REDSTONE ARSENAL, HUNTSVILLE, ALABAMA

MARCH 1, 1961

Direct Inward Dialing Will Be Ready to Use March 19

Phone Books Will Be Distributed About March 12

The Post Signal Officer, Maj. Thomas Koeneman, has announced that work is on schedule to open the Direct Inward Dialing system between Redstone Arsenal and the surrounding area on the Southern Bell Telephone Company, at a.m. on March 19.

The new phone book, scheduled for distribution about March 12, has instructions completely spelled out for the telephone customers on post.

The book explains that all "tie-line" calls should be placed with the Redstone Arsenal operator. It clearly lists each point to which leased lines run.

All other long distance calls will be placed with the Huntsville Operator by dialing "9" and then "0."

To reach a number at Redstone Arsenal from Huntsville, the individual dials the extension he wants. If the number is not known, dial 877-8000 for the information operator. Two more information operators have been added to the Redstone switchboard to deal with the expected increase in inquiries until individuals are familiar with the numbers each uses.

The book also points out the three methods of placing station to station calls to Redstone Arsenal from distant points: by contacting the commercial operator; by using direct distance dialing where this is in effect first

Iraqi Representatives Are Scheduled to Visit

The Iraqi Secretary to the Chief of the General Staff of the Iraqi Army and Military Governor General and the Iraqi Director of Military Intelligence will visit Redstone Arsenal for a tour and orientation on 5-6 March, it was announced today by the Army Ordnance Missile Command.

Col. Sa Numx Doun Awni-madfa'l, Military Governor General, and Col. Mushin Al-sayid Hadi Alrufai'l will arrive at the Arsenal from Ft. Sill, Okla., via Birmingham, and depart late in the (See IRAQI on Page 3) dialing the Alabama Area Code 205 for direct distance dialing; or in the State where distance dialing is in effect, by using instructions for direct dialing published in the local directory.

A six-man U. S. Army Signal Corps Communication Agency team is rewiring the present equipment so that the change can take place on schedule. The team is also installing a maze of electronic Stromberg Carlson XY equipment in what is believed the largest Army-owned, Army-operated dial central in the world.

Advance Made in Technology With Titanium

The U. S. Army Ordnance Missile Command yesterday announced the successful static firing of an improved high-energy, solid propellant rocket motor using a lightweight, high strength motor case made of titanium.

AOMC called it a major advance in missile technology.

Maj. Gen. John A. Barclay, Deputy Commanding General of AOMC, said the titanium case, almost 30 percent lighter than steel cases currently in use, made the motor "the highest performance, full size, metallic propulsion unit, pound for pound, ever successfully fired in the United States.

Gen. Barclay said an advanced solid propellant rocket fuel was used in the test conducted at Redstone Arsenal. He termed the 40-second test completely successful.

While titanium's weight saving characteristic is important, the most outstanding property of the metal is its durability.

In tests of its resistance to corrosive agents, a sub-scale titanium case was unharmed after 60 days of constant exposure to a salt-water spray.

Similarly, sub-scale steel casings were rendered useless after seven to 14 days exposure.

Durability and resistance to atmospheric conditions are of the utmost importance to the Army since missiles and rockets might (See TITANIUM on Page 2)

Col. Thomas W. Cooke Is Named Commander of Redstone Arsenal

COL. F. L. FURPHY
AOMC Chief of Staff

Col. Furphy Becomes AOMC Chief of Staff;

Col. LeVine Is Deputy Commander at RSA

Col. Thomas W. Cooke, a 1936 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, was named Commander of Redstone Arsenal, Saturday.

The announcement was made by Maj. Gen. August Schomburg, Commanding General of the Army Ordnance Missile Command at Redstone.

Col. Cooke previously was Chief of Staff of AOMC.

The former Redstone Arsenal Commander, Col. Owen T. McCloskey, was recently assigned to Headquarters, First U. S. Army, as Ordnance Officer.

Col. Foster L. Furphy, AOMC Comptroller since June, 1959, will become AOMC Chief of Staff. Mr. Lewis L. Aycock has been named Acting Comptroller.

Col. Lester H. LeVine will continue as Deputy Post Commander. He has served as Acting Commander prior to today's announcement.

Col. Cooke was born in Dayton, Ohio. He was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree upon graduation from West Point and later received a master's degree in industrial management from the University of Pennsylvania. He is also a graduate of the U. S. Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

Prior to and during World War II, Col. Cooke served in the Philippine Islands and in the China-Eurma-India Theater of Operations. Preceding his Redstone Arsenal assignment, he was Senior Ordnance Advisor to the Korean Army.

Col. Furphy attended Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute for two years and was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy with a Bachelor of Science degree in 1939. He holds a master's degree in mechanical engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

His service career includes overseas tours of duty at Corregidor, Philippine Islands, New Caledonia, and Kaiserslautern, Germany.

Aycock, formerly Deputy Comptroller, has been at Redstone Arsenal since March 1956. Prior to moving to AOMC, he worked at Fort McClellan, Ala., the Birmingham Ordnance District, and the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Redstone Arsenal.

The new assignments were effective Feb. 23.

Communications Conference Is Scheduled Here

More than 150 industrial, business and governmental organizations from seven southeastern states, and 200 industries under contract to the Army Ordnance Missile Command, have been invited to attend AOMC's first Communication Conference here next week.

