Pershing Missile Site Is Dedicated in Ceremony Mon.

Facility Cost $2,000,000 To Build

The Army Ordnance Missile Command's newest facility at Cape Canaveral, Fla., a massive blockhouse and launch complex from which the Army Ballistic Missile Agency will fire its new Pershing ballistic missile, was turned over to the missile development team Monday.

Officials attending the acceptance inspection included Brig. Gen. J. A. Barclay, commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., and G. T. Willey, vice president of The Martin Company and general manager of Martin-Orlando, prime contractor for the Pershing system.

The facility, costing more than $2,000,000, is almost complete. The missile development group will start moving into the facility now, having joint occupancy with the general contractor while construction work is being concluded during the next few weeks.

The acceptance of the facility is in anticipation of early flight tests of the solid-propellant, two stage ballistic missile which is named after the late General of the Armies J. J. Pershing.

Others attending the ceremony today, and taking part in a brief walk-through inspection, included Col. J. D. Sams, Chief of the AOMC Field Office at the Air Force Missile Test Center; Dr. Kurt H. Debus, Director of the ABMA Missile Firing Laboratory at Cape Canaveral; Sid Stark, Martin-Orlando Pershing project director; and Lt. Col. Clayton A. Bird of the Army Corps of Engineers, Jacksonville District, which supervised construction of the launch complex.

The modern, 2-story, concrete-constructed blockhouse, which forms the apex of a triangle with the two Pershing launching pads, will house the vast electronic equipment necessary in firing and tracking the Pershing missiles.

However, a primary mission of the building is to furnish maximum protection against any possible explosions or falling debris from a destroyed errant missile. It was this safety requirement that dominated the structure's design.

The blockhouse, shaped in the form of a wedge to allow complete visibility of the launching pads to its right and left, was de-

NASA OFFICIALS CONFER WITH OFFICIALS HERE

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration headquarters, the NASA Jet Propulsion Laboratory and the Army Ballistic Missile Agency will confer here Tuesday and Wednesday on future space projects.

The main purpose of the meeting will be to discuss future operations involving the Juno II rocket. Dr. Wernher von Braun, director of ABMA Development Operations, is host of the meeting.

Representing NASA headquarters will be Dr. Homer Newell, assistant director of the Office of Space Sciences; Dr. Leslie Meredith and Dr. James Kupperian, Office of Space Sciences; and Dr. John F. Clark, Chief of the Planetary Science Programs.

Others from the Washington NASA office include Martin J. Stoller, William M. Thompson, Edward J. Oliver, M. J. Aucermanne, Carl J. Seddon, Robert Bourdeau, C. D. House, B. Milwitzky, D. Williamson, H. E. Carpenter and M. E. Williams.

JPL will be represented by Dr. Henry Richter, Dr. Fred Eymmer, Dave Margetts, Casey Mohl, Allen Wolfe, John Small and R. W. Dabies.

Other ABMA participants include Bill Greever of the Structures and Mechanics Laboratory, Juno II project engineer; and Dr. F. A. Speer of the Aeroballistics Laboratory.

Supplies, Services Contracts Are Listed

Recent contracts for supplies and services issued by Purchasing and Contracting Division of Redstone Arsenal, Army Ordnance Missile Command, include the following:

Huntsville—
Ashburn and Gray, Inc., $9,488, additional parking facilities and flood lighting for building.
Radio and TV Supply Co., $5,000, electron tubes.

Communications Skills Co., $10,350, courses in clear writing.

GEN. MEDARIS SAYS TRANSFER TO BE ORDERLY

Maj. Gen. J. B. Medaris, Commanding General, Army Ordnance Missile Command, today assured the 15,000 civilian and military personnel at Redstone Arsenal that no reduction in personnel would result from the planned transfer of the Development Operations Division, Army Ballistic Missile Agency, to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

"No individual in this Command, military or civilian, need fear that there will be no requirement for his services," General Medaris said. "The requirement for all our skilled personnel continues and there will be continued opportunity for advancement."

He said many of the 4,000 civilian employees of the ABMA's Development Operations Division would be transferred to NASA if Congress approves the recent recommendation of the President. Those not transferred to NASA, he said, would continue to be employed by other vital operations. (See TRANSFER on Page 2)

TWO OFFICERS FROM AOMC KILLED IN CRASH

Maj. Donald A. Klein and Capt. Samuel L. Greene of AOMC Headquarters were killed Friday night in a plane crash near Waco, Tennessee.

Funeral services for Major Klein, who was a member of the Comptroller's Office staff, were held Monday in the Post Chapel. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Evalyn S. Klein, and his mother, Mrs. Ida Ernsberger of Junction City, Oregon.

The two officers were flying in a Piper PA 18 owned by the Redstone Flying Club of which Major Klein was president. Captain Green flew the plane from Huntsville to Indianapolis, Ind., Friday to pick up Major Klein, who was attending a course at Ft. Benjamin Harrison. They were returning to Huntsville at the time of the crash.

Capt. Green was not married. His mother is Mrs. Rosalie H. Hart of Charleston, S. C.

Major Klein was a graduate of Babson Institute where he received a bachelor of science degree (See TWO KILLED, Page 3)

ABMA CONTRACTS TOTAL MORE THAN $8,000,000

The Army Ballistic Missile Agency, one of the mission elements of the Army Ordnance Missile Command, has contracts with industry throughout the country totaling more than $800,000,000.

