

MISSILE SCIENTIST'S FAMILY WINS RODEO, RIDING TROPHIES

White Sands Missile Range, N. M.—Exhibition riding, pole bending or barrel racing, it's all in the family of the "horse riding" Sherburnes at White Sands Missile Range.

R. K. Sherburne, chief scientist at the missile range, his wife and their four daughters, Kathleen, Francena, Eleanor and Connie, are active members of the local Organ Mountain Riding Club and participate in horse shows and rodeos throughout the state.

The Sherburnes first became interested in rodeo riding while living in New England, and now horseback riding is a family function. Among them they own eight horses including a pair of matched palominos that belong to the oldest girls.

In addition to boxes of ribbon-awards and a case full of trophies the girls have won money, spurs, belts and belt buckles in various types of competitive riding the past two years.

"All four girls have appeared in regular horse shows and rodeos in Texas and New Mexico, from Albuquerque, and Roswell and Carlsbad to Deming," Mrs. Sherburne said.

Kathleen, 13, and Francena, 9, have won numerous awards in "Matched Pair" riding with their palomino mares, Golden O'Hara and Freeman's Golden Duchess, including first place at the State Fair in Albuquerque last fall.

Francena placed third in riding at the 1959 New Mexico Horsemen Association show at Roswell, and was high point rider in her age group at the recent Junior Horse Show in Carlsbad.

Eleanor was fifth in barrel racing in the State in 1959, and five-year-old Connie was runner-up in the Junior Horse Show in Albuquerque in April.

Just recently, Eleanor was selected outstanding junior rider at Organ Mountain Riding Club's Field Day, and Kathleen became a member of the "Thunderbirds," a mounted square-dance team and exhibition riders in Las Cruces.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherburne are teachers and trainers for their riding daughters, and when there is a show or rodeo within a reasonable distance of WSMR, they stow daughters, bed rolls and tack in the station wagon, and horses in the trailer, and set out.

"We are Easterners — Kathleen was born in Rhode Island — but we transplanted ourselves in New Mexico some 10 years ago and now consider Las Cruces our home," Mrs. Sherburne explained.

But, it isn't all "horse" with the Sherburne sisters. They have other talents and interests.

Kathleen, an eighth grader, swims and holds a junior Red Cross life saving badge. She plays the piano, violin and accordion, and won a trophy for having made the most progress in the Las Cruces Junior Accordion Band.

She was a Girl Scout for three years and received third place in a state baton twirling contest when she was nine years old.

She is a member of the 4-H Club and won the Dona Ana sweater award for outstanding 4-H work in the county. She belongs to the 4-H horse club and to "Fling Fingers," a cooking and sewing unit.

Francena is in the fourth grade, studies piano and accordion and plays in the Las Cruces Junior Accordion Band. She, too, belongs to the 4-H Club, and recently "flew up" to Girl Scout from the Brownies.

Francena swims and studies ballet, and along with Kathleen, sings in the choir at St. James Episcopal Church in Las Cruces.

Her favorite pet is a Chihuahua dog that she bought recently with rodeo prize money. In her mother's words, she is the "lady" of the family.

"Eleanor is our tomboy," Mrs. Sherburne described their third daughter. "Along with studying ballet and piano, she is practicing calf riding."

Seven-year-old Eleanor, as bouncy as a wire-haired terrier, will be in the second grade next year and is a member of the Brownies. Although she spends much of her time at the corral, she has a "second love"—a Siam-

Gates, Seaton Sign Fish, Wildlife Memo

...Washington (AFPS) — The Department of Defense and the Department of Interior have entered into an agreement on the operation of fish and wildlife conservation on military reservations.

A Memorandum of Understanding" was signed by Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates, Jr., and Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton. Both departments recognized the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior, as the appropriate Federal research authority, and the technical advisory and consulting agency for planning the development and management of fish and wildlife conservation programs. This includes areas presently under military control or those which may come under such control in the future.

