Exhibit Within Exhibit Is Scheduled For Fair

Pentadome Will House Displays

The U. S. Army will provide spectators at the Alabama State Fair an exhibit this year.

The most complete display of Army missiles ever shown the general public will be placed inside a seven-story-high, air-inflated nylon structure known as the Pentadome.

Provided by the Army Ordnance Missile Command and the Ordnance Guided Missile School, the exhibit will include 13 missiles and rockets developed by the Army scientists and engineers at Redstone, as well as three drone aircraft systems.

Electronic missiles tracking equipment, long-range cameras, and key-punch machines will be displayed along with the systems. Many of the items will be arranged to perform some function at the direction of visitors to the Fair. Some of the equipment is being brought to Birmingham from the Army's test ranges at White Sands, New Mexico.

The Pentadome is a striking structure itself. At the center, it is 85 feet high and measures 150 feet in diameter. It covers more than two acres of ground and will accommodate approximately 30,000 visitors at once. Made of vinyl nylon, it is supported entirely by air pressure provided by several blowers located on the side of the dome. Entrance to the "building" is gained through revolving doors. A 100-foot airlock on the rear of the structure allows for in and out movement of heavy equipment and large displays.

The gigantic Pentadome appears to be one-half of a large world globe because of the map of the northern hemisphere painted on its outer surface.

The Pentadome was invented by Kenneth E. Joy, chief of the Quality Assurance Division in ABMA's Industrial Operations. For his design of this structure, Joy received the Exceptional Civilian Service Award from Secretary of the Army Wilbur M. Bruckert.

Bird Air Corporation of Buffalo, New York, developed the Pentadome further after Joy had received the design patent. The Army Quartermaster Research and Engineering Command at Natick, Massachusetts, assisted in the fabrication of the structure, designed for storage of Ordnance production items.

As its name indicates, the Pentadome actually consists of five domes. However, only the large center dome will be used at the State Fair. Erection of the giant bubble began early on the morning of Sept. 19. By 3 p. m. on the afternoon of the 20th, the air pumps had raised the nylon skin into its hemispheric shape. While actual inflation time is less than 45 minutes, concrete anchors and tie-downs had to be installed beforehand.

The Army missiles and rockets to be displayed inside the Pentadome represent a major portion of America's arsenal of weapons. Ranging in size from the 34-inch SS-10 anti-tank missile to the 69-foot Redstone ballistic missile, they fill a wide range of missions in today's Army. Many of them are now in the hands of troops, both in the United States and overseas. Some of them have been supplied to NATO countries.

But, the real stars of the show are two missiles now in the developmental stage. Both are highly important to the Army and to the American people.

Nike Zeus, third generation of the famous Nike family, is the only anti-missile currently under development by the United States. Now undergoing tests at White Sands Missile Range, New Mexico, it was designed and developed by the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency.

The Zeus will be tested in the Pacific against the Atlas ICBM. The Atlas will be fired from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California, toward Kwajalein Island in the South Pacific. Zeus will be fired from Kwajalein to intercept the Atlas in flight.

Pershing, a solid propellant, two-stage ballistic missile, is being tested at Cape Canaveral, Fla. Designed to replace the operational Redstone, it will be used in general support of the Field Army. In its test program, Pershing has set an unequalled record with six successful firings in as many attempts. When mounted on its fully tracked prime mover, the XM-474, the missile can be moved into an unprepared position, erected and launched in a matter of minutes. The completely air transportable system was developed by the Army Ballistic Missile Agency.

The exhibit will also include the following rockets and missiles: Honest John, Little John, Lacrosse, Corporal, Sergeant, SS-10, Redeye, Hawk, Redstone, Nike Hercules and Nike Ajax.

Hail! and Farewell! Are UGF 'Fair Share'

The first and the final signatures of Lt. Col. Robert C. Skillinger, as Chief of the Field Maintenance Division were not the usual official forms.

Col. Skillinger arrived in the Field Maintenance Division in October, 1958 in time to write his first "fair share" check for the Redstone United Givers Fund Drive.

He's leaving on the same note, a "fair share" check to UGF Oct. 22 was his final official signature in the Field Maintenance Division. The Field Maintenance Division was one of the first to pledge 100% fair share in 1960.

Col. Skillinger is now Director, Depot Operations, Redstone Arsenal.

RAISING OF THE giant Pentadome for the U. S. Army exhibit at the 1960 Alabama State Fair began last week. The nylon "walls" were stretched over the area to be covered and anchored to concrete moorings prior to inflation.

