completed before the next polio season strikes.

This vaccine has been used on children all over the nation on an experimental basis. All the children who participated in the experiment, but who did not receive the vaccine, will be inoculated if the vaccine proves as worthwhile as its discoverer predicts.

It is easier to manufacture than gamma globulin and cheaper.

Arsenal Is Visited By Four Officials

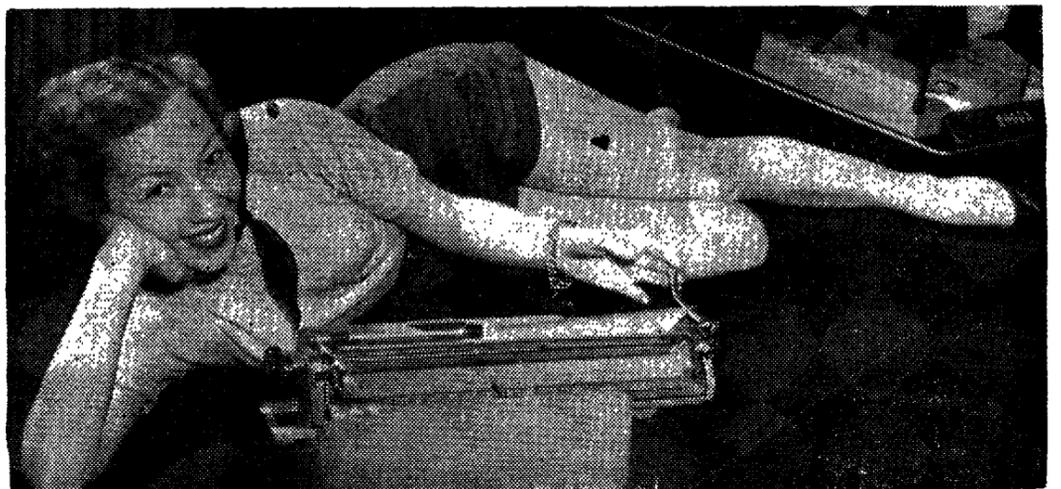

O. H. Dersheimer, Staff Director, Commercial and Industrial Activities Division, Office, Assistant Secretary of Defense, visited Redstone Arsenal last Friday.

He was accompanied by R. K. Chapman, his assistant; W. L. Stevens, Bureau of Ships, Department of Navy; and Lt. Coy. E. H. Leavey, Jr., Deputy for Logistics, Army.

The purpose of the visit was to obtain an orientation on the types of activities conducted at and under the cognizance of Redstone.

SCOUT OPEN HOUSE

The Redstone Boy Scout Troop will hold an open house tomorrow night at the Scout Hut (Building T-182) in the troop area.

SECRETARY SAVES FLOOR SPACE—A new answer to the burning problem of personnel management as it applies to spatial relationships was evolved recently by alert secretary Ellis Macomb of the Adjutant's Office. Ellie told interested reporters and management officials that the new position keeps a girl on the job, as well as eliminating the need for a chair and extra space. Though the plan has passed the development stage, it will be some time before it becomes standard operating procedure as all field tests have not been completed at this date. (Photo by Jake Gurley)

TROOP COMMAND

HEADQUARTERS DET.

By Bill West

At the time of this writing, the "tense" situation surrounding Formosa seems to have leveled off. While the Communists and Nationalists growl at each other across the water, a debate is opening which could end in a cease-fire. Perhaps we have passed the crucial week. Or, on the other hand, the horizon might be clouded again by the time this column is published.

Despite these overtones, however, things go on apace in Headquarters Detachment. During pay call last Monday, an additional $93 was collected for the March of Dimes. This brings the total to $190 or one dollar for each man in the detachment.

Two tragedies — one momentous and one relatively minor — have befallen us during the past week. To the dismay of all those of low estate, the k. p. roster has jumped from one to two men per day. There was a time, many years ago, when this unsavory duty came up as often as every thirteen days and the time between was liberally sprinkled with S-4, Special Services, barracks orderly and other recurrent details. Then followed a period of expanding rosters, and privates and privates first class began to get reacquainted with their regular jobs and sections. This year of plenty is, it seems, now over. The drought is descending again.