Robert F. Mello, Director of Civilian Personnel at AOMC, is chairman of the conference, which will be held in Rocket Auditorium March 7 and 8.

Daniel Rochford of Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) and Dr. Bartley E. Bess, Jr., Clinical Psychologist at Redstone Arsenal, will speak at the morning session, March 7. Afternoon speakers will be Theodore Dahl, International Business Machines Corporation, and Walter Wiesman, AOMC Communication Adviser.

Rochford, Management - Employee Communication Adviser for Standard Oil, will speak on "The Total Communication Program." Dr. Bess's address will be on "Motivation." The afternoon session will divide the management and employee aspects with Dahl speaking on "Management (See CONFERENCE, Page 2)

Technical Art Will Be Discussed Here

A two-day technical art symposium will be held March 9 and 10 at the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency.

Over 150 technical publications representatives of leading missile developers from across the nation will gather in the new ARGMA auditorium for the event.

Objectives of the symposium are to acquaint contractor document groups with ARGMA's requirements in technical illustration, and to discuss new techniques in the state of illustration art.

Other objectives are to present views on overcoming production problems and to stress new ideas for accomplishing economy in developing technical illustrations.

Dodd Road Will Be Open To Traffic in Mornings

Bottlenecks Will Be Eliminated On Patton Road

Dodd Road will be open to straight-through traffic from Gate 2 to the ABMA-AOMC Area from 6:30 a.m. to 8 a.m. Monday, March 6.

The opening of this thoroughfare mornings is being done to try to eliminate the traffic tie-up on Patton Road at the intersection of Martin Road.

Personnel working in the AB-

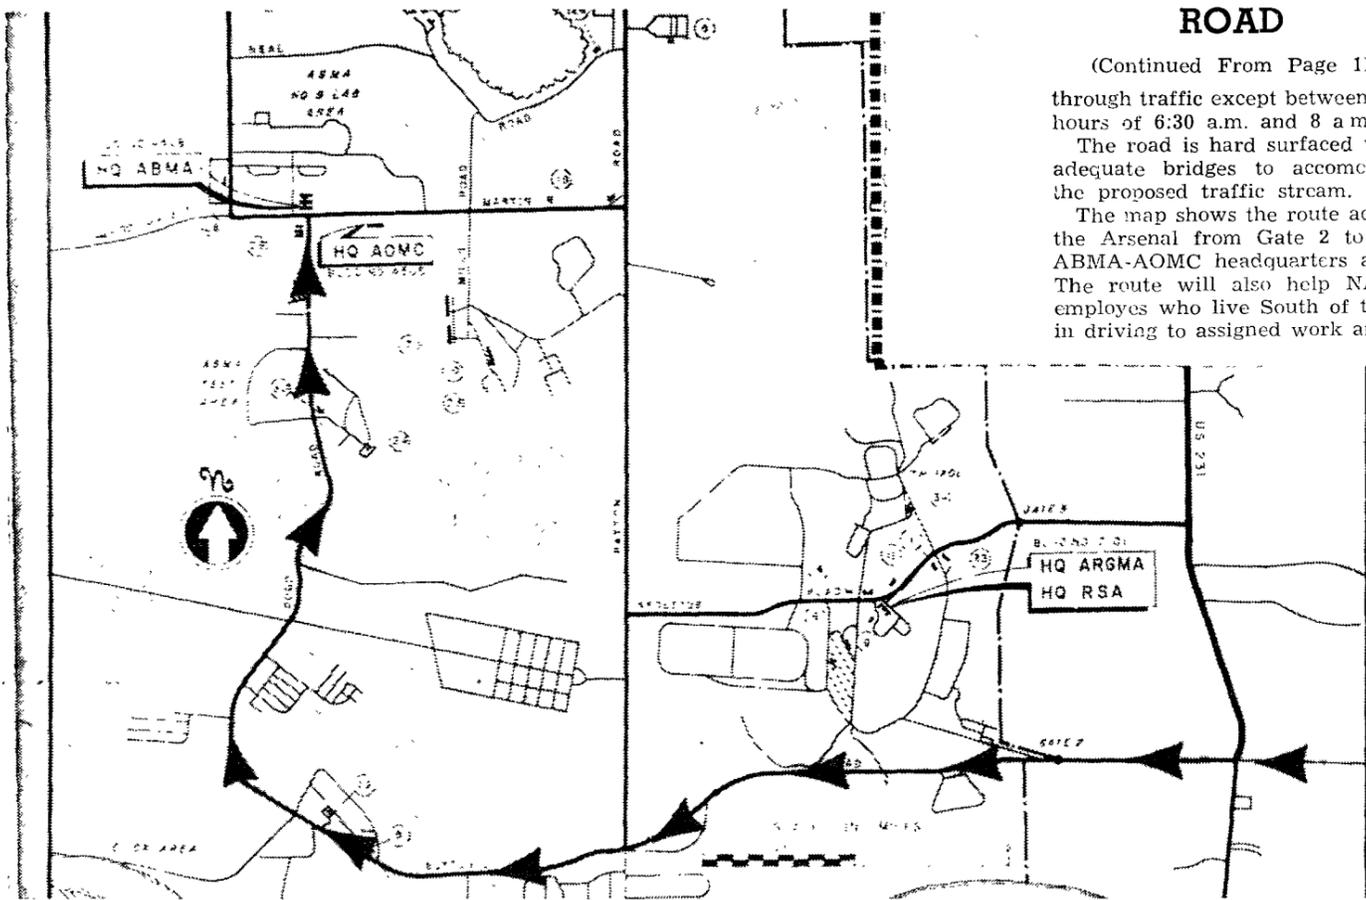

MA-AOMC headquarters area will eliminate the frustrating left-turn at Martin and save time and the frustration experienced in slow traffic movements.

