Organization Set For One-Time Drive

PURPOSE TO INSURE 100 PER CENT SOLICITATION IN RSA, ABMA, OGMS

An elaborate organization has been developed for conducting the post's One-Time Drive. Its purpose is to assure 100 per cent solicitation in Redstone Arsenal, the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, and the Ordnance Guided Missile School.

"If we properly inform the individual of the services performed by the organizations we are helping to support, and then offer everyone the opportunity to participate willingly, our goal will

STRESS SCIENCE, MATH, MEDARIS URGES SCHOOLS

Greater emphasis upon science and mathematics in public schools was urged by Maj. Gen. J. B. Medaris, commanding general of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, in a talk delivered before the Pilot Club of Huntsville last week at the Russel Erskine Hotel.

Gen. Medaris urged greater community interest in education and said representative community organizations might take the leadership. He added that the problem is nationwide.

He pointed out that rapid progress in scientific and technological fields has opened unlimited career opportunities for adequately trained engineers and scientists. This requires more attention to elementary and secondary preparation in fundamental courses such as higher mathematics, physics, chemistry, and biology, he declared.

Discussing the Huntsville school situation, Gen. Medaris noted that 1953 enrollment of 7,499 has jumped to 10,193 today largely because of expanded guided missile activity. School officials anticipate an enrollment of 12,000 by the end of 1958. The speaker cited federal grants to Huntsville to assist in providing more school rooms. One recently approved project will mean $138,700 in Federal aid towards the cost of a 12-room addition to Huntsville High School. Two more applications are pending in the U. S. Office of Education.

Huntsville and Madison County schools have also received annual payments from the federal government for operational costs. The city's share was $58,550 and the county received $65,117 during the year ended Sept. 30.

The general urged salary increases for teachers in order to attract and retain instructors who can interest youth in scientific and technical courses. Better facilities and equipment and more parental support were also suggested.

"Parents must realize," General Medaris noted, "that the industrial growth of the South inevitably places their children in direct competition with others of the same level moving in from all parts of the nation. They must, therefore, have the best education communities can afford."

be taken care of automatically," says Kermit W. Day, chairman of the drive's executive committee.

More than 100 vice-chairmen and captains have been chosen by drive chairmen Michael Deegan, Otto Kohler, Maj. William N. Lingenfelter, and Walter Wiesman. Each of these volunteers has from one to 20 solicitors working under him, making a total of about 500 people in the campaign.

Co-chairman Maj. William N. Lingenfelter has announced the following vice-chairmen and captains in his division of Redstone Arsenal:

Civilian Personnel, Stewart Brockman; Public Information, Mrs. Rhoda Stambaugh; Inspector General, Mrs. Eddie Stowe; Comptroller, Claude Stockton; See ORGANIZATION on Page 10

SEVERAL OFFICES JOIN ONE-TIME DRIVE 100 Pct.

Join the 100 per cent club! Solicitors in several offices have already completed their every-member canvass in the One-Time Drive, and have reported 100 per cent participation. Everyone who was offered the opportunity to contribute did so.

Team captains reported that gifts were unusually large, with many individuals taking advantage of the pledge system.

"I've never seen such unusual response," said Orin Roundy, of the Financial Management Office, Army Ballistic Missile Agency. That office, headed by Lt. Col. Wm. J. Durrenberger, was the first unit to report 100 per cent participation.

Other 100 per cent club members are:

Army Education Center, Fay Waldrop, team captain. Public Information Office, RSA, Mrs. Rhoda Stambaugh, captain.

Fine Record Behind, Rohm & Haas Aims High in Fund Drive

With an admirable record of contributions to campaigns last year to their credit, employees of Rohm & Haas Chemical Company are shooting still higher this year in the One-Time Drive.

A total of 91.5 per cent of Rohm and Haas employees participated last year, and contributors gifts averaged $13.30.

"We hope to break our record with our gifts this year," Mrs. Sarah Hymer, drive chairman, said.

Allen R. Deschere, general manager for Rohm and Haas, announced that the company's contribution would be doubled this year, amounting to $500.

Thiokol Plans Full Plant Coverage in One-Time Fund Drive

"Thiokol welcomes the introduction of the One-Time Drive" declares Dr. William M. Mebane, general manager of Thiokol Chemical Corporation. "We are happy to concentrate our efforts in one all-out effort instead of having 10 or 12 overlapping campaigns."

"Full coverage in our plants is planned," says John O. Lawrence, Thiokol drive chairman. "We want to give everyone who is willing the opportunity to take an active part in helping the various agencies represented."

