Firings will be carried out later this year at Pacific Missile Range, Pt. Mugu, Calif., in preparation for full system demonstrations which will match the Zeus missile and the advanced detection and data processing equipment against targets supplied by Air Force Atlas intercontinental ballistic missiles.

A $199,124,000 contract awarded Zeus Prime Contractor Western Electric recently by the Army has funded Zeus development for another 12 months.

Bell Telephone Laboratories is responsible for Zeus system design and development; Douglas Aircraft builds the missile.

Lt. Col. John Bond Assigned at Arsenal

Lt. Col. John R. F. Bond recently joined the staff at Redstone Arsenal Alabama as Assistant for Personnel and Administration.

He came to this assignment from the Continental Army Command at Ft. Monroe, Va., where he was chief of the Programming Branch, Ordnance Section.

Col. Bond, a member of the American Ordnance Association and the Association of the U. S. Army, is a graduate from Penn State with a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering. He earned (See COL. BOND on Page 2)

Has Anyone Seen That Leprechaun?

Brought to the editor's attention last week by both ABMA and ARGMA was the fact that someone goofed.

In the story about Western Electric receiving a contract for further work on Nike Hercules, several paragraphs from the ABMA birthday story were scrambled. ARGMA is concerned with Nike Hercules—not ABMA.

The ABMA story had several paragraphs that related to the contract.

Apparently a Leprechaun is pulling pranks in the printer's shop.

Antitank Guided Missile Technique To Be Studied Here

A four-day tripartite symposium on anti-tank guided missile guidance techniques will be held at the headquarters of the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency at Redstone Arsenal beginning Feb. 28.

Under the sponsorship of the Army Ordnance Missile Command, parent organization to ARGMA, the meeting is aimed at standardizing research in anti-tank guided missile guidance, and an exchange of information among countries signatory to the tripartite agreement. These are the United States, the United Kingdom, and Canada.

A welcoming address will be delivered by the Commanding General of AOMC, Maj. Gen. August Schomburg, at the opening of the meeting.

A reception will be held that evening at the Redstone Arsenal Officers Open Mess.

Lt. Col. Joseph C. Baer will be the senior officer representing the United States at the meeting. He will act as moderator, assisted by James Fagan. Lt. Col. Baer is Chief of the Technical (See ANTITANK on Page 2)

HEALTH, WELFARE DRIVE TO BEGIN ON FEBRUARY 20

Feb. 20 is the kickoff date for the joint National Voluntary Health and Welfare Agency fund drive which will be conducted through a sealed envelope collection.

Harold Carpenter, ARGMA Control, is the drive chairman. Carpenter stated the envelopes will be distributed through the same unit organization that conducted the United Givers Fund Drive. He has also asked that contributors seal their envelopes and those without contributions be turned in unsealed.

Agencies this annual Federal drive includes are: United Cerebral Palsy Association, American Cancer Society, American Heart Association, Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, and National Multiple Sclerosis Association in the Health Fund; The American Korean Foundation, CARE, and the Voice of Freedom in the Welfare Fund.

The campaign will last until March 31.

Record 925 Pints Of Blood Collected Last Wednesday

Weden Hurd, machinist in the Post Engineer Machine Shop at Redstone Arsenal was the 16,000th donor during the visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile last week.

Altogether, 925 pints of blood were contributed during the visit. Hurd is from Harvest, Ala.

He began giving blood to the Bloodmobile before records were kept of the amount and he estimates that he has contributed about two gallons.

As a token of appreciation, Hurd was presented a card to cover any blood that might be needed by him or members of his immediate family for a full 12 months. In addition, a cake was decorated and presented to him as a part of the recognition ceremony.

COL. A. L. MACKUSICK

Col. MacKusick Becomes Atlantic Missile Range Army Field Office Chief

PATRICK A. F. BASE, FLA.—Col. Arthur L. MacKusick, Ordnance Corps, U. S. Army, reports tomorrow to assume his duties as Chief of the Atlantic Missile Range Army Field Office. He also becomes Director of Army Tests on the staff of the Commander of the Air Force Missile Test Center.

He succeeds Col. James D. Sams, who retired from the Army on the 31st of December. Lt. Col. Curtis L. Ferrell, Jr., Deputy Chief, has commanded the Army Ordnance unit in the interim.

Col. MacKusick's assignment was at White Sands Missile Range, N. M., where he was Chief of the Integrated Range Mission.

Reporting to White Sands in December 1958, Col. MacKusick had served three and a half years in Korea, where he commanded the (See CHIEF on Page 2)

Summer Schedule Is Determined By November Poll

All Army elements at Redstone Arsenal will remain on Central Standard Time this summer, Maj. Gen. August Schomburg, Commanding General of the Army Ordnance announced today.

In the past few years, Redstone Arsenal has operated on Daylight Saving Time during the summer months to lessen the time interval between the Arsenal and Washington, D. C. When Washington switches to DST, it creates a two-hour difference, rather than the normal one hour between Eastern and Central Standard Time Zones.