The move is also made to aid those people who live South and East of Huntsville reach their jobs with the least possible delay. It is expected that some of the people who live in South Huntsville will also find this thoroughfare a shorter route in travel time.

be stored for months in such widely divergent climatic areas as Alaska and the Panama Canal Zone. Pratt and Whitney Aircraft built the case which was designed jointly by Pratt and Whitney and the Thiokol Chemical Corporation's Redstone Division. Research into the possible use of titanium for rocket motor cases was undertaken by Pratt and Whitney in January, 1959, at the direction of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, an element of AOMC. Early tests of titanium showed that it was far superior to steel, but more expensive. General Barclay explained that the test was a part of the Army's continuing efforts to produce the most efficient defense weapons possible through extensive research and development programs. He said the application of titanium in meeting future missile requirements was being evaluated. "The Army Ordnance Missile Command conducts many tests to determine the feasibility of advancing systems or replacing them with newer, more efficient systems," he said. "This test is a normal part of our program."

THROUGHOUT our history the Infantry soldier has become the symbol of our military strength. But he is more than just a symbol—he is the living extension of the will of the people to preserve the American way of life."

John E. Aber, ABMA Promoted to Colonel

John E. Aber, Director of Field Service Operations of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, was promoted to colonel Monday. Col. Aber received the silver eagles of his new rank from Brig. Gen. Richard M. Hurst, agency commander, in a short ceremony in the latter's office.

Assigned to Redstone Arsenal in 1960 as deputy chief of the ABMA, Control Office, Col. Aber assumed his current post two months ago.

Enlisting in the Field Artillery in 1935 after attending Los Angeles City College, he was appointed to the U. S. Military Academy a year later and graduated in 1940.

He served in North Africa and fought with the 100th Infantry Division during its campaigns in Southern France and Germany during World War II. He was awarded the Bronze Star medal in 1945.

COL. JOHN E. ABER

His other assignments have included tours as aide to Gen. W. Bedell Smith, then commanding the First Army; assistant military attache to Switzerland; the Army Artillery School, Fort Sill, Okla., and Chief of Combat Arms at the Engineer School at Fort Belvoir, Va.

He obtained a Master of Science Degree in Mechanical Engineering from the University of California, and is also a graduate of the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

His last assignment before reporting to ABMA was a Director of the Nike Ajax Division of the Air Defense School at Fort Bliss and Command of a Nike Ajax Missile Battalion.

Col. and Mrs. Aber, the former Ann Vanderboorn of Maastriech, Holland, have two daughters. The family live at Redstone Arsenal.

Founders Day Dinner Slated by Graduates

The annual West Point Founders' Day dinner, celebrating the one hundred fifty-ninth anniversary of the founding of the United States Military Academy, will be held this year on March 24 at the Redstone Arsenal Officers' Open Mess.

The Academy was established on March 1802 and since that time has developed a rich tradition and colorful history. Many of its graduates have achieved permanent places in American history and played important parts in the growth of our country.

Since 1802, there have been 23,281 graduates of the Academy, and 16,482 of these graduates are still living.

All graduates and former cadets or midshipmen of the US Military Academy and the US Naval Academy are reminded to send in their remittances not later than March 14. Remittances should be made payable to the RSA Officers' Open Mess and should be addressed to Captain Dan R. McDaniel, ORDXM-M, Headquarters USAOMC.

Tennessee Valley Chapter Is Largest In Army Association

The Tennessee Valley Chapter, in less than two years, has grown into the largest chapter of the Association of the U. S. Army.

A. A. Demetriou, chapter president, announced at a dinner meeting at the Huntsville Country Club recently that the national office of AUSA had announced the membership at more than 3000 as of Dec. 31, 1960.

This exceeds the second largest chapter by some 500 members.

The Tennessee Valley Chapter was formed in early 1959. Since that time, it has sponsored such events as the highly successful missile-industry symposium at Redstone Arsenal in December, 1960, and three "open" meetings, featuring outstanding guest speakers.

The speakers have been Thomas V. Jones, president of the Northrup Corporation, Donald W. Douglas, Jr., president of Douglas Aircraft, and Maj. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Superintendent of

Fashion Show, Speech Are Lunch Highlights

Spring Fashions Modeled by ABMA Officers Wives

A fashion show and a talk about activities in Huntsville during the Civil War shared importance on the agenda during the February luncheon sponsored by the wives of officers from the Army Ballistic Missile Agency for the Redstone Arsenal Wives Club on Tuesday, Feb. 21.

The fashion show in the Redstone Room with clothes from Willa's in Huntsville preceded the luncheon.

Silk and linen were predominant fabrics in shirtwaists, suits and dresses for the coming season. Hats were far less bulky than last year's models. In this collection, pastel shades, black, and Navy were shown, one deep pink sheath had a matching coat. Marvella's bulky bubble jewelry was used to accent many of the costumes. Grady's beauty shop fashioned coiffures and made up the models to show the hats and dresses to best advantage.