WHEN COMPLETELY INFLATED, the Pentadome measures 85 feet in height and 150 feet in diameter. Equipment and displays are placed inside through a 100-foot airlock on the rear side. Air is continually blown into the structure to compensate for losses, through doors and movement of equipment through the airlock. Small punctures in the surface will not affect the "building."

for the dedication of our new headquarters building and reception of the public." Col. Zierdt said that a full day's schedule of activities is planned. The dedication ceremony will begin at 10 a. m. in front of the new building on the Arsenal's Martin road. From 10:30 until 5 p. m., an exhibit area immediately east of the structure will be open. Also, during this period, conducted tour will be taken through the new building.

Under development at the present time are plans for the transport of visitors to a missile firing range, where special programs are contemplated. A full announcement of this aspect of the Open House will be made shortly.

Col. Zierdt emphasized that cameras may not be carried or employed by visitors in any part of the Arsenal.

Gus Brown, Chief of Facilities Planning, ARGMA, will be master of ceremonies at the building dedication. The welcoming address will be made by Col. Zierdt. Gen. August Schomburg, commanding general of the Army Ordnance Missile Command, will act as dedicating official of the new headquarters building.

The exhibit area will contain contractor's displays in three large tents. The bulk of these exhibits will portray the ORGMA-industry affiliation in the development and production of Army missile systems. Pamphlets and brochures will be distributed.

Static displays of Nike Ajax, Nike Hercules, Nike Zeus, the Lacrosse, SS-10 and SS-11 anti-tank missiles, and the Redeye missile will be on view. An adjacent area will house various Army target missiles.

The guided tours through the new building which will commence at the time the exhibit area is opened, will last about 30 minutes. Bus tours leaving on a regular schedule will take visitors to various ARGMA facilities, Thiokol Chemical Corporation and the Rohm & Haas Laboratories.

A sister organization to ARGMA, the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, will also be represented, in displays of seven of the ABMA missile systems. These are

Purples Predominate Clothes for Fall

Fall fashions from Harold's in Huntsville highlighted the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club luncheon at the Squirrel Hill Officers Club on Sept. 21.

Lunch was preceded by a social half hour in the Nike room.

Lunch was served in the Hawk room to approximately 200 members of the Officers Wives Club and their houseguests.

Miss Sally Henderson of Harold's narrated the fashion show which followed.

Stress for the show was on afternoon and evening costumes, with a sprinkling of street and sportswear. The hats were of fur felt, iridescent feathers, and fur. Most were patterns of the "flapper" hats of the 1920s.

The show opened with a black velvet evening dress and mink stole. The sheath dress had a squared off neckline with wide straps at the shoulders.

A bulky, brushed mohair sweater and a three quarter length tweed coat over slim slacks were the only sports costumes shown.

Evening dresses ranged from slim sheaths to wide dancing skirts. One black taffeta had a lace overskirt suggesting Dior influence. Simplicity and elegance were the keynote in the group. Two slim brocade sheaths, one in gold, the other white, were topped by matching coats. The stark white coat collar was outlined in black Canadian fox fur. Both coats were cut on full, easy-swinging lines.

Loose, Chanel inspired jackets topped both skirts and matching dresses.

One very fine wool suit of winter white was emphasized with orange and green accessories. The jacket had a draped waist that fastened with a glitter of brilliants. The skirt was slim.

A full skirt grey wool knit dress with a suggestion of puff at the sleeves had a square neckline daintily outlined in pearls and rhinestones suitable for cocktails and dinner.

The predominant color was purple, ranging from pale amethyst to black ruby. Suits and coats reflected purple in tweeds, plaids and checks.

The show ended on an elegant evening display including a ruby pink Ceil Chapman gown of chiffon. Mink was the frosting to ward off the chill.

Eight Wives Club members were the models: Mrs. John Palsrok, Mrs. H. L. Gotzian, Mrs. M. A. Sulkowski, Mrs. P. R. Moffett, Jr., Mrs. P. A. Lamoure, Mrs. R. A. Bergmann, and Mrs. J. M. Shortridge.

The overall chairman for the event was Mrs. L. H. LeVine. Mrs. W. G. Trainer was program chairman; Mrs. H. C. McClain, menu; Mrs. D. H. Jones, publicity and Mrs. R. G. Heller, Mrs. H. L. Gotzian, Mrs. David Robinson, Mrs. R. L. Goodale and Mrs. P. A. Lamoure, decorations.

Mrs. Palsrok was chairman of the telephone and hostess committee which included Mrs. Trainer and Mrs. W. H. Ballard.

Robert Betka, Mrs. Donald Voorhees, Mrs. Wilber Bemis, Jr., Mrs. Thomas Koeneman, and Mrs. R. M. DeYoung.

Pouring sherry were Mrs. Donald Smith, Mrs. Burton Shook, Mrs. J. C. McBroom, Mrs. H. C. McClain, and Mrs. C. C. Rollings.

