Army Distaff Foundation Gets Checks

Huntsville Times, Chamber Commerce Contribute $1900

The Huntsville-Madison County Chamber of Commerce and the Huntsville Times presented checks totalling more than $1900 to the Army Distaff Foundation on Nov. 22.

Maj. Gen. August Schomburg, Commanding General of the Army Ordnance Missile Command, accepted the checks on behalf of the Distaff Foundation.

Jimmy Walker, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, presented the organization's checks for $1679.83. He explained that the amount represented proceeds from the southeast premiere of the Wernher von Braun movie, "I Aim at the Stars." The Chamber of Commerce sponsored the showing in Huntsville, Oct. 6.

Jack Langhorne, publisher of the Times, donated $250 on behalf of the Huntsville newspaper.

The Army Distaff Foundation is an organization devoted to providing assistance to widows of Army personnel. The Foundation is currently conducting a drive throughout the Army to raise money for the building of a home in Washington, D. C., for Army widows.

Ground for the 300-occupant building was broken last March. It is being erected on a fourteen-acre site near Rock Creek Park (See DISTAFF on Page 2)

Go Light On Throttle Chief of Ordnance Says

Lt. Gen. J. H. Henrichs, Chief of Ordnance, pointed out in a teletype received this week that last year 27 military deaths were due to automobile accidents during the Christmas-New-Year holiday.

His message requested those under his command to strive for a goal of no military or civilian fatalities among the Ordnance personnel during the holiday season.

The suggested slogan for the coming season when driving: "Go light on the throttle when you drive—Your family and all of us want to live."

R & D Director Scheduled To Speak at AUSA Dinner

Richard S. Morse, Director of Research and Development, Department of the Army, will be featured speaker at a dinner for more than 200 missile industry executives at Redstone Arsenal, Dec. 1.

The dinner is being held in conjunction with an Army-Industry symposium sponsored by the Tennessee Valley Chapter of the Association of the U. S. Army and the Army Ordnance Missile Command.

The meeting, "The Army's Future Missile Plans as a Guide to Industry Planning," is being held at Redstone Arsenal, Dec. 1 and 2.

A. A. "Tony" Demetriou, chapter president, today announced the complete schedule of speakers for the two-day meeting.

The first session will begin with an explanation of the organization and mission of AOMC by Maj. Gen. John A. Barclay, Deputy Commanding General of AOMC.

Brig. Gen. J. J. Davis, Director of Foreign Intelligence, Department of the Army, will give a "Review of Soviet Missiles."

In a two-part presentation, Brig. Gen. Richard M. Hurst, Commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, and Col. John G. Zierdt, Commander of the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency, will give a "Summary of Current Missile Programs." ABMA and ARGMA are two of the major operational elements of AOMC.

Maj. Gen. Harry W. Johnson, chief of the Combat Developments section at the U. S. Continental Army Command, will outline "Missile Requirements of the Future Field Army."

"Army Missile Research and Development" will be explained by Brig. Gen. David C. Lewis, Director of Special Weapons in the Office of the Chief of Army Research and Development.

The first day of the classified briefing will end with "The Qualitative Development Requirements Information Program," given by Brig. Chester W. Clark, assistant Chief of Ordnance for Research and Development.

Brig. Gen. Lawrence J. Lincoln, Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics at Department of the Army, will begin the second day with a presentation on "How Industry Can Better Help the Army."

Gen. Hurst Proposes 25 Per Cent Cut In Missile Production Costs

Aims to Add One Missile For Price Of Four Produced

Brig. Gen. Richard M. Hurst, Commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, yesterday proposed a 25 per cent reduction in missile costs.

Speaking to the 400 conferees at the Army's first Value Analysis-Engineering seminar for missile systems, he said he believes the figure to be realistic.

Stressing the techniques of Value Analysis-Engineering, Gen. Hurst said "this could mean one more missile provided the combat arms for every three now programmed, for the same money, with the same or improved performance." Representatives of more than 100 major industries engaged in and the Martin Company of Orlando, Florida, prime contractor for the Army's Pershing ballistic missile system.

During the remainder of the first day of the seminar, the group heard remarks from top management and production of Army missiles and rockets were in attendance at the Redstone Arsenal meeting. The two-day seminar is being conducted by ABMA representatives and value analysis experts from industrial contractors. George T. Willey, vice president and general manager of Martin-Orlando, addressed the meeting on "Management's Approach to Value."

PX OFFICER, MAJ. ROBINSON RETIRES TODAY

Major David Robinson, a native of Boston, Mass., has announced his impending retirement from active duty. He will leave the Army at Redstone Arsenal, where he has served as Post Exchange Officer, on November 30th.

A graduate of Classical High School, Lynn, Mass., in 1935, Major Robinson entered the Army on October 1st, 1940, at Ft. Devens, Mass. He saw duty in England, France, and Germany during World War II, from September 1944 to May 1945. He served in Germany in the occupation forces from July 1949 to July 1952.