Mrs. Oliver M. Hirsch was commentator for the fashions. She also modeled a black eyelet embroidery with convertible neckline. A modified picture hat of straw completed the costume.

Mrs. Charles M. Marshall, played piano background music.

Following lunch in the Hawk Room, Dr. Frances Roberts, Assistant Professor of History at the University of Alabama Center, Huntsville, gave a factual—sometimes hilarious account of reactions and incidents in Huntsville under Yankee occupation. She illustrated the talk with slides of buildings and homes still standing, but once occupied by Yankee troops for storage, stables and offices.

The Hawk Room in which the buffet lunch was served, had standards of plastic foam holding the U. S. flag and the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy on the tables. Cutout silhouettes of Confederate soldiers marched along the head table. Soldiers in uniform were framed on the other tables. Approximately 200 women attended the luncheon.

Active participants in the program included the 12 models: Mrs. Charles J. Payne, Mrs. G. L. Barnhill, Mrs. S. E. Dickinson, who also won a white handbag from Willa's as door prize; Mrs. W. T. Anderson, Mrs. Walter E. Andruss, Mrs. W. F. Higgins, Mrs. E. W. Powell, Mrs. Stan R. Sheridan, Mrs. H. J. Finch, Mrs. James W. Reid, Mrs. Charles H. Tatham, Mrs. Kenneth Travis and Mrs. Hirsch.

The centerpiece of white snapdragons and red carnations was awarded Mrs. George Christiansen as a door prize.

The luncheon committee chairman was Mrs. Herbert L. Duncan. Mrs. Harold N. Brownson was the menu chairman; Mrs. Lee B. James was chairman of the reservation committee with Mrs. Stan R. Sheridan, Mrs. George J. Komechak, and Mrs. Patrick Smith, as committee members. The decorating committee was headed by Mrs. Duncan with Mrs. Harold N. Brownson, Mrs. H. L. Rutledge, Jr., Mrs. C. W. Sholar, Mrs. A. W. Braun and Mrs. K. T. Jackson serving on the committee.

Pouring sherry and punch were Mrs. August Schomburg, Mrs. John A. Barclay, Mrs. Richard M. Hurst, and Mrs. John G. Zierdt.

In addition to the fashion show and the speech, the Art Group sponsored by the Wives Club exhibited paintings hung on screens inside the front door.

Contractors Meet For Conference at Redstone Arsenal

Approximately 150 contractors from all over the nation are to attend a pre-proposal conference to be held by the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency at Redstone Arsenal this week.

The conference is intended to acquaint all interested bidders with the criteria for an electronic high-speed analog to digital system for Redstone Arsenal Test Area Nr. 5.

The system will collect data from captive rocket engine test firings, modify it, and prepare it for reduction in a computer to analyzable form for use by the Research and Development Test and Evaluation Laboratory of ARGMA.

Held jointly by ARGMA's Industrial Operations, headed by Col. H. H. Wishart, and Research and Development Operations, under Col. R. W. Burkett, the meeting will establish a competitive base for procurement, clarify requirements, and give the bidders an opportunity to obtain answers to problems regarding technical details.

The meeting, held in Rocket Auditorium on the Arsenal, opened at 9 a.m. Monday with an address by William Lloyd, Chief of the Test and Evaluation Laboratory, Research and Development Operations of ARGMA. There was a recitation of scope requirements, and a question-and-answer period. A panel of technical laboratory assistants under Lloyd will respond to bidders' queries.

Maj. J. J. Neary, Chief of the Procurement Division, Industrial Operations, joined with Lloyd in managing the meeting.

A visit to the prospective site of the new test system at Area Nr. five was included in the day's unclassified program.

Lewis Phillips, Special Contracts Branch, Procurement Division, Industrial Operations, of ARGMA said that contractor proposals have been solicited through all Ordnance Corps district offices on a nationwide, competitive basis.

ARGMA OFFICERS ARE PROMOTED

Two officers in the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency received recent promotions.

In a ceremony in the offices of Brig. Gen. John G. Zierdt, ARGMA commander, Andrew J. Woodard was promoted to lieutenant colonel, and Lloyd V. Ott to a majority. The wives of both officers witnessed the ceremony.

Lt. Col. Woodard is chief of the Military Assistance Program Office, and Major Ott chief of the Nike Engineering Branch.

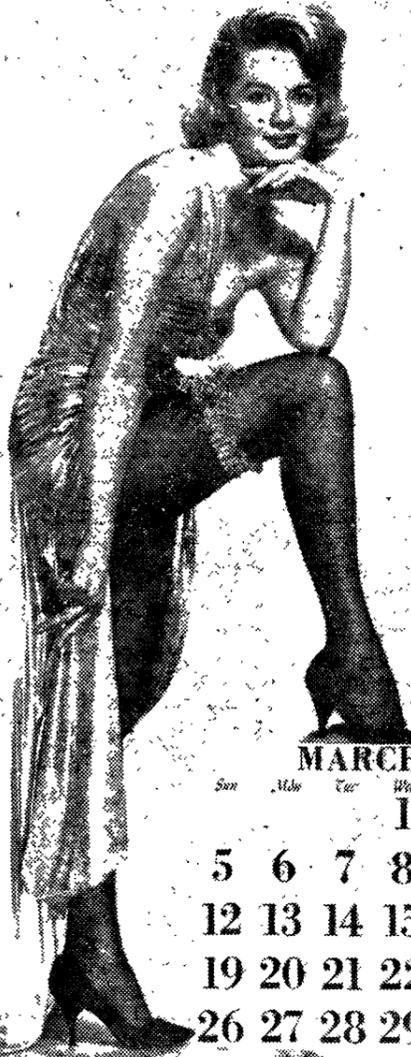

Entering the Army in 1951, Lt. Col. Woodard has served in Europe and Asia Minor. He was commanding office of an Ordnance Corps depot in Fischbach, Germany before reporting to the Army Ordnance Missile Command, parent organization to ARGMA, in July, 1959.