Secretary Gates said, in part: "This agreement recognizes the Department of the Interior as the advisor to the Dept. of Defense in conservation matters. The nation's conservation program is a public thrust, and we welcome the advice of those persons learned in the field of resource management."

Speaking of the agreement, Secretary Seaton said: "We enter on this cooperative effort with enthusiasm and look with hope toward the beneficial results it will produce in the years ahead." Present at the signing of the agreement were representatives of all the Armed Services along with members of the nation's leading conservation societies.

Little Connie, blonde and blue-eyed, will start school in the first grade in September. Although she still has difficulty mounting her small pony alone, she is very much at home in the saddle and has won her share of the awards.

Since taking a spill during a contest about a year ago, Connie favors regular shows and leaves rodeo riding pretty much to the older girls.

SECTION TWO

NOT QUITE A CINCH—Although too small to saddle her pint size pony, Chocolate, five-year-old Connie, youngest of the Sherburne sisters, knows the technique for tightening the girth. Connie prefers show riding to rodeos and placed second in her age group in the Junior Horse Show in Albuquerque in the spring.

'A High Goal'

It is not from government, but rather from all of us as individuals that the wisdom and determination must come to create dynamic national policies and to translate them into action. Within each of us should burn the spark—the flame ready to kindle other fires. Our history clearly reveals that when the goal is set high for our people, great things are accomplished and new heights are achieved. Today, in this surging era—tainted with seeming grayness and indecision—the power to assure the progress and security of our country—as well as the whole Free World—is still within our capabilities if we but know and use our strength.

This is where a continuous catalytic action is required. We are faced with a vital, national task to lift our horizon and rekindle the spirit and dynamism of our forefathers. It depends upon industry, on labor, on government, and on the Armed Forces—but basically it is an individual task—demanding the dedication of every loyal American.

Mere outlay of money or physical resources alone will not bring a day, an hour, or a moment of real security. That objective can only be realized by greater vigilance, wisdom and determination on the part of all of us, but of great importance also is the refurbished image of an alert America purged by sacrifices and brightened by policies that give greater hope to free men everywhere.

We must again become inspired with the spiritual strength, determination, and fortitude of our forefathers. We must replace fear with faith; complacency with courage.

The great days of America need not lie shrouded in past glories. We have but touched the mezzanine of national achievement. Unlimited is our future if we have the courage to seek it. The days of the coming years burn bright with promise—for those who dare! We must stop wasting our heritage and move on to a greater destiny. Free men everywhere pray that we will find the wisdom and the strength to do so.

I can think of no better way to assert what I believe our national spirit and goal should be today, than to echo the challenging words of Daniel Webster—inspiring words proudly inscribed on the wall above the Speaker's Chair in our House of Representatives:

"Let us develop the resources of our land, call forth its power; build its institutions, promote all its great interests and see whether we also in our day and generation may not perform something worthy to be remembered."

Paul Revere's Ride Not His Major Pride

Boston (AFPS) — Paul Revere could be justifiably proud of his patriotic service in arousing the Massachusetts countryside to the marching British on the night April 19, 1775. It makes his place in American history secure.

He could also take pride in his artistry as a silversmith. Now Massachusetts Secretary of State Joseph D. Ward offers the information that what gave Revere the most satisfaction was his skill as a dentist.

"Paul Revere flatters himself," he advertised in a Boston paper of 1770, "that from the experience he has had these two years that he can fix (artificial teeth) as well as any surgeon dentist who ever came from London.

"He fixes them in such a manner that they are not only an ornament but of real use in speaking and eating."

Nor did the protean Paul limit his talents to silver work and dentistry. He was a popular cartoonist and a gifted etcher in copper. His plates printed the first money issued by the Continental Congress.

Family papers also show that he was commissioned to go to Philadelphia to learn how to make gunpowder. "Mr. Paul Revere," read the letter, "As you are bound to Philadelphia where powder mills are erected and manufacturing carried on with considerable dispatch . . . you are desired to possess your self as far as you can of the knowledge of making powder."

And he did. The documents show that he later set up a powder mill.