"Thiokol employees are eager to do their part to reach the Arsenal goal of $70,000," he said.

POST SERVICE FOR THANKSGIVING

A General Protestant Thanksgiving Service will be held at the Post Chapel on Thanksgiving Day, 22 November at 1000 hours.

The Chaplain will use as the subject for this Thanksgiving Service, "Unearned Additions."

A Thanksgiving Service is a family service. Let us bring children to the service and worship as a family. Everyone is invited to be present," the chaplain, Maj. James H. Goewey, said last week.

'MISSILE MAID' ENDS 2-WEEK COURSE AT OGMS

Miss Geneva Payne, one of the nation's few "Missile Maids", has completed a two-week course here at the Ordnance Guided Missile School.

Miss Payne, the only female guided missile supply specialist in the Office Chief of Ordnance, Washington, D. C., was the first woman to receive training here in the newly formed Ordnance Guided Missile Management Orientation Course. (See MISSILE MAID on Page 2)

ABMA Has 3-Phase Plan to Insure Steady In-Flow of Top Personnel

A three-phase program designed to provide a steady flow of technically and mechanically qualified personnel for guided missile development is being carried on at the Army Ballistic Missile Agency.

It includes graduate study for scientific and technical employees, apprentice training in mechanical skills, and a novel cooperative study plan for college and university students.

"Wonderful opportunity," "very good plan," are some of the comments heard from participants.

Training Director John L. Blackburn of the Civilian Personnel Office reports great interest in the ABMA programs. Although the Agency was established only nine months ago, 64 college students have already enrolled in the co-op plan. They come from homes spread across half the country, from New York to Florida, and West to the Mississippi. Blackburn emphasized that there are no territorial restrictions - any qualified student may apply.

The participating institutions include Georgia Tech, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, University of Alabama, and the University of Tennessee. Soon after Jan. 1 next, it is expected that Mississippi State College, the University of Kentucky, the University of Florida and the University of Cincinnati will be added.

One of the first to enroll in the co-op plan following ABMA's establishment is Martha Evans, a sophomore in the University of Alabama and a mathematics major. She joined ABMA in Febru-

CONTRACTS LET FOR PROJECTS

Building in Progress Totals $19 Million

District Engineers in recent days have awarded nearly $6,000,000 in new construction contracts at this installation, bringing the total cost of building projects now in progress to $19,300,000.

Funds for additional facilities costing "several millions" have already been allotted and contracts will be let as soon as blueprints are completed, Col. A. H. Lahlum, resident engineer in charge of all construction, said.

This building activity is part of a general expansion program at this, the Army's center for rockets and guided missiles.

The greatest share of the new construction, which includes laboratory and testing facilities, shops and military housing, is for the Army Ballistic Missile Agency.

ABMA projects under way now amount to some $13,900,000.

The remainder of the current building program, $6,400,000, is for Redstone Arsenal.

The Ordnance Guided Missile School has no construction in progress at this time, but buildings, shops and classrooms costing more than $5,000,000 are on the drawing board.

A $4,280,000 contract for an ABMA structures and mechanics laboratory was let ten days ago to the J. A. Jones Construction Co. of Atlanta, Ga. This project is actually a four-in-one complex, consisting of a structures and mechanics unit, office building, engineering, metallurgy and methods development unit, and a shop building. It will be located west of the old Baker motor pool on Dodd Road.

Work will begin "very shortly," Col. Lahlum said. The office See $6 MILLION on Page 2)

ROCKET SOCIETY TO INSTALL NEW OFFICERS AT MEETING DEC. 12

Newly elected officers of the Rocket Society (Alabama Section) will be installed Dec. 12th at the annual dinner meeting.

The forthcoming vacancies will be filled by the following members: president, Cliff E. Fitton, Jr.; vice-president, David H. Newby; board of directors, William A. Davis, Jr., Gerhard Heller, and Conrad D. Swanson.

Dr. Fred Singer of MOUSE (Minimum Orbital Unmanned Satellite of the Earth) fame will speak to the group which will include members, their wives and friends.

Dr. Singer, who was among the first to engage in making studies of satellite life times, holds a full professor of physics at the University of Maryland. The topic he has chosen to present is a most interesting and timely subject entitled "Education in the Space Age" and will be highlighted by 35mm film.

The main hall of the Elk's Club has been reserved for the evening and a social hour from 6 to 6:45 will precede the dinner.