Maj. Ott, formerly assistant ordnance officer in Hq., Area Command, U.S. Army, Europe, for four years, holds the Combat Infantryman's Badge and the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster for Korean service.

Both officers and their families reside on Hughes Drive, Redstone Arsenal.

All-Star Basketball Players Getting Ready For Third Army Meet

The Redstone Arsenal All-Star Basketball team is in the process of preparing for the Third U.S. Army Basketball Tournament to be held at Ft. Gordon, Ga., Mar. 13-17.

A team consisting of the best players participating in the RSA Basketball League are now practicing at the RSA Gym. To insure that the team has valuable practice games, five officiated games have been scheduled before leaving for the tournament. Two games have been played with the Woody Anderson All-Stars; Redstone lost both games 74-88 and 80-100.

ed the Redstone All-Stars for the factor of team building. During these games, each RSA player was allotted a portion of playing time and only during brief occasions was the team composed of what might be called a "starting five."

In both contests with Woody Anderson All Stars, three men led the scoring. The Redstone All-Stars were led by Nichols (18-10), Huffstetlar (14-16), and Randensky (12-12). Woody Anderson's team scoring leaders were Davis (29-29), Rutherford (18-22), and Carden (22-16).

Considering all factors involved in these games, the Redstone

SIX NEW MEMBERS JOIN ARGMA'S 1500 HOUR CLUB

Six Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency employes have become members of the exclusive 1500 Hour Club.

The 1500 Hour Club is made up of those Army Civilian employes who accumulated fifteen hundred hours of sick leave. This means that each of the six ARGMA employes have worked for approximately 14 and one-half years without using one day of sick leave.

In recognition of this outstanding accomplishment Brig. Gen. John G. Zierdt, ARGMA Commander, recently presented each employe with the ARGMA Certificate of Membership in the 1500 Hour Club.

Among those receiving the certificates were Ralph O. Poehler, 6111 Chadwell Rd., Supervisory Program Specialist in Industrial Operations; John W. Torzillo, 812 Stanhope Dr., Maintenance Safety Advisor in Field Service Operations; Walter B. Slay, 2707 Lafayette Rd., Deputy Guided Missile Systems Maintenance Manager of Field Service Operations; and James Fox, 1005 9th St., S. E., Missile Research and Development Engineer in Research and Development Operations.

Others receiving the certificate of membership were Howard W. Crumrine, 1000 Clearmont Dr., Federal Catalog Program Administrator of Field Service Operations and Leonal W. Brennaman, 2227 California St., Missile Research and Development Engineer of Research and Development Operations.

To date there are only 20 members of the ARGMA 1500 Hour Club.

DANIS BECOMES CAPTAIN

Stephen J. Danis, was promoted from First Lieutenant to Captain in the U. S. Army.

The promotion presentation was made by Brig. Gen. Richard M. Hurst, Commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency.

Captain Danis, a bachelor who lives at the Arsenal, is a Project Officer in Field Support Operations of ABMA. Stationed at Redstone for about 20 months, he formerly had duty in France.

Arsenal All Stars made an impressive showing. It is hoped that by tournament time Redstone Arsenal team can equal or surpass last year's team fourth place status.

Future games to be played at RSA Gym: Woody Anderson, March 4, 1800 hours; and Huntsville VFW, March 8, 1930 hours.

Basketball Teams Awarded Trophies at Annual Banquet

Approximately 110 persons attended the 1961 RSA Basketball Banquet sponsored by Special Services Division, Redstone Arsenal. The banquet was held in the RSA, NCO Club dining area, Feb. 20.

Special Services Officer, Maj. Oscar E. Hufnagel, was the master of ceremonies for this occasion and presented the program after the invocation by Chaplain Bernard M. Burns. Special guests were Colonel Owen T. McCloskey, former Post Commander; Colonel Lester H. LeVine, Deputy Commander; and Lt. Col. Claude E. Cason, Commander, School Troops.

Cliff Harper, Executive Secretary of the Alabama High School Athletic Association, was guest speaker, providing an entertaining oration on the progression and history of modern basketball.

Col. Owen T. McCloskey assisted by Lt. Edward O. Buckbee, Sports Officer, presented the RSA League Awards. Awards were received by Hq Det, USAG, for Unit Level Championship and "Little Dixie Classic" runner-up; Company A, OGMS, for Unit Level Runner-up and "Little Dixie Classic" Championship; William Huffstetlar, Detachment B, ABMA, for high scoring average; and Loren Adams, Company A, OGMS, for "Little Dixie Classic" Most Valuable Player.