The lesser tragedy referred to above befell two of our members: Pfc's Peter Rado and Billie Middleton in front of Headquarters Building. Rado was backing out of a parking space as Middleton driving a three-quarter ton, rounded the corner. The result: one dented government hubcap and hours of paperwork.

On the sports scene, the Headquarters Detachment basketball team defeated the 803rd M. P. Detachment on Saturday night, Jan. 29 after losing to the Mechanical Branch, OGMS, the night before. Their season record is three wins and five losses with sixteen games left to play. The newly-formed rifle team is scheduled to have its first practice firing session this Thursday afternoon.

There are a few names and events which require mention under the heading: "Coming and Goings." The most significant arrival during the past week was a baby girl born into the family of Pvt. Donald Dorband. Cpl. John T. Allison and Pfc. Burwyn B. Bender are arrivals of another kind and are herein welcomed to the ranks of Headquarters Detachment.

Two fortunate Corpools, having completed their 730 days in service, are on their way home. They are Mr. Donald B. Morrison and Mr. Daniel McDevitt.

And the final name meriting mention here is that of Cpl. Jerome Griner who was chosen as Troop Command Soldier of the Month for January. Our congratulations.

Copies of a condensation of the Headquarters Detachment SOP were distributed to everyone at pay call Monday. This is a compact, nine page compendium of "do's", and "don'ts", and "musts" which begins with "Welcome to Headquarters Detachment . . ." and ends with a paragraph on reporting accidents (auto or bodily) to the First Sergeant. Contrary to conventional format, the miscellaneous section of this brochure (dealing with gambling, intoxicating beverages and such) has been placed at the beginning, Section I. This must be an indication of something.

In looking around the barracks this past week I noticed that M/Sgt. Young is back from Germany and is now happily married. M/Sgt. Young told me he will soon be on his way again, this time he is heading west to sunny California. Sgt. Young is going to attend the Army Language School out west where he hopes his new bride will be able to join him in the near future. Speaking of marriage two more of our men are going to take that fatal step real soon, my only comment to Cpl. Servis and Pvt. Timmins is look close before you make that final jump men and the best of luck in the future of "Wedded Bliss." Pvt. Markowitz is almost in the same boat, he is going home to announce his engagement to a girl back East. These local girls must be slipping to let all these men get away from them.

Welcome to Sfc. Archie Johnston who comes to us from Germany. Also welcome back to Sgt. Lee D. Bryant who comes back to us after a short trip to Red River Arsenal. Glad to have Y'all with us men.

Well the TDY Bug has taken more men from us again. Joe Owens has gone to Patrick Air Force base for an indefinite time, while Sgt. Richard McNamara has gone to the George Barr Baseball Umpire's School for forty-five days. It looks like our old pro M.Sgt. Dull is going to have some much needed assistance this year.

It's good bye to Sgt. Miracle. He is going to attend the basic electronics school at Fort Monmouth in preparation for the Guided Missile School. Good luck to you, Johnny. It is a great field with a great future even though it will be rough going for awhile.

Congratulations to our new NCO's this month, it is now Sgt. Langer and Corporals Blesch, Mooz, Oosterbann and Smith. Wear those stripes proudly men. You all worked hard for them. Also I want to congratulate all of the basketball referees. They were awarded a license by the Alabama High School Association. Speaking of basketball I'm

Willie Mae Dearing Weds Edwin Servis

Miss Willie Mae Dearing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dearing of West Point, Miss., and Cpl. Edwin R. Servis, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Servis of Albuquerque, N. M., were married last Saturday morning in a ceremony at the chapel of the Huntsville First Baptist Church.

Dr. Alvin Hopson, pastor of the church, read the vows.

Miss Marjorie Townsend, accompanied by Cpl. Joe Morrow, sang Grieg's "I Love Thee" and Schumann's "Widmung."

Sgt. Eugene Langner served as best man. Miss Mignonne Bray was the bride's attendant.

The bride, who has resided in Huntsville for the past four years, is technical librarian at the Redstone Arsenal Research Division of Rohm and Haas Co. Corporal Servis, a member of Detachment "B", 9330 TU, is assigned to Materials Test Lab, Guided Missile Development Division.