ABMA is responsible for the Redstone, Jupiter and Pershing Ballistic Missile Systems. It carries on space exploration programs for the Advanced Research Projects Agency of the Defense Department and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

A Presidential order of Oct. 20 will, when approved by the Congress, transfer to NASA the Development Operations Division of ABMA. This Division, headed by Dr. Wernher von Braun, employs about 4,000 personnel.

Planning has begun by the Missile Command, ABMA and NASA to develop a program for the orderly phasing out of the weapons (See ABMA on Page 3) ing General, Army Ordnance Missile Command (AOMC).

Although the retirement of Gen. Medaris will not become effective until January 31, 1960, General Schomburg will devote a large portion of his attention to the Army Ordnance Missile Command Headquarters at Huntsville until he actually assumes his new post. This will assure continuity of operations throughout the Army Ordnance Missile Command without loss of momentum on pending and future projects.

The selection of General Schomburg was based on his thorough familiarity with the intensive background in all phases of Ordnance operations, particularly in the areas of research and development experience in missile and space activities. This became intensified with the formation of the AOMC March 31, 1958 to permit the most effective utilization of all resources available to the Army in the missile field. When the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) called on the Army for vehicles to launch satellites and space projects last year, General Schomburg played a leading role in expediting NASA requirements. He CHESTNUTS GROW AGAIN—Sgt. Buford Harrison (left), game warden in the Redstone Arsenal Provost Marshall Office, and James N. Weldon, Land Management Office, Post Engineer, examine American chestnut burrs. The burrs fell from a 20-foot tree recently discovered on the Western boundary of Redstone Arsenal. Authorities believed that all American chestnut trees died under the Chinese chestnut blight in the mid-1930's.

CHESTNUT TREES BELIEVED EXTINCT FOUND GROWING HERE

A chestnut tree of the almost-extinct American variety has been found on west boundary of Redstone Arsenal near the junction of Anderson Road with Highway 20.

The era of the village blacksmith and the spreading American chestnut tree began to wane at approximately the same time.

The two were immortalized in a poem by Henry W. Longfellow who began his poem:

"Under the spreading chestnut tree, the village smithy stands."

In 1904, when the horseless carriage was still a novelty, a blight hit the chestnut trees in New York City.

By the mid-'30's, when the horse was rarer than the automobile as a means of transportation, the blight had wiped out the stands of Chestnut trees throughout the United States.

Old-timers in this region remember the tree and its succulent fruit as a treat gathered in the Fall harvest.

To the next generation, the chestnut tree was only something encountered in ballads and stories usually centered around the holiday season.

The chestnut trees struggled to live. Forest rangers, agronomists and horticulturists noted that shoots continued to spring from the roots, only to die before maturing.

During a recent survey of Redstone Arsenal, checking wildlife cover and the natural flora indigenous to the region, a chestnut tree was discovered, laden with the prickly burrs that hold tasty nuts.

So far as it is known here, this tree is the only one in the area. It stands among sumac, dogwood, oak and other trees and shrubs, and could easily be missed among the dense growth.

It has been established by the Land Management Office of the Post Engineer that this is an American chestnut tree, growing 20-feet in the air, and spreading as much as the dense foliage of the surrounding trees will allow.

The Redstone Rocket

The Redstone Rocket is a privately owned newspaper published every Wednesday at no expense to the Government by Jack W. Hoffhaus, Hartselle, Alabama, with exclusive regard for the reader interests of personnel at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama, in accordance with an agreement between the publisher and the Public Information Office, Army Ordnance Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama.

The Rocket is NOT an official or semi-official Army or Ordnance Corps publication. Policies and statements reflected in the news and editorial columns represent the views of the individual writers and are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army, the Ordnance Corps, or any organization at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama. Appearance of advertisements in the Rocket does not constitute an endorsement of the advertising matter by the Department of the Army, the Ordnance Corps, or any organization at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama.

The publisher will receive editorial content for publication in the Rocket only through the Public Information Office, Army Ordnance Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama, Bldg. 4505, Extension 2722. All advertising copy and payments therefor are received by Mrs. Zillah Newsome, 311 Holmes Ave., N. E., Huntsville, Alabama, P. O. Box 346, telephone JE 4-4701, as representative of the publisher.

The Redstone Rocket is distributed free of cost to personnel at Redstone Arsenal. Mailing rates for the Rocket are $5.00 a year, or $2.75 for six months. Mailing arrangements may be made with the publisher.

signed by Maurice H. Connell and Associates, Inc., of Miami, Fla., and built by R. E. Clarson, Inc., St. Petersburg, Fla., under the direction of the Army Corps of Engineers and The Martin Company.

A virtual fortress, the blockhouse provides 8,800 square feet of usable space between its two-foot-thick, steel-reinforced walls. The roof varies from eight to five feet in thickness.

Though the largest, the Pershing blockhouse is only one of several buildings that will eventually make up Complex 30, the designation for the Pershing launch area. In addition to the blockhouse, the Pershing launch area will contain two launching pads, a helicopter parking apron, a nose installation building and a service structure.

One of the most unique arrangements incorporated in the blockhouse are the tiers of three windows on the first and second floors of the "wedge." The three, four-inch thick pieces of shock-wave resistant glass are arranged in frames to permit gaseous circulation between them. Into these spaces, nitrogen will be fed from a special supply system to provide freedom from vision-obscuring moisture condensation that would ordinarily form between the brilliantly clear panes of glass.

The firing rooms and other control installations will be located on the first floor, while the second floor will primarily be used as an observation area.

