Holland 'Tulip Queen' Will Preside Tomorrow

Holland's "Tulip Queen" will be welcomed here tomorrow with a day-long round of activities in the city and at the Army Ordnance Guided Missile School as the 19-year-old Netherlands beauty arrives to present the city and OGMS with a gift of 4,000 prize bulbs from the blub growers of Holland on behalf of the first Royal Netherlands Air Force students who completed their training here last Spring.

Miss Saskia de Lange, wearing the picturesque national dress of Holland, will arrive here by air Thursday morning at the municipal airport and will be officially welcomed by Col. Charles W. Eifler, OGMS commandant, and Mayor R. B. Seacey of Huntsville and an honor guard made up of city police and a OGMS troops.

Thereafter, the pretty young lady, who is on leave from her studies at the University of Utrecht in Holland to represent the bulb growers at ceremonial plantings in 10 U. S. cities, will participate in a number of events on a crowded schedule.

After a brief stop at the Russel Erskine Hotel, the "Tulip Queen" is to be guest of honor at a coffee tendered by Mrs. J. H. Watts at her historic ante-bellum home, the Watts-Spragms mansion on Echols Hill. Wives of top Redstone Arsenal commanders and a group of Huntsville High School students led by Miss Roberta Watts are to meet the visitor.

During the morning, Miss de Lange is to place a wreath at the tomb of an unknown Confederate soldier in Maple Hill cemetery at a ceremony arranged by Mrs. Joe E. Cooper, Sr., and the local (See TULIP on Page 3)

Sergeant Missile Assures Fire Power Support For Troops

The Army revealed recently that the newest of its artillery missiles—the Sergeant—can be air transported anywhere in the world to give added fire support to its three-division Strategic Army Corps.

At the same time, the Army disclosed that it literally has put brakes on the Sergeant in order to guide it with pinpoint accuracy to its target on a modern battlefield.

These and other details of the Sergeant artillery missile were unveiled at the annual American Ordnance Association meeting at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., where members saw a Sergeant team go through an emplacement drill with the weapon. It was the first public demonstration of the versatile Sergeant system, which will give tremendous firepower to STRAC forces.

The 36-foot long Sergeant is capable of carrying nuclear and other warheads and can be flown anywhere to accompany STRAC. (See SERGEANT on Page 2)

AOMC Orientation Held Here Last Week

Sixty-five Army officers and civilian employes attended a quarterly orientation at the Army Ordnance Missile Command last week.

Senior officer of the group is Brig. Gen. Philip F. Kromer of the Army Engineer Maintenance Center, Columbus, Ohio.

The purpose of the conference is to keep key Army personnel informed on the rapidly-advancing missile and space technology, the Army's contribution to these fields and its effect upon the overall Army mission.

The group was welcomed by Col. R. H. Kessler, the AOMC assistant chief of staff for military applications and training.

Briefings followed on 15 major weapons system for which the Army Ordnance Missile Command is responsible.

Extensive tours were scheduled for two major elements, the Army Rocket and Guided Missile and the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, plus the Ordnance Guided Missile School.

JOY RECEIVES AWARD FROM ARMY SECRETARY

Kenneth E. Joy, designer of the "Pentadome," was one of the government employes honored at the annual Secretary of the Army's awards ceremony in Washington on Monday.

Joy is the chief of the Quality Assurance Branch, Industrial Division, Army Ballistic Missile Agency.

A cash award of $2,130 was made to Joy who submitted his suggestion for the unique and inexpensive "Pentadome" storage and housing unit while employed in the office of the chief of Ordnance. The estimated savings to the government after Joy's suggestion was adopted is $1,678,584 in construction costs.

The "pentadome" is a giant air-supported, general purpose structure which can be used both indoors and outdoors as a storage facility for missile parts, assembly operations, troop housing, hospitals, general field storage and camouflage.

The "pentadome" was demonstrated during Armed Forces Day in Washington last May as a housing for the Juno II exhibit displayed by the Army.

Joy was awarded an Exceptional Civilian Service Decoration by the Secretary of the Army earlier this year for his Pentadome design. He also received an earlier award of $775 for this work.

He holds patents for an air drop device for small arms which he designed, and also three other patents for air inflatable structures.

The Joys have two teen-age sons, Robert and Martin.

Engineers Ask Bids On Arsenal Timber

Col. R. W. Love, U. S. Army District Engineer at Mobile, invited bids recently for the purchase and removal of 70,000 board feet of cedar sawtimber and approximately 100 cedar fence posts contained in an area of approximately thirty acres in the eastern section of the Redstone Arsenal reservation. The timber is being made available for harvesting, in accordance with the Army woodland management plan.

Inspection of the timber may be arranged and bid forms obtained by contacting Mr. Roger W. Scoggin, resident inspector, at the office of the Area Engineer, Corps of Engineers, Redstone Army (See BIDS on Page 3)

Jay Fryman to Be Honored By Civic Leaders Oct. 20.

Jay C. Fryman, Redstone Arsenal, has been disclosed as the seventh Huntsville citizen to be honored here Oct. 20 on "Huntsville State Leaders Recognition Day."