Gen. Schomburg announced that, in place of DST, working hours for the majority of Army employes and personnel will be 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. this year. A study is being conducted to determine the schedule for shifts operating during other than normal working hours. These times will be announced later.

Gen. Schomburg's decision was based on a survey he conducted among all Army employes and personnel in November, 1960.

Almost 12,000 of the 18,000 persons who received ballots, participated in the voting. Of the 11,956 persons voting, 8,918 favored the early working hours, while 3,038 voted for DST.

The change to early working hours will occur simultaneously with the switch to DST in the Washington area. The District Commissioners, responsible for setting the date for the change in Washington, have not yet announced their decision. In past years, the change has been made during the latter part of April.

The George C. Marshall Space Flight Center also announced that it would remain on Central Standard Time. The schedule or regular working hours for MSFC will be announced later.

16,000TH BLOOD DONOR—Weden Hurd, machinist in the Post Engineer Machine Shop at Redstone Arsenal, was the 16,000th blood donor at the Arsenal last Wednesday during the regular visit of the American Red Cross Bloodmobile. All told, 925 pints were collected at Wednesday's visit—a record. Hurd is being presented a card entitling him and his family to blood should it be needed at any time for the coming year, by Clifford Harmon, Red Cross Field Director at the Arsenal. Looking on is the Bloodmobile Gray Lady Chairman, Mrs. G. B. Keith.

The Redstone Rocket

The Redstone Rocket is a privately owned newspaper published every Wednesday at no expense to the Government by Jack W. HERRING IS CITED UPON COMPLETION COLLEGE COURSE

WASHINGTON, D. C. — James C. Herring, was recently cited by Lt. Gen. George W. Munday, USAF, Commandant of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces for having successfully completed the college's correspondence course.

Herring, a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve, is Chief, Medium Range (Liquid) Branch, Industrial Planning Office, Army Ballistic Missile Agency, Redstone Arsenal, Ala. He received his B.A. in Business Administration from Athens College, Athens, Ala.

Operating under the direction of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Industrial College devotes itself to the study of economic and industrial aspects of national security under all conditions and in the context of both national and world affairs. It also gives due consideration to the inter-related military, logistical, administrative, scientific, technological, political, and social factors affecting national security. Its correspondence course, entitled "The Economics of National Security," is based on the curriculum of the resident course conducted at Fort Lesley J. McNair for senior military officers and government officials.

The one-year correspondence course is open to qualified civilians in business, industry, and the several professions as well as to officers of all military components. Texts and instructional materials are provided at no cost to the student. Interested persons may address their applications to the Commandant, ICAF, Washington 25, D. C.

ON CAMERA—Members of the German Air Force Choir pose with WSM-TV songstress Ruami Nobles during a video tape sequence for the Nashville station's "Noon Show," which was produced at Redstone Arsenal via the modern TV facilities at the Army Ordnance Guided Missile School. Also at OGMS for the production last week were the Jordanaires, a vocal group which provides the background harmony for several Elvis Presley hits, Teddy Bart, Jud Collins and the Marvin Hughes' Orchestra, as well as other members of the WSM-TV staff. The show was held at the RSA Service Club.

GERMAN GLEEMEN DRAW APPLAUSE

A choir formed by students of the German Air Force at the U. S. Army Ordnance Guided Missile School is attracting wide attention throughout the Huntsville area.

Originally formed to take part in a Christmas carol program seen over WBRC-TV, Birmingham, the choir during the past few days has appeared over WMS-TV, Nashville, and sang before the convention of the Alabama Press Association last week.

Captain Werner Kothe, German Air Force Liaison Officer at OGMS, authorized organization of the choral group which is directed by Sgt. Peter Hruschka and has 14 members with guitar and accordion.

Forty-Two Years Later Radio Tube Works Fine

Washington (AFPS) — Forty-three years ago the first wireless telephone conversation from an Army plane to the White House took place. The radio tubes used for it were called VT-1s—14r vacuum tube number one.

At a Pentagon ceremony West-ern Electric Co. presented the Army Signal Corps with a radio equipped with the antique VT-1s as an historical memento. Antique they may be, but connected to a small broadcast receiver and arranged in modern circuits they match tubes of today in their reproduction of voice and music. Indeed, the music quality compared favorably with high fidelity amplifiers.

The Army and Western Electric demonstrated the VT-1s for President Woodrow Wilson in November 1918. The President, standing in the White House lawn with a radio nearby, took a microphone and talked with an Army pilot circling overhead.

More than 40 years after this historic air-to-ground conversation, the transistor, which helped replace many tubes, figured in the first space message sent by another Chief Executive, President Eisenhower.

A handful of tiny transistors of the Signal Corps were contained in the first U. S. communication satellite, Project Score, which broadcast the presidential Christmas message in 1948.