His last assignment prior to coming to Redstone Arsenal was Quartermaster Advisor to the Republic of Korea Army. He served in this capacity from December 1956 to April 1948.

Friday by Chief of the Army's missile program.

Maj. Gen. August Schomburg, Commanding General of the Army Ordnance Missile Command, said the new facility, designated the Missile and Rocket Inventory Control Center, will be located at Redstone Arsenal.

Requisitions for missile parts heretofore received and processed by two elements under AOMC will now be channeled exclusively through the new Center. Reaction time in order filling and failure replacement is anticipated to be speeded considerably.

The Center will be under the temporary cognizance of the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency, an AOMC element, whose Commander, Col. John G. Zierdt, has named Lt. Col. F. W. Dill as Center Chief.

The new facility is aimed at achieving uniformity in supply management methods and eliminating duplication of operational functions.

Some 260 persons will compose the Center staff. Of this number, 35 will initially perform programming and system analysis functions. Approximately 73 will handle cataloging. About 60 persons will work in the electrical accounting machines section, and the balance will work in a central supply section.

The Center will be located in Building 5678 on Redstone Arsenal.

Most of the 260 persons already are employed at Redstone Arsenal. Officials said that they do not anticipate the creation of a large number of vacancies through the (See SPARE on Page 2)

AUSA PLANNING—Final plans for the Army-Industry missile symposium to be held at Redstone Arsenal Thursday and Friday were discussed last week by officials of the Association of the U. S. Army and the Army Ordnance Missile Command. Major General August Schomburg (center), Commanding General of AOMC, met with A. A. Demetriou (right), president of AUSA's Tennessee Valley Chapter, and Joe Wiggins, symposium program chairman, to check the schedule of speakers. The meeting, sponsored by AUSA and AOMC, is designed to inform top management personnel from more than 100 missile industries of the Army's present and future needs in the missile field.

The Redstone Rocket

The Redstone Rocket is a privately owned newspaper published every Wednesday at no expense to the Government by Jack W. Hoffhaus, Hartselle, Alabama, with exclusive regard for the reader interests of personnel at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama, in accordance with an agreement between the publisher and the Public Information Office, Army Ordnance Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama.

The Rocket is NOT an official or semi-official Army or Ordnance Corps publication. Policies and statements reflected in the news and editorial columns represent the views of the individual writers and are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army, the Ordnance Corps, or any organization at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama. Appearance of advertisements in the Rocket does not constitute an endorsement of the advertising matter by the Department of the Army, the Ordnance Corps, or any organization at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama.

The publisher will receive editorial content for publication in the Rocket only through the Public Information Office, Army Ordnance Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama, Bldg. 4505, Extension 2722. All advertising copy and payments therefor are received by Mrs. Zillah Newsome, 311 Holmes Ave., N. E., Huntsville, Alabama, P. O. Box 346, telephone JE 4-4701, as representative of the publisher.

The Redstone Rocket is distributed free of cost to personnel at Redstone Arsenal. Mailing rates for the Rocket are $5.00 a year, or $2.75 for six months. Mailing arrangements may be made with the publisher.

Maj. General August Schomburg, Commanding General of AOMC will conclude the formal presentations by explaining "The Army Ordnance Missile Command's Role in Future Army Development." Following this, Gen. Schomburg will conduct a panel discussion, during which topics of interest to the industry representatives will be discussed.

Morse, who has held his present position since 1959, is a native of North Abington, Mass. He was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and attended Technische Hochschule (Advanced Technical School), in Munich, Germany.

He has served as a civilian advisor to the Secretary of Defense and as vice chairman of the Army Scientific Advisory Panel.

As Director of R&D, Morse is responsible to the Secretary of the Army for the Army R&D program, including the design of new items and the provision of developmental and design models for test and evaluation.

He also serves as the Army R&D member of the Joint Research and Development and Applications Engineering Policy Council, and as the Army member of the Air Navigation Development Board.

termine whether a missile part can be simplified and produced at less cost, or can the same job be done without the part. Such determinations are made without sacrificing the quality of performance of the part or the missile.

Referring to the 25 percent figure, Gen. Hurst said, "Our initial goal may sound ambitious—we meant for it to be so." He added that he believes the figure will prove to be conservative. "When we reach it, we plan to let-up in our cost reduction efforts," he said.

Gen. Hurst pointed out that he was not proposing that more people be added to the payroll nor that a lot of money be spent to implement the program in ABMA.

He called for a "willingness to participate by every person who takes home a dollar of the taxpayer's money that is channeled through ABMA."

Gen. Hurst described the Value Analyst as a person trained to foresee and prevent unnecessary costs in paperwork, procedure, and hardware. By doing his job, he said, the Value Analyst can greatly assist in the achieving of two major ABMA goals—reaching target dates on time or ahead of schedule, and doing so with more equipment to show for the same money.

"We must find the exact point at which quality ends and waste begins, and mercilessly eliminate any nice-to-have appendages and frills which are not essential to efficiency," the ABMA Commander said.