Fryman is president of the Alabama Theater Conference, a statewide group of community theater groups. He has long been active in the Huntsville Little Theater and is former president of the local organization.

Six other leading Huntsville men and women, who now head a major Alabama organization, will also be honored.

At Redstone, Fryman is a program specialist in the Research and Development Division of the Army Rocket and Guided Missile (See HONORED on Page 2)

Gimmicks Help Swell Donations to UGF

Since the beginning of the 1959 Redstone United Givers Fund drive on Sept. 21, many UGF-conscious agencies throughout the Arsenal have supplemented their individual donations by sponsoring various sales-promotion campaigns.

Most effective of these have been the programs conducted in the Field Service Division of ARGMA.

The Publications Section of the FSD Maintenance Branch topped the Division's earnings with $845.65, netted from an inter-office "Beauty and the Beast" contest. Over 500 employes participated, paying $1 per nomination and 1c per vote.

The Administrative, Maintenance and Cataloging Branches realized $450.00 from the sale of lunches, cakes, pies, candy and peanuts.

All proceeds were given to the United Givers Fund.

To maintain interest in the current campaign and keep all personnel abreast of UGF contributions and standings, loudspeakers have been placed throughout the Maintenance Branch and Administrative Office, over which periodic announcements are made as contributions are received.

ARGMA Sets Pace For AOMC's Three Largest Segments

After two and one-half weeks of active United Givers Fund campaigning, the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency leads the Army Ordnance Missile Command's three local segments with 95 per cent of its personnel contributing. ARGMA has a "Fair Share" contribution of 73 per cent. A Fair Share contribution is 80 per cent of one day's salary.

Rounding out the "big three's" report were the Army Ballistic Missile Agency with 81 per cent participation and 50.4 per cent Fair Share, and Redstone Arsenal with 45 per cent participation and 33 per cent Fair Share.

The Air Force UGF Agency and AOMC Headquarters have not only set the Fair Share pace among the smaller organizations, but for the entire Arsenal as well. As of Oct. 7, the Air Force has recorded an 88 per cent participation and a 94 per cent Fair Share. AOMC reports 96 per cent participation and 85 per cent Fair Share.

"While both reports are commendable, the Air Force statistics warrant special mention insofar as their Fair Share percentage exceeds their per cent of personnel participation . . . a distinction shared only by Rohm and Haas' 41.1 per cent participation and 62.2 per cent Fair Share," said Jackson Balch, Redstone UGF executive chairman.

The three remaining organizations reporting are as follows: Troop Command with 83 per cent participation and 67 per cent Fair Share; Thiokol with 61 per cent participation and 44.1 per cent Fair Share; and Ordnance Guided Missile School with 47 per cent participation and 24 per cent Fair Share.

612 Pints of Blood Collected During Bloodmobile Visit

Major Jesse A. Garner, Bloodmobile Chairman for the Arsenal, reports that 612 pints of blood were donated Oct. 7 when the Birmingham Bloodmobile visited the Arsenal.

CWO George T. Dye, M/Sgt. Oliver Coker, Sgt. Joseph Gugliotto and other servicemen in the supply department were responsible for the physical set up of the visit.

Mrs. Thelma Dawson, secretary of the Troop Commander, scheduled and compiled the master donor list for the coordinators.

Mrs. J. N. Jern was in charge of the 42 post volunteers including Gray Ladies, staff aids, nurses aides, dependent nurses and other volunteers. The Madison County Chapter Canteen Service Workers were under the supervision of Mrs. W. F. Bass, chairman.

The total number of pints donated during the year of 1959 is 2822. The next visit is scheduled for Dec. 9.

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST—Curtis B. Williams, deputy chief of the Field Service Division's Publication Section, pins a corsage on Mr. Martha Jones, elected the "Beauty" in the Publication Section's United Givers Fund "Beauty and the Beast" contest. At Mrs. Jones' right is Jim Neely, the Beast elect. At $1 a nomination and 1c a vote, the fund-raising contest grossed $345.65, with all proceeds going to the Redstone UGF drive. Runners-up for the titles of Beauty and Beast stand around the winners. Robert J. Parks, Sergeant project director at the California Institute of Technology, Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif., made public for the first time the use of the drag brakes to accomplish for the solid-propellant powered Sergeant the purpose of the cut-off valve used to cut-off motor burning in liquid fueled missiles.

JPL was assigned technical cognizance of Sergeant under the direction of the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency for the U.S. Army Ordnance Missile Command. The Sperry Utah Engineering Laboratory, Salt Lake City, Utah, was selected as the co-contractor to work under the direction of JPL during the research and development phase and ultimately to produce the missile.