ONE ARMY FACT — "We must remember that the active military forces are only the cutting edge of our Nation's full strength. A vigorous economy, a strong mobilization base, and trained citizens are the invincible elements in our military striking power." — President Eisenhower.

ENLISTED MEN'S COUNCIL—The Enlisted Men's Council meets the first Wednesday of each month with the Service Club Personnel to plan Rocket Club programs for the following month. Left to right around the Council table, planning for Cabaret Night on Feb. 25, are: PFC Tom Koch, president; Miss Margaret Richardson, Recreation Leader; Sgt. Ed Vienneau, PFC Bill Knop, SP4 Steve Bartus, PFC James Richardson, SP4 Donald Malandra, PFC Ron Saffron, Pvt. Charles Fish, Pvt. Robert Kramer, Miss Molly Patterson, Service Club Director; Cpl. Paul Altman, SP4 Traves, PFC Kenneth Hoffpau, PFC Donald Peavy, SP4 Patrick Webb, Miss Betty Hayes, Acting Program Director; and Miss Joy Sawicki, Junior Hostess.

At the Service Club

Our calendar year is constructed so that there's a time for everything, and everything has its allotted space in the over-all plan. Last week was the time for hearts and flowers and thoughts of love, but now it's getting perilously close to the time for income tax, which for many of us means the time for headaches and the time for empty pockets. These are the times that try men's souls. Therefore, the Service Club program this week is designed to soothe troubled minds and bring entertainment to the penniless.

On Wednesday night, Feb. 15th, the Foxtrot Classes will continue to learn the more intricate steps under the direction of Ray Pisani, followed at 2030 hours by the Rhumba Classes.

Thursday night, the 16th, the Shutter Club will meet in the small lounge at 1800 hours, and later that evening at 2000 hours, a Chess Contest will get under way.

A Top Tunes Quiz will head the program on Friday night, beginning at 2000 hours, and punch and cookies will be served at 2030 hours for the thirsty contestants and the audience.

On the 18th, at 1800 hours, we will have a much-requested Bridge Contest. I urge all members of the Bridge Club and others interested to drop by and participate. That's at 1800 hours, on Saturday night.

Sunday morning, the 19th, Hot Coffee and donuts will be served from the kitchen. Then at 1800 hours Sunday evening, a Buffet Supper will be spread in the large lounge. It will be necessary to sign in advance for this one, so don't neglect to come by the office sometime this week and be included. A Sock Hop starting at 1900 hours will complete the evening.

Monday, the 20th, our regular Evening of Games will begin at 2015 hours.

Tuesday evening at 1930 hours, the Bridge Club will meet in the small lounge. At this time, a Rho Sigma Chi meeting will be starting in the game room.

HISTORY: The EM Council met on Wednesday, the first, and discussed advance plans for Cabaret Night, to be held at the Service Club on the 25th. From the ginning at 2000 hours, and punch and cookies will be served at 2030 hours for the thirsty contestants and the audience.

Stephen J. Danis Is Promoted to Captain

Lt. Stephen J. Danis, of the Projects Office of the Field Support Operation, was promoted to captain last week.

Capt. Danis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Danis of Ahmeek, Mich. He is a graduate of Calumet High School, Calumet, Mich., and the Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

He is a member of Kappa Delta Psi, Tau Nu Tau, the Association of the U. S. Army, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Since entering the Army on Feb. 25, 1954, and attending the Officer Basic Course at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Capt. Danis has served at Camp Clay Banks, New Era, Mich., and the Ordnance Supply Control Agency, Maison Fort, France. He came to ABMA in May 1959.

discussion I heard, it sounds as if it is going to be quite a night. There will be more about Cabaret Night next week, but plan now in advance to attend.

Besides Cabaret Night, some other interesting programs will be presented here this month. We'll have an orchestra dance on the 26th, a Post-Wide Pool Tournament, and a George Washington Birthday Party, among others, so come by the club and enjoy yourself. —Margaret

DAVY CROCKETT Weapon System

U. S. ARMY Infantry and Armor troops on the front line will possess a volume of firepower formerly obtained only from massed heavy artillery. The light and heavy models of the DAVY CROCKETT Launcher System have a nuclear weapon (above) so small that it can be carried by one soldier. Although the weapon packs tremendous force, its radius of effect is such that it can be used without endangering using forces, nearby units, or civilian communities. Described by Army Secretary Brucker as a weapon which "dwarfs in firepower anything we have ever known in the immediate area of the battle line," the DAVY CROCKETT can also fire conventional warheads. Both the light and heavy models of the DAVY CROCKETT Weapon System can be mounted on a jeep, mechanical mule, or armored personnel carrier, and can be operated by as few as two men.

Military Engineers Will Meet Tomorrow Night

The Huntsville Post of the Society of American Military Engineers meets tomorrow night at the Squirrel Hill Officers Club at 6:30 p.m.