Model assistants were Mrs. S. W. Curtis, Mrs. McClain, Mrs. W. Curtis, Mrs. McClain, Mrs. W. Curtis, Mrs. McClain, Mrs. W. Curtis, Mrs. McClain.

At the Service Club

This is Betty's "chore", keeping the troops informed as to what's "cooking" around the Service Club; but since Betty is on her belated vacation and enjoying the life of a lady, it has fallen my lot to carry on in the field of journalism. Please bear with me in her absence. I, too, will take a vacation one of these days—like October!

The Service Club Staff still can't believe we have a new member as talented as our girl Margaret Richardson. When you read all those fancy hand bills and posters floating around post, you will know what we mean. Margaret is the girl who does the art work. Now I ask you, isn't she the most?

Everyone worked their "eyeballs" out on the latest production presented at the Service Club, "The Roaring Twenties", and much to my relief, it was a great success. We had many problems getting the gals and boys to rehearsals at the same time; but, it's all over now, and the reports keep rolling in on how much they enjoyed the show. A special thanks to all the cast and to everyone who gave us a helping hand. Don't run, we'll be calling again some time for the All-Army Entertainment Contest next year.

Now that the Service Club is back to normal, and the boys once again are requesting the "Hungry I", I'll give you the latest dope on what to expect in the way of entertainment for the next couple of weeks—so sit back, relax, and read on.

First off, there's our Indian Summer Dance featuring Hilding Holmberg and his royal Huntsvillians, tomorrow night here at your Service Club at the usual time. 2030 hours. While I'm on the subject of dances, the Back to School Dance with the new improved Gene Louis Sextet was a rah rah success. We had "beaucoup" gals, much to the delight of the "troopers". Everyone had a fine time—and speaking of young ladies—our Junior Hostess group is open for new members. Why don't you come by and join up?

We have a wonderful dance instructor, Jim Doeffinger, who instructs a dance class every Wednesday night, starting at 1930 hours. He teaches everything from the waltz to the bop—this is all for free and besides, the girls are always available for dancing partners.

Another activity you may enjoy is bridge or pinochle. If you don't know how, we'll teach you. I could go on rattling off all the many facilities the Service Club has to offer both to the young ladies and young men at Redstone Arsenal, but we are limited for space, so why not come on over and see for yourself.

DRIED FLOWERS TOPIC AT GARDEN CLUB MEETING

Mrs. George S. French discussed "How to Dry Flowers and Foilage" at the September meeting of the Redstone Officers Wives Garden Club at the Squirrel Hill Officers Club last week. A workshop followed the discussion, with the members using materials gathered during a field trip on Sept. 10.

Dried flower arrangements or materials for making arrangements were awarded as door prizes. The first prize went to Mrs. C. E. Fite. Mrs. A. V. Garbrant received second prize, and third door prize went to Mrs. S. S. Ball.

Mrs. E. M. Riddlehoover and Mrs. W. D. H. Blackman were welcomed as new members.

The garden club plaque for the month of September was awarded Maj. and Mrs. Carl W. Gustafsson, 418 Rice Drive. The club will meet again on Oct. 18.

contest held on Sept. 16. Pfc Ronald J. Syphard, 165th Ord. Det, came in second. Ron told me he was going to win first place next time—so look out, Jim, you have a real contender.

Sgt. Joe Rice will be departing RSA come the first of October and the Service Club Staff feels we are losing our right arm. Sgt. Rice has put in many long hours at the Service Club beyond normal duty hours and we thank you, Joe, from the bottom of our hearts.

Come October, our schedule calls for a tour to Dismal Gardens at Phil Campbell, Ala. Please don't think this is going to be a dismal tour . . . Quite the contrary. It's a very lovely spot and a great place to take pictures. So all you camera bugs bring your "click-clicks" along with plenty of film. There will be a picnic lunch . . . so hurry, hurry, and sign up please. Bus will leave the Service Club at 1130 hours.

One of our good neighbors from France, a chap by the name of Leon Rousseau, won the Grand Prize at Bingo last Monday night—the Transistor Radio. He was "merci-ing" all over the Service Club with delight . . . "Holy Mackerel" these French-men are demonstrative . . . wonder what would happen if he had won a table model?

Our next grand prize is the Brownie Hawkeye Outfit, complete with flash and films. It will be a cover-all starting with 50 numbers. Feel lucky? If so, see ya' Monday night at 2015 hours.

We're loaded with all kinds of contests for this coming week. All you have to do is come to the Service Club.

There's more to come, but not till next week.