To implement the 25 percent program in his command, Gen. Hurst has asked all employees at ABMA, through their immediate supervisors, to develop Value Analysis as a "work-habit."

The Value Analysis Office, a part of ABMA's Industrial Operations, is under the direction of Arthur E. Harvey, Jr. Harvey's office will be responsible for developing and administering the overall ABMA program.

Initially, each division director and chief in ABMA will designate at least one key person from his organization to serve as coordinator to the Value Analysis Office in organizing and establishing adequate programs.

Persons affected by the establishment of the new branch will either be transferred from their assignment to the appropriate section in the Center, or reassigned within either the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency, or its sister element, the Army Ballistics Missile Agency.

Authorities disclosed that under the new system, missile parts shipping orders would first be transferred to punched cards. These will then be used in producing plastic tape. This contains the information in language the digital computer can assimilate. Preparation of shipping documents and allied materials is greatly speeded. Inventory control is also enhanced.

The machines are programmed to reject certain types of orders, marking them for individual handling. These include controlled, critical, and out-of-stock items. Each of these so-called kickouts will be closely studied in an effort to reduce it to the machine-managed level. The eventual goal is a completely machine-operated facility.

So far, about 20 people have received the award for such things as flicking cigarette ashes in trash cans, overloading electrical circuits and other measures which could cause a fire. When a person gets the award, he begins looking for another offender and passes the award on. The award is a device used by the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency to promote fire prevention.

VOTE FOR EARLY WORKING HOURS IS THREE TO ONE

Military and civilian personnel at Redstone Arsenal favor—by a three-to-one majority—a summer work day beginning an hour earlier in preference to Daylight Saving Time, Maj. August Schomburg revealed last Friday.

Gen. Schomburg, Commanding General of the Army Ordnance Missile Command, said the expression of opinion would be given full consideration when he makes his decision on summer working hours.

At Gen. Schomburg's request, all Department of the Army military and civilian employees who work at Redstone Arsenal were given an opportunity to express an opinion. A similar survey was conducted by the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center.

Persons balloting were asked to indicate a preference for either Daylight Saving Time or for a work day from 7 a.m. through 3:30 p.m.

There were 18,054 ballots distributed to Army agencies and contractors at Redstone. Participation was not mandatory. Of the 11,956 ballots cast, 8,918 favored a work day beginning at 7 a.m., 3,038 were votes for Daylight Saving Time.

The Marshall Space Flight Center distributed 4,798 ballots to its employees and contractor personnel. Of the 3,751 votes cast, 2,781 favored a work day beginning at 7 a.m., 970 were votes for Daylight Saving Time.

For the past three years, Redstone has adopted DST in the summer months with work hours fixed at 8 a.m. through 4:30 p.m.

When Washington, D. C., in the Eastern Time Zone, changes DST in the summer months it creates a two-hour time gap reducing the hours of contact between Redstone and Washington to six each day. By shifting to Daylight Saving Time or to earlier working hours at Redstone, the hours of contact would remain seven.

Christmas Safety Suggestions

The Arsenal Fire Marshall, in wishing everyone a Merry Christmas, offers the following suggestions to make it a fire-free Christmas.

1. When you select your Christmas tree this year, choose a freshly-cut tree, with firmly-attached needles.
2. Keep the tree outdoors until just before Christmas. It will stay fresher in the cold air, and once you have it up, it will stay green longer. And keep it standing in a pail of water.
3. When putting up the tree, set it in the coolest part of the room, away from radiators, heaters, and the fireplace. This will not only reduce the possibility of fire, but will keep the tree from drying out.
4. It is a good plan to use a tree holder which has a little bucket of water in which the trunk can rest during the holidays. A tree usually "drinks" more water than you realize, so keep water container filled at all times.
5. Fireproof Christmas tree decorations are the best. Use decorations made of either glass, metal, or a fire-resistant material.
6. Set up electric trains away from the tree. A spark from the train could set the tree on fire.
7. Always use electric lights on the tree—never candles. Lighting sets should be checked before being placed on the tree, and those with frayed wiring should be discarded. When buying new sets, look for the tag or label showing listing by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. A switch some distance from the tree should be provided for turning the tree lights on and off.
8. On Christmas morning, fold and put away any gift wrapping you intend to keep. Other gift wrappings should be gathered up and thrown away promptly after presents are opened.
9. Christmas lights should be turned off when the family is away from home.
10. Inspect the Christmas tree from time to time to see how dry it is. If needles near the lights have started to turn brown, change the position of the lights.
11. When the needles start falling, take the tree down and discard it outdoors.
12. Even if the tree remains fresh, make plans now to dismantle it the day after New Year's, and restore the room to its normal setting.

Schedules Are Made To Send Dependents To U.S. from Overseas

WASHINGTON, November 18 —The Military Departments are proceeding with their plans for implementing the President's recent directive to the Defense Department to reduce the number of dependents of military and civilian personnel in foreign countries and maintain them at a level not exceeding 200,000.

This program will be implemented beginning Jan. 1, and completed in the next 19 months.