Mrs. Servis was educated at Mississippi State College where she received a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering and at the University of Washington, where she did graduate work in library science.

Corporal Servis received his bachelor of science degree in metallurgical engineering from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Following a short wedding trip to Gatlinburg, Tenn., the couple will reside in Huntsville at 604 Ward Avenue.

Mrs. Miles B. Chatfield entertained the staff officers of the Ordnance Missile Laboratories at luncheon at the Officers Open Mess. Plans were made for presentation of an Officers Wives Club program.

Orth is the deputy assistant secretary of the Army for manpower and reserve forces. Keener serves on the Advisory Council for Civilian Personnel Administration in the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Manpower. He is also vice president of the B. F. Goodrich Co.

Among the guests who attended were Gen. and Mrs. H. N. Toftoy, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Grabensteder, Col. George E. Levings, Lt. Col. James P. Hamill, Lt. Col. Daniel F. Dance Costumes Are Being Made at Home

Extensive at-home preparations are being made this week for the Officers Club Masquerade Dance on Friday, February 11, which is free of charge and features the music of Hilding Holmberg and his group. Major Jack Carstarphen, after gazing into his crystal ball, reports that he expects to see at least one Wall Street banker, one cotton picker, and one Mississippi gambler at the dance.

A special business meeting of the Officers Wives Club is being called by the president, Mrs. Clinton Waggoner, at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 15.

BY VERA SMITH

Commuting 116 miles a day to work is a small matter to Mrs. Lucile Ezell who finds her job in the Fab Lab of GMDD the end-product of a lot of thought and hard work.

After her children were educated and out on their own, this industrious woman got around to realizing an ambition she had had since she was a teen-ager. She went to business school.

Her present job as a Fab Lab secretary is the result of her belated business education.

Back at the time she was graduated from Lauderdale County High School, Mrs. Ezell had secretarial plans in mind. As luck would have it, however, she met and married J. B. Ezell, U. S. Army Engineer. Because her husband followed construction work and it was necessary to move quite often from town to town, and state to state, and because she soon became the mother of three children, she had to forego for a while her desire to become a secretary.

Instead, she became interested in school, church and civic work. While living in New Hope, in 1935 and '36, she organized the Thula Rice Chapter of Eastern Star and served as its first Worthy Matron. She taught Sunday school classes, helped on P. T. A. projects and charity drives, and in her spare time she wrote various articles for the local papers.

After raising and educating her children, Mrs. Ezell decided to get the education she had so long desired and entered Larimore Business College in Florence, Ala.

After securing her diploma in commercial education, she worked as a registrar for the college.

In 1953 she became a clerk-stenographer in the Fab Lab and in less than a year's time she reached her goal. She became a secretary the latter part of 1954.

When Mrs. Ezell began her duties in the Fab Lab, she was located in an office occupied by two units: Power Plant & Booster Assembly Unit with Mr. Max Siebigerth in charge, and Top Assembly Unit, which is supervised by Mr. W. V. Mounts. Being the only stenographer in the office, she maintained files, answered the telephones and performed all the other secretarial duties necessary for the two units.

The work and organization grew rapidly and soon it was necessary to build an addition to the building and hire more stenographers and typists. The two units were separated and Mrs. Ezell became secretary to Mr. Mounts in the Top Assembly Unit.

In her spare time, Mrs. Ezell pursues her hobby—writing. It has been rewarding. Besides winning honorable mention in the January issue of Folks magazine for solving the "Hidden Rule," she has had various news items published in the Florence Times.

Plans For Nursery Are Being Formed

A committee has been set up to investigate the possibility of expanding and improving the nursery facilities at Redstone Arsenal.

The nursery will be a jointly operated project by the Officers Wives Club and the NCO Wives Club.

On the Advisory Council are Mrs. Jack Carstarphen, president; Mrs. Allen C. Helson, vice president; Mrs. Jerry D. Bowman as secretary; and Mrs. W. H. Koehig, treasurer.