Dinners will be priced at $2.25 and interested parties are urged to obtain their tickets as soon as possible as a capacity crowd is anticipated. Tickets and information may be obtained from Robert Betts, Ex. 3884, Materials Lab, RDL. A list of additional distributors will appear in the Daily Bulletin.

Miss Evans is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Evans of 2510 Ninth St., Tuscaloosa. She was a member of the National Honor Society, Beta Club and Mixed Chorus in Tuscaloosa High School. Martha plans to pursue her career in the Missile Agency, or may elect to enter teaching.

"I think it's a very good plan," she observed. "It has helped me to finance my higher education, and given me valuable experience which assists me to get more benefit out of my college courses." She has completed analytical geometry and is now preparing to take calculus.

Co-op students take a U. S. Civil Service Commission examination which measures their general aptitude and their knowledge of the field of their specialty such as physics, chemistry and engineering. They are appointed to Civil Service registers as student trainees.

building is to be completed by May 15, 1958, and the remaining three units by Aug. 15, 1958. Another ABMA contract was awarded last week for a new computations laboratory, which is to be located across the street from ABMA headquarters. Two stories with 60,000 square feet of floor space, this structure is to be erected by the Blount Brothers Co. of Montgomery, Ala., on a $1,463,000 contract. Construction will start within a few days, it was stated.

Aside from these two new jobs, projects amounting to more than $13,500,000 are in various stages of completion at ABMA and Redstone. The figure includes 320 housing units valued at about $5,000,000.

7. Additions to four buildings (715, 731, 778 and 779), $460,000, Pearce and Gresham.

In addition to this work, Col. Lahlum said money has been approved and plans are being prepared for several other ABMA projects, among them a power plant test stand, a technical photo and video instrumentation lab and a surface treatment facility.

Also, an annex is being planned for Redstone's rocket and missile systems control buildings, 499.

A handful of women from other divisions here on the arsenal have taken a similar course which has been discontinued, but Miss Payne is the first woman from off post to take any course at the school. She summed up the training here as "a very good course."

Miss Payne, a devotee of painting, sewing, and square dancing, received her first on-site exposure to electronics and missile field for approximately four years in the Pentagon.

"My only previous look at guided missile equipment has been from books and movies," said Miss Payne, who is the chief of the Surface-to-Surface Missile Unit which supplies major SSM items throughout the Pentagon since 1947, getting into the missile field in its infancy. "It's the most interesting and exciting job I've ever had," said Miss Payne, a "Missile Maid" showing the way for women in the challenging field of guided missiles.

EDWARD JORDAN

Management Group Hears Talk by Jordan

Edward Jordan, deputy controller of Ordnance Weapons Command, told members of the local chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management to "let their hair down" and face some of the crucial problems management faces daily in the business world during their meeting at the Elk's Club last Wednesday.

He defined a manager's authority as one-third the directive power invested in his position, one-third the ability of the manager to secure voluntary support from his subordinates and give them intimate personal assistance, and one-third the ability of the manager to maintain amiable relationships with his personnel.

Mr. Jordan told how formal business organization and human relations are tied together. The meeting was closed with discussion of management problems with all members of the local chapter of SAM participating.

The next regular SAM meeting will be held on Dec. 12 at the Russel Erskine Hotel.

PANEL OF EXPERTS — Mrs. J. B. Medaris, Mrs. H. N. Toftoy, Mrs. J. A. Barclay, and Mrs. J. G. Shinkle were the panel members for the "eti-quiz" conducted at the Officers Wives Club luncheon meeting for November.

Officers' Wives Hold 'Eti-Quiz' at Luncheon

Main feature of the Redstone Officers' Wives November luncheon was an "Eti-Quiz" defining the properties of conduct, customs and traditions of Army life.

Panel members were Mrs. J. B. Medaris, wife of the commanding general of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency; Mrs. H. N. Toftoy, wife of the commanding general of Redstone Arsenal; Mrs. J. A. Barclay, wife of the deputy commander, ABMA; and Mrs. J. G. Shinkle, wife of the deputy commander of Redstone Arsenal. Mrs. H. S. Newhall, wife of the commandant of the Ordnance Guided Missile School, acted as moderator.

Questions asked by the club members covered a wide range of interests. Among the questions discussed were the responsibilities and duties of the Army wife in regard to both the social and civic life on an Army post, common sense, loyalty, and adjustment to geographic location were highly stressed. Much emphasis was placed on sincerity, graciousness, and hospitality, while rank consciousness and careless gossip were condemned.