For planning purposes, the Military Departments have been supplied approximate interim net figures as to their share of the 15,000 per month total to be returned to the United States. These figures are: Army, 7,710; Navy and Marine Corps, 1,170; Air Force, 6,120.

Final objective figures are not yet available.

At the Service Club

Thanksgiving has passed, November is going fast, and people around the Service Club are beginning to talk about how far behind they are on Christmas Shopping.

Doesn't it seem to you that the last part of 1960 is flying by? It reminds me of a line from an old song . . . "and the days dwindle down to the merest few" . . . but I don't want to get ahead of myself.

We still have one very busy month ahead of us before we wave goodbye to 1960 for good, and you might make one resolution a month ahead of time. Why don't you resolve to get in on all the fun at the Service Club this month?

Wednesday night, the 30th, we have our regular dance classes, foxtrot and tango, at 1930 hours.

If you notice any particular skillful dancers at the Service Club dances this month, chances are they've been learning under the watchful eye of Ray Pisani.

Then on Thursday night, the 1st, we plan to have a meeting of the Shutter Club at 1800 hours. We're getting a fresh start on the Shutter Club this month, and we have great plans for it.

If you'd like to learn to develop and print your own photographs, sign up for the Shutter Club now; there's a poster in the hall at the club collecting the names of interested people right now.

Thursday night has been designated small game night at the club. Come in and pick your favorite game; we have Chess, Checkers, Cards, Monopoly, Ping-Pong, Shuffleboard, Sorry!, Clue, and many others.

Friday night, the 2nd, there will be a pool contest, starting at 2000 hours. Judging from all the expert pool players we have, it should be a lively contest.

On Saturday, the 3rd, a shopping tour is leaving for Birmingham at 0930 hours. This is a very good opportunity to get some of that Christmas shopping done. Birmingham is one of the best shopping centers in the South, so don't miss this one. You'll need to sign up in advance for the tour in the Service Club Office.

Sunday, the 4th, hot coffee and doughnuts will be served at 0930 hours in the kitchen, and we'll have a record dance that night at 1900 hours.

Monday night will be Bingo night, starting at 2015 hours.

On Tuesday night, the 6th, the Bridge Club meets at 1930 hours in the small lounge. All of you who signed for the Bridge Club will be happy to know that we have enough for four tables now, and the list is still growing.

If you don't play Bridge very well, keep in mind that the best way to learn is through playing, and don't feel hesitant about joining.

HISTORY: On Thursday, the 17th of November, we had a very successful Thanksgiving Dance. The Gene Louis Sextet was making some very danceable music, and everyone seemed to be in a holiday mood before the night was over. For those of you who have been asking, Larry Zoll was responsible for the "Horn of Plenty" backdrop on the stage.

The Pinochle marathon closed Sunday night, with Alex Schleber and Charles Perkins coming out on top. Congratulations!

Sunday afternoon, Nov. 20, Betty took a bus-load to Cathedral Caverns, and toured the caverns for several hours. The camera bugs had a field day, getting shots of an underground lake, a huge stalagmite, and a stalagmite and stalactite forest, plus many other strange formations.

LT. DONGIEUX RECEIVES AWARD

Lt. Marion Dongieux, Redeye Project Staff member in the ARGMA R&D Section, took top honors at the Mason-Dixon Toastmasters meeting recently.

He was presented the best speaker of the evening award by Toastmaster District Lt. Gov. Bill Millsap, deputy chief of the Program Coordination Office of R&D Operations, ARGMA.

HAYLES TALKS TO PUPILS

Dave O. Hayles, Chief Operations Analysis Division, on Thursday, 17 November 1960, addressed 75 science pupils of Whitesburg Elementary School.

Hayles projected slides and talked about "Army Missile Systems." Teachers at Whitesburg School arranged for the address as part of their science program.

Parties and Politics in America
by Clinton Rossiter
(Cornell University Press, paper-bound, $1.65)

This book is timed for the 1960 Presidential election, but is just as relevant to elections in any year and at local and state levels as well as at national. It provides the citizen who wishes to understand American democracy with a clear and informed account of what American politics is like, what the functions of parties are, who Republicans and Democrats are and how they differ, and whether our political future is likely to be very different from our past.

The Constitution of the United States nowhere mentions political parties, nor does it contain any suggestion that government might be carried on by rival organized groups of citizens. The framers of this document undoubtedly disbelieved heartily in parties and indulged the Utopian hope that the new Federal Republic could get on without them.

In 1792 Vice President John Adams said: "There is nothing I dread so much as the division of the Republic into two parties, each under its leader." Four years later in his "Farewell Address" President George Washington deplored the rise of parties and solemnly warned against the party spirit.

Something of this feeling has always lingered on. There are many Americans today who are proud of our great Democracy but are less than enthusiastic about, are perhaps even a trifle apolo-

Andy Electric to Build Lighting System at Arsenal Air Strip

Army engineers announced the award of a contract last week amounting to $79,496 for the construction of an airfield lighting system at the Redstone Arsenal Army Airfield.