Nation's Youth Defended As Dedicated to Country

Washington (AFPS) — The Defense Department's top manpower and reserve official defended the nation's youth recently and said he was tired of armchair "moralists" who are "forever clucking their tongues" and proclaiming the deterioration of America's younger generation.

Charles C. Finucane, Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower, Personnel and Reserve, particularly took issue with the "self-appointed experts" who view with alarm the nation's manpower program.

"I do wish to emphasize," he told the National Convention of the Reserve Officers Assn. in New York, "that those who are critical of today's officer and enlisted man, and especially those who contend that the man of today is not the equal of the man of yesterday, seem to me to be totally wide of the mark."

He said the facts support an entirely opposite viewpoint. "Nothing in our military experience in recent years tends in the slightest to support any such contention," he declared.

Mr. Finucane took issue with the critics of today's youthful America and said "I believe today's soldier, sailor, airman and Marine, both on active and inactive duty, is every bit as dedicated to the welfare of his country as any who have gone before him."

"He is paid better, but not overpaid. He is shown appropriate consideration, but not given special privilege. He is expected to do his duty, and he does it," he declared.

Perhaps the greatest tribute to America's fighting man came when Mr. Finucane said of him: "He is not perfect, and he has his faults, but that's a part of what makes the unbeatable soldier that he is—the best there is when the chips are down."

Mr. Finucane lauded the Reserve role in today's defense posture and cited Army, Navy and Air Force Reserves who take an active part in national defense by manning ships and Nike sites, by flying mercy missions and being on the alert with fighter squadrons.

"Today for all practical purposes, some of our people are on active duty and some of our people are on inactive duty, but the entire force is a ready force defense."

Washington (AFPS) — Able to look deep into enemy territory, a new portable radar system will provide Army combat commanders photographic plots of enemy activities — such as buildups, deployments or withdrawals.

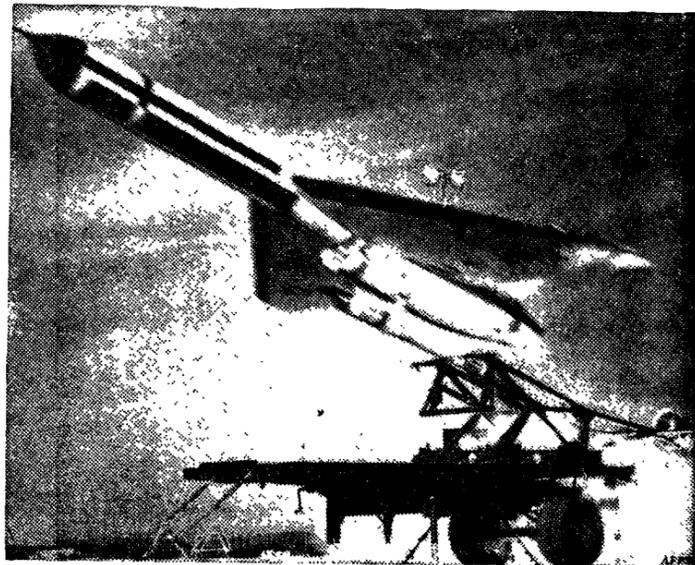

The new vantage point system detects slight movements towards or away from the radar.

The entire system, weighing approximately 600 pounds, is transported by helicopter to a point overlooking enemy terrain. A three-man crew sets up the three-piece antenna and assembles the equipment.

In a relatively short time the radar is plotting movement of enemy targets. Information gathered is then relayed to headquarters. Faster but less accurate locating and tracking of objects can be done aurally by earphones.

Based on designs originated by Project Michigan, the first model of the new system has been turned over to the Army Combat Surveillance Agency of the Signal Corps for field experiments.

Project Michigan is a continuing research and development program being carried out at the University of Michigan's Willow Run Laboratories to increase the Army's capabilities in combat surveillance and target acquisition.

P-2 Payments Scheduled For Fiscal Year 1961

WASHINGTON, (AFPS) — The services have announced plans for awarding P-2 enlisted proficiency payments of $60 a month for fiscal year (FY) 1961.