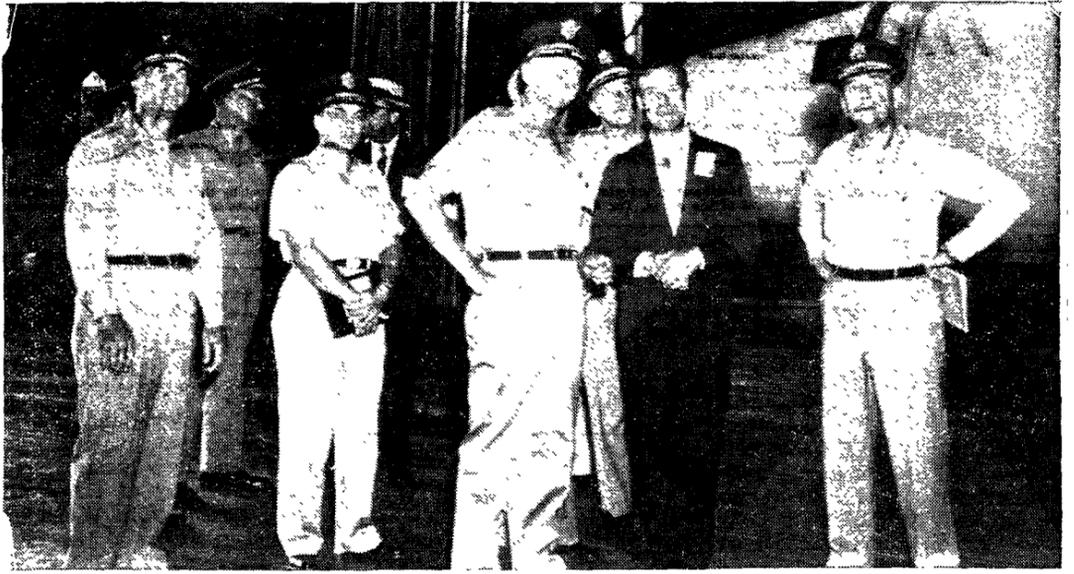

"Sergeant was designed" said Parks, "to provide the Army with a weapon that approaches conventional artillery in mobility, ease of operation, speed of emplacement and displacement, lack of complexity, and minimum demands for specialized training for the artillery men who fire it.

"Through integrated design, use of its guidance system, and the sentations will be held in the Huntsville Community Center at Big Spring Park.

Col. Walter Swarouth is finance committee chairman and in charge of ticket sales.

Other Huntsville organizations who currently have members as presidents or commanders of Statewide groups include the American Legion, Altrusa Club, Elks Club, Knights of Columbus, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the State Recreation Association. They are Joe Foster, Legion; Mrs. Irene Jones, Altrusa; John McKenna, Knights of Columbus; Jack Ivey, VFW; W. E. McBride, Recreation association; and Abe Pizitz, Elks.

FAB LAB VISITORS—The deputy director of the Fabrication and Assembly Engineering Laboratory, Army Ballistic Missile Agency, Ronald R. Kuers, recently conducted Maj. Gen. Louis T. Heath (center), on a tour of the Fabrication Laboratory. Gen Heath is the commander of the Defense Atomic Support Agency, Sandia Base, N. M. He and his party spent two days of orientation at the Army Ordnance Missile Command. In the party at the Fab Lab (left to right) are: Col. T. T. Paul, deputy commander of ABMA; Col. F. W. Hasselback, Sandia Base; Col. S. C. Holmes, AOMC; Gen. Heath, Maj. R. H. Sugars, Sandia Base; and Col. Samuel E. Otto, Sandia.

SFC HENDRIX HONORED

SFC James C. Hendrix, sergeant major of the Military Support Office, Missile Firing Laboratory, Army Ballistic Missile Agency, at the Cape Canaveral Missile Test Annex, Fla., recently received the ABMA Certificate of Achievement for his outstanding work. The Commanding Officer of Detachment "A," ABMA, 1st Lt. George I. Boniface, presented the award to the Cullman, Ala., Korean veteran at the Missile Firing Laboratory.

One fellow named his car flattery, because it gets him nowhere.

use of a propulsion system that does not require fueling in the field, the number of vehicles normally associated with a ballistic guided missile operation has been reduced to a minimum," he added.

Sergeant is designed to carry nuclear as well as other war loads. Its guidance system is invulnerable to known means of enemy electronic counter-measures.

Parks explained the use of the drag brakes — a pioneering development important in the application of solid propellant powered missiles to military uses.

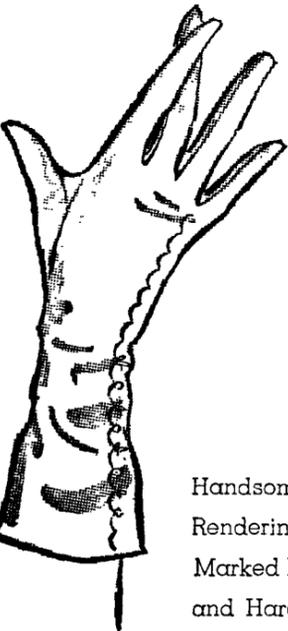

In liquid propelled missiles, he said, the precise range control can be obtained by a valve which is set to cut-off fuel to the motor at a pre-determined time. This establishes the range of the missile.

At this stage of design, solid propellant motors vary in burning times, making it extremely difficult to predict the precise burn-out time of the solid motor. Although these variations may be in fractions of seconds, they are of primary importance in obtaining range accuracy.