BY A. CRICKETT

If you were one of the unwise or uninformed who missed last Thursday's Rocket Service Club presentation, you should kick yourself. The military personnel and guests attending the SRO "Roaring Twenties" musical comedy really enjoyed two full hours of entertaining music and slapstick buffoonery.

With the Gene Louis Sextet ably supplying fill-in and accompanying music, the cast sang, danced, and joked at a lively pace, although at times without evident continuity.

Starting with the perfect approach, four "lovely flappers" (Roy Atcher, Frank Carbough, Tom Koch, and Bob Watson) pranced and jiggled their version of the Charleston. "Music Magic", featuring the prestidigital talents of Roland Kipp quickly changed the pace, as he surprised and amused all. (Word of advice: Don't ever play cards with Kipp!). Bob Scaturro and George Weaver, accordion and electric guitar, respectively, appeared as "The Music Makers," doing a fine job. Again, the pace changed as "Meet the Press" featured Roy Atcher "interviewing" a hillbilly and a "cool" beatnik — both by the way well played by Frank Carbough. Roland Kipp and Harvey Silver filled in with a background scene.

Switching back to song and dance, Jay Fryman and Joanne Millican from the Huntsville Little Theater Group delighted everyone with "It's Never Too Late to Fall in Love" from "The Boy-friend." Happily, an encore of "Two Sleepy People" — Jay and Joanne singing, with Jay repeating his enjoyable piano style—followed their first number. Due credit goes to the excellent make-up and costuming of the act, adding to the obviously professional performance.

Achter and Carbough ably clowning, individually and collectively, as announcers of "commercials" and the band produced fine filler musical numbers, providing time for set and costume changes.

Then "The Collegians" (Ron Bogdan, Bill Malloy, and Frank Carbough) sang two numbers — one smooth, one R'n R—with fine harmony. Some may criticize, but considering that without musical accompaniment and little experience as a group, the boys deserve praise. After some more appearances their future should be very successful, but is doomed to Bogdan's imminent transfer overseas.

Although Achter claims that the script called for splitting his pants, many were delightfully surprised as he and Lee Seifert jokingly portrayed "Rhythm Dancers." Lee, by the way, was responsible for considerable advance publicity art work, furnishing the helping hand and spirit which is sorely in demand by the Club.

To wind things up, an enlightening comparison of oldsters and youngsters, "The Kids" (Achter, Carbough, Seifert, Koch, Watson, Sylvia and Brenda Turner), created laughter and applause for the fine singing and dancing.

As always, the people behind the lights and scenes add or detract from a show's success. Frankly, they added and added in this show. It was quite reassuring to view good lighting, cueing, curtaining, etc. Production crew members were Sylvia Turner, make-up; Joseph Rice, prop technician; Pat Webb, photography; Betty Hayes, publicity; Lee Seifert and Brenda Turner, costumes; Ronald Syphard, lighting; and Margaret Richardson, Larry Zoll, and Phil Maurice, art director and staff.

Special mention goes to Molly Patterson, Service Club Director, whose efforts in co-ordinating and directing the production were visible from beginning to end. Summing up: A good show. Lots of laughs and enjoyable music. Thanks and encore requests for all, particularly the non-military personnel. Military Police Down USAG at Linton Field

USAG was the winner over ARGMA-ABMA (18-13) in a hard hitting football contest Sept. 14. USAG controlled the ball for three quarters, but was unable to score until the second quarter on a 50 yard pass play to end, Cassidy. Again, in the second half, Cassidy received a 50 yard pass for another score putting Garrison into a 12-0 lead.

The fourth quarter scoring began when Kekaukus, of ARGMA, ran roughshod 55 yards to TD territory. The extra point attempt was made, putting ARGMA only five points behind. ARGMA's hopes were high as the game seemed to open up, but a third USAG TD pass to Collier for 55 yards squelched their attack. With less than five minutes left to play, ARGMA, again, scored on a 65 yard pass interception by Cyphers.

The remaining minutes of the game were ticked off as ARGMA desperately attempted another tally, which failed. USAG controlled the ball until the final whistle, winning 18 to 13.

Hq. OGMO, Stuns Co. 'B' OGMS
Hq. OGMS, unleashed a stormy attack against Co. B, OGMS drubbing them with five touchdowns, while defending home territory stingily, allowing only one Co. 'B' touchdown.

The first quarter was dominated by McElhinny of Hq. OGMS. McElhinny scurried twice around end for 18 and 28 yards; pushing Hq into an early 12-0 lead.

In fact, McElhinny continued his scoring ways in the next two periods. Barrows, Hq's quarterback passed twice to McElhinny for tallies in the second and third periods. Tomshee, added another seven points in the second period on end runs for a TD and PAT.