The Pershing missile will retain the mobility, fieldworthiness and accuracy of the Army's Redstone missile, yet be lighter, smaller and

A logical and well considered plan is being developed to carry out the transfer in an orderly fashion with minimum dislocation to Army functions," Gen. Medaris said.

"Since the entire Command thereafter will be in a position to concentrate its resources upon accomplishments of task assignments by the Army, there is every reason to anticipate even more efficient management and competence in the future discharge of these numerous responsibilities."

General Medaris pointed out that the Army Ordnance Missile Command will continue to work on all of its important military missile projects after transfer of the Development Operations Division to NASA.

"These projects include the Nike Zeus anti-missile missile, the Pershing, the Redstone and many others, some of which are becoming operational and others of which will join the Army's family of weapons later," General Medaris said. "The important role which AOMC will play in the defense of our nation has not been reduced by transfer of the Development Operations Division to another agency."

In addition to the 15,000 personnel of AOMC situated at the Arsenal, approximately 5,000 other civilian and military personnel are employed at the Ordnance Guided Missile School and by contractors operating Government facilities on the installation.

even more mobile. The Redstone system was developed by ABMA and has been deployed overseas with troops since the Spring of 1958.

In addition to incorporating a mobile transporter-erector-launcher, the Pershing system will have a "built-in" guidance system which will enable it to direct itself onto a target without possibility of outside jamming.

OGMS TO TRY COLOR TV IN CLASSROOMS

C. D. Leatherman, senior educational advisor at OGMS, to select the courses in which color TV may be most effectively used. The project officer is Capt. Eugene W. Menning, of the OGMS Signal Corps liaison office.

The experiment will use color TV in 77 class hours in courses in the Surface-to-Air and Officer Training Division, and will deal with the Nike internal guidance system and its maintenance. A final evaluation of the tests is expected to be completed early next year.

Col. Charles W. Eifler, OGMS commandant, said that the use of color in the televised portions might enhance student interest and be of special value in teaching complicated electronic wiring circuits, as well as in the identification of parts in missile systems having as many as 100,000 separate pieces.

The special color TV unit handling the experiment at Redstone to test the virtues of color versus black and white television, was organized in October of last year. The unit recently conducted a similar experiment for the Signal Corps at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

was also one of the principals in the discussion which led to cooperative agreements of December 3, 1958 between the Department of the Army and NASA under which the facilities of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency were placed at the disposal of NASA, and Army Jet Propulsion Laboratory at California Institute of Technology, also transferred from Army to NASA.

As Commanding General of AOMC General Schomburg will have overall responsibility for a three subordinate installation. These are: ABMA, Huntsville, Alabama, currently undergoing re-organization to provide for transfer of designated elements to NASA; Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency, Huntsville, which has the responsibility for the development, procurement, production, industrial engineering, industrial mobilization, maintenance and repair parts supply and stock control of Ordnance rockets and guided missiles; and the White Sands Missile Range, White Sands, New Mexico, with the responsibility for the execution of all technical engineering operations associated with flight testing of guided missiles, rockets and other munitions. WSMR covers 4,000 square miles and is the largest all-land rocket and guided missile test facility in the Western hemisphere.

After attending Ordnance School at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland, in 1939, General Schomburg served for five years on the staff on Ordnance Research and Development Center and as Commanding Officer of the Ordnance Winter Proving Center in Canada. From 1949 until July 1952 he was Director of Research and Development and Engineering at Watertown Arsenal, Mass. In April 1956 he was named Assistant Chief of Ordnance, Research and Development and became Deputy Chief of Ord-systems responsibilities of the Development Operations Division to a new research and development division in the Agency. The development team headed by Dr. von Braun will then be free to carry on NASA missions related to space boosters.

Activated Feb. 1, 1956 by Major General J. B. Medaris as the first commander, ABMA then had the mission of preparing the Redstone Missile System for deployment, and the total development responsibility for the Jupiter IRBM, a missile with a range of 1,500 nautical miles.

The Redstone system was deployed with U. S. Army forces in NATO in June, 1958, and the Jupiter system was ready for deployment in January, 1959. Assigned to operational control of the U. S. Air Force, Jupiter will first be deployed in Italy by Italian forces.

Both Redstone and Jupiter are in production at the Michigan Ordnance Missile Plant, operated for the Army by Chrysler Corporation.

C., in 1952-53, and a subsequent three year tour in Germany as Chief Procurement Plan G-4 Logistics at Headquarters U. S. Army, Europe at Heidelberg.

General Schomburg was born in Denver, Colorado, July 3, 1908. He attended the Colorado School of Mines and was graduated from U. S. Military Academy in 1931 with a B.S. degree and a commission in the Infantry. In 1936 he received the degree of Master of Science in Mechanical Engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

TORAH WILL BE DEDICATED IN CHAPEL SERVICE

Monday evening, Nov. 9, at the Redstone Arsenal Post Chapel, the Jewish Community of Huntsville and Redstone Arsenal will share in the dedication of a Torah.

The Torah is a scroll completely handwritten and contains the five books of Moses. This particular Holy Scroll was once housed in a Synagogue in Poland, and during the war it was desecrated and mistreated. Upon the completion of the war it was brought to the United States where a scribe began the tedious task of rewriting and correcting the damaged portions. Now, after all these years the Torah will finally be brought to Redstone Arsenal where it will be permanently kept in a specially built Ark.

An impressive and elaborate program has been planned which will include the filling-in of the first few letters to complete the scroll.

The main address for the dedication program will be given by Rabbi Abraham Feinstein, DD of Mizpah Congregation, Chattanooga, who is also the Auxiliary Jewish Chaplain for Redstone Arsenal. The liturgy and cantorial selections will be chanted by Rev. Bernard Glusman, Cantor of the West End Synagogue, Nashville.