To compensate for this variation and to adjust the missile range limits, the JPL research and development team decided to

He, Col. Eifler, and Mayor Searcy will escort the "Tulip Queen" to OGMS for ceremonies scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m. in front of the OGMS headquarters building.

Capt. Robert Dillard, Jr., project officer for OGMS, has arranged a colorful ceremony in which the 55th Army Band, color and honor guards and guidon bearers from OGMS School Troops and the Tulip Queen and distinguished guests will participate.

There Miss de Lange will make the formal presentation of the gift of tulip bulbs here by the bulb growers of Holland on behalf of the first Netherlands missile students. The gift was announced last March by Dr. J. H. van Roijen, Netherlands Ambassador to the U.S., who came here for the graduation.

Mayor Searcy and Col. Eifler are to participate with the "Tulip Queen" in a token planting of the bulbs in a new flower bed recently prepared in front of OGMS headquarters.

Col. Owen T. McCloskey, Redstone Arsenal commander, is also to accept a gift of bulbs to be planted around Goddard House, the official guest home here.

The Tulip Queen is then to ride in a parade through the hard stands of the OGMS campus to see displays of missiles and be greeted by the student body.

She is to gather afterward with the official party to view a video tape recording of the ceremonies that is being prepared by Capt. Allen C. Metzger, chief of the OGMS closed circuit television branch.

Miss de Lange is to depart via air for New York at 6 p.m., after official farewell ceremonies at the municipal airport.

Little Pentagon Is Being Considered

Washington (AFPS)—Plans for a huge new office building to house Defense Department units unable to find office space in the Pentagon are under consideration by the General Service Administration.

The GSA, housekeeping agency of the government, said the program if carried out would provide 2.3 million square feet of additional office space for those Defense employes who are now in temporary, obsolete and leased spaces.

Not a rival to the Pentagon's 6.2 million square feet of covered space, the new building would be about one-third its size.

Authorities said planning for the new "Little Pentagon" has not progressed beyond determining the Defense Department needs and that no site has been selected.

Then Pentagon, nerve center of the nation's defense forces, houses some 300,000 workers and is the world's largest office building.

MUSICAL SUPPORT—Jackson Balch, executive chairman of the Redstone United Givers Fund drive, presents the 55th Army Band with a UGF missile, as recognition for its being the first military unit on the Arsenal to achieve 100 percent participation and 100 per cent of its Fair Share goal. Receiving the missile on behalf of the band is CWO D. H. Myltinger, bandmaster. Standing to the right of Myltinger are Col. O. T. McClusky, Commander of Redstone Arsenal; Maj. J. A. Garner, commander of troops, Redstone Arsenal; and Capt. H. K. McCord, Troop Command executive officer.

Draughon Addresses Group on 'Quality Control' Economy

DETROIT, Mich. — An Army spokesman last week outlined a plan to eliminate costly duplication of efforts in missile component testing and improve quality of production by the Armed Forces.

James H. Draughon, chief of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency's Control Office Review Branch, in a speech before the Greater Detroit Chapter of the American Society of Quality Control, accented the need for the exchanging of ideas and test information between the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Such a data exchange, he noted, would not only reduce development costs but accelerate development programs as well, by applying the time saved to more urgent problems. Draughon cited one case in which eight different organizations performed similar tests on the same missile component, when the information gained from any one of the tests would have satisfied the other seven parties.

A program of this nature could be set up, Draughon proposed, by exchanging information through the media of microfilm cards. With each card recording 18 typewritten pages at a reduction ratio of 22 to 1, masses of data can be transferred and housed inexpensively and conveniently.

This proposal, Draughon injected, evolved from three major meetings held since 1958. Sponsoring these meetings were the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division, the Navy Bureau of Ordnance Special Projects, and the Army Ballistic Missile Agency.

Processing and distributing of these cards will be handled by three Control Centers, he continued, located at the Army Ballistic Missile Agency in Huntsville; the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division in Los Angeles; and the Naval Ordnance Laboratories at Corona, Calif.

The objective of this system, Draughon explained, is to afford the engineer, designer or other interested persons the required information at a minimum of time and expense.

"The missile business," Draughon commented, "is a multi-billion dollar business, of which testing to determine suitable components for a given environment is no small part. If we can reduce the multiple testing of the same components, we will gain many engineering manhours.

"If this data exchange program results in the change of a component which saves even one Titan, Atlas, Thor, Polaris or Jupiter missile," Draughon ended, "the cost of the program will have been paid for years to come."

SPORTS EVENTS SUMMARY

Redstone Arsenal's Unit Level Softball League, which began in April and ran through July, consisted of 17 participating teams with the 864th Air Force squad coming out on top. The 864th represented Redstone Arsenal in the Third Army Softball Tournament held at Fort Jackson, S. C., Aug. 10-15.