Presidents of the two clubs are honorary members of the Council. They are Mrs. Clinton A. Waggoner, Officers Wives president, and Mrs. Woodrow P. Edwards, NCO Wives Club president.

Sixteen Redstone Kindergarten students visited the Huntsville Library last week to learn about the children's section of the library. Miss Frances Jones, children's librarian, devoted her time to the children, explaining the use of library cards and telling stories. Mrs. T. H. Ebbert, kindergarten director, and Mrs. Raymond W. occasion being Al Lang's birthday and Ground Hog Day. Since Al is a rather unpretentious person and not one to admit he has advanced one more year, more time was devoted to thoughts of the future which are generally connected with Ground Hog Day. Although most people would not recognize a Ground Hog unless it was labeled in a zoo, everyone can tell if the Ground Hog sees its shadow; therefore, anxious eyes were shifting from desk to window and back again. From the most reliable reports, I have come to the conclusion that the Ground Hog did not see his shadow at Redstone Arsenal. By the way, did you know that a Ground Hog is the same thing as a Woodchuck?

Bobby Cippele and Gillio Donetti have been doing quite a bit of fishing lately. We hope to get a good "fish story" from them in the next few weeks. I'm sure they hope to be able to give us one, also.

Mary Eleanor Mazza spent the weekend at the University of Alabama with friends.

The employees of the Operations Analysis Branch are to be commended. Three weeks have gone by without having one name added to the LMOTP list.

Alyce Albus and husband Don enjoyed a wonderful weekend in Atlanta. Niles and Doris White went to Birmingham last week to see the "Seven Year Itch."

Joe Frank has returned to his duties as an EM after enjoying a wonderful vacation of skiing and lots of snow at home.

Wonder why Bill Brumback has been buying so much orange juice lately?

Nowadays when the name

"Charlie" is mentioned, Charlie Bishop, Charlie Hussey, Charlie Sterett and Charlie Quarles, say "Who Me?" and, never, just say "Bob" when speaking to Bob Betts, Bob Burleson, Bob Richards, Bob Rudolph, Bob Dale, Bob Edwards and Bob Kolarik. While mentioning the "Bobs" we must not forget the "Bills": Bill Brumback, Bill Beck, Bill Baker, Bill Strickland, Bill Howard and Bill McNutt. And, of course, there is always: Tom (Duerr), Dick (Parnell), and Harry (Williams).

They are not always called "John" but we do have — John Munger, John Tate, John Winslow and John Patterson. Names would not be complete unless there were a few "Joes" — Joe Cox, Joe Frank and Joe Greco.

When thinking of brothers, there are: Don and Glenn Hymen, and Hans and Benno Walter, and of the unrelated: John Tate and Sherman Tate, and Paul Williams and Harry Williams.

Robert Elrod moved to his new home in Colonial Hills last Saturday. He invited all his friends to come help him, but only one responded. Now he knows how many fair-weather friends he has.

Bill Kral has made the comment that Johnny Rist is a very poor canasta player. Don't know what John thinks about Bill's playing. Jimmy, Gene and Pat Kral all have colds. The Kral YMCA is incapacitated.

Joy and Doug Booth moved out of their apartment on Jan. 31 and everything is in boxes. They packed all the clothes except what they'll need for the next sixteen days. All their furnishings and linens are in one spot, anyway. There is one thing about the move now, though, they won't have to pack everything again when the sixteenth rolls around.

We hear Freida dreamed she went on TDY—to Detroit, no less. Joe Benoit came trailing into the file room with this joke—we expected tricks (Joe is an excellent magician,) but this joke was on the level. The joke went like this:

"Way out in the middle of Texas, in, or on the edge of no man's land, two trains ran together, head on, completely demolishing both trains. As reporters, investigators, doctors, etc., rushed to the scene of the accident, they roused a tall lanky Texan, named Tex, of course, from the underbrush who had been the only witness to the devastating accident. He was asked, "Tex, what did you think when you saw those two trains colliding head-on out in the middle of the desert?" Shifting to one leg and pushing his hat to the back of his head, he answered, "Well, I thought that was a heck of a way to run a railroad."

Jimmy Cothren is back on the job in full swing after being out a few days with the flu.