Other prayers will be offered by Dr. Joseph Gallinger, Rabbi of Temple B'nai Israel, Florence. The Torah scroll will be presented by Mr. Irwin Goodman, chairman of the JWB-Armed Services Committee of Huntsville.

The scroll will be accepted by Chaplain (Maj.) James H. Goewey, Post Chaplain of Redstone Arsenal, and WO Stanley Schwartz, Jewish Serviceman's Chairman. The Jewish Welfare Board Regional Coordinator, Leon Goldberg, of Atlanta, will also be present to extend acknowledging remarks.

Brig. Gen. John A. Barclay, Commanding General of ABMA, will bring greetings on behalf of

'Home Stitch' Style Show Is Planned

A "Home Stitch Style Show" will highlight a luncheon to be held Nov. 10 by the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club in the Hawk Room of the Officers Club.

The luncheon will begin at 1 p.m. following a social half hour. All members of the Wives Club are invited to attend.

On post reservations should be made by calling Mrs. Louis Anderson, ext. 5-8243 or Mrs. Eugene Menning, ext. 5-7046. Off post reservations can be made with Mrs. Randolph Cooper, JE 6-3270, or Mrs. James MacDonell, JE 6-5942. Deadline for reservations is noon, Friday, November 6.

Cancellations should be made not later than noon, Monday, November 9, by calling Mrs. Dean Jones (on post) ext. 5-7048, or Mrs. Charles Mitchum (off post) JE 6-5686.

The Wives Club treasurer will be available during the luncheon to collect annual dues from those members who have not yet paid.

Junior Choir Has Costume Party

The Redstone Arsenal Junior Choir held a Halloween Costume Party in the social room of the Post Chapel recently with 15 members participating in the games and refreshments.

Prizes for the best costumes went to Jane Kinch who was dressed as an 'upside-down-clown' with her feet where her hand should be; Keith Jeffers who impersonated Elvis Presley; and Richard Rabinowitz who came as Groucho Marx.

Mrs. Donald Maynard, choir director, was a co-hostess, with Mrs. Lewis Sims. Special guests who attended were Chaplain (Maj.) and Mrs. Allister Sinclair.

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, Commanding General of AOMC.

There will be a reception in honor of the occasion immediately after the service.

PLANS BEING MADE FOR ARSENAL CHILDREN'S PARTY

Redstone Arsenal's special projects committee of the Joint Activities Council met last week at the Redstone Arsenal Special Services Office with Lt. Col. Paul A. Lamoure presiding as chairman.

The purpose of the meeting was to organize the program for the 1959 Redstone Arsenal Children's Christmas Party which has been slated for Dec. 22.

Maj. Claude C. Anderson, who was appointed manager of the arrangements committee, will have overall responsibility of the program.

Special projects committee will hold their next meeting at 1:30 Nov. 10 in the Rocket Service Club to carry out the planning stage of the party.

More than 70 ladies attended the coffee held Oct. 27 by the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club at the Officers Club.

Table decorations included fall flowers, dritwood, and candles, emphasizing the autumn colors of brown and gold. Centerpiece for the main table, a dried arrangement, was awarded as door prize to Mrs. P. B. Schuppener.

Members of the coffee committee, headed by Mrs. J. E. Devine, were Mrs. H. M. Murray, Mrs. J. A. Dasche, Mrs. Weynand Fries, Mrs. E. K. Buell, Mrs. Bruce Kennedy, Mrs. Joseph German, Mrs. Glenn Mathis, Mrs. E. C. Cranford and Mrs. John Eggerman.

Pouring during the event were Mrs. Fries, Mrs. Dasche, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Thomas Gannon and Mrs. Sylvester Hall.

Arsenal Choir Will Present 'Messiah'

The Redstone Arsenal Senior Choir will present parts of Handel's "Messiah" at the Post Chapel on Dec. 13.

The choir, which needs more voices has issued an invitation to vocalists who would be interested in performing with this group to contact Mrs. Donald Maynard, Arsenal ext. 5-7365, the choir director or the organist, Mrs. Russell Boyd, Arsenal ext. 5-7457.

Rehearsals are on Sundays from 3-5 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams Win Best Costume Prizes at Dance

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Adams won the prize for the best costumes at the Halloween Dance and farewell party for Lt. Col. and Mrs. Henry M. Clanton held by the Research and Development Division of the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency.

Mrs. Adams was costumed as a black cat and Mr. Adams, a member of the Research and Engineering Branch of the Division, came as a red devil.

Col. and Mrs. Clanton were the guests of honor. Mrs. Clanton was presented a corsage. The colonel has served as the deputy chief of the Research and Development Division since April, 1958.

Approximately 85 couples attended the affair held at the Elks Club in Huntsville.

Garrison Is New President of AFGE

The American Federation of Government Employees, Lodge 1858, held an election of officers at their meeting last week.

Dennis Garrison was elected president, replacing E. L. Lowther who has transferred to another station; Doyle Eastep is assistant president; Thomas Childers is treasurer James Sheets, and Glenn Test are vice presidents.

The next meeting is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 17 at the Russel Erskine Hotel.

PARTY BRIDGE PLAYED

Three tables of party bridge were in play Monday night, Oct. 26 at the Officers Club. Mrs. Glenn Mathis won high, Mrs. Patrick Smith placed second, and Mrs. Jerome McCabe scored low.

Hostess for the evening was Mrs. Paul Brinkpeter.