Col. R.W. Love, U.S. Army District Engineer at Mobile, Ala., said Andy Electric Company of Andalusia was low bidder.

Specifications call for the construction of a high intensity lighting system on the 7,300 foot runway and a 1500 foot approach lighting systems with necessary electrical outlets.

Construction is scheduled to begin next month and be completed in January, 1962.

getic for, the American party system.

To such and to the whole United States electorate, actual and potential, Professor Rossiter comes with a ringing message. It is this: "No America without democracy, no democracy without politics, no politics without parties, no parties without compromise and moderation."

University Students To Register Jan. 2-3

The winter quarter of the University of Alabama, Huntsville Center, will begin with registration on Jan. 2 and 3, 1961. A tentative schedule of course offerings has been distributed, and final schedules will be published this week.

It is requested that persons who have not previously attended the Center make application for admission to the University well in advance of the registration dates. The University Center office in Butler High School is open daily from 9:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., except Friday, when it closes at 5:00 p.m.

A wide selection of courses in Arts and Sciences, Engineering, and Commerce and Business Administration will be taught this winter. It is also expected that the College of Education will offer two graduate courses for teachers in Huntsville beginning on February 1.

Placement tests for students beginning college work in English and mathematics will be given on the following dates:

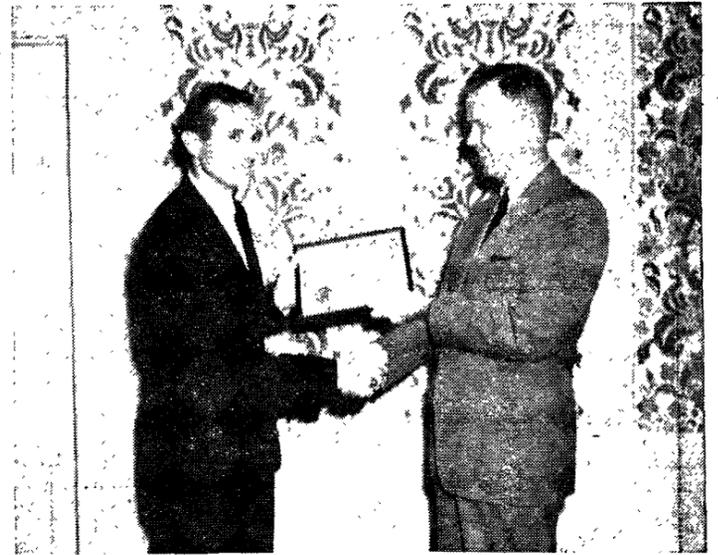

English:
Dec. 12, 1960—6:00 p.m., Butler High School.
Jan. 3, 1961—7:00 p.m., New University Building.
Jan. 6, 1961—7:00 p.m., New University Building.

Mathematics:
Dec. 1, 1960—7:00 p.m., Butler High School.
Jan. 3, 1961—6:00 p.m., New University Building.
Jan. 6, 1961—6:00 p.m., New University Building.

Among the services rendered by the University in Huntsville is a special course in American Citizenship to be offered this winter. This class is taught without cost to prepare foreign born nationals for their citizenship examinations for naturalization. Special information about this course is available at the Center Office.

In addition to the regular undergraduate program, some eighteen graduate courses will be taught under a graduate contract at Redstone Arsenal. Further information about this program may be obtained from Dr. F. H. Mitchell, Assistant Dean of the Graduate School, at JE 9-7732.

RSA Drivers Club Finds Auto in Quarry

Three members of the newly-formed Redstone Arsenal Skin diving club found a 1950 Chevrolet Impala in 40 feet of water in a quarry Moulton on Thanksgiving Day.

Members of the team were: Hugh Vandergrift, Redstone employe and Robert E. Moser, U. S. Army, Redstone, Thomas D. Grubbs of Decatur. Alabama Highwayman R. O. Chandler with Lawrence County Deputy Lester Reed and Brown Parker investigated after the car was pulled from the water by a wrecker.

The car was reported stolen Feb. 4, 1960 from Ed Lott Auto Sales Service in Decatur. The divers were using neoprene rubber suits, referred to as wet suits and temperature of the water was about 50 degrees.

Deepest spot in the quarry was recorded by one of the divers to be 50 feet and rock walls surrounding the quarry are about 100 feet high.

The rock quarry is located six miles west of Trinity on Highway 53 and is known as Penny Rock Quarry.

The car was approximately 10 feet from one wall of the quarry but no mark directly above indicated the car was driven or pushed off. Keys were in the ignition and turned off. Hugh Vandergrift, one of the divers believes from the date the car must have been put there (Feb. 59) that it was during the exceptional freeze experienced there and that the quarry was frozen or partially frozen over. The car could then have been run off the low embankment on the opposite side of the quarry and the momentum carried it 50 or 60 feet across the ice to where it could have plunged through.

The car had approximately 9000 miles on the speedometer and the only apparent missing parts were the back seat cushion and spare tire.