Dinner will be served at 7:15. Gerald Webb Follin, retired principal of Webb School, Bell Buckle, Tenn.; will speak on his observations during a three-month tour through the U. S. S. R. last year.

Tickets for the Engineer Week dinner-dance may be purchased at

Army Relay Station Is World's Largest

Washington (AFPS)—More than a quarter of a million messages per day can be handled by the Army Signal Corps East Relay Station which was put into operation at Ft. Detrich, Md., in mid December. A network control station for the Strategic Army Communications System, it is the largest automatic communications relay station in the world. It was built at a cost of $25 million.

While sending 275,000 messages a day the station can receive and store up to 5,000 additional messages for later transmission.

Through use of this center and two other similar installations, the Army has almost split-second control of its world-wide commands. Ft. Detrick's station connects with commands throughout the Atlantic and Western Hemisphere. Another station at Camp Davis, Calif., forms the link with the Pacific and Eastern Hemisphere while the third relay center at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., acts as the hub for both stateside and overseas communications. In case of destruction or other interruptions to one of the stations, the other two can take over its mission.

Messages are received and relayed automatically as compared to the "torn-tape" method of semi-automatic tape relay centers where operators remove perforated tape messages from revolving machines and transfer them to outgoing machines. Skilled operators, sitting at control consoles monitor the fully automatic relaying of the messages from incoming to outgoing, in automatic stations.

A prototype automatic station relay at Fifth Army Hq., was capable of handling up to 22,000 messages per day with two or three operators while a semi-automatic station in the same headquarters, employing 15 to 20 persons, worked furiously to process half that many messages.

The new station has long distance radio, cable and wire channels to provide teletypewriter, voice, data, facsimile and other communications to the widespread points it services. It is linked by "troposcatter" to the Army's overseas radio receiving station at La Plata, Md., and by micro-wave radio to the radio transmitting site at Woodbridge,

NEW OAFIE CHIEF — Brig. Gen. William O. Blandford has been named Director of the Office of Armed Forces Information and Education, Department of Defense. Gen. Blandford, now Assistant Division Commander, 4th Inf. Div., Ft. Lewis, Wash., will succeed Brig. Gen. Sidney F. Giffin who is retiring. Along with numerous other command and staff positions, Gen. Blandford saw combat experience during WWII as a battalion and regimental commander. He is a 1933 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, and he attended the Command and General Staff College and the Army War College.

Troposcatter is a method of bouncing radio signals off atmospheric layers high above the earth, reducing much atmospheric interference. Both the troposcatter system and micro-wave radio communications are difficult to tap or sabotage.

The Strategic Air Command (SAC), the Tactical Air Command (TAC) and the Air Defense Command (ADC) were established as the three combat commands of the Army Air Force on Mar. 21, 1946.

ZEUS THIRD STAGE—This is the third stage of the Army's Nike Zeus anti-missile missile, its forward control fins showing prominently. The unit is being positioned for mating with the second stage following pre-firing checkout at White Sands Missile Range.

ON THE WAY—The mated second and third stages are loaded aboard a handling trailer for the short haul from the missile assembly building to the firing site.

MATING COMPLETED—The second and third stages, pre-mated in the assembly building, are brought together with the booster. All three stages are solid propellant.

FINAL ASSEMBLY—At the test site, assembly of the Zeus begins at the firing pit by placing the massive booster section on the launch rail.

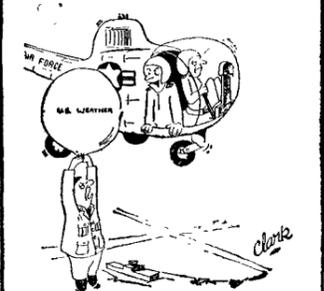

READY TO FIRE—Alignment for research and development purposes is checked with optical instruments after the completely assembled missile is raised to a near vertical position.

World War II Art Is Given Defense

Washington (AFPS) — More than 1,000 paintings, water colors and drawings reflecting the mood of WWII, the work of 54 artists, have been donated to the Defense Department. Henry R. Luce, editor in chief, Time Inc., presented the art collection to the Defense Department on behalf of "Life" magazine. They were accepted by Deputy Secretary of Defense James H. Douglas. The collection, whose permanent home will be the Pentagon is so large that only one-third can be displayed in the 350-foot long corridor set aside for the display. The Defense Department said the various works will be exhibited in rotation and open to the public daily between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. except Saturday, Sunday and holidays. Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr., held a luncheon in honor of the occasion following the presentation ceremonies. Also assisting at the ceremony were the Secretaries of the Military Departments, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Joint Chiefs and the historians of the military departments.

Dr. William D. Stephens receives lifetime membership certificate in Wise Owl Club from Dr. W. F. Arendale, at Thiokol.

THIOKOL CHEMIST IS LISTED WISE OWL CLUB MEMBER

Dr. William D. Stephens has become a member of the famous Wise Owl Club of America, it was announced at the current Plant Safety Council meeting.