Mrs. Ross Places High at Canasta

The canasta group of the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club met last Thursday evening at the Club with three tables in play.

Mrs. R. B. Ross placed high, Mrs. H. R. Arnold was second, and Mrs. R. M. DeYoung scored low.

All members of the Wives Club are invited to participate in the activities of the canasta group, which meets weekly on Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m. at the Officers Club. Reservations should be made not later than Wednesday noon with Mrs. J. D. Severino, ext. 5-8359.

Mrs. R. L. Spragins Is Bridge Winner

The party bridge group of the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club met Thursday with three tables in play.

Mrs. R. L. Spragins placed high, Mrs. J. G. Bowlby was second, and Mrs. R. S. Macy scored low.

All members of the Wives Club are invited to participate in the activities of the party bridge group. The group meets weekly at 10 a.m. on Thursdays at the Officers Club. Reservations should be made before Wednesday noon with Mrs. A. Y. Harper, Jr., JE 9-2606.

PTA TO MEET

The Madison Pike Parent-Teachers Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 10, in the school auditorium.

TWO ABMA SCIENTISTS TO BE HONORED BY ROCKET SOCIETY

Two top scientists of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency will be honored by the American Rocket Society during its fourteenth annual meeting Nov. 16-20 in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Eberhard F. M. Rees and Dr. Kurt H. Debus will be among 21 persons from throughout the United States to be awarded Fellow Memberships by ARS. Rees is Deputy Director of ABMA's Development Operations Division, which is headed by Dr. Wernher von Braun. Debus is Director of the Division's Missile Firing Laboratory.

ABMA is an element of the Army Ordnance Missile Command, which has its headquarters at Redstone Arsenal, Ala., and is commanded by Maj. Gen. J. B. Medaris.

Notification of the awards to Rees and Debus was made by Krafft Ehrlicke, chairman of the ARS Awards Committee.

A native of Germany, Rees served as technical plant manager of the German Guided Missile Center at Peenemuende during World War II. He came to the U. S. in 1945, working for the Army at Ft. Bliss, Texas, and White Sands Missile Range, N. M. He was transferred to Redstone Arsenal in 1950.

In recognition of the genius shown in helping maintain America's pace in missile development and bringing about the advent of the Space Age, Rees was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Science by Rollins College at Winter Park, Fla., in February, 1959.

Rees became an American citizen on Nov. 11, 1954.

ABMA's other Rocket Society award recipient, Dr. Debus, is known as the most experienced missile launcher in the Free World. Under his guidance, all the Army's big rockets have been launched, starting with the first Redstone ballistic missile in 1953. He has also supervised the launching of Army-launched satellites and space probes.

A native of Germany, he began his missile launching career at the Peenemuende Center where he was chief test engineer from August, 1943 until the close of

CHEMISTS TO MEET IN BIRMINGHAM NOVEMBER 13

Rotarians Receive Preview of Future Classroom 'Aids'

The Army Ordnance Guided Missile School last week unveiled its "classroom of the future" in which students are whisked to far-away places by giant screen television, where arithmetic lessons stand out under "black light" and scientific principles are explained with charts that flow magically in rainbow hues.

These and other marvels of space age education were displayed by Col. Charles W. Eifler, OGMS commandant, and a team of instructors before the Huntsville Rotary Club during a "Salute to OGMS," program. Col. Eifler was introduced by Brig. Gen. John A. Barclay, commanding general of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency.

The unusual demonstration found Sen. John Sparkman putting plastic transparencies together to produce "technamation" charts that demonstrated the flow of electricity. Earlier in the program, Rotary Club President Jimmy Taylor "starred" in a humorous televised quiz show to help explain an electronic device that OGMS uses to train students to think through a series of related questions.

Other highlights of a fast-paced program found the Madison County Court House clock televised into the luncheon hall to provide a quick check-up on the length of the program - and an impromptu sequence where a young lady getting into a convertible auto on a nearby parking lot provided an unexpected glimpse of feminine pulchritude.

Col. Eifler pointed out that a serious purpose was behind the humor, in that all the techniques shown could be easily adapted for civilian schools to meet new educational needs.

The program was supervised by Lt. Col. Z. F. Rael, chief of the OGMS Officer Training Division, assisted by Capt Bernard C Rulong. Closed circuit television preparations were handled by Clifford H. Paul and John Garrig and staff of the OGMS TV Branch. Paul Bungard demonstrated teleprompter equipment. The "quiz box" was developed by Henry C. Rutledge, stationed at OGMS by Philco Corp.

The program was arranged by Dr. Burton S. Shook, of the Redstone Arsenal Hospital, a member of the Rotary Club.

Dorothy Webb from Post Library and Lt. Buckbee from Special Services judged the contest.

Everyone enjoyed dancing to Charlie Lyle's music. Ray Dree-man, as Professor Igor from Transylvania gave an experiment with one of the many amoebae found in water. What an explosion! Professor Igor's cohorts were John Krahn, Technical Adviser and Tom Stachowiak and Dick Walski, Sound Effects. Chuck Adamik, Bob Wasilk, Bob Czarnecki, Joe Wein, and Dave Van Housen were responsible for the colorful Halloween decorations. Tom Stachowiak painted the Creature on the backdrop.

Bob Kline reported the bridge tournament winners on Oct. 22 were Sgt. and Mrs. L. Kimball. A colorful coaster set was awarded to them.

Everyone has enjoyed the cha cha dance classes Miss Harold has been teaching. The next class she will teach will be the waltz starting on Nov. 6.