TURKEY BOWL TROPHY—On a slippery field two military six-man football teams, All-Stars from Redstone Troop Garrison and the Army Ordnance Guided Missile School, battled for the "Turkey Classic" trophy. Col. Owen T. McCloskey, Redstone Arsenal Commander, (left), presents the trophy to the OGMS Team Captain Robert Barrows. OGMS took the prize by a score of 28-19. Lt. Col. Claude Cason, Commander of School Troops (right) backs up Barrows during the presentation. Capt. for the Garrison All-Stars is Michael Cassidy.

OGMS Wins First Turkey Bowl Game

Garrison Team Is Trampled on Thanksgiving Day

By Sp/4 Robert Kelly, Co. A. OGMS

The first annual Turkey Bowl Classic featuring All-Star teams from OGMS and RSA turned out to be a real crowd pleaser. The OGMS All-Stars defeated the RSA All-Stars 28-19. The heavy gray clouds and cool winds failed to hamper attendance as a crowd of over 1,100 witnessed the hard hitting contest and were treated to half time entertainment by the 55th U. S. Army band and five attractive cheerleaders.

OGMS received the opening kick off and on the second play from scrimmage halfback Tomshee fumbled and Cassidy of RSA recovered on the 22 yard line. The stout defensive squad of OGMS held RSA to a gain of 6 yards and took the ball on downs on the 17 yard line. Failing to come up with a first down on their series of plays, Williams punted to the RSA 10; good for 50 yards. RSA picked up a first down but were then forced to punt. Budd punted for 41 yards and OGMS took over the ball on the 30 yard line. On the second play from scrimmage halfback Tomshee skirted his left end for 50 yards and the first score of the day. With Myers holding Williams kicked for 2 points and OGMS led 8-0. The first period ended as Budd punted 65 yards when RSA's offensive unit failed to make a first down.

In the second period the two teams defensive units continued to spark. The OGMS defensive squad stopped a scoring threat by RSA and took over the ball on the 5 yard line. Two plays later Halfback Tomshee was tackled in the end zone and fumbled; the ball was recovered by Jack Williams for RSA's first score. A pass from Cosper to End Collier made the score 8-7.

After receiving the kickoff, it took OGMS five plays to score again. The scoring play was a pass from Quarterback Barrows to End Kinnard for 16 yards. Williams' kick was low and the score stood 14-7. The determined RSA offensive unit scored their second touchdown on five plays with End Smith taking a 5 yard pass from Halfback Wells. Moody's kick was low and the score stood 14-13 as the first half ended.

The second half found the defensive units continuing to dominate the play. The alert RSA unit recovered a third OGMS fumble on their 28 yard line. RSA took the lead when End Cassidy scored on a 20 yard pass from Evans. Moody's kick was off to one side and the score stood 19-14. OGMS failed to produce a first down and punted to RSA's 15 as the third period ended.

Early in the fourth period End Sawyer intercepted an RSA pass on the OGMS 19 to stop the RSA attack. A pass play from Quarterback Barrows to Halfback McElhinny covered 38 yards; and two plays later a 20 yard pass play, with the same combination, put OGMS back into the lead. Williams' kick was good and made the score 22-19. The ball exchanged hands twice before OGMS scored again. After taking over on downs on the RSA 30, Halfback McElhinny scampered 30 yards on the first play from scrimmage to widen the margin. The kick by Williams was no good and the score stood 28-19. The game ended with RSA in possession of the ball.

An interesting note is that two men who were voted the 'League's' outstanding players figured heavily in the statistics. Halfback McElhinny of Hq. OGMS, who was voted most outstanding back, gained 159 yards rushing and scored twice. End Cassidy of Hq. USAG, who was voted most outstanding lineman, caught 6 passes for 142 yards and one touchdown.

Immediately following the game Col. Claude Cason, School Troop Commander, and OGMS' All-Star Team Captain Barrows accepted the "Turkey Bowl Classic" Trophy from the Redstone Arsenal Post Commander Colonel Owen T. McCloskey.

Original Costumes Dot Golf Course Wednesday

Wives Group Holds Field Day

In spite of the weather last Wednesday, 16 golfers from the Golf Group of the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club turned out for a round of competition, wearing the most original costumes each one could devise.

Mrs. W. F. Kaiser received the award for the best costume. She wore an oriental coolie outfit, including droopy moustache and pigtail.

At golf, Mrs. C. J. Payne was low gross; Mrs. T. T. Moxley low net;

Mrs. R. O. Lehtonen was closest to the pin on No. 8;

Mrs. W. F. Kaiser won the least putt and Mrs. Cecil Fuller the most putt;

Mrs. E. W. Powell longest drive on No. 9; Mrs. W. M. Clisson shortest drive on No. 9;

Mrs. H. H. Wishart the least penalty strokes, and Mrs. J. M. Ivy the most penalty strokes;

Mrs. Adonis Creel the least strokes on No. 4; Mrs. Ray Burkett the most strokes on No. 4;

Mrs. H. E. Fite the least strokes on No. 5; Mrs. George Grace the most strokes on No. 5.