Co. B's only touchdown was scored by Falver, who received a 20-yard pass from Suchan in the fourth quarter. Kuker scored the point after touchdown, running the required three yards. The final score at the end of the game was Hq. OGMS 32 - Co. 'B', OGMS 7.

291st MP's Win No. Two

The 291st MP Co. won number two last Thursday over ARGMA-ABMA in a close tilt 22-19. The scoring was scattered throughout the four quarters.

The MP's six scored in the first period when Noble entered the end zone on a one-yard carry. Not to be outdone, ARGMA retaliated with six points of their own on a two-yard center plunge with Dekaukus carrying the ball. No extra points were converted in this quarter.

In the second quarter, Evans lofted a pass to Minor for 30 yards and another touchdown for the MP's. Seven more points were added to the MP's score when Evans ran a 52-yard TD play and

SMALLBORE RIFLE SHOOTERS BRING HOME TROPHIES

The Redstone Arsenal Smallbore Rifle Team returned victorious from a two-day match Sept. 17-18. The match was the Southern Invitational held at Norcross, Ga. It is an annual match attended by shooters from all over the South.

The first match, a 100 yard iron sights match, showed SP4 Paul S. Birman of Det A, ARGMA, to be the top man in the expert class. Mainwail, PFC. Francis J. Zawacki took second place in the marksman class.

The second match, the Dewar course, showed Paul Birman to be in top form when he took first expert again this time with a perfect score of 400-24x. SP4 Louis J. Chiricotto won a hard earned second marksman in the same match.

The third match, 50 meters, still has Paul Birman in top place in the expert class. And in the fourth match, he held at tight rein for the top expert position. The team captain, CWO John W. Mann Jr., won third expert place this fourth match.

The last match of the day was the Iron Sight Team Match. Here Zawacki teamed up with Birman to win second place in the sharpshooter class.

In match five, which is the aggregate of the days scored, showed Paul Birman to be top man in the expert class, being only 5 points down out of a possible 1600. Pfc. Francis Zawacki placed third in the marksman class.

The second day's shooting showed the team to be in fine form yet. This day's shooting was over the same course as that on Sept. 17 except that instead of iron sights being used, they were replaced by scopes. The first match on Sept. 18 was the any sights team match. CWO Mann and PFC. George G. Dennis joined forces and won second place in the sharpshooter class.

Match No. Six had Mr. Mann in the third expert spot.

In matches seven and nine Birman led the expert class with a first place.

In the aggregate for the day's shooting, Paul Birman again led the expert class as he did in the Grand Aggregate, which is the total of both day's scores.

A newcomer to the team, Lt. Annie Whitman, upheld the teams winning tradition when she took the first place Grand Aggregate for the high woman shooter.

On the first and second of October the team is traveling to Chattanooga for the Annual Dixie Smallbore Round-up.

Informal reports also indicate that there are dozens of organizations at branch and section level that had also reached their goal as of kick-off time. One particularly noteworthy example is the Automotive Maintenance Branch, Post Transportation, Division, Redstone Arsenal, which had reached 100% Fair Share participation (over 100 people) and a total goal of 101.5% of their Fair Share dollar objective. Further this group had not only pledged but had paid the total amount.

The Arsenal participation will continue through Nov. 4. A. A. Steward, Executive Chairman for the Arsenal, conducted the meeting at which the first 100 per cent Fair Share donation was turned over to the Chairman from an Arsenal Agency. Col. L. H. LeVine, Chief of the Redstone Control Office, handed in the Fair Share collected in his office in advanced of the kickoff meeting. Gen. Schomburg also gave the Executive Chairman his personal check to open the campaign. Fair Share donations are based on 80 per cent of one day's pay.

On stage with Gen. Shomburg were the President of the Huntsville-Madison County UGF, Daniel Boone, and the Chairman, Dorsey Uptain, and the Executive Secretary, Hal Bronfin.