The Unit-Level Baseball League, consisting of six teams, began in May and ran through August. "B" Det. OGMS won the title with "A" Det. OGMS coming in a close second to the sister organization. Both teams received trophies from Col. Owen T. McCloskey, post commander, at a ceremony sponsored by Special Services in honor of the league leaders and the All-Star team. The All-Star team represented Redstone in the Third Army Baseball Tournament held at Ft. Benning, Ga., Sept. 7-12.

Unit-Level 6-man Football League, which is now in progress, started on Sept. 21 and will run through Nov. 20. Nine teams are competing in this league with the following units represented: 291st MPC, 864th Air Force, "B" Det. ABMA; 3rd ETD, "A" Det. ARGMA, Hq. Det. USAG, Hq. Det. UTC, "A" Det. OGMS and "B" Det. OGMS.

Two soccer teams have been organized on post from NATO personnel. They began play on Sept. 21 competing against each other and also against teams in the surrounding community.

Pigskin Highlights

OGMS DOWNS ARGMA
"A" Det OGMS edged out "A" ARGMA, 14-6, in the first game of last week's 6-man football contests. The score was tied, 6 all, until the fourth period when OGMS blocked an ARGMA punt and recovered the ball in the end zone.

First period had only one scoring play with the OGMS team finding pay dirt. Norton scored for the "school troops" on a fine run, 17 yds. out. The point-after-TD attempt failed.

No score came again until the third period when ARGMA's Hanson uncorked a touchdown pass to Mathews to give the "guided minutemen" the first taste of glory. The pass play covered 20 yards. Hanson passed for the PAT but it fell incomplete.

The score tied 6-all, the fourth quarter began with the time running out for both squads. ARGMA was deep in their own territory with fourth down showing on the marker. The play started and Stewart of OGMS broke through the line, blocked the punt and teammate Stringer recovered to give OGMS the badly needed six points. Zibierski passed to End Link for the point-after-TD. The fourth period ended the score standing 14-6, OGMS over ARGMA.

864TH WINS 3RD STRAIGHT
864th Air Force, undefeated and unconquered for three straight outings, romped "B" Det OGMS, 46-16, giving OGMS their second setback in two starts. 864th picked up 22 points in the first quarter, 8 in the second and 16 in the fourth. OGMS scored in the first and second but failed to mark in the second half.

The "Fly Boys" scored first on a 25 yard pass play from QB Hackney to RE Andrews. HB Barnett passed to Hackney for the point-after-TD.

Air Force came right back with eight more points when HB Cameron rambled over from the four and Barnett passed to End Andrews for the PAT.

"B" Det OGMS got their first TD when Curis scooted around right end from the 14. Beach then picked up the PAT over center. Air Force scored again late in the first quarter on a fine 45 yard run by HB Barnett. PAT failed.

In the second period Reynolds and Sibert teamed-up to give the OGMS team another 8 points. Reynolds' pass to Sibert was complete for a 28 yard TD play. Again Reynolds passed to Sibert for the PAT. This was the last score registered by the OGMS team.

864th scored once more before the half when QB Hackney went around left end for a TD from 13 yards out. Barnett passed to Dematis for the PAT. The half ended AF leading 30-16.

With no scoring in the third quarter, the 864th came back in the fourth period to register two more pay dirt plays. Hackney passed to Dellegar who lateraled back to Hackney making for a well engineered touchdown play Barnett then passed to Dematis for the PAT. "Rambling" Cameron went over from the 2 yard line to give the Air Force their last 6 pointer with Hackney going over center for the PAT.

Final score, 864th 46 and "B" Det. OGMS 16. Air Force is now led for first place along with "B" Det ABMA.

HO. UTC UPSETS 291ST
UTC wasted no time in getting underway to their upset of the 291st. Early in the first quarter Leonard hit Framveal with a 17-yard pass for the first touchdown of the night. The try for PAT failed. Later on in the quarter Jordan hit Nichols with a 10 yard pass and UTC's second touchdown. Cordell added the PAT with a 2 yard run.

The 291st came back to break into the scoring column with a 20 yard pass from the QB to the End Minor. The try for PAT failed. UTC closed out the first quarter scoring with a safety as the MP quarterback was trapped in the end zone.

The only score in the second period was by Cordell of the UTC. He raced 30 yards around end for the score. Framveal added the PAT with a pass from his quarterback. The half ended with Hq. Det. UTC on top 24-6.

There was no scoring in the third quarter. In the fourth quarter Hq. Det. UTC closed out the scoring. Leonard hit Cordell with a 5 yard pass and another UTC touchdown. the PAT failed and the game ended with the score UTC 30 and 291st MPC 6.

'Red Raiders' Win First Three Games

The team features a multiple offense, running from the Notre Dame box and Split-T formations. The defensive play of the hard charging line and an alert backfield have been outstanding this season.

It is the desire of the coaching staff that every boy within the age and weight bracket of this team at Redstone Arsenal who wants to play football is given the opportunity to do so. Boys who are not on the squad which will play in the downtown YMCA league are being managed and coached by CWO. John Stensby, and CWO. Edward Kennedy so that they may play football in a six-man football league on post.