Guy Kay thinks that if he could afford enough apples for the Administration Office employees then maybe he would have one left for himself.

Sorry to see Doris Dixon is on the sick list. Hope she'll be back soon.

We're all very glad that Mr. Hoffman and Mr. Sapp both report that their mothers, who have been very ill, are better.

We hear that Red Ealy is trying to look like Red Brittain by growing a red mustache.

We see that Bill Birmingham is

FAB LAB SALUTE TO BOSSES

Ann Fite is one of the luckiest girls in Building 412. She's lucky to have her boss, Maximilian Siebigteroth. Maxie, as he is called by most of us, is one of the nicest people you'll find anywhere. I asked Maxie how old he was when he came to America and he said twenty-two, and to be honest, he doesn't look much older than that now. One day I was in Maxie's office and he and Leo Bauer were writing to each other in Greek. By inquiring, I found that Maxie had studied nine years of Greek and eleven years of Latin, and, believe me, he still remembers it. Maxie also speaks French, Spanish, Portuguese and of course German. He told me that when he came to the United States he could speak several languages, but not a word of English. Maxie has lived in Southern California and Michigan and has now been at Redstone two and one-half years. Maxie's formal title is Chief, Power Plant Booster Unit, and he keeps his office running efficiently at all times. Maxie has a very sweet wife too (a virtue in itself) and everyone who has met Una can't help but like her.

No new employe can possibly feel that they don't have at least one friend after their first day at 412, — that is, if they meet Maxie. For you unfortunates who don't know Maxie, he's rather short, inclined to be rather stout, and wears horn-rimmed glasses most of the time. He loves bow-ties and has some very pretty ones. He has dark hair and I suppose if you looked really close you might find one or two gray hairs, but I'd be willing to bet no more. Max is always smiling, which makes everyone around him happier. Fab Lab salutes you, Max Siebigteroth.

SAVINGS PROGRAM — William C. Reed (left) receives a $1,000 government savings bond, the result of his participation in the pay deduction savings program of the Redstone Division of Thiokol Corporation. Emil Tolonen, Chief of Thiokol's Accounting Department, is shown handing Mr. Reed his bond.

Under the saving plan employees indicate that so much a pay period will be deducted from their salaries for bonds. The bonds are purchased through the Finance Officer of Redstone.

Mr. Reed, whose salary is just over $4,000 a year, found the savings program the easiest way to put money aside. (Photo by Roland Cantrell) reason we didn't get much news for the column this time.

We do have a little to report, thanks to two reporters. First, from Stella Barksdale in Building 611. Stella says that Capt. Mosgrove is really a traveling man these days. To Aberdeen 17-20 Jan. and then to New York 26-27 Jan. He is hardly in his office long enough to get his trip report out before he takes another trip. Stella also tells us that Logistics office and Training Aids Branch now occupy Bldg. 611 in its entirety—Service Branch moved to Bldg. 668-2.

We had a very nice surprise 31 Jan. A former employe, Dick Boyer, and his wife, Mildred, paid us a visit. Dick is attending school at Tallahassee, Florida. I am sure some of you remember him. He was the originator of the famous singing group here on Redstone, the "Missilemen." Also, Dick was an instructor in SSM Section, Mech Br. He would like to have seen more old friends, but he was only here for a short while.

Now for some basketball news: Reported by Jim Haight.

First of all let me say that OGMS has some very fine teams within the school. I want to tell you about one of them this week, and if someone would please call and give us the information concerning the other teams we will print it next time.

Mechanical Branch "Cagers" are our Basketball Spotlight subjects this week. Of course, if you have attended any of the "Company Level Basketball League" games, you couldn't help but recognize these basketball geniuses. The minute they come out on the court from the dressing room, they are easy to recognize. Especially when some of them are wearing swim trunks, others T-shirts and Levi's. Which means they are about (from what I understand) the only team in the league without uniforms.

Uniforms or not, their record is very, very good. Two losses and six wins. Those on the team, and by the way they are third place in the league as of this writing, are Weiher, Reed, Halkovich, Seaye, Dotson, McIntosh, Eastman, Gruver, Tamburrino, Haight, and Borton.