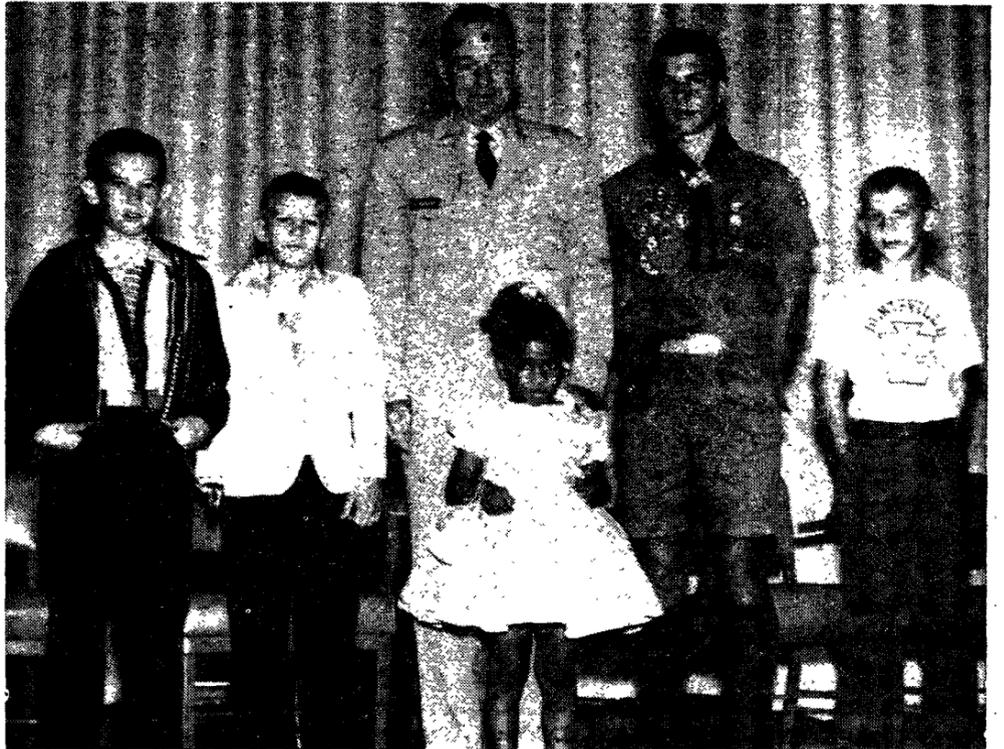

Other guests on the platform were Brig. Gen. Richard M. Hurst, Commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency; Col. Reino O. Lehtonen, Deputy Commander, Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency; Col. Owen T. McCloskey, Commander, Redstone Arsenal; Col. W. T. Anderson, Air Force; Edwin K. Fowler, Area Engineer; Joseph W. Wiggins, Thiokol Corp.; and Allen R. Deschere, Rohm and Haas.

Uptain, told the representatives, that the community and the community representatives, appreciate the continuing support the Arsenal has given the community.

A skit composed of a faked scuffle was presented to illustrate the competitive spirit between the Army and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in this drive, the first for NASA. Dr. Jerry C. McCall was introduced, then escorted by military police for his remarks that NASA will beat Army.

Five youngsters, representing five of the 23 Agencies supported by UGF, were also guests on stage. They were: Lucy Bones, Council Day Nursery; Chuck Gulliom, Boys Club; Bill Nelson, Boy Scouts; Mark Schrimsher, Crippled Children's Clinic, and Danny George, Salvation Army. The youngsters were also taken to the Missile Museum on post before returning to their classrooms.

were Mrs. Hammond Carpenter, Director, Girl Scout Council, and Bill Davoran, Chairman, Budget Control for UGF.

The 55th Army Band filled out the program, playing rousing tunes before and after the meeting.

Chaplain (Lt. Col.) John E. Battersson delivered the invocation at the opening of the meeting.

The UGF goal this year is 80 per cent of one day's pay from every employe at the Arsenal. In his speech, Gen. Schomburg pointed out that Arsenal contributions will help round out the budgeted goal of UGF in the County, which this year amounts to $322,000. Arrangements have also been made with other county UGF organizations to make equitable distribution of the funds contributed through Arsenal Agencies. Last year the Madison County Goal was $321,000.

Agencies supported by UGF are: National Travelers Aid Society; Y.M.C.A. - Central; American Hearing Society; Church Street Community Center; Christmas Charities; Council Day Nursery; Boys Club of Huntsville; Mental Health Association of Madison County; Salvation Army; United Service Organization-USO; YMCA Virginia McCormick Branch; American Red Cross; American Social Hygiene Society; Grace Center Day Nursery; Boy Scouts - T.V.C. Council; Crippled Children's Society Rehabilitation Center; Girl Scouts - Sommajade Council; Huntsville Council of Community

Agencies; National Recreation Association; Madison County PTA Special Milk Fund; United Jewish Appeal; Harris Home for Children; and Madison County Aid for Retarded Children.

ARGMA Commemorates Walter E. Bylund

The Army's New York Ordnance District recently received a plaque memorializing Walter R. Bylund, a former employe who died March 27th at the age of 71 after more than twenty years of service with the Ordnance Corps.

The plaque, presented by the Industrial Division of the Army Guided Missile Agency at Redstone Arsenal, is inscribed: "Tribute to Walter R. Bylund, Consulting Engineer, Ordnance Corps, for his unselfish and wholehearted devotion to duty as a consulting engineer with the U. S. Army Ordnance Corps during the years 1939 and 1960."