Prizes consisted of turkeys, fruit cake, and assorted nuts and candy.

Next week the group will have the regular monthly luncheon and election of the new chairman.

OUR PRESIDENTS SPEAK...

"... the term 'rugged individualism'... has been used by American leaders for over a half-century in eulogy of those God-fearing men and women of honesty whose stamina and character and fearless assertion of rights led them to make their own way of life."

—Herbert Hoover
30th President
1929-1933

President Now Has Seniority in History

President Dwight D. Eisenhower on Oct. 14 marked his 70th birthday and became the oldest American ever to occupy the White House. How did he feel about it? Said the Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces: "I'm fine."

Up to now the age distinction was held by Andrew Jackson. "Old Hickory" left office Mar. 4, 1837, only 11 days before he reached 70.

As a septuagenarian Chief Executive, the President is in dramatic contrast to the two presidential candidates in this election year. Both are in their 40s.

White House history shows that seven Presidents were in their 60s when they were inaugurated. John Adams was 61 as was Jackson and Harry S. Truman. President Eisenhower was 62. Zachary Taylor was 64, James Buchanan 65, and William Henry Harrison 68.

Harrison, the oldest President to be elected, was also the briefest occupant of the White House, for he died one month after his inauguration in 1841.

Like Jackson, James Buchanan almost held the office at 70; he missed it by 50 days, being succeeded by Abraham Lincoln, age 52.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, unique among U. S. Presidents as the only one elected to a fourth term, was only 63 when he died on Apr.

LONG WAY DOWN—An Army sky diver leaves an H-21 helicopter in his "stabilized" position aiming for a ground target 4,500 feet below. The Army will send a five man team to represent the United States in the fifth world sky diver championship at Sophia, Bulgaria, later this year. This team is one of 60 in competition.

Martin Van Buren, the eighth president of the United States, was born in Kinderhook, N. Y. The term "O.K." is thought by some to derive from one of his nicknames, "Old Kinderhook."

12, 1945. Mr. Truman, his successor, left office, some three months short of his 69th birthday.

Our youngest President: Theodore Roosevelt. He was 42 on his inauguration; he became 43 just 43 days later.

Army Warns Check Label When Buying New Army Greens

Washington (AFPS) — Some retail uniform outlets in the United States are offering the Army's new green uniform for sale without the certificate label required by regulations.

The Army warns that only one certificate label is authorized and that personnel are running the risk of purchasing uniforms not meeting quality standards.

One such item being offered for sale is an Army green uniform of a dacron/wool gabardine. Especially warned were personnel now overseas who either order uniforms by mail or have them tailor-made. They are taking chances of buying material not authorized the Army said.

"All personnel are reminded," the Army said, "that AR 700-8400-3 requires that any uniform purchased from a source other than a Quartermaster sales store must contain the certificate label warranting that the item has been produced from a certified fabric and manufactured under a certificate issued by the U. S. Army Quality Control Office."

"I will study and get ready... and the opportunity will come." Abraham Lincoln.

REENLISTMENTS ARE UP

WASHINGTON — The Secretary of the Army, Wilbur M. Brucker, today presented the Army Ordnance Corps a plaque for having achieved the greatest improvement in the immediate reenlistment rate among the technical services during fiscal year 1960.

Lt. Gen. J. H. Hinrichs, Chief of Ordnance, accepted the award. The Ordnance Corps showed an improvement of 41.9 percent during the year compared to the previous year.

More Young Officers Remaining 'Active'

Washington (FPS) — The Army is showing an increase in the number of young reserve officers staying on active duty after completion of their obligated term of service, according to the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel.

The retention rate for fiscal year (FY) '60 has reached 28.6 per cent as compared to 25.4 per cent of FY '59 and 21.2 per cent in FY '58. Highest retention rates are in the combat arms with the infantry reporting 41.14 per cent retention and the artillery 30.4 per cent.

Trailing are the technical services where the Quartermaster Corps shows 20.1 per cent and the Corps of Engineers 14.1 per cent. However, there has been some increase in these services with ordnance upping its retention from 15.7 per cent in FY '59 to 36.6 per cent in FY '60.

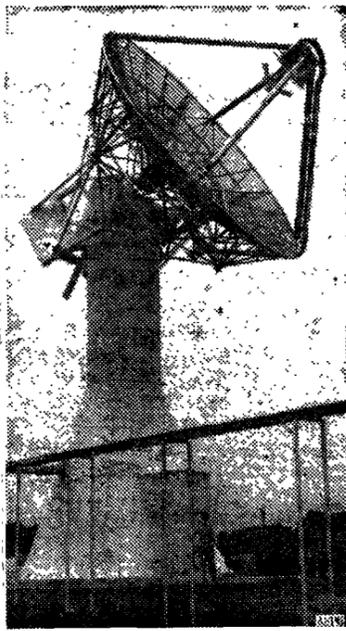

Resignation rates of junior regular officers are approximately the same as they were in FY '59, between five and six per cent. While the Army admits this is too high, it is a great improvement over the 20 per cent resignation rate seen immediately following the Korean War.