Numerous questions were asked regarding the necessary procedures concerning official calls, entertaining, visiting cards, Army protocol, etc. These questions were discussed in detail by the panel.

Much interest was shown to the proper attire for various functions. A strong point made in this respect was that it was good policy to follow the customs pre-valuing at the local post and community. It was further stated that if one does not know what is proper, ask someone who does know.

The Eti-Quiz covered many points of interest for those members new to Army life, and served as a refresher course to the more experienced members.

Wives of the Ordnance Guided Missile School were in charge of the program and decorations.

A gay harvest atmosphere was the decorative motif. On the tables were pumpkin vases of yellow, bronze chrysanthemums centered with brown and orange candles. Clever pine cone turkeys were scattered along the tables. At one end of the buffet table was a large brass cornucopia overflowing with a bounty of fresh and gilded fruits and nuts. Orange candles in brass holders added a dramatic note. Posters depicting scarecrows in a variety of amusing costumes framed the walls. Facing the entrance, atop a low table, was a large brass scale balanced with harvest fruits.

Panel members and the moderator were presented with corsages of pale cold chrysanthemums.

Approximately 200 members attended the luncheon.

The possibility of a membership Drive Dance was discussed and plans for a Christmas party were made. Mrs. Naylor reported on the Old Folks Home, the charity adopted for the month.

Any enlisted man's wife, whose husband is a member of the NCO Club is eligible for membership in the Auxiliary. Meetings are held on the 1st and 3rd Tuesday of each month at the NCO Club. The group welcomes any eligible members to come and be with them.

DIX 'SIX-MONTH TRAINEES' ARE 'MOST HAPPY FELLAS'

Ft. Dix, N. J. (AFPS)—The Army scores with a capital "A" among its teen-age troopers.

A survey answered by 213 of the 300 young men in this post's first Reserve Forces Act unit shouted praise for everything from Army chow to their NCOs and officers.

Ten of the young men, most of whom are in the 17 to 18½ year age bracket, penciled in "I like everything" across the questionnaire. All but three lauded the "roominess," "cleanliness" and "modern conveniences" of their quarters.

Judging from their answers, the young soldiers found a sharp distinction between the Army in the flesh and what they had heard about it as civilians.

For instance, many said civilian rumors had led them to expect a steady diet of chipped beef and beans. Instead, according to 89 per cent, Army food was "well prepared," "plentiful" and "varied."

Army life seemed to agree with everyone. Those who needed to gain weight did so, those who could afford to scaled down.

Asked what they liked best, 161 pointed to their happy days on the rifle, carbine, machine gun and rocket launcher ranges.

There was a scattering of votes for squad tactics, calisthenics classes and chemical bacteriological and radiological warfare training.

Adjectives applied to their hand-picked NCOs and officers ranged from "good" to "wonderfully efficient." These leaders were praised by 95 per cent.

1,400 SEE THIOKOL 'FOLLIES'

Employees of Thiokol Chemical Corporation's Redstone Division recently presented the 1956 Thiokol Follies at the Huntsville High School Auditorium.

The Follies was judged a terrific success, and approximately 1,400 people, Redstone Division employes and families, attended.

Bill Schwarz of the Chemical Research Department directed the production, and Charlie Lyle and his Orchestra, the only professional entertainment, presented music for the affair.

The Follies opened with three selections by the "Gals' Barbar-shop Quartet" consisting of Doris Brown, Imogene Edwards, Lois Myers, and Betty Jo Smith. Ronnie Glenn then regaled the audience with his comedy routine. Mrs. Sue Terry did the "Hubba Hubba Hula" followed by Neval Barnard and his Magic. Just prior to intermission, Herb McQueen gave a commercial on liquid polymer.

In the second portion of the Follies, the Thiokol Hillybilly Band was received with great enthusiasm. Charles Davidson sang two songs, and dance groups performed folk and tap dances.

There were several interruptions during the performance. Early in the performance, Len Brewer, chief of the Pilot Lines Department, came through the audience with a small potted rose calling for Sadie Glutenslaughter. Just before the intermission, he came through calling for some lady but the rose plant had grown to a height of about five inches. After several more interruptions, Mr. Brewer appeared just before the end of the show with a small size rose tree still calling for Sadie Glutenslaughter. Several other comical interruptions by Leo Brookshire and James E. Sharpe helped liven up the show. Master of ceremonies for the show was Tom Curran.