The Department of the Army has been authorized by the Department of Defense to program P-2 proficiency ratings at $60 per month during FY '61 so as to have 7,000 enlisted personnel in P-2 status by June 30, 1961.

The number of P-2 ratings by MOS will be established by the Army. These advanced proficiency ratings will be awarded in MOSs that are most critical to Army requirements as determined by training time, reenlistment rates, and shortages of qualified personnel. MOSs authorized P-2 payments will be announced on a monthly basis until the year-end objective is reached.

Unit commanders have the authority to award P-2 ratings to individuals who have held a P-1 rating continuously since Jan. 1, 1960, and who are assigned and utilized in accordance with existing regulations.

Personnel are eligible for P-2 pay in the following MOSs: 988.1, 988.2, 988.6, 988.7, 931.1, 931.2, 931.6, 931.7, 931.8. Unit commanders retain the authority to withhold or to award the P-2 ratings.

A Navy spokesman said some 1,250 men are expected to be drawing P-2 pay beginning July 1960. He emphasized that the Navy's program on pro-pay will be essentially the same as it was in FY 1960, except for the addition of P-2 pay.

The Air Force reported that some 8,333 airmen will be drawing the extra $60 monthly by the end of FY '61 in about 25 or 30 critical skills.

At first, the Air Force said, it expects to put 2,100 men on P-2 rolls by September, but they will be limited to seven and nine level airmen in grades of technical sergeant and above.

The Marine Corps estimated about 1,444 leathernecks in 25 or 30 of the Corps' "most critical" skills will start drawing the extra $60 a month beginning Jan. 1,

Constitution Is Check Against Power Grabs

The men who framed the Constitution were determined to protect the nation from a military dictator or a small group of individuals who might try to seize control. For this reason they divided the powers of the Federal Government among three separate branches—the legislative to make the laws, the executive to see that the laws are carried out, and the judicial to administer justice and protect the rights of the individual.

The Constitution makers also made sure that no political party or faction could get possession of all three branches of government at a single election. This was accomplished by providing different terms of office and different ways of selecting key officials.

Members of the House of Representatives are elected for a term of two years and Senators for six year terms. Since the terms of one third of them expire every two years, the entire membership of the Senate is not subject to election at any one time.

In the executive branch, the President is elected for a four year term, while in the judicial

Headquarters Marine Corps (HQMC) said those eligible for P-2 ratings will be personnel in grades E-4 through E-6 who have drawn P-1 pay continuously for at least six months immediately prior to the date P-2 is awarded.

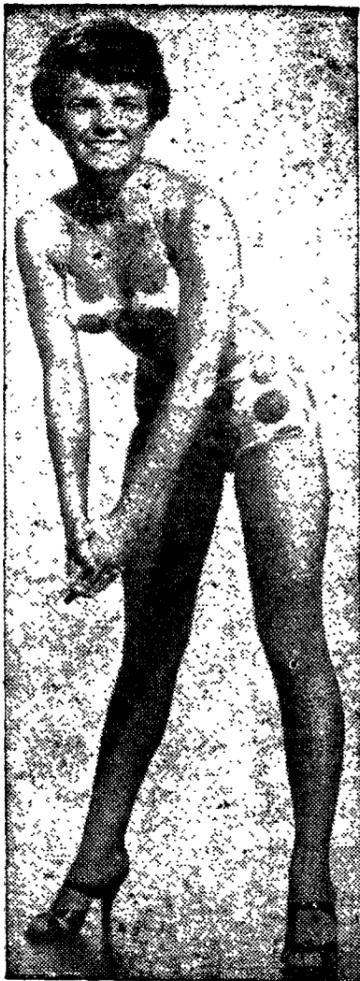

These "most critical skills," according to HQMC, have not yet been finally determined. "It is planned, however, that approximately 25 will be selected from among the 35 MOSs on the group 1 list for P-1 awards," it added.