J. F. Harbarger, Chief Safety Engineer, Thiokol Chemical Corporation, Redstone Division, reported that Dr. Stephens, chemist, earned his membership in the Wise Owl Club by wearing eye protection at the time of a laboratory chemical detonation, saving himself from damaging or destroying his vision.

The membership of the Wise Owl Club is made up exclusively of industrial employees, who like Dr. Stephens, have saved one or both eyes by wearing sight-saving equipment. The Club is sponsored by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Dr. W. F. Arendale, Assistant to the General Manager and Technical Director, presented the life membership certificate and pin to Dr. Stephens during the Thiokol Plant Safety Council meeting.

Other Thiokol employees who have earned membership to the Wise Owl Club in the past are Fred C. Rutledge, Mrs. Shelba Brown, Clifford Chunn, James E. Toney, and John M. McDermott.

Advanced Secretarial Training Program Is Conducted at Arsenal

Six executive secretaries in Huntsville will be members two panels in Advanced Secretarial Training at the Arsenal this week. The first three-member panel composed of Mrs. Lula Mae McBride, Chamber of Commerce; Miss Marguerite LaVie, secretary to the president of Southern Associated Engineers; and Miss Ann Walker, secretary to the Assistant Corporate Secretary Treasurer, Brown Engineers, are on the panel for Army Ballistic Missile Agency Secretaries in Bldg. 4488, Feb. 13-14.

The second group begins today in Bldg. 7101 with Mrs. Martha Reynolds, executive secretary to the director of Huntsville Utilities;

Miss Ollie Johnston, executive secretary to L. C. Sanderson Manager Administrative Services, Thiokol; and Miss Janice Sites, secretary to the Circuit Solicitor.

Others on the program were invited by the Training and Career Development Branch of the Arsenal Civilian Personnel Division to participate in accordance with a checklist of "needs" indicated by polling secretaries on post.

They include George Eddy, Redstone, Intelligence and Security on handling classified material; Jakey Wood, Missile Command Adjutant General Office and J. E. McGuire, ABMA on Travel; and John McCormick on composing correspondence. In addition Stuart Jones, Army Rocket and Guided Missile Personnel Director and James H. Draughon, AMBA Senior Civilian Advisor, Control Office, will tell the girls what men want in a secretary.

This is the first time the training division has enlisted an outside panel to help conduct the advanced secretarial training program and more may be scheduled later for those who desire to brush-up and exchange ideas on solutions to the mutual problems encountered by a secretary.

The Judge Advocate Advises

Changing or Revoking Your Will

Changing and revoking wills have involved many an estate in litigation because proper legal methods were not used and the statutes were not followed. Since state laws in this regard are not uniform, it is important to consult a civilian attorney or a legal assistance officer when a change becomes necessary.

Since a will does not take effect until the death of the person making it, the provisions of the will should be reviewed by the maker periodically to be sure that changing conditions and circumstances have not been such as to require a modification of the will. It is very easy to postpone doing a thing of this kind, but failure to make necessary changes may result in the thwarting of the maker's intentions.

There are many changing circumstances which make it advisable to alter an existing will or to revoke it entirely and to execute a new will. Such things as death of the beneficiaries named in the will, births, marriages, or divorces in the family, and accidents or sickness among those who will benefit from the will, make it desirable to increase or decrease the amount given certain ones.

Substantial increases or decreases in the value of one's estate may require modifications of the existing will. Death of all of the witnesses to the existing will and many other factors may cause the maker of the will to want to execute a new will, or to add a codicil to his old will.

People have sought to make changes in existing wills in every way imaginable. They scratch through certain provisions with pen or pencil, they burn, they tear, they wad up, and they throw away, attempting to change that which otherwise would be effective at death. Some have succeeded and some have failed in carrying out their various intents. However, there is a way of certainty. Consult an attorney, either civilian or military, for advice concerning the proper procedure for accomplishing your desires. Review your situation periodically to determine if changing conditions and circumstances have made your old will undesirable.

The Leprechaun wrote, "I've always thought there was something unusual about women. I'm very happy to see the following evaluation presented by the National Bureau of Standards. Besides, it confirms some strong convictions I've had for many years."

STANDARDS BUREAU HAS FEMALE FORM

The National Bureau of Standards (NBS), which scientifically analyzes everything it gets its hands on, has just composed a tongue-in-check reference file card on woman:

"Symbol: W.O. Atomic weight: 120. Occurrences: Found wherever a man is found, seldom in a free state.

Physical properties: Generally rounded in form. Boils at nothing and may freeze at any minute. Melts when treated properly. Very bitter if not used well.

"Chemical properties: Very active. Possesses great affinity for gold, silver, platinum, and precious stones. Violent reactions when left alone. Able to absorb great amounts of food. Turns green when placed beside a better-looking specimen. Ages rapidly.

"Uses: Highly ornamental. Useful as a tonic in acceleration of low spirits, etc. Equalizes the distribution of wealth. Is probably the most powerful income-reducing agent known.