Don't forget Ray Pisani will be back on Nov. 4 to teach foxtrot and cha cha classes again. If you haven't signed, we have fourteen spaces open in each class.

Chuck Adamik, Bob Wasilk, Jack Adams, Karl Sprick, Will, and Dave Hall, enjoyed making fudge for everyone on Oct. 23.

Lanterns, checkered tablecloths and a Chinese supper prepared by Chinese students here on the Arsenal was a delightful Sunday evening program on Oct. 25.

Come over and listen to a recorded classical concert on Saturday, Nov. 7 at 2000 hours.

Fred Goodner, Chattanooga Choo Choo Square dance caller, will be back again on Wednesday, Nov. 11 at 2000 hours. We always have a wonderful time when Mr. Goodner is calling a square dance.

Another bridge tournament will be on Thursday, Nov. 12 at 1300 hours. Bob Kline will be conducting the tournament again.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT - Miss Molly Patterson would like for anyone with a talent such as pianist, guitarist, vocalist, or any other type of talent interested in participating in a special activity to please contact her at the Service Club (Phone 3-4531).

ZOOT SUITERS?—Garbed in the latest protective clothing, two soldiers model a missile handler's uniform (left) and an expendable aluminized paper fire-fighting suit. The suits were displayed by the U. S. Army Quartermaster Corps at the 40th annual national convention of the Quartermaster Assn. in New York.

Pigskin Highlights

UTC Romps "A" Det Argma

Hq. Det. UTC rolled over "A" Det. ARGMA, 34-0 in the opening game of last week's unit-level football competition. UTC scored in every period with two tallies registered in the first quarter.

HB Cialino opened the door for UTC when he went over from the one yard line and then picking-up the PAT on a round the end lobe for a 8 point play. UTC's next tally came on a pass play came on a pass play covering 60 yards when QB Leonard passed to End Formveal for the second TD. Cialino went over center picking-up the bonus play.

Early in the second period HB Cordell pulled a pass in thrown by teammate Parker and went on to score from the 20. The attempted PAT failed. By the end of the first half, UTC had a 22 point lead on ARGMA.

UTC came back in the third period with the Leonard-From-veal combination scoring on a pass play covering 45 yards. The PAT failed. Late in the fourth quarter UTC picked-up their last score when Gaymon went over from the 6 yard line. With the try for the PAT failing, scoring ended with UTC taking home the winners cup by a score of 34-0 over "A" Det ARGMA.

"B" Det. Rolls Over 3rd ETD

"B" Det. OGMS gathered 34 points in the first half and went on to hit the 50 mark in upsetting 3rd ETD, 50-6 in last week's bout. "B" Det. OGMS opened the scoring with Reynolds passing to Curls for a 40 yard TD. The bonus play failed. Again Reynolds came back with a scoring play when he passed at the 7 to End Andre who carried it over unmolested. HB Beach ran the PAT over.

3rd ETD got their only score of the game in the first period when HB Bohlman returned the kick-off 70 yards for a fine pay dirt play. The PAT failed.

"B" Det. went on to get three more tallies by half time. Beach ran 50 yards for a TD late in the first quarter with Kouger going over for the PAT. Early in the second quarter Reynolds uncorked a 20 yard pass to teammate Curls who went over untouched. The PAT failed. Late in the second period Beach scored when he bulldozed over from the 8 yard line. Although the PAT was missed, "B" held a comfortable lead of 34-6 over 3rd ETD by half-time.

No scoring came in the third quarter but in the fourth "B" Det. came back strong with two scoring plays. Reynolds fired to Curls at the 8 yard line and Kouger plowed over for the PAT. Later Kouger passed to Beach at the 10 with Beach going into the end zone standing up. Beach carried for the PAT.

"B" Det. OGMS picked up their third win by the fat score of 50-6 and handed 3rd ETD their second setback.

Garrison Downs ABMA

Hq. Det. USAG knocked "B" Det. ABMA from the undefeated ranks last week when they out scored "B" Det. 18-14. Fine defensive play was demonstrated late in the fourth period by Hq. Det. when they pushed "B" Det. back to the 10 yard line after they had first and goal to go on the 5 yard line. Garrison and ABMA appeared to have "fumble-itis" in the first period with the ball changing hands on several occasions but with out either team taking advantage of the breaks.

Headquarters scored first when HB Sanders sprinted 70 yards for the first scoring play of the game. The PAT failed. "B" Det countered with a fine scoring play by Mason who returned the kick-off 70 yards for a TD. Fullback Draper went through the middle for the PAT. ABMA had Garrison 8-6 in this stage of the game.

Before the half, Garrison's QB Alfree intercepted a pass on ABMA's 20 yard line and went into the end zone unmolested. The PAT attempt failed. The first half horn sounded with Garrison on the ABMA 5 yard line threatening again. The half time score 12-8 with Garrison leading. Garrison had seven fumbles the first half and ABMA had four.

In the second half "B" Det. kicked off but a free ball was covered by ABMA's Mason who went on to score later from the 20 yard line on a fine run. The PAT failed and no other score was registered in the third period.

Mid-way in the fourth period QB Alfree intercepted another pass and a few plays later his teammate Saunders rambled around end 30 yards for the score.

The try for the PAT failed and this ended scoring for both teams. Capt O'Brien's Headquarters team taking home the winners glory by the score of 18-14. This was the first loss for Lt. Brink-peter's "B" Det squad although they were tied early in the season by the 291st MPC.