It was indicated that introduction of the P-2 program may reduce the number of P-1 slots awarded during the fiscal year.

A Marine Corps spokesman said that "due to budgetary limitations, funds expended by the corps for both P-1 and P-2 pay in FY '61 may not exceed the dollar amount originally budgeted for P-1."

In its budget for fiscal 1961, the Defense Department asked Congress for authority to boost some 230,000 servicemen to proficiency pay during the year.

Included in the proposal were allocations for 86,000 Army, 54,000 Navy, 12,000 Marines, and 78,000 Air Force. The budget also asked for 10,000 P-2 payments for FY '61.

Goddard Given Langley Medal by Smithsonian

Washington (AFPS) — "The father of the science of modern rocketry," Dr. Robert H. Goddard, was posthumously honored here by award of the Smithsonian Institution's Langley Medal, previously awarded only eight times since its establishment in 1908.

In a double ceremony the Smithsonian accepted from Air Force Sec. Dudley C. Sharp an Atlas rocket of the type that recently hurled a nose cone from Cape Canaveral to the Indian Ocean—a distance of 9,040 miles —in 52.5 minutes. The medal was presented to Dr. Goddard's widow "in recognition of his specially meritorious investigations in connection with the science of rocketry and of controlled flight through the atmosphere and the space beyond."

First given to the Wright brothers in 1909, the Langley Medal has since been awarded to Glenn H. Curtiss, Gustave Eiffel, Charles A. Lindbergh, Charles M. Manley, Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, Joseph S. Ames and Jerome C. Hunsaker.

The Smithsonian in 1919 published Dr. Goddard's first report demonstrating the feasibility of sending a rocket to any desired height—even to the moon. Mrs. Goddard helped her husband, who died in 1945, in the rocketry research he began 50 years ago at Clark University.

The 75-foot Atlas which the Air Force presented to the Institution, topped by a nose cone of the heat-sink type, has been installed outside the entrance to the Institution's Aircraft Building.

SECRETARY BRUCKER SAID IT: "The United States is truly dedicated to peace, but let no potential aggressor make the fatal mistake of believing that our dedication to peace is any sign of pacifistic weakness. We are also dedicated to right and freedom, and we will defend them at any cost."

JUMPING CELEBRITIES — M-Sgt. William "Red" King (left), the first enlisted paratrooper in the U. S. Army, grips the hand of M-Sgt. Paul B. Huff, the first paratrooper to win the Medal of Honor. Both men are members of the 101st Airborne Div., at Ft. Campbell, Ky., and celebrated the 20th anniversary of the American Army Airborne by making their 351st and 200th jumps respectively.

Airborne Celebrates 20th Anniversary

"Where is the prince," asked Benjamin Franklin, "who can so afford to cover his country with troops that 10,000 men descending from the clouds might not in many places do an infinite amount of mischief before a force could be brought together to repel them?"

Franklin was prophetic in this as in so many other fields. It is 20 years ago that the Army's paratroops came into being when a War Department letter established a Parachute Test Platoon of two officers and 48 enlisted men.

And it was less than four years later that two full airborne divisions spearheaded the Normandy

1960-61 HUNTING SEASONS LISTED

Game Bag Limits Also Given

Alabama's seasons for hunting, trapping, fishing and bag and creel limits have been set for the 1960-61 season, it was announced today by Julian McGowin, Chairman of the State's Advisory Board of Conservation.

Major changes approved by today's annual board meet listed unlimited permits for hunters in the National Forest Management areas.

Board members agreed on lifting permit requirements that before necessitated turning away numerous hunting permit requests because of the regulation limiting the number of hunters.

Referring to the no-permit requirements, it was the Board's opinion that lifting the restriction would "allow everyone to participate in the hunts if they so desire, and since permits are unlimited and several areas will open on the same date there will be no appreciable increase in the number of hunters participating in National Forest hunts."

Another major change confined legal deer to bucks with antlers visible above the natural hair-line. Last year's regulations required that a four-inch antler be visible. Board members agreed that this requirement would prevent the killing of the so-called (button) deer, and would allow determination of a legal and illegal deer.