Capt. Robert Rugg, Company Hq & Hq, UTC, presented the UTC Championship Trophy to the 223rd Ordnance Detachment; UTC Runner-Up Trophy to the 224th Ordnance Detachment; and the UTC Most Valuable Player Trophy to William Gribble, 223rd

Ordnance Detachment. The highlight of the evening was a spectacular standing ovation received by Col. McCloskey for his full cooperation and participation in the past and future of Special Services Program.

Col. Cason also announced that this would be his last sports banquet due to his forthcoming retirement.

Kubilis Wins Honor For Second Time

For the second year in a row John Kubilis, an employe of the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency, has won the George Washington Honor Medal from the Freedom Foundation at Valley Forge.

Kubilis, chief of the Visual Presentation Section won the medal for his photograph, "Our Heritage—Past and Future."

The Freedom Foundation Awards are made to those U. S. Citizens who made outstanding efforts during the year to improve public understanding and appreciation of basic freedoms and the American way of life.

Kubilis' selection was announced by Dr. Kenneth D. Wells, president of the Foundation on Washington's birthday. This is the Foundation's 12th annual awards program.

Founded in 1949 the Freedom Foundation at Valley Forge is a non-profit, non-political organization created to bring about basic understanding of American principles.

The Kubilis' live at 28 Ridgeway Drive, Athens, Alabama.

Purpose of Campaign Is Told by Harold Carpenter

In response to many questions asked of the National Health and Federal Service Joint Crusade Campaign, Executive Chairman Harold B. Carpenter announced objectives of the agencies.

"These agencies," said Carpenter, "were not included in the United Givers Fund effort last fall. Both UGF and the present solicitation are permitted by executive order of the President and are the only fund campaigns to occur on the installation this fiscal year.

Continued Carpenter, "a successful drive depends upon the support of each of us. And in supporting these agencies, we will better support the drive if we are more familiar with the objectives toward which our contribution works."

In outlining purposes of the various agencies, Carpenter pointed out twin objectives of the United Cerebral Palsy Association.

One is to provide rehabilitation services for the nation's more than 600,000 cerebral palsied children and adults. The second is to conduct research into the causes of cerebral palsy in the ultimate hope of conquering the viciouscrippler which strikes a new-born child every 53 minutes.

The American Cancer Society is the only nationwide agency which attacks cancer in three ways: 1. Research to find the answers to this disease; 2. Service to alleviate the pain and suffering of its victims; 3. Education to help people protect themselves against it. These programs help save more lives from cancer year after year.

The Heart Fund supports nationwide programs of research, professional and public education and community service carried forward by the American Heart Association. The Association, its affiliates and chapters, seek to reduce and eventually control heart and circulatory diseases, which are now responsible for 54 percent of all deaths in the United States.

Founded in 1948, the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation is a national, nonprofit agency devoted exclusively to the problem of arthritis and other rheumatic diseases. It has three primary goals; care for those now afflicted, education of both the layman and the physician, and a cure for these crippling diseases through research.

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society is an organization of 169 chapters concerned with 500,000 Americans suffering from multiple sclerosis and related diseases of the central nervous system. At the national level the society works to find the cause and cure of MS. In local communities it emphasizes aid to disabled pa-

MORNING CLASSES IN SHAKESPEARE MAY BE OFFERED

The possibility of a morning class in Shakespeare was announced last week by the University of Alabama, Huntsville Center, in response to several requests.

The class would meet twice a week and would be taught by Dr. Eleanor Hutchens of the Center faculty.

An evening class in Shakespeare, also taught by Dr. Hutchtients.

The American Korean Foundation helps the Koreans help themselves. Your contribution will help feed and shelter 100,000 homeless orphans. It will train 300,000 helpless war widows to support their 516,000 dependent children. The Foundation rehabilitates the sick, crippled and aged. It educates 1½ million destitute children. It provides training for doctors, nurses, teachers and supports 4-H Clubs. By giving you will strengthen the Korean economy against the inroads of Communism. Our fighting men gave their lives for freedom in Korea. We must not lose by default what they won by sacrifice and bloodshed! What will your dollar do? It will feed and shelter an orphan for a day. $5 a week will provide vocational training costs for a child. $10 provides medical care for six disabled children for a day.

The CARE Food Crusade is an active force against hunger—it goes around the world to still the child's cry, to ease his family's suffering, to give new strength to the failing body and spirit. CARE does more—it puts into the hands of needy people the tools to build new lives. And when disaster—earthquake, flood, fire—strikes, CARE is there fast with emergency aid. Your dollars to CARE send life-building tools to men, women and children in Asia, Europe, Latin America and the Middle East—all of it carrying a message of friendship from you and your country.

As a private, non-government network supported by the American people, Radio Free Europe is your way to fight Communism. Every penny of your contribution is used, without deductions, in sending truth behind the Iron Curtain. Redstone Arsenal employes can show the captive people of East Europe that the words of freedom are stronger and more persuasive than the rantings of Communism. Give to Radio Free Europe.

AIRMAN PROMOTED—Airman First Class Jerry R. Templin (left) of the 866th Technical Training Squadron (SAC) receives new chevrons from Col. Stanley Neitzel, Squadron Commander at Redstone Arsenal on Saturday morning during a squadron briefing. A1C Templin is a native of Birmingham, Ala., who has been in the Air Force more than three years. Before his assignment at Redstone to study Jupiter Missile Maintenance, he was a radar technician at Little Rock Air Force Base

ens, is scheduled Monday and Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. for the Spring Quarter beginning March 23rd. Persons interested in taking the morning class are asked to contact the Registrar's Office at once for further information. The Center is now considering requests for other daytime offerings which might be conducted for the convenience of the community.