291st Downs "A" OGMS

The 291st MPC picked up their second win in a row while downing "A" Det, 18-6, in the Thursday night contest. 291st led scoring through out the contest with a tally in all periods except the third quarter.

The 291st broke the ice in the first period when End Minor intercepted a pass on the 35 yard line and galloped 45 yards into the friendly zone. The attempt for PAT failed. 291st scored again early in the second period on a around the end sprint by HB Schweickert. Again the PAT attempt failed and the score stood MP's 12 and OGMS 0 at half-time.

In the second half, Capt. Blackwell's OGMS unit registered their only score of the contest when Morin picked up an MP fumble and raced 35 yards into the end zone untouched. With the attempted PAT failing, OGMS threatened to score later but a scoring play never materialized.

291st scored once more in the fourth period when their accurate passing QB Nonnwiler fired to End Goode standing in the end zone. The attempted PAT failed. The final horn sounded and the MP's had won their fourth start over OGMS, 18-6.

Greek and Italian Students to Play Soccer Here Soon

Greece versus Italy!

This is not war but the lineup for an international football game to be played here on Dec. 5 by students from the two countries now enrolled at the Army Ordnance Guided Missile School.

The game is being sponsored by the Isom-Gentry Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Kickoff will be at 1:30 on Saturday, Dec. 5, at Goldsmith-Schiffman Field in Huntsville.

This will be the second such match of European-style football that Huntsville has witnessed. Last Thanksgiving two teams of OGMS students from a crown of 2,500 on an icy day. Proceeds enabled the V.F.W. to add 200 under-privileged children to its Christmas charity list, according to C. O. Mullins, post commander.

Ticket sales again will be handled by the band parents of Huntsville and Butler High Schools. Both bands will perform at the game as will the Redstone Band.

This year the Greek and Italian Air Forces will supply the teams, with Capt. Alberto Spadaccini of Italy and Sgt. George Kotsakis of Greece serving as project offi-

Association To Meet

The Redstone Recreation Association will hold its next meeting at 7:30 p.m. November 5, at the Ft. Raymond W. Jones Armory, Memorial Parkway, South Huntsville.

Plans for tours and vacation programs will be discussed at the meeting. Further reservations will be taken for tickets to the Blue-Gray football game at Montgomery and the Senior Bowl at Mobile.

The Judge Advocate Advises

HOME FINANCING
Inquiries received in the Office of the Command Staff Judge Advocate concerning plans to buy or build a home reflect widespread misunderstanding of the nature of the various programs established by the Federal Government to assist eligible veterans and other military personnel.

Eligible personnel may purchase or build their own homes through four different types of home financing: (a) Veterans Administration (VA) financing (commonly referred to as "GI" or Veterans' loans); (b) Federal Housing Administration (FHA) Inservice loans; (c) straight FHA financing; and (d) conventional loans.

The veterans or "GI" home loan program is designed to assist veterans in financing the purchase of reasonably priced homes with small down-payments and at low rates of interest. While the Veterans Administration does not usually lend money, it does guarantee the loan from the bank or other lending agency to the extent of 60 percent of the mortgage or $7500.00, whichever is less.

VA REQUIREMENTS

The active service required to satisfy eligibility requirements may have been performed during World War II or during the Korean conflict and specific details may be obtained from any Veterans Administration Office or from DA Pamphlet 608-2. It should be noted that personnel who have had continuous active duty services since WWII or entry on active duty, if later without a separation, are not eligible until such time as they are separated. Separation in connection with intergration into the Regular Army is not sufficient for this purpose. Eligibility based on service during the Korean conflict cancels any unused eligibility based on World War II service. Personnel interested in purchasing a home under this program should apply to the appropriate Veterans Administration Office for more detailed information and for the necessary certificate of eligibility.

FHA PROVISIONS

The Federal Housing Administration inservice loan provisions are designed to assist service members on active duty who require housing. This loan program is designed primarily to assist members who do not have veteran loan entitlement but is available to all personnel in service who have two years of active duty. Under this program the Federal Housing Administration will guarantee 95 percent of the appraised value of the property not to exceed $17,100.00.

These loans are obtainable at a comparatively low interest rate. An additional 1/2 of 1 percent insurance premium is paid by the Department of the Army so long as the service members remain on active duty. In other words, the loan costs 1/2 percent more after separation from the active service. It is important to note that the mortgage insurance premiums on Federal Housing Administration inservice loans afford protection only to the mortgage lenders in the event of default.

This means that while the mortgage insurance serves to protect the lender from loss, it does not relieve the borrower of his obligation to pay his indebtedness. To be eligible for Federal Housing Administration inservice loans, the service member must meet the following requirements: (1) be currently serving on active duty; (2) have served on active duty in any of the Armed Forces more than two years; and (3) obtain approval of the commanding officer having custody of his military personnel records.

HOME NEED NOT BE HERE

The home which the service members desires to purchase does not necessarily have to be located in the vicinity of his present duty station. It may be located in an area where he may intend to reside after retirement or where he may presently desire to provide a home for his family.

The commanding officer, personnel officer, legal assistance officer, or the nearest Federal Housing Administration office may be contacted for additional information concerning Federal Housing Administration inservice loan financing.

The so-called "straight FHA financing" program has no military emphasis but may be used by both military personnel and civilians. Under this program the Federal Housing Administration insures a portion of the mortgage value as follows: (1) On new housing built under Federal Housing Administration supervision, 93 percent of the first $9,000.00, and 73 percent of the difference between $9,000.00 and the appraised mortgage value, not to exceed a $20,000.00 maximum for a single-family house; (2) On housing built without Federal Housing Administration supervision, 88 percent of the first $9,000.