It was decided to remove the Coturnix Quail from the game bird list. Conservationists said since there was no evidence that this bird existed in Alabama (except in captivity), continued protection was not necessary.

Hunting seasons for 1960-61 are as follows:

DEER — Bucks with antlers visible above natural hair-line only may be taken one a day or three a season from November 10 through January 1. Dog hunting and stalk hunting will be legal on the same dates only in the following counties and areas: Bibb, Butler, Choctaw, Clarke, Conecuh, Covington, Escambia, Greene, Hale, Jefferson, Marengo, Mobile, Monroe, Perry, Pickens, Russell, Shelby, Sumter, Tuscaloosa, Washington, Walker, Wilcox, and Baldwin County except south and west of U. S. Highway 90, and Fort Rucker Reservation.

The advisory board pointed out that hunting in National Forest Management areas would be governed by "managed hunts" in the area and not by the counties in which they are located.

Dog and stalk hunting will open from November 10 through November 19 only in Autauga, Barbour, Chilton, Coosa, DeKalb, and Dallas County north of U. S. Highway 80. Hunting in Colbert County and in Franklin County north of Alabama Highway 24 will be Nov. 10-11; Nov. 18-19; Nov. 24-25; and Dec. 2-3.

Stalk hunting only (no dogs allowed), using shotguns with slugs or rifles .240 or larger will be legal from November 10 through January 1 only in Randolph and Clay County east of Alabama Highway 9, and from November 10 through November 23 in Colhoun County south of the Piedmont-Borden Springs Road and east of the Piedmont-White Plains-DeArmanville Road to the intersection of U. S. Highway 78, and Cleburne County only.

Bow and arrow hunting of deer, in addition to the regular season, will be legal in the counties and areas open to deer hunting from November 1 through November 9.

TURKEY — Gobblers only may be taken one a day or five during the entire 1960-61 seasons in the counties of Clay, Coosa, Jefferson, Randolph, Shelby, Talladega, Tuscaloosa and Walker during the fall season Nov. 10-Jan. 1 and the spring season March 25-April 20.

the spring season March 20-April 15.

The spring season only will open to turkey from March 20-April 15 in Bullock, Dallas, Perry, Sumter, and Fort Rucker Reservation. Bow and arrow turkey hunting in addition to the regular season, will be legal in the counties and areas open to fall hunting of gobblers from Nov. 1-9.

BOB-WHITE QUAIL — Hunting for bob-white quail will open from Nov. 20-Feb. 20 with a limit of 10 a day or 10 in possession.

RABBIT — Rabbits may be hunted with a gun from Oct. 15-Feb. 20 with a limit set at six a day.

THE ARMY'S OLDEST LIVING SCOUT, Jeff King is shown a model of NIKE HERCULES by Lt. Gen. J. H. Hinrichs, Chief of Ordnance. Earlier, King received an Indian Campaign Medal from General Hinrichs who pointed out that the Army was proud to welcome him not only as a former soldier but as a man respected and revered among the Navajo as a medicine man. King served in the U. S. Army for more than 20 years, most of that time as a scout with cavalry troops from Fort Wingate, New Mexico.

"A CAPTAIN . . . is absolute authority over the guidance of his ship, as well as being responsible not only for her safety but for the safety of all on board. Under ordinary conditions, his judgment, instructions and commands must be complied with and may not be questioned."

This passage from Chapman's Piloting, Seamanship and Small Boat Handling, should explain to guests aboard a boat (no matter what size) why the skipper may at times appear to be arbitrary and unreasonable.

Servicemen should be the first to understand why this rule is necessary. Responsibility lies at the top and can never be delegated to someone else.

If you remember this passage the next time a friend invites you aboard his craft for a fishing or pleasure cruise, you'll be doing yourself a favor as well as the boat owner. If the position is reversed and you are the skipper of your own or a borrowed or rented craft. Keep in mind that you are legally responsible for the safety and welfare of your passengers.