Our closing suggestion for today is simply to urge all OGMS personnel to support your teams by attending these games. They are held at the Huntsville Armory and there is a printed schedule which appears in most of the offices in the school.

Armed Forces Aid Biggest ARC Item

Washington (AFPS) — Services to Armed Forces personnel was the largest single expense item of the American Red Cross during the past fiscal year, according to Chairman E. Roland Harriman.

The Red Cross spent $37,183,581 to assist servicemen and veterans. Loans and grants to service personnel overseas showed a 95 percent increase over the previous year.

Besides emergency help, the Red Cross provided help in easing personal and family problems, recreation for the ill and disabled, help in applying for government benefits, and communications between overseas servicemen and their families at home.

The Alabama Constitution prohibits the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, state auditor, secretary of state, state treasurer, superintendent of education or commissioner of agriculture and industries from succeeding himself.

ORDNANCE GUIDED MISSILE SCHOOL
BY MARJORIE WILLIAMS

Monstrosity! There is really nothing that can describe the little black four-legged monster with the white stripe down its back that invaded Mechanical Branch a few days before our big snow. On that particular day the janitor, Robert Kirkland, started the day in his usual way. He entered the storage room and after gathering his tools he saw something move under some papers in one of the dark corners. Thinking it was a rat, he stepped on the papers. He realized it was slightly larger than a rat. He soon found out that his visitor was a skunk.

That was about the only visitors Mechanical Branch had that day. I can't seem to figure out why, can you?

Post Team Slates Out-of-Town Games

The Post Basketball Team will take to the road for their next three games.

On February 9 and 10, they will play at Fort McClellan, and on February 12 at Birmingham Naval Air Station.

In two games played at the Armory last week, the "Rockets" lost two games to the high powered Fort McClellan team.

The "Rockets" season's record now stands at 1 game won and 12 losses.

Leading the "Rockets" in scoring is player-coach Frank Calsbeek with 159 points in 9 games. Calsbeek is still looking for an improvement in his team. He is hopeful of the team adding a few more games in the win column before the Third Army Basketball Tournament in March. The spirit of the team is still high and Calsbeek was very impressed by the 22 point showing of Les Shater in the game with Fort McClellan last week.

HEART HONEY

FOR TWO REASONS—With Valentine Day coming up, the annual fund campaign of the American Heart Association is again under way. Both the traditional day and the worthy cause are symbolized by the heart through which Jean Hammons is smiling.

Jean, who could certainly cause heart trouble on her own, is a former Redstone Arsenal employe now working in New York City. In addition to her civil service job on Governor's Island, Jean takes voice lessons at Columbia University, and attends Spanish and dramatics classes at a New York high school. Heart Fund Starts Campaign For Funds Hearts and valentines are featured this month.

The valentine is an old, old custom.

Supporting the research foundations for the Heart Fund is relatively new.

At Redstone Arsenal, James C. Lynch, the Intelligence chief, has been appointed chairman.

The Heart Fund is developing new drugs and surgical techniques to aid ailing hearts and they are now developing new methods of diagnosing and preventing heart disease.

As a part of their campaign to raise funds, the Heart Fund has printed a small pamphlet of "Fears, Fables and Facts About Heart Disease."

For instance, one fear is that most heart attacks are fatal. However, the majority of individuals stricken with a heart attack manage to recover and lead normal useful lives. Sometimes, if they have been extremely active, some of the activity is curtailed.

But, people who suffer heart attacks needn't sit in a chair and twiddle their thumbs for years and years.

Also, new surgical techniques developed in recent years allow surgeons to treat heart diseases that a few years ago were considered fatal.

To keep up these giant strides, ties as the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts who have been helped in organizing chapters on the post.

Capt. Joseph F. Hosemann, Jr., acted as installing officer. The ceremony was preceded by a social hour and a dinner. All Master Masons and their wives were invited to attend.

Alabama's governor is barred by the Constitution from election or appointment to any office under the state, or to the Senate of the United States, during his term and within one after the expiration of the term.