Students wishing to participate in the University program for the first time this Spring Quarter should make applications at the Registrar's Office by today, Mar. 1st.

FIRST MISSILE MISS BIDS FAREWELL—1/Lt. Annie M. Whitman (left), the first officer of the Women's Army Corps ever to serve on the staff of the Army Ordnance Guided Missile School, gets a certificate of achievement from Col. Charles W. Eifler, commandant, as she departs for a new assignment in France. A native of Opp, Ala., she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Whitman of 301 N. Jackson S here. Prior to her assignment as assistant personnel officer at the Missile School in May of 1959, she was stationed at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland.

Lee Company Gets Hercules Training Facilities Contract

Col. R. W. Love, U. S. Army District Engineer at Mobile, Ala., announced today the award of a contract in the amount of $196,241.85 to the Ray M. Lee Co. of Atlanta, Ga., for the construction of HIPAR (highpowered acquisition radar) training facilities for the U. S. Army Ordnance Missile School at Redstone Arsenal.

The Georgia firm will construct a HIPAR building, a generator building, a guard house and a latrine, all of masonry construction; erect Government-furnished HIPAR radome support tower, antenna tripod, guy derrick, and radome; install Government-furnished engine generator sets; and provide inside and outside utilities, chain link fencing, concrete pads, and access roads and parking areas.

Work is expected to begin early in March and to be completed by late July 1961. The Corps of Engineers sent advance notices soliciting bids on this work to 982 contractors and material suppliers, furnished plans and specifications on request to 11 prime contractors and 36 subcontractors and material suppliers and received 5 bids from prime contractors.

Turner, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Turner, a resident of Whitesburg Drive, Huntsville. During World War II, he served overseas with the 8th Air Force. After study at Syracuse University Extension at Geneva, New York, Gustafson was graduated in 1950 from American University in Washington, with a baccalaureate degree in economics and government. He later attended the American University Graduate School, majoring in international trade.

He entered civil service in 1950 with a position in the Field Service Division Office, Chief of Ordnance and came to Redstone Arsenal in 1955 as Chief, Requirements Branch, National Stock Control Point, Field Service Division. He has been continuously employed at Redstone Arsenal since that time.

Gustafson and his wife live at 1205 Clearmount Circle.

MEDIC MEMO: "Nothing is too good for the American soldier and, by the same token, nothing is too good for the sick American soldier," says Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, Army Surgeon

GENERAL Bruce C. Clarke on the Infantry: "The pages of history are filled with the unsuccessful efforts of mankind to develop an adequate substitute for the Infantry."

late July 1961.

The Corps of Engineers sent advance notices soliciting bids on this work to 982 contractors and material suppliers, furnished plans and specifications on request to 11 prime contractors and 36 subcontractors and material suppliers and received 5 bids from prime contractors.

Horton Joins ARGMA Instrumentation Unit

Francis Z. Horton, a native of Calera, Ala., has joined the staff of the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency's Test and Evaluation Laboratory as chief of its support and instrumentation services unit.

Horton was previously employed by ARO, Inc., of Tullahoma, Tenn., as an instrumentation engineer and Hayes Aircraft Corporation of Birmingham as a design engineer. He received his Electronic Engineering degree from Auburn University in 1954.

He is married to the former Miss Sue Aiken of Birmingham, Ala. They reside with their daughter, Cynthia, at 2919 Hillsboro Road.

Gustafson Is Named Project Director

Eric Gustafson has been named assistant to the Project Director for Ballistic Missile and Space

Defense, Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency.

Lt. Col. Glenn Crane, who holds the post, announced the move today. Gustafson formerly served as a programming specialist for Nike Zeus in the agency's Control Office.

Nike Zeus is the major project under Col. Crane's direction.

Gustafson will also assist him in others, including ARGMA participation in Project PRESS, the Pacific Range Electromagnetic Signature Study and Project DAMP the Downrange Anti-Missile Measurement Program.

A native of Kersey, Pa., Gustafson is the son of Mrs. Charlotte Gustafson, of Emporium, Pa. He is married to the former Martha MISS REBECCA RICE was chosen "Sweetheart" of the Valentine Ball at the Rocket Service Club for charm, poise and service during the past year as a Junior Hostess.

At the Service Club

What is there to do in Huntsville? That is a question you will hear daily all over the post. All too often the answer comes back . . . "Nothing." Aside from the fact that this answer is inaccurate, it also indicates an oversight. There is always something interesting to do here at the Service Club.

For example, on Wednesday night, March 1, you could come down and get in the series of Dance Classes starting under the direction of Ray Pisani at 1930 hours. Besides being self-improving, these dance classes are a lot of fun. A bit earlier Wednesday afternoon at 1330 hours, the EM Council will meet.

Then on Thursday night, you could sit in on a meeting of the Shutter Club at 1800 hours, and perhaps you would be interested enough to join and start developing and printing your own photographs. A Checker Contest will be held at 2000 hours for devotees of this relaxing game.