The Army is studying means to improve its retention of junior officers, particularly in those branches which have reported low rates. Increased retention is an important element in increasing efficiency.

It was pointed out that keeping those reservists qualified for retirement is not the answer to the problem as their remaining on active duty at the top of the grade structure tends to create stagnation and lower retention rates as well as causing even more critical shortage areas in the lower grades.

COMMUNIST INTEGRITY: On Sept. 28, 1926, the Soviet Union made a non-aggression pact with Lithuania, later extending it through 1945. On June 14, 1940, Soviet troops invaded the little country and annexation took place on August 3.

COURIER'S EARS — Standing 28 feet high, this parabolic antenna at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., and a similar antenna in Puerto Rico are receiving information from the Courier advanced communications satellite. Both stations can relay messages and are capable of receiving 340,000 words from the satellite in a five-minute period.

Commandant Visits Missile Command

The deputy commandant of the U. S. Army Air Defense School at Fort Bliss, Texas, visited the Army Ordnance Missile Command Tuesday studying the latest air defense missiles under development.

Brig. Gen. Stephen M. Mellnik received briefings on the Army Nike Zeus, Hawk, Redeye, Mauler and Nike Hercules missile systems.

He was greeted upon his arrival by Maj. Gen. August Schomburg, commanding general of the Army Ordnance Missile Command.

Maj. Roland W. McNamee, Jr., of the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency, conducted the briefing on Zeus. The briefings covered the performance of the missile, the costs and a training aids feasibility study.

In addition to ARGMA, Gen. Mellnik also visited other agencies of AOMC and the Ordnance Guided Missile School.

He is scheduled to depart tomorrow morning.

The Judge Advocate Advises

Healthy "Fore" Is Important To Golfer

Most golfers are familiar with the sand, bunker, and rough hazards on the golf course. However, there are legal hazards to the great game of golf that it is well to be aware of when the cries of "fore" start ringing down the fairway.

A healthy yell of "fore" has more importance than many realize. The courts have generally held that a player has a legal obligation to exercise ordinary care to prevent injury to others by a driven golf ball. A shot should not be made until the way ahead is clear, and before hitting, it is a player's duty to give "timely warning" to persons who he knows are close to the line of intended or possible flight.

There is on record an actual case where golfer A, on his second shot, hit his ball off to the right into the rough. Without waiting for his companion, golfer B, to play, golfer A crossed in front of B to look for his ball. Golfer B then drove and his ball hit A who was off at an angle of about 30 degrees from the intended line of flight.

The court recognized that the average player cannot control a ball's direction or destination, but held that golfer B was liable for injuries because he failed to give A warning by calling "fore" before hitting the ball.

Although it is a United States Golf Association rule and custom that the player farthest from the hole shoots first and the other players remain behind until he has made his shot, the court held that it was the duty of a player to give warning of his intention to hit if there were other players who might be struck by the ball.

A golfer should also use ordinary care to prevent injury to others on the same course who are not playing with him. If golfers ahead are slow, it is not wise to try to hurry them up by hitting into them. If you hit someone you may find yourself liable for an injury. This is a temptation to be resisted when the courses are crowded and the group ahead is stalled.

There are cases, of course, where injuring another player with a golf ball is not held to be the player's fault, even if no warning is given.

In one such case, two golfers were partners in a foursome. The defendant hit his ball into the edge of the rough. The plaintiff and the defendant went up to the ball and discussed the shot and the club the defendant should use. The plaintiff then moved almost at right angles to the intended line of flight of the ball.

Without calling "fore" the defendant hit and "shanked" his ball (a not uncommon occurrence among even the better golfers) so that it was deflected at a 90-degree angle and hit the plaintiff in the eye. A "shank" shot — resulting sometimes when a ball is hit by the part of the club where the shaft meets the club-head and sometimes by causes yet unknown — is a shot that players do not anticipate.

The court pointed out that the plaintiff, being at right angles to the line of flight, was in a position where he should have been reasonably safe. The defendant could not have anticipated that any injury from his shot would result and the court held that in such circumstances the defendant was not liable for the injury.

If you slice or hook (another not uncommon occurrence) into another fairway hitting a player, the courts have held that there is no liability and it is a risk that a player assumes.

Liability of players to caddies is the same as to other players on the course. If the caddy is waiting for his player to hit, however, there is no duty to give a warning of the intended shot. It is only a duty to give warning to those unaware of the intended shot and in the direction of persons so situated as to be in danger.

Generally, to avoid legal hazards for injury to others, study the USGA rules and the customs that have grown up with the game, and follow them.

Above all, be courteous on the course. Give the players ahead of you a fighting chance to get out

Wait until the way is clear ahead before you hit. If there is anyone close to the possible direction of your shot, always yell "fore" before you hit.

(Revised from a state Bar Association publication).