West Point Film's Premiere Is Slated

New York (AFPS)—"The Long Gray Line", Columbia's Technicolor CinemaScope saga dramatizing a half-century at West Point, will open at the Capitol Theatre in Washington, D. C., on Feb. 10 with 600 cadets expected to attend the premiere.

The film is based on the life of M/Sgt. Marty Maher, a retired soldier who served as athletic instructor and unofficial adviser and confidant to thousands of cadets.

Many of the incidents treasured in Maher's memoirs feature such students as Dwight Eisenhower, Omar Bradley, Joseph McNarney, George Stratmeyer and James Van Fleet, all of whom gave permission to have themselves portrayed in the movie.

Tyrone Power and Maureen O'Hara share stellar roles in the production.

Ernie Gord, Fab Lab, came up with an improvement, concerning special alignment rods for welding missile components.

Elizabeth H. Jackson, Industrial Division, displayed her "security mindedness" when she came up with an idea which resulted in a sign being posted during one's absence from their desk. The sign eliminates leaving classified material on a desk during various absences.

Howard L. Hunter, an apprentice with Fab Lab, gave a good example of the kind of training he is receiving. Howard saw the need for a milling cutter that would simplify several milling operations. He put his talents to work and came up with a cutter that effected sufficient savings to warrant a $15 award.

James M. Stapler, Ammunition Division, suggested a modification to the diffuser resulting in savings that warranted a $15 award.

Genevieve N. Barrett, Medical Division, decided that something should be done to acquaint each new military arrival and recipient of a privilege identification card with the medical and dental facilities available to them. As a result, she worked up a Medical Information Bulletin that is currently being distributed and received a $15 award.

Thomas W. Collier, T&E Branch of RDD, suggested an improvement in the angular reading head of the teiereader. The idea resulted in savings that resulted in a $40 award.

Some Get Break In Tax Law Revisions

When Congress changed the Federal income tax laws in 1954, it not only added a month to the final date for filing, it also added several terms to the income tax jargon. Included in this is a paragraph which helps taxpayers who have to pay someone to take care of their children while they are working.

A new classification has been added to the income tax code. This is termed "surviving spouse" as applied to a widow or widower who maintains a home for at least one child who is termed a dependent.

The status is available for two taxable years following the death of the mate. For income tax purposes the survivor can file a joint tax return for both persons, providing such a return would have been allowed during the year in which the death occurred.

Under the tax code any person who qualifies as the "head of a household" can file an income tax return under a special rate schedule set up for such persons.

The head of a household is described as any unmarried (or legally separated) person who does not claim the title of surviving spouse but who maintains as his home a residence for which he furnishes more than one-half the cost of maintenance and has a member of the household any person who qualifies as a dependent such as an unmarried child, grandchild, stepchild or parent.

The deadline for filing the 1954 income tax return is April 15—but there is an exception which applies particularly well to service people.

This provides that U.S. citizens who are residing or traveling outside the continental limits of the U.S., District of Columbia, Alaska, or Hawaii on Apr. 15 are given an extension to June 15 if applied for. But there is one catch—an interest rate of six percent per year on the unpaid tax must be paid from the original due date, which would be Apr. 15. The application for extension must be made to the director of the district in which the return is filed.

Also, according to the code, servicemen who return from a combat zone are not required to file an income tax return immediately, but are obligated to do so within 180 days after returning to the United States or any other area covered by the income tax laws.

When you sit down to figure out your income tax, don't forget that Congress has allowed a new deduction, limited to $600, to working women or widowers, including men who are legally separated or divorced. This is for the expense of caring for certain dependents while the taxpayer works.

Dependency is strictly limited to children or stepchildren under 12 and those who are physically or mentally incapable of taking care of themselves no matter what age. (AFPS)

Lines to Milord
Merely whistle—I shall come

And sit demurely 'neath your thumb.

Show distaste of my attire—I shall change to your desire. Frown upon the bangs I wear—I'll more smoothly coil my hair. Cry shame upon the painted nail Mine won't glisten, drab and pale. Criticize the way I smoke, Or drink, or talk, or tell a joke; I'll never question, but no buts—Yet deep inside a voice says, "Nuts!"

If this is how you'd have me be, How come you fell in love with ME