The Redstone 85-pound football team is coached by Capt. Harold G. Stratton, Lt. "Rusty" Rolston, Lt. Dave McGuire, Lowell Slingerland, Richard Liptak, and Bill Henning. The team colors are red and white and the boys have named themselves the "Red Raiders."

The Raiders are undefeated this season having rebounded from a scoreless tie with Junior Optimist, in which contest Redstone did not allow one first down, to smack down West Clinton 19-6 and slug out a 6-0 victory over Fraternal Order of Police at rain soaked Linton Field.

Participation in football programs of this type the coaches hope to teach the boys sportsmanship and loyalty to their teammates to as a barber at Camp Perry, Va.

Prior to his entering government service, Hayes taught vocational agriculture at Cullman County Veterans School of Agriculture, Joppa, Ala. where a significant part of the course covered safety precautions in farming.

In 1953 he was employed by Rohm & Haas Company and assigned to the Instrument Development Group in Physical Testing Section. His duties involved calculating test data from various tests on solid propellant and plastics.

May, 1959, Hayes accepted a job with OML as an electronics technician. His duties with the Research Lab are performing high rate mechanical tests on different materials.

Hayes stated, "During the history of any employment, I have never had a disabling injury." This remarkable record is attributed to his past training and experience which have made him "safety minded."

After working hours he operates a thirty-four acre farm in Arab where he raises cattle and hogs.

Hayes is married and the father of three children. His wife, Lillian, is kept busy with the activities of children—Ruby, 13, Karen, 8, and Beverly, 1.

MUSIC: To almost everyone music in some form can give pleasure and recreation; to many it can give a degree of enjoyment and renewal of spirit that makes it one of life's most highly prized gifts; and to some it is a well-nigh essential way of life itself. Most people love to sing, especially in groups. So now's your chance to join a Male Glee Club. The group, which is a new organization, meets every Thursday night at 1930 hours. If you can sing or play the piano join the group soon. Bob Morgan is directing the group.

PARTIES: Fun indoors - of course! But when the sky is blue and the sun is high why not get out of doors and fill your lungs with good fresh air? Badminton an "ideal playing game" is scheduled for Saturday afternoon Oct. 17 at 1400 hours.

Croquet another well-known game is scheduled at the same time on Oct. 17. Join in the fun, and there will be refreshments too.

The Pizza Party was a howling success last month, therefore, it will be duplicated again this month. Sign the roster for the Oct. 18 party at 1800 hours today.

DRAMATICS: The Show Production Group will meet Tuesday night Oct. 20 to complete plans for the next production. The script committee is seriously considering a light comedy. All members are urged to attend this meeting at 1930 hours. New members are always welcomed.

This group will present a floor show at the Halloween Costume Ball on Oct. 29.

DANCE: Ready! Lights-Please! Now wait a minute. You don't need all of this stuff for a costume ball. You don't need lights; you don't need a curtain; you don't need a stage. All you need is a costume for the Halloween Costume Ball. It is going to be great, so don't be late.

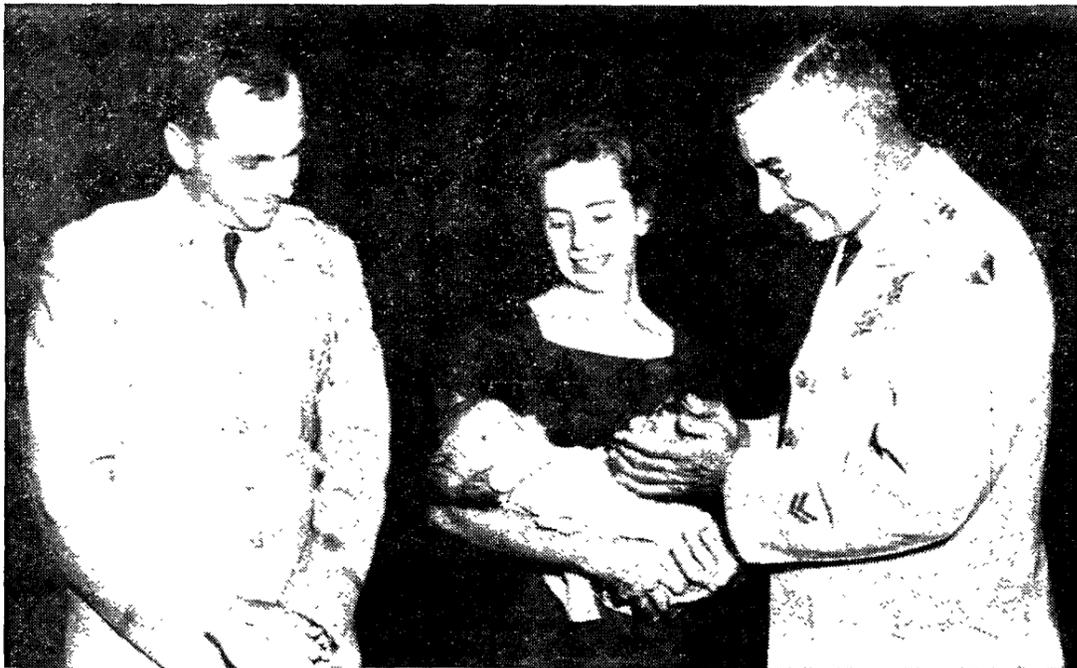

BINGO: Bingo in the lounge every Monday night at 2015. The games are free; and the prizes are fabulous. Meet with the gang every week for an evening of fun. Who knows - you may win the grand prize this week.