"Caution: Highly explosive when in inexperienced hands."

Preparation of the card was a project of the Bureau laboratories at Boulder, Colo.

Huntsville Little Theater Will Present 'The Gazebo'

A paradoxical combination of mirth and murder sparks the next attraction of The Huntsville Little Theatre, a melodramatic farce entitled "The Gazebo."

The play will be done in the round at the Hotel Russel Erskine on February 17, 18, 19, and the following weekend, February 24, 25, with curtain-time at 8:15 P.M. and a matinee on Sunday, Feb. 26 at 2:30 p.m. In this rehearsal police question two suspects, John Lowther, technical writer for Chrysler Corp. and John Benson, who has done backstage work for The Huntsville Little Theatre. They play Dook and Louie, two underworld characters. Robert Manley, Contract Specialist at ARGMA, who did radio and Little Theatre work at Albany Ga., portrays Jenkins, policeman. Dendy Rousseau, takes the part of another policeman, he is a Technical Editor at Thiokol.

"The Gazebo" carries a television mystery-writer spinning through a ludicrous series of murderous events. In the belief that ability to spin homicidal webs skillfully for television audiences qualifies him to commit a perfect murder in real life, the writer attempts to do away with a fellow who is trying to blackmail his wife.

The writer accomplishes his mission with the help of an elaborate check-list of clues he must conceal, seals the body in the foundations of a newly erected gazebo—a fancy summer house on his lawn—He discovers that in the dark he may have done away with the wrong man.

Events are climaxed by the sale of the gazebo.

Starring in the roles of the whodunit author and his wife are Bobby Patterson, last seen in "Picnic and Gina Bradley, last seen in "Champagne Complex."

Al Olsen, Chrysler, is the district attorney, and the writer's friend.

Others in the cast are Pat McKnight, maid; Maj. George Parker, Dr. Wyner; Phyllis Aldrich, Mrs. Chandler, a chattering dowager, and Tom Melton as Mr. Thorpe, the night-watchman.

Director J. D. Nilsson, Thiokol. The set designer — Robert Hubbard. Francis McKinney, NASA, is assistant to the director.

Season tickets will admit holders. Some single tickets will be on sale. Reservations: Jerri Jackson—JE 9-6559.

Military Academy Superintendent To Speak Tonight

The Superintendent of one of the world's most famous educational institutions will address the Tennessee Valley Chapter of the Association of the U. S. Army tonight.

Maj. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, will be featured speaker at the dinner meeting at the Huntsville Country Club.

A veteran of almost 25 years of service, Gen. Westmoreland is himself a graduate of West Point. During his last year at West Point, he served as First Captain of Cadets, the highest assignment a cadet can be given.

During both World War II and the Korean conflict, he distinguished himself as a combat commander, serving in Morocco, North Africa, Tunisia, and Sicily, prior to participating in the Normandy invasion in France. In Korea, he commanded the 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team during two combat operations.

In addition to early career company and battalion assignments, Gen. Westmoreland has served as an instructor at the Command and General Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., and the Army War College at Carlisle Barracks, Penn.

Gen. Westmoreland was Secretary of the General Staff at Department of the Army for three years prior to assuming command of the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Ky. The 101st is one of three divisions which make up the Strategic Army Corps (STRAC).

Gen. Westmoreland's visit to Huntsville has been arranged by the chapter's West Point Admissions Committee. One of the primary objectives of AUSA is to interest outstanding high school students in attending West Point.

A reception will be held at 7 p.m. in honor of Gen. Westmoreland. The dinner will begin at 8

Col. R. R. Entwhistle Named to Head Ordnance Research Laboratories

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND, Md. — The appointment of Col. Richard R. Entwhistle as Director of the Army Ordnance Corps Ballistic Research Laboratories here has been announced by Brig. Gen. John H. Weber, Proving Ground Commander.

The Ballistic Research Laboratories conduct basic and technical research in ballistics and in the related fields of physics, chemistry, mathematics, and engineering. A staff of 600 scientific specialists render otherwise unavailable technical services to the Ordnance Corps, to other government agencies, and to their contractors, in the fields of interior, exterior and terminal ballistics, instrumentation for ballistic measurements, computing techniques, weapon systems analysis and development, and quality control.

They also provide expert consulting services in connection with the design of new weapons, the more effective use of existing ones and suggested avenues for research and development which will lead to new weapons. Additionally, the Laboratories prepare ballistic tables for guns and rockets and supplies information regarding their effects when used in combat.

A 1935 graduate of the University of Cincinnati, where he received his degree in chemical engineering, Col. Entwhistle is one of the Ordnance Corps experts in the fields of nuclear weapons and application of nuclear power. He has also done post-graduate work at the University of Virginia, Stanford University, the Naval Postgraduate College and Ohio State University. He received his master's degree in physics from Ohio State University in 1952.