Mr. Bylund joined the Ordnance District in 1939. After WW II he served as a special assistant to the commanding officer in connection with the development and procurement of the Nike guided missile systems and was actively engaged in the Nike-Zeus program at the time of his death.

The presentation was made by Mr. James K. Fowler, ARGMA, to Col. E. F. McCrossin, Civilian Chief of the New York Ordnance District. Attending the ceremony were Mrs. Bylund, Lt. Col. John W. Next Week Is Fire Prevention Week Across Nation

The International Association of Fire Chiefs, representing the nation's Fire Service, is encouraging American industry to take an active part in this year's Fire Prevention Week activities. The national observance begins Sunday, Oct. 9, the anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire of October 8-10, 1871.

In 1959 there were over one million fires throughout the United States, and the nation's losses amounted to $1¼ billion.

Some 11,300 persons died as a result of those fires.

Industry suffered the greatest losses. In fact, some 300 big industrial fires (actually less than one percent of the nation's total of 400,000 building fires) caused one-fourth of all the $1,275,000,000 losses.

As a result of these losses, the nation's $500 billion economy suffers severe set-backs. The reason is that a burned-out plant earns nothing. They explain that fire means destruction of capital, loss in business profits, loss in employee earnings and loss in tax revenue.

Because of the effect of these losses on the economy, the question often is raised as to whether this problem is getting attention.

The "big" fire, which results in $100,000 or more damage, is a national problem, traceable to one or a combination of causes relating to the construction and occupancy of the building, the lack of automatic sprinkler protection, poor accessibility, weather conditions at the time of the fire, inadequate and unreliable

MISSILE SCHOOL WILL SHOW HAWK AT COUNTY FAIR

An unusual animated display of the Army's new Hawk air defense weapon features the exhibit of the Ordnance Guided Missile School at the Madison County Fair this week, according to Col. Charles W. Eifler, commandant.

An elaborate scale model of the missile's entire tactical layout and ground equipment, with all parts electrically activated and illuminated, will be explained to fairgoers by personnel of the OGMS Air Defense Missile Division, with 1st Lt. Herman L. Waggoner in charge.

Demonstrations will be made periodically of the complex sequences of events which launches the Hawk against low-flying enemies.

The missile can knock down such targets from tree-top level to about 38,000 feet, using a unique homing device. Teamed with the Nike-Ajax and Hercules missiles, the Hawk extends protection against hostile aircraft virtually from the ground to 25 miles above the earth, far beyond the capability of today's operational aircraft.

The Hawk display is located in the center area beneath the grandstand at the Fair in space shared by Redstone Arsenal, the Atomic Energy Commission and the Huntsville-Madison County Chamber of Commerce.

water supply, delayed discovery, delayed alarm and fire department deficiencies.

In many modern industrial plants and shopping centers it is possible for a fire to rage 800 to 1,000 feet through a building without encountering any obstacles to its progress. Some industrial plants are so huge that the municipal fire department can reach only a small area of the plant with its hose streams. In many cases, the fires may actually burn itself out before firemen can approach its center.

Even the most modern fire apparatus may be useless against the obstacles of huge undivided areas.

Get Out Service Vote Is DOD Expert's Plea

Washington (AFPS) — The Defense Department's top voting expert is leaving no stone unturned to inform members of the Armed Forces on their voting rights in the coming November election. In addition, he is driving hard in the Armed Forces's Get-Out-the-Vote campaign now underway.

Mr. James W. Platt, deputy coordinator for the DOD's Federal Voting Assistance Program, cautioned that he is interested only in getting out the maximum vote and points out that the Hatch Act prohibits members of the Armed Forces from publicly campaigning for a particular candidate.

A world-wide effort to stimulate the November presidential election will be conducted by the Armed Forces on Sept. 27, Armed Forces Voters Day.

Mr. Platt emphasized that it is not necessary to hold the Get-Out-the-Vote campaign on that day. "Any given day that affords plenty of time to vote by absentee ballot is just fine with us," he said. "All we are interested in is to insure that commanders make a concentrated effort to get out a maximum vote."

A maximum vote by members of the Armed Forces could have a decisive effect on this year's presidential election, Mr. Platt said.

For example, he recalled that when Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic vice presidential candidate was first elected to the Senate, he won by just 87 votes. Another example was the 1958 gubernatorial election in Nebraska which was decided by absentee ballots.

On the day set aside — whether it is Sept. 27 or not — voting officers, civic organizations, wives clubs and other patriotic groups are urged to conduct vigorous Get-Out-the-Vote campaigns.

Voting by absentee ballot has been growing in popularity since 1952. In 1956, some 35 per cent of total eligible persons in the Armed Forces voted by absentee ballot. This doubled the 1952 figure.