TOURNAMENTS: The major objective in setting up tournaments in the Service Club is to stimulate interest and to increase the number of participants in the area's activities. Therefore, the eligibility rules are few.

The Ping Pong Tournaments on Oct. 21 will be single elimination. We would like to encourage as many participants as possible, so plan now to sign up.

A pinochle tournament is also scheduled for Oct. 21 at 1830 hours in the game room. Bring a partner and join in the activity.

Oct. 22 is the date of the next bridge tournament at 1800 hours.

RECEIVES SILVER CUP—Three-months-old Robin Morrow regards Maj. Gen. J. B. Medaris (right) very solemnly as he presents her with a silver cup. Her father (left), Lt. Robert D. Morrow, is aide de camp to Gen. Medaris, commanding general of the Army Ordnance Missile Command. Mrs. Morrow is holding Robin who has a 17-months-old sister, Michele.

Be prompt and bring a partner. Bob Klein will direct the tournament.

Bob Klein, Gene Bruckert and Norman Svensrud will attend the Gatlinburg Regional Bridge Tournaments. Good luck boys! Congratulations to Paul McQueeney winner of the weekly ping pong tournament.

DANCE CLASS: For wholesome fun, and to develop a sense of rhythm join the folk dancing class every Tuesday night at 2000 hours.

COFFEE CALL: Enjoy a cup of coffee Sunday morning at 0900 hours.

Advanced Propulsion Group Hear Ritchey

A solid propellant rocket engine producing ten million pounds of thrust for 60 seconds is feasible both from a technical and cost standpoint, Dr. H. W. Ritchey, vice president of Thiokol Chemical Corporation, told a closed session at the Second Symposium on Advanced Propulsion Concepts in Boston, Mass., last Wednesday. The symposium was sponsored by Avco-Everett Research Laboratory.

Dr. Ritchey told the meeting that the engine which now is in the design study stage would be approximately 20 feet in outer diameter; 107 feet in overall length; and would weigh somewhat less than 3,000,000 pounds.

After a development program, Ritchey estimated a unit cost of such an engine would be $3,769,000. He added that the estimated cost is approximately 1/3 the amount requested for obtaining such a performance through the use of any alternate method of propulsion.

Dr. Ritchey also said that because of the tremendous weight of the unit, the engine would be ARMY AT THE FAIR—More than 300,000 visitors to the Alabama State Fair at Birmingham, Oct. 5-10 saw two-score Army missile exhibits from Redstone Arsenal, Ala., including the Juno II space vehicle and the Nike Hercules anti-aircraft missile shown here. The exhibits were sponsored by the Army Ordnance Missile Command elements at Redstone and the Ordnance Guided Missile School. The Fair's center of interest, the Juno II, has been used by the Army in several space experiments, including the launching last March of Pioneer IV, the Free World's first satellite of the sun.

FIRST ITALIANS FINISH JUPITER MISSILE COURSE

Eight senior officers of the Italian Air Force last week became the first Allies of the United States to complete training in the maintenance and use of the Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile when they received their diplomas at the Army Ordnance Guided Missile School here.

Brig. Gen. Jerry D. Page, deputy chief of staff for technical training of the Air Training Command at Randolph AFB, Texas, and Col. Luigi Violante, Air Attache of the Italian Embassy in Washington, were principal speakers. Col. Charles W. Eifler, commandant of the Missile School presided.

Gen. Page cited the graduation as "a fine example of cooperation between the U. S. Army and Air Force to train our Italian allies to deploy the excellent Jupiter weapon."

Two Italian Air Force colonels, three lieutenant colonels and three majors were members of the allied class to be trained on the Jupiter.

The instruction was carried out in accordance with an understanding between the U. S. and Italian Government designed to strengthen the defense forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Italians are the first allies of the U. S. to be trained in ballistic missiles, the large weapons that are pre-aimed at distant stationary targets. Students from 12 Allied nations, however, have trained at the Missile School on the Nike-Ajax and Nike-Hercules defense missiles which are guided to enemy targets.

The eight Italian senior officers completed the Guided Missile Operations Officer course here after initial orientation and language instruction at Lakeland Air Force Base, Texas.

The graduates and their home cities are: Col. Edoardo Medaglia, Rome; Col. Mario Spreafico, Milan; Lt. Col. Battista Mura, Cagliari; Lt. Col. Gino Giordiano, Ferrara; Lt. Col. Elio Sogno, Milan; Major Enrico Dillari, Treviso; and Majors Arnaldo Bartoli and Carlo Servetto, both of Rome.

They are part of a large group of Italian Air Force students who came here last month to enroll in various courses dealing with the Jupiter missile.

The parts of Mr. and Mrs. Webb are played by Tom Smith and Dorothy Jones, both HLT veterans.