During World War II Col. Entwhistle served in Panama and in the Pacific, with the 24th Infantry Division in the latter theater.

Following the end of the war he was stationed in Japan where he served as chief of the Special Projects Branch, Economic and Scientific Section, under the Supreme Commander Allied Powers. One of his major assignments was to assist in determining the cause of the failure of Japanese scientists to produce atomic weapons. He also participated in studies on activities of Japanese scientists in nuclear physics.

He studied at the Ordnance School and attended the Navy Radiological Defense School.

He was assigned to Oak Ridge, Tenn. His next assignment was Chief, Special Projects Division, at the Army Chemical Center, Edgewood, Md., where he specialized in problems of radiological munitions.

In 1954 Col. Entwhistle was assigned to the Army Ordnance Corps' Picatinny Arsenal, there to serve as special advisor on nuclear weapons to the commanding general.

Assigned to the Pentagon in 1956, Col. Entwhistle organized and headed the Nuclear Weapons Special Components Branch in the Office of the Chief of Research and Development, Office of the Chief of Ordnance. For the past 18 months he has been serving as Special Assistant to the Chief of Ordnance for Nuclear Application.

ATOMIC DEPTH BOMB—This is the first picture released by the Navy of its new atomic depth bomb. Called Lulu, it is mounted here on the side of a helicopter. However, the bomb can be carried by nearly all Navy aircraft. The Navy said the charge has a "great kill radius" giving enemy submarines virtually no chance to escape.

THE BAND PLAYED ON—During lunch on Fridays the 55th Army Band entertains the troops in the mess halls on post. Above the group is playing pop tunes at the Redstone Enlisted Consolidated Mess. The only complaint comes from the Mess Sergeants: "The men don't leave when they've finished eating." The concert leader is a newly-arrived member, SFC Genarino Petracco, formerly with the Seventh Army Band.

Army Lacrosse Units Shipped to Europe With MOBIDIC

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (ANS) — Two unusual roll-on, roll-off package shipments were loaded aboard the USNS COMET at the Brooklyn Army Terminal, Wednesday, January 18. They were MOBIDIC, the Army's first field computer, destined for the Seventh Army Stock Control Center, Zweibruecken, Germany, and the equipment of two military units being transferred from Ft. Sill, Okla. to Europe: The Lacrosse 5th Missile Battalion, 39th Artillery Regiment, and the 178th Ordnance Detachment.

One officer and three enlisted men accompanied the equipment aboard the COMET. Other personnel of the two units boarded the USNS BUCKNER for simultaneous travel to Europe.

The MOBIDIC (mobile digital computer), capable of 50,000 typical computations per second, was brought here by commercial carrier from the manufacturer in Needham, Mass. The shipment included an M-54 truck, an 18-ton trailer-van and three one-axle trailers. On arrival at St. Nazaire, France, the vehicles will be driven off the ship, then overland to Zweibruecken.

Designed for large-scale combat computations on administration, intelligence, logistics and fire support, MOBIDIC has undergone testing at the Signal Research and Development Center, Ft. Monmouth, N. J., since December 1959. The head of the R & D Lab's Data Equipment Branch says the giant computer has a "reliability index of 99 percent." It is completely transistorized, can move on the ground or be transported by air, will work in all kinds of weather and can be operated by a shift of approximately three men. The men can be trained in two weeks to six months, depending on the assignment.

While MOBIDIC can not think for a commander, it can rapidly sift battle information to help him make a decision. It can provide this high-speed data processing for either conventional or nuclear weapons and warfare.

MOBIDIC's first use in Europe will be the handling of thousands of requisitions a day at the Seventh Army Stock Control Center, where it will replace a slower, less comprehensive machine.

Movie cameramen from the Army Pictorial Center were here to photograph the loading of MOBIDIC and the COMET'S other cargo package, the equipment of the LaCrosse 5th Missile Battalion and the 178th Ordnance Battalion.

This equipment, comprising 116 vehicles and 28 CONEX's, arrived on railroad flatcars. It included missile launchers, but no ammunition of any kind.

"While I was out with the boys playing poker last night a burglar broke into our house." "Did he get anything?" "Yes, my wife thought it was

Col. Bryant was born in Des Moines, Iowa, and attended North High School there. He transferred to Hyde Park High School in Chicago, and was graduated from there. He also attended Wilson Junior College in Chicago, and the University of Cincinnati in Ohio, where he took his Bachelor of Science degree in Aeronautical Engineering.

He is a member of the National Rifle Association, the National Society of Scabbard and Blade, and the Association of U. S. Army.

He entered the Army as an officer candidate at Aberdeen Proving Ground in 1943. Since then he has served in Schwaebisch Ghuenu, Germany; Mannheim, Germany; Boston, Mass.; Aberdeen Proving Ground; Washington, D. C.; Yokohama, Japan; Lincoln, Neb.; Frankfurt, Germany; Texarkana, Texas; and British Columbia, Canada.