ENLISTED BOWLING NEWS

BY CULP

8 Nov. — The high rolling Zebras increased their game average to a 793 for 27 games by rolling out a new high series for the league with a 804, 860, 827, 2491. This was accomplished at the expense of the befuddled Split Kings, who rolled a 767, 794, 783, 2344 for a new season high for their team, and were only spotted a 1 pin handicap each game. Ridiculous as it may seem, the truth lay in the fact that the Zebras brought in a new man who averaged only 115 for the night, which made their team average much lower than usual, with the absence of Arni Ross and his 172 average. With Bollenbacher rolling high with a 151, 193, 200, 544, and Moore with a 192, 234, 136, 562, and Culp with the league high for the night with a 217, 182, 182, 581, the Zebras were not to be stopped. Even Kerska's 167, 177, 171, 515, and Abia's 164, 162, 178, 504 weren't enough. It makes one wonder what could have been the game score for the second game had Ross been rolling instead of Bachman who hit a 98. A 900 plus isn't hard to see.

The Strikers were another group not to be denied. In rolling their new high series for the season, they also rolled a new league high game with an 868, 776, 771, 2415 series. The Commodores were helpless, rolling below their norm, and didn't even nudge towards a win, with a 669, 602, 653, 1924 series plus a 65, 65, 67, 197 handicap. Hitting steady was Gundy to lead the Strikers with a 188, 183, 183, 554, along with pons with a 209, 169, 140, 518 and a combination of Miller, with 186, and 146, and Mosher with 191, who, together rolled a 523. Highest that any of the Commodores could muster was a 159, 131, 196, 486 by Tobias. Next high was Van Koevschool's Surface to Surface Missile Division as an instructor, while the other four are assigned to the Research and Curriculum Division.

ering with a 168, 150, 114, 432, and the rest of the team had less than 400, which was not much help. You ought to bring Long in on a few games, Joe.

The 3rd team of the league to take four for the night were the Alley Cats, who dumped the Jesters with their 786, 793, 735, 23-14 series. Hitting fairly steadily were Swisher, with a 173, 183, 159, 515, and Trowbridge with a 158, 178, 171, 507. The Jesters tried hard but couldn't make the grade, with a 699, 672, 657, 20-28. Steadiest for the Jesters, but not high, was Linkins with a 146, 148, 147, 441, while Morgan was high with 168, 159, 138, 465. The 25 pin handicap lowest the Jesters have had to date, helped not at all, for the closest they came was 53 pins in the third game.

Hitting for a 3 to 1 win over the Launchers, the Transients rolled a 710, 743, 756, 2209, and with a 20, 37, 37, 94 handicap reached a 730, 780, 793, 2303. The Launchers 764, 723, 773, 2260 wasn't enough to surmount the totals after the first game. Rolling high and steady for the Transients, Smith hit 184, 166, 183, 533, for his team's high for the night, while Mahalik, of the Launchers, rolled a 194, 142, 167, 503, and Hickey a 170, 164, 152, 486. Again the Launchers have fallen off their former high rolling stride and dropped behind the Zebras in team game average. With their 786 they are now second, for the first time this season. Also winning three out of the four were the league leading Signaleers, who rolled a 776, 756, 848, 2380 against the Bugouts. Riding high was Easterbrook with a 189, 137, (for shame) and 223 for a 549 series, with Zydlewski hitting a 190, 139, 147, 476, for the second high. The Bugouts were steady again with a 742, 770, 763, 2275, but other than the second game couldn't come through. Hitting his stride again after a poor series last week was Mukai with a 168, 191, 169, 528, with Mike having his first good night this season coming in second with a 168, 180, 147, 495. By losing the one game the Signaleers dropped behind the strikers in the first place percentage-wise, but not gamewise. Having rolled one series more than the Strikers, the Signaleers are tied, but trailing, with two more wins and two more losses. Make sense?

10 Nov. — In a make-up series, the Launchers pushed through to a 3 to 1 win over the Jesters to edge into fifth place. With a 761, 771, 800, 2332, they were not to be denied until their final game, where the 102 pin handicap proved their undoing. The Jesters rolled a 561, 561, 715, 1837, with a handicap of 102, 65, 102, 269. Rolling a fine series was Hickey for the Launchers with a 182, 170, 177, 529, and Mahalik with a 175, 172, 161, 508. The series for Mahalik has raised his average to a 26 pin increase in the past eleven games, which is almost phenomenal in this league. You should have waited until your 21 game average was reached, John. The less said about the Jester series the better, for Ash was high with a 158, 136, 148, 432. You can imagine the rest.