Dorothy Jones has appeared in many plays, including "Kind Lady" and "Night Must Fall." Other members of the cast will

LITTLE THEATRE TO PRESENT 'OUR TOWN'

For the opening production of its Tenth Anniversary Season, the Huntsville Little Theatre will present Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize winning play, "Our Town." Curtain time will be 8:15 p.m., tomorrow night, Friday and Saturday (Oct. 15, 16 and 17) at the Huntsville High School auditorium.

The director, Richard Hansen (in private life PFC Ted Scout, USA, Redstone) had a leading role last season for HLT as Johnny Pope, the dope addict in "Hatful of Rain." Before entering the Army, he worked with the Santa Barbara Repertory Theatre.

Assisting the director is Main Honour, Aeroballistics Laboratory, who had several years experience with the Auburn Players before joining HLT.

Tom Yarbrough, Computation

Third Group of UGF Agencies Is Listed

This is the third in a series of four articles written to acquaint Redstone employees with the services offered by the 21 humanitarian organizations supported by the United Givers Fund. Described in previous issues of the Rocket have been the following organizations:

The Alabama Society for Crippled Children and Handicapped Adults, The Council Day Care Center, Christmas Charities, Huntsville Boys Club, Grace Club Day Care Center, American Red Cross, Church Street Community Center, Girl Scouts, and Boy Scouts.

Described in this issue are:

1. American Hearing Society:

The Society promotes community-wide programs with systematic screening of children for hearing loss; maternal and child health programs to reduce the dangers resulting from impaired hearing; child-study programs to detect and deal with the effects of impaired hearing and appropriate rehabilitation service programs for hearing-impaired adults.

2. American Social Hygiene Association: In addition to teaching personer and family living, the Association participates in the control of venereal diseases and acts to effect law enforcement against prostitution. Staff members visit state and local affiliates to work with community and military groups in the interest of public health.

3. Community Council: The primary purpose of the Council is to act as a quality control for all health, welfare and recreational services in the county, whether they be public or private. In this pursuit, the Community Council: Gathers facts about the community health and welfare needs in the agencies which exist to meet these needs; sponsors training institutions for professional staff and volunteer members; and serves as an information center, sponsoring public meetings, main-training speaks bureaus, distributing studies of reports, and carrying on publicity campaigns.

4. Madison County Mental Health Association: The Madison County Mental Health Association is primarily concerned with educating the public on the problems of mental health. In Madison County, it has provided funds so that teachers from local schools could attend institutes that would help the teacher to understand better problems of the emotionally disturbed children. In addition to providing literature to local schools and other county agencies, it works to interpret the needs for training and research facilities in Alabama to help meet the great shortage of psychologists, psychiatrists, and other trained personnel.

5. National Recreation Association: The NRA provides consultant services and leadership training courses for both civilian and military elements. And, it publishes and distributes material on recreation.

6. National Travelers Aid Association: This agency consists of affiliated societies to strengthen services to those who might encounter difficulty while traveling.

DANGER LURKS IN BLUE NIGHT SAFETY MAN SAYS

BY T. W. DAVIDSON
ARGMA Safety Branch

The month of October has been treated in song and poetry for its beauty and harvest moon weather but no songs have been written nor praise spoken about the blue-black hours which each year claim more traffic victims than any other month.

Even when Bing Crosby may be long gone as an entertainer, his notable theme version will ring out on records with—"When the bite of the night meets the gold of the day." It has a very definite application to accident prevention during the warm, balmy, soft-moonlight nights of October.

Why should the thump of the football, the whistle of officials, and the cheers of the crowd be obliterated by the crash of fenders, the screech of tires, the solemn last rites and the tears of those left behind? Such questions have perplexed safety analysts for years. The only answer is that "night descends softly and deceptively."

During many months of the year the sun drops over the horizon and darkness closes in quickly. During autumn, the harvest moon becomes a teasing lamp-lighter that deceives motorists. Some are even tempted into driving without headlights, lulled by the false security of a romantic moon. Others travel dangerously with parking lights. Even though it appears that the road is light enough for you to see it well, how about the other fellow? If he is also romantically inclined, will you see his car in time? Will he see yours?

The law in most states requires that driving lights be turned on 30 minutes after sunset. This is hardly a safe standard in October. If the sun drops at 5:30 p.m. standard time, it can be considered totally dark at 6:00 p.m. Lights should have been on previously, or that accident may have already happened to you. Night doubles traffic troubles. Every driver should slow down at sundown. He should not drive by the clock but by visibility.

During vehicle safety inspections, about one out of every ten vehicles is found to have burned out or defective lights. Nationwide, this could mean that nearly 7,000,000 "One-Lamp Loonies," "Dim Bulbs" and "Black-Out Busters" are playing a game of blindman's bluff—just daring other drivers to find and void them in the gloaming.

Everyone has heard criticism of the teenage driver's who play "chicken." But about these "other-agers" who are playing blindman's bluff, most drivers find it dangerous enough without them.

Keep lights in proper repair and use them when needed. It's much safer that way.