He has worked as a civilian at the Goodyear Aircraft Corporation in Akron, Ohio, and at the University of Cincinnati as an aeronautics instructor.

He and his wife, the former Miss Mary E. Noonan, daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Noonan of 23 E. Brown, Kellog, Idaho, live at 271-B Wesson Circle, Redstone Arsenal. They have six children:

Col. Allgeier Will Tell About Revolution In Korea Tonight

Col. Robert Allgeier, Assistant for Intelligence and Security at Redstone Arsenal, will speak before the American Society for Industrial Security tonight at Michael's Restaurant.

The Group will meet at 6 p.m. for a social hour with dinner scheduled at 7 p.m. and the meeting at 8 p.m.

Col. Allgeier's talk will be on "The Revolution in Korea." He was awarded commendation by the Korean Government for the work he did while stationed with the Military Army Advisory Group at Seoul, the assignment he completed before coming to Redstone Arsenal in September, 1960.

YOU CAN OWN THIS FULL SIZE NEW 1961 FORD

FAIRLANE CLUB SEDAN . . .

Here's big-car convenience at a minimum price. As on all '61 Fords, bright-metal trim is treated in depth to stay bright longer. Choose from four great engines.

FOR ONLY $2193.00

INCLUDES HEATER, TURN INDICATOR, OIL FILTER, DELUXE STEERING WHEEL.

HERE'S HOW EVERY '61 FORD IS BUILT TO TAKE CARE OF ITSELF

Lubricates itself. You'll normally go 30,000 miles without a chassis lubrication.

Cleans its own oil. You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

Adjusts its own brakes. New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves . . . automatically.

Guards its own muffler. Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Protects its own body. All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath doors.

Takes care of its own finish. New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax.

White Sands Man Is Cited on Meritorious Civilian Service

White Sands Missile Range, N. M. — A veteran radarman at White Sands Missile Range has been presented the Dept. of Army Decoration for Meritorious Civilian Service.

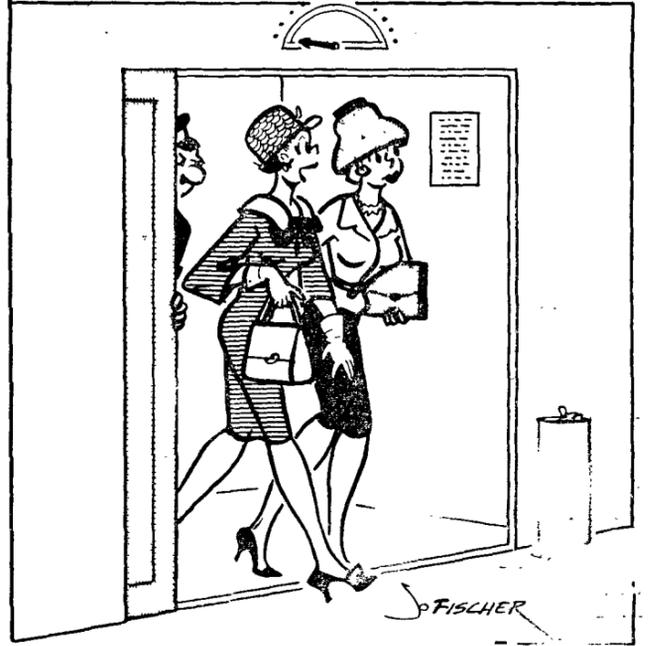

He is Ellis Howard Nolte, who came to White Sands in 1950. Now Chief of the Radar Division of the Army Signal Missile Support Agency, Nolte received the decoration from Col. Paul W. Albert, commanding officer of the Signal Agency.

The certificate with the decoration cites Nolte for "the distinguished application of his outstanding knowledge in the direction and execution of the Radar Division in supporting White Sands Missile Range and various projects of the Chief Signal Officer."

Crusty old gent: "And this, I suppose, is one of those dreadful caricatures you call 'modern art.'" Art dealer: "No sir. That's just a mirror."

Lt. Col. Robert H. McCallum recently received a certificate of retirement from the Department of the Army. Col. Charles W. Eifler, commandant, conducted retirement ceremonies at the Ordnance Guided Missile School.

McCallum retired after more than 20 years of honorable military service. He is the son of Mrs. Daisy McCallum of 3212 Grand Route St. John, New Orleans, La.

Entering the Army in 1941, he was initially assigned as a cannoneer with the 141st Field Artillery, and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Ordnance Corps in 1942 after attending Officer Candidate School.

Since that time he has served in various assignments in the United States and overseas as an Ordnance maintenance and supply officer and as the commander of Ordnance units.

His latest assignment was as logistics and operations officer at the department of Administration and Services at the Missile School, which he held from January 1960 until his retirement.

ARMY AVIATION HISTORY: On October 14, 1943, the Army Air Force bombed the German ball and roller bearing factories in Schweinfurt.