 ABMA, students become full-fledged Government employees at starting salaries of $2,960 for first-year students. Thereafter salaries range as follows: sophomore, $3,175; juniors, $3,415; seniors, $3,670; graduates, $4,480 per annum. Their time is alternated between college and the Agency so that they attend classes one semester and work the next semester, or term.

Upon graduation the student is immediately assigned to a laboratory position utilizing his speciality. In three months he becomes eligible for promotion to a grade paying $5,335.

There are three girls among the 64 trainees; five of the group are seniors. John Noel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Noel of Boaz, Ala., is one of the seniors. He will be graduated from Auburn in June 1957 with a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering.

"I consider it a wonderful opportunity," Noel said. "I find that gaining work experience while getting my education has helped me. And I can use the extra cash."

Another Auburn student is Kirby K. Key, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey F. Key of Sipsey, Ala. He is a graduate of Walker County High School where he played baseball and independent basketball. A mechanical engr. major, Key expects to receive his degree in August, 1957. He works in the project section of the Launching and Handling Laboratory at ABMA.

"Working while studying really helps out," Key commented. "I think it's a very good plan."

He is also receiving advanced ROTC training at Auburn and will be commissioned a Reserve Army officer upon graduation.

"We see a number of advantages to student and the Missile Agency in this program," Blackburn commented. "By giving the student direct work experience in the field he has selected for a career, it enables him to make a logical choice of vocation. Additionally, by placing him in an industrial first hand situation, he acquires first hand knowledge of working conditions in that field."

"Another valuable factor is the opportunity to apply classroom theory to practical work so that while he continues academic preparation, the trainee is in better position to evaluate its usefulness."

ABMA benefits, Blackburn pointed out, because professional employes may devote themselves to priority work while student trainees handle sub-professional matters. And the Agency will be assured of a steady influx of capable junior scientists and technicians.

The work phases of training are carefully planned suit the college study program of the following semester.

So far as the graduate study is concerned, for professionals already in ABMA's employ, Blackburn disclosed that the University of Alabama has appointed Dr. Dennis Nead as full-time representative in Huntsville. Competent ABMA personnel have been certified as instructors to teach graduate and undergraduate courses on the installation. The only requirement for Government subsidy of such training is that it must be directly related to the needs of the job. An Academic Advisory Council has been set up by Major General J. B. Medaris, who commands the Agency, to supervise this program.

Training is accomplished both on and off duty. Within the year three ABMA engineers were sent to Massachusetts Institute of Technology for specialized training. Blackburn's assistant, James Dowdy, heads up the graduate study endeavor.

ABMA's research and development activities also require men skilled with their hands. Consequently a broad apprentice training program is carried on for which Ernest C. Spivey is coordinator. Forty-three apprentices are now in training, some as repairers of electronics equipment, others as installers, machinists, electricians, sheet metal workers, aircraft sheet metal workers, and industrial instrument repairmen.

The course of training in each craft requires four years or 8,320 hours and a minimum of 320 classroom hours per year in related instruction. The balance of the time is spent on the job under supervision of journeymen craftsmen.

Starting at base pay of $1.48 hourly, the apprentices receive increases at 6-month intervals to a maximum in the final phase of $2.09. Enrollees take competitive examinations at the Agency which test their aptitude, mechanical ability, and general knowledge. The minimum age is 17. Most of those in training are from 20 to 28 years old. About 50 percent are ex-servicemen.

When they finish the training, they receive Certificates of Apprenticeship. All apprentice programs are approved by the Bureau of Apprentices, U.S. Dept. of Labor through the Army. Most ABMA trainees reside in Huntsville or the immediate vicinity, but this is not a requirement for enrollment. Seventeen men com-

Thomas Mar Named Chief Warrant Officer

Promotion of Master Sergeant Thomas A. Mar, Signal Corps, to Chief Warrant Officer, W-2, took place recently in the Office of the Commanding General, Army Ballistic Missile Agency.

Maj. Gen. J. B. Medaris pinned the bars on Mar's uniform after the oath was administered by Maj. O. E. Adamson, the Adjutant.

Warrant Officer Mar is on temporary duty at the Missile Agency from Fort Monmouth, N. J. When he completes his tour as an instructor in electronics devices in early December, he will report to the 41st AAA Battalion, Fort Totten, N. Y. In 1953 he was assigned to the Military Armistice Commission in Korea. Mar entered the Army Aug. 2, 1944. He is the son of Mrs. Homer S. Mar of 63A East St., New York City. His wife, Mrs. May H. Mar, is living in quarters at Fort Monmouth during his stay at the Agency.