With the inauguration of Armed Forces Voters Day this election, it is hoped the percentage will increase to the highest level in history.

ONE YEAR AGO: A contract of $188,402,905 was awarded to Western Electric Company to continue research and development phase of the Nike-Zeus program on an accelerated basis. ONE FOR THE ROAD: You be the brakeman at railroad crossings.

Army-Industry Exhibits Are Scheduled At Alabama Fair

Visitors to the Alabama State Fair (Oct. 3-8) will have an opportunity to see first-hand many scientific and engineering instruments used by the Army-Industry team in America's missile program.

Some 28 exhibits and displays, in addition to the 13 missiles in the Pentadome, will be shown. Many of the items are designed to perform some function at the direction of the visitors. Some are missile parts, while others are from the ground support equipment used in missile testing and field deployment. Still others are used in general support of the missile program.

Among the representatives of American industry showing exhibits are the Martin Company, the Western Electric Company, Bendix Corporation, General Electric, Raytheon, Beech Aircraft, Sperry Gyroscope, Brown Engineering, Aeronautics and Bell Telephone Laboratories.

The gyroscope, for year's a child's toy, can be seen performing a vital function in a simulated missile. A missile model, with the gyro mounted in the center, can be picked up by the visitors, turned in any direction, and sound and frequency waves indicating the direction of the missile will be recorded on a telemeter. The telemeter is an instrument which allows equipment to receive messages from a missile in trajectory.

A multi-component test stand model will contain instruments for measuring forces applied to a missile by visitors. A dummy motor, mounted on the stand, has gauges attached which record in pounds the amount of pressure applied in any direction. The gauges measure the yaw, pitch and roll of the model, as well as axial pressures.

A missile launcher and simulator from the Redeye missile system will also be on display. The Redeye is an infra-red, heat-seeking missile. The launcher, mounted on a pivot, will react to the introduction of heat and produce audio-signals indicating pick-up of the "target."

For those who want to guide a missile in on a target, there is a simulated anti-tank missile guidance display. The two-dimensional exhibit allows visitors to 'guide' a moving spot of light to the target by use of a control stick. The exhibit will also work automatically to demonstrate the difference in the two methods.

A teledata communications system will demonstrate its ability to produce typewritten messages from a paper tape. This high-speed method of reproduction is currently being used in several key military installations.

If you have ever wondered just how long it takes for electricity to travel along a wire, you'll have a chance to find out in the exhibit titled "How Long Does It Take?" The mechanism will also measure speeds of other actions which take place around us every day but which the human eye cannot detect.

In another display, the visitor can hear the story of the Army's air defense program over a telephone. A bank of telephones will be placed before a large panel which shows scenes from the Army's Nike family of anti-aircraft missiles.

At the Pattern Recognition Device, visitors will have a chance to match wits with one of these electronic wizards. The spectator holds up a card with one of four letters printed on it, the machine scans the card with a beam of light, determines what the letter is, and repeats it verbally over a speaker system. The voice is pre-recorded on tape and the machine actually selects the proper tape and plays it back.

Movies taken by a TV camera placed in the nose cone of a Redstone missile will be shown in one of the White Sands Missile Range exhibits. The movies, taken over White Sands, show the curvature of the earth.

Movie Schedule

Wednesday, Sept 28 — "Four Desperate Men" (Family) starring Aldo Ray and Heather Sears. Time 1800 and 2030 hours.

Thursday and Friday, Sept. 29-30 — "Hercules Unchained" (Mature-Young People) starring Steve Reeves and Sylva Kasina. Time 1800 and 2030 hours.

Saturday, Oct. 1 — SPECIAL

Many other exhibits and displays illustrate various phases of the missile program. Some of the long-range camera equipment used in tracking missiles fired at White Sands will be shown. Several different types of computers and recorders are also included in the White Sands exhibits.

These are only a few of the 32 displays in the Army-Industry exhibit. Some will be inside the Pentadome, while others will be placed in the display areas under the near-by grandstand.

All in all, a tour of the exhibit will give a re-assuring firsthand look at the advanced state of the Army's defense efforts.

MATINEE — "Watusi" (Family) starring George Montgomery and Taina Elg. Time 1000 hours.

Saturday, Oct. 1 — "Freckles" (Family) starring Martin West and Carol Christenson. Time 1800 and 2030 hours.

Sunday, Oct. 2 — "The Story of Ruth" (Family) starring Elana Eden and Stewart Whitman. Time 1400, 1800 and 2030 hours.

Monday, Oct. 3 — "The Walking Target" (Mature and Young People) starring Joan Evans and Ronald Foster. Time 1800 and 2030 hours.

Tuesday, Oct. 4 — "I'm All