00, and 73 percent of the difference between $9,000.00 and the appraised value, not to exceed $20,000.00 maximum for a single-family house.

COMMERCIAL INTEREST RATE

The interest rate is normally on a commercially competitive level and together with the mortgage insurance premium is subject to administrative change.

Conventional financing involves no Government insured loan program and is handled entirely by the bank or other lending agency. The interest rate, right of prepayment, and other loan provisions are negotiated directly between the lending agency and the purchaser. The terms are usually less favorable than those obtainable under the Veterans Administration and Federal Housing Administration programs.

It should be clearly understood the neither the Veterans Administration nor the Federal Housing Administration financing programs serve to relieve the borrower-builder or buyer of his personal obligation to pay the loan.

These programs facilitate the financing of the purchase or construction of a home for eligible personnel since the assurance afforded the lender by the Government insurance of the mortgage makes such loans available to more persons than would otherwise be qualified.

FHA DOES NOT LEND

It should also be clearly understood that the Federal Housing Administration does not lend money, build houses, or furnish house plans. Private capital is made available for home loans through the various types of lending institutions participating in the Federal Housing Administration program.

FHA's part in each transaction is to insure the lending institution against loss on these loans. This insurance does not, of course, protect the borrower against loss in the event of default or a decline in property values. The individual who wishes to build or buy with the assistance of such a financing program should, after obtaining the necessary certificates of eligibility, apply at any lending institution (bank, savings and loan association, mortgage company, or similar lending organization) that makes such FHA-insured loans in the area of the property.

If the institution is willing to lend the money, it draws up the terms of the mortgage and makes all the arrangements necessary for the transaction but it must be emphasized that all steps in arranging for such a loan, the assumption of the obligation for the mortgage debt and its payment according to the terms of the agreement, as well as the construction plans and ultimate occupancy of the home, are purely personal undertakings and involve individual decisions. Individual obligations are not protected or diminished in any way by the borrower's service, status, or the Government's insurance of the mortgage.

The Federal Housing Administration insuring or service offices most conveniently situated for personnel at Redstone Arsenal are in the City Hall, Birmingham, Ala.; at 717-A Holcomb Avenue, Mobile, Ala.; and at 101 Marietta Street Bldg., Atlanta 3, Ga. The

Williams Is Chosen Week's Safe Worker

Twenty-four year old Claude E. Williams, SP/4, an instructor in the External Guidance Section, La Crosse Branch, SSM Division, at the Ordnance Guided Missile School, is selected as safe worker of the week by the Redstone Safety Division.

SP4 Williams was nominated for this recognition by his supervisor who was highly enthusiastic in his praise of him for the exercise of safe conduct in the performance of his duties and for the high regard he shows for the safety of his fellow workers.

Williams was born and reared at Lufkin, Texas, a thriving little city in the deep eastern part of

Ceilley Named Safe Supervisor of Week

Robert Ceilley, supervisor of the Mechanical Prototype Shop in the Guidance and Control Service Center of Chrysler Corporation Missile Division, has been selected as this week's safe supervisor. This shop is responsible for all metal fabrication and assembly work done in the Guidance and Control Service Center.

Ceilley served in the Navy for five years as a boatswain's mate and joined Chrysler Corporation as a machine operator in 1952. In June of 1956 he was assigned to his present position where he has remained since that time.

Safety consciousness is a must in the operation of a shop where nearly every type of metal working machine is in use according to Ceilley. This constant attention and good safety practices are evident in the outstanding record of no lost time accidents by either Ceilley or his employees in over three years of operation.

Ceilley advises that he feels the most effective methods of preventing accidents through supervision are to learn the unsafe working habits that have caused past accidents then avoid practices most likely to result in serious injury, damage, delay, waste, or interference.

Mr. and Mrs. Ceilley make their home at McAllister's Trailer Court. Among Mr. Ceilley's hobbies are photography, gem-cutting and bowling.

Williams came to Redstone in February last year and unhesitatingly states this is the best installation, ever.

Williams is single and his hobby is electronics. He proposes to pursue his studies in this subject and make a career of this field.

Mother Visits Set To See Filming of Dr. von Braun Story

MUNICH: When Baroness von Braun, now in her seventies, visited the set of "I Aim At the Stars", The Wernher von Braun Story, Curt Jurgens, who portrays Dr. von Braun, said: "You must be very proud of your son, Baroness."

"I am proud of all my sons," she said. And she has good cause to be, for it is doubtful if any other mother ever had three more successful sons.

Dr. Wernher von Braun, is one of the very great scientists in the world in the field of rockets and space missiles, while another son, Sigismund, holds the position of Chief of Protocol in the German government at Bonn. The third son, Magnus, is an executive with the Chrysler Corp. in Detroit.

Arlington Rites Are Held For AOMC Man

Funeral services were held last Thursday in the chapel at Arlington National Cemetery for William T. Comer. Until the time of his death, he was Control Advisor at the Army Ordnance Missile Command.

Comer, in a letter to Maj. Gen. J. B. Medaris, commanding general of the U. S. Army Ordnance Missile Command, requested the general to help make the arrangements for burial in Arlington and expressed his personal gratitude to the general. Comer was a World War I veteran.

He also left a letter to Col. H. A. Heath, acting chief of staff for Control, and thanked him for his cooperation and help in their working relationship.

At the time of his death, Comer was visiting in Washington, D. C., where he had formerly worked. He joined the AOMC staff in July of this year.

Mr. Comer is survived by his widow, two sons and a daughter.