PM SCHOOL GRADUATES — Robert Labbe, security administrator and operations officer for the Provost Marshal, presents diplomas from the Provost Marshal General's School at Ft. The course which lasted four weeks was the Physical Security Supervision course. A former member of the Provost Marshal staff here is now the director of the course. He is Capt. Wiley S. Honea.

SECRETARY WILSON SIGNS MEDICARE DIRECTIVE

Washington (AFPS) — Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson has signed a joint directive which will put into effect on Dec. 7 the benefits provided by the Dependents Medical Care Act. (Public Law 569).

Applying equally in all services, including the Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic survey and Public Health Service, the instructions regulate procedures for obtaining the medical and dental attention which dependents will be entitled to under law.

Earlier in approving the DOD directive, President Eisenhower said he believes the new program will remove one of the "greatest sources of worry" in service families and improve morale in the Armed Forces.

The primary means of identifying those eligible for medical treatment will be a "dependents authorization for medical care card," "which will be valid for 2 years.

Parents or parents-in-law, although they have established dependency, will not be eligible for civilian medical care.

Normally, one card will be issued to each family and will list dependents (wives, children or dependent spouses) entitled to treatment at both military and civilian facilities. Until cards are issued, present methods of identification will be used.

In this connection, the directive says:

1. Dependents eligible for civilian medical care who are not living with their sponsors shall have free choice between service or local hospitals.

2. Out patient treatment at government expense will not be authorized at civilian medical facilities.

3. The separate service secretaries may prescribe areas, where military facilities are considered adequate, requiring all dependents living with their sponsors to seek medical attention at Armed Forces installations.

4. Any restrictions on freedom of choice will be lifted in a bona fide emergency such as a serious accident or sudden critical illness.

Dependents of active, retired or deceased members of the Armed Forces will be entitled to "available" or emergency treatment such as diagnosis, care for contagious diseases, or acute medical and surgical conditions, immunizations, or maternity and infant care, at any dispensary or hospital of the Army, Navy, Air Force or Public Health Service.

In most cases however, they will not be hospitalized at these installations for chronic diseases, nervous or mental disorders, "elective" medical or surgical treatment or convalescent care.

Only emergency dental treatment may be obtained except in specified "remote" areas of the U. S. and outside the Z. I., where complete dental care is authorized.

Service families will continue to pay $1.75 a day in military hospitals, as in the past.

Where dependents are confined to civilian medical institutions in "semi-private" accommodations, servicemen will be charged $25, or $1.75 cents a day times the number of days hospitalized, whichever is greater, up to a maximum of 365 days.

When a wife or child needs hospitalization beyond one year, continued care in a civilian hospital may be authorized at government expense under the directive, or the patient may be moved to a military institution.

For outpatient treatment or services rendered at a local hospital in an accident or injury, the dependent patient will pay the first $15 of the total charges.

Wise Owl Chapter Formed at Thiokol To Encourage Safety

The newest chapter of the world-famous Wise Owl Club of America has been organized at Thiokol Chemical Corporation, Redstone Division, Dr. W. M. Mebane, General Manager, announced. Thiokol is the first local firm to join.

The membership of the Wise Owl Club is made up exclusively of working men and women who saved themselves from eye injury or loss of vision by wearing eye protective equipment at the time of an on-the-job accident.

The Wise Owl Club, sponsored by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, has already enrolled nearly 10,000 members. The Wise Owl incentive plan is used as an educational tool by industry in the hope of eliminating an estimated annual toll of 300,000 eye injuries, 90% of which can be prevented. The total membership of the club represents a compensation saving in excess of $37,000,000; savings in production, purchasing power, and family welfare are too huge to be calculated.

In forwarding the charter for the new Wise Owl Chapter at Thiokol, James E. O'Neil, Director of Industrial Service of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, said:

"We welcome Thiokol Chemical Corporation's Redstone Division, to the ever-increasing ranks of industrial firms now using the Wise Owl incentive plan in their fight against needless eye injuries. Our congratulations to everyone who has helped take this important step forward."

REACTION MOTORS, OLIN MATHIESON HAVE JOINT FIELD LIAISON OFFICES

Reaction Motors, Inc. and Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, have announced the establishment of joint field liaison offices for RMI and the Olin Mathieson Aviation Division in Dayton, Ohio, and Los Angeles, Calif. Both offices previously represented Reaction Motors.

The Dayton office, newly located at 349 West First Street, is under the direction of G. Richard Lott.