Friday night will see the spotlight on Classical Music from 1800 hours to 2000 hours, creating a mood useful for catching up on your letter writing. We have free stationery available in the check-out room, just ask for it. We will swing into Small Games Night at 2000 hours featuring chess, checkers, cards, monopoly, and many others.

Smoker Poker will get underway at 2000 hours on Saturday night with Betty Hayes here to pass out chips and cigars.

Sunday? It is usually a full day here at the club starting with Coffee Call at 0930 hours, when hot coffee and donuts are served from the kitchen. Then a Table Tennis Contest will begin in the game room at 1330 hours. On Sunday night there will be a Record Dance under the theme of "Platter Spin" at 1900 hours. That's on Sunday, the 5th of March, remember.

Monday night is an evening of games, with many interesting prizes to be won. The games start at 2015 hours in the large lounge.

Someone with a free evening can always find a good Bridge Game going in the small lounge after 1930 on Tuesday night, when the Bridge Club convenes for their weekly meeting.

These are the scheduled events only for the week. The other facilities of the club are always open. You can play pool, ping pong, shuffleboard, any number of small games, several musical instruments, or you can sit in the soda fountain over a cup of coffee and a sandwich and just talk.

HISTORY: Larry Lloyd, his orchestra, and floor show, made a visit to the Club on Valentine's night, bringing with them some good entertainment and fine dance music. Becky Rice, an outstanding Birmingham hostess, was honored and a large crowd danced until midnight under a canopy of hearts.

Pfc. Alexander Schleber of the 224th Ord. Det., UTC was winner of the Bridge Contest on February 13th. Congratulations, Alex!

FUTURE: March will be a "big" month so far as unusual and interesting programs are concerned. One event coming up in March that will require some advance planning, if you are interested, is the All-Army Entertainment Services Entertainment Contest. All who are interested contact SP/4 James Stark, Spec-tion.

We have two tours scheduled for March. One to Birmingham and one to Cathedral Caverns. There will be a Pizza Party, two orchestra dances, and a Post-Wide Shuffleboard Tournament. So keep in touch with us here at the Club, and don't miss anything by not just knowing about it. We still have those handy calendar schedules, so get yourself one. See you soon?

The Judge Advocate Advises

The obligation of military personnel to file state income tax returns is dependent upon the laws of the states, however, some are under the misconception that they are exempt from all state income taxes, solely by reason of their military service.

Military personnel are not exempt from income taxation imposed by their state of legal residence. This obligation is not modified by the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940. The applicable state law is controlling as to filing requirements, rates, military exemptions, etc.

Generally, persons who are legal residents (domiciliaries) of a state on the last day of the taxable year are subject to its income tax laws even though they are not physically present therein during the year. An individual has only one legal residence (domicile) at any given time.

In some cases legal residence is easily determined; in others the advice of the Legal Assistance Officer may be required.

Generally, legal residence is the place where an individual has made his home and where he intends to remain permanently or indefinitely and to which he intends to return whenever his is absent. Thus two elements are necessary to constitute legal residence. Physical Presence and intent to remain (or to return).

Further, the intent to remain must have existed at the time the individual was physically present. Where an individual is absent from a state for an extended period of time, such as for military service, his intent to return may be questioned.

If the individual votes by absentee ballot, pays state income taxes and files his Federal tax return with the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, within the state from which he entered the service, it is not likely that he will have any difficulty establishing that state as his legal residence.

Other factors which may be important in determining the serviceman's intent to return are: Collection of a state bonus, bank accounts and business connections, ownership of a home (especially where the individual filed claim for homestead exemption), continuous automobile registration and driver's licenses, place where leave periods are spent, and the execution of certificates and documents which indicate permanent residence.

The Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, as amended, provides that a serviceman does not lose a domicile or residence in a state solely by reason of being absent in compliance with military or naval orders. Further, the serviceman does not become a legal resident of a state solely by reason of his residing there in compliance with military or naval orders. This does not mean that a serviceman can not become a legal resident of a state in which he is stationed.

Military personnel are cautioned as to their activities in the state where stationed if they do not desire to become legal residents of that state. While licensing an automobile and purchasing a home may be justified on the grounds of expediency, voting in state elections and claiming benefits reserved by the state for its residents, such as homestead exemptions and resident hunting and fishing licences, indicating an intention to become a legal resident.

The Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act reserves the right to tax the serviceman's military pay to the state of his domicile. However, other income earned by a serviceman within a state in which he is stationed may be taxed both by the state where the income is earned and by the state of his domicile.

EXAMPLE: Sergeant Jones, a legal resident of Utah, enlisted in the service on Dec. 31, 1957, and was physically present during 1958 at Beale AFB, Calif. In addition to his service pay, he earned from off-duty employment $500 as a mechanic. He must file a return with the State of Utah on all income received in 1958 since that state is still his legal residence.

He must also file a return with the State of California and report only the income received from off-duty employment since it was derived from services performed in the State. California cannot impose an income tax on his service pay since his legal residence is in Utah.

Achievement Made In Science to Be Recognized by Army

The Department of the Army has announced new Research and Improvement Achievement awards to recognize technical achievements of its scientists and engineers.

Achievement eligible for the award must either establish a scientific basis for further technical improvement of military importance, improve materially the Army technical capability or contribute materially to the nation's welfare.

The award can be given to individuals or to groups of scientists and engineers who make such a contribution, and it can be given to non-technical personnel who make contributions with the group.