The Los Angeles office, located at 1373 Westwood Boulevard, is under the direction of John M. Rogers, West Coast Manager.

Joint representation for RMI and Olin Mathieson results from the growth of complementary interests of the two companies in the fields of rocket power, rocket propellants, chemistry, metallurgy and other technical and scientific areas related to the development and production of advanced power sources for the aviation industry and the military services. Along with Marquardt Aircraft Company of Van Nuys, Calif., the two companies are engaged in a joint research and development program, known as the OMAR program, in the field of supersonic propulsion.

It is the belief of Olin Mathieson and RMI that the operation of joint liaison offices in the Dayton and West Coast areas will provide for the most effective coordination between the companies and their mutual customers in these areas.

Requirement Change For Painters Listed By Civil Service

The U. S. Civil Service Examiners announced a change in the requirement for painters. The amendment is to announcement No. 5-35-29(56) and requires an applicant to have both hands and feet, but his color sense can be a shade off in some areas and he can still qualify for the job. The rest of the information is in the original announcement.

It was also announced that clerks at GS-3 and GS-4 ratings are needed in general, statistical, mail and file, editorial information and purchasing and procurement fields. This is also an amendment to announcement no. 5-35-20(56).

Riggers at WB-14 are needed on announcement No. 5-35-34(55). No written test is required but at least four years apprenticeship or experience is required.

SERVICE CLUB SCHEDULE BY KATE GRIFFIN

Take a card — any card and I will tell you what it is. Just be sure that all the other 51 cards are like the one you choose. Man! that Jerry the Mentalist was really quite good. I've been trying to figure out what people were holding in the palm of their hand but — I've received no connection from the other end. I've had one person holding an object since I saw the show last Thursday night but bless me. I do believe that he is one big blank 'cause I just can't receive his train of thought. Yes sir, he was really the mysterious mentalist. Here's hoping my boy doesn't get transferred before I can figure out what he's holding in that hand.

Well, to you and you and especially you who almost ran me down leaving for the long weekend, I hope you had a wonderful time. We kept things going but missed your shining faces around. Speaking of shining faces or just plain faces, we had some people here for the Masquerade Party who received so many nice compliments on their new look that they just refuse to look like themselves again. Come on fellows, we like you the way you were before.

I know someone who had her hair cut the other day (by the initials of M.P.) who would give anything to have one of those wigs. She told the operator to trim and the operator thought she said make a rim. Just get some "Make It Grow Faster," Holly (guaranteed to do nothing but take all the curl out so it will be a tap longer).

Going, going, gone! If you haven't reserved your seat on the Nashville bound bus leaving at 10 a.m. Saturday, 27 Nov. you had better get on the ball and do so cause they are going like hot cakes.

You know, I saw someone the other day that could pat his head and stomach at the same time. Whoever you are and wherever you are won't you please hurry on over to the Service Club and be in our variety show. Say, some of you men made such big hits at the masquerade party that we could use you too. Let's dress you up again and learn a dance routine. Wouldn't that be terrific. I can just picture that. Everybody on a different foot at the same time — Come on let's have about six or eight volunteers and you will steal the show. Frank will provide the music and the moral support. We could even fix you up incognito — Haven't you always had a desire to be a star in a big show? Now's your opportunity — Don't let it pass you by. Step right up and volunteer now — We need you!

Just to make you a little happier, we are going to open the Service Club for Coffee Call Thanksgiving Day so plan to get that extra sleep and then to the Club for coffee and relaxation before the big feed.

Why do they do it? Why do they hunch over the table? Why do they just sit and shake their head? Why won't they talk to anyone? Why do they whisper to each other? Why, I ask, WHY? WHO? The chess players. You can spot them for a mile. Just sitting, hunching, shaking heads, whispering, moving little objects not another group like them in the world.

We are really having some fine times on Wednesday nites at our dances. Hilding Holmberg is providing us with excellent music. We would still like to issue a special invitation to all the gals who like to dance to come join the crowd. We have a lovely place to dance — a nice, big ball room in the new Service Club. Why don't you come over and see — We would love to have you.

I do hope you not-so-slimers have been watching your calories cause if you haven't you can't join us on our Dessert Night. Personally I'll have to lock myself in the storage room so I won't be tempted.

Don't forget to sign up for the Buffet Supper and the Dessert Nite.

I'm gonna have to start keeping notes on funny happenings at the Service Club. So much goes on that I can't remember. I'll have to tie a pencil and pad around my neck so I won't miss something that I can convey on

Pfc. Stewart Injured In Motorcycle Mishap
