Roadrunner Passes First Firing Test

Target Missile Is Designed to Test Hawk, Nike-Hercules

The U. S. Army's newest supersonic target missile, the Redhead Roadrunner (NA273) successfully passed its first firing test today at White Sands Missile Range, N. M.

The ram-jet powered missile will be used as a target for U. S. Army Air Defense Command crews firing Hawk and Nike Hercules air defense missiles.

Designed to operate at either high or low altitude, the Redhead and Roadrunner flew a low level mission today. Under the control of a ground command post, it blasted from a standard launcher for the Army's Littlejohn rocket and was later recovered intact through the operation of its automatic parachute recovery system. Only one foot in diameter and 19 feet long, the Redhead and Roadrunner is the only training missile capable of operating anywhere between 300 and 60,000 feet altitude and from sub-sonic to supersonic speed.

The missile is launched by a 6,000 pound thrust underslung booster rocket which falls off a few seconds after launch. The ram-jet engine then takes over.

The missile has stubby, triangular six foot wings.

North American Aviation, Columbus, Ohio Division, is prime contractor for development of the missile. The Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency is technical supervisor.

AER-ARS Fund Drive Will End on July 31

The Military Police and the Band have already reached the goal of 100 per cent participation in the current Army Emergency Relief-Army Relief Society fund drive, according to the chairman, Maj. George Grace.

Maj. Grace pointed out that more than $21,000 in AER funds were raised at Redstone Arsenal during the past year, and that he has set a goal of $4,000 in donations for

ARGMA Administrator In Physical Science Is Dr. James A. McLaren

Dr. James A. McLaren has been appointed physical science administrator in the Advanced Components and Techniques Laboratory, Research and Development Operations of the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency by Brig. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Agency Commander.

Dr. McLaren will be assigned to the Electro Optical Branch in the capacity of physical chemist. This Branch plans and performs development of infrared, optical and ultra-violet techniques for detection, tracking and guidance of guided missiles. It also provides technical consultation relative to infrared and optical guidance.

He joins the Agency after 14 years with the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, Oak Ridge, Tennessee. Prior to that time he was connected with the Department of Agriculture.

Dr. McLaren is a graduate of Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., and Edinburgh University, Edinburgh, Scotland.

He is a member of the American Chemical Society, the Faraday Society and the Electrochemical Society.

Dr. and Mrs. McLaren and their three daughters will make their home in Huntsville.

the current drive.

The funds are for assistance of military personnel when funds will help alleviate hardship.

Army Missilemen Conduct Tactical Firing in Europe

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N. M.—Army missilemen just back from Europe conducted a tactical firing today of the big Redstone ballistic missile, military version of the Project Mercury man-in-space vehicle.

Troops of "A" Battery, 46th Artillery Group, stationed in Europe with North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, fired the 70-foot-tall Redstone on a 70-mile journey over the all-land missile range.

The training firing was a part of a tactical exercise conducted from sand and sagebrush terrain.

White Sands optical and electronic instrumentation followed the missile's trajectory, but handling of the weapon and the conditions of the test firing were almost identical to those of a tactical situation. (See CONDUCT, Page 3)

U. S. to Manufacture SS-11 Antitank Missile

Following a technical evaluation, the government of the United States decided to purchase from Nord-Aviation Company the license for manufacturing the SS-II antitank guided missile, the U. S. Army announced July 7.

The weapon is a wire-guided missile with a solid fuel propellant. It is designed to be hand-carried, dropped by parachute from planes, launched from the ground, a vehicle, helicopter or airplane.

Under this new contract, the Army acquired the right of manufacture the SS-II in its present stage of development and shall benefit by all the improvements of the SS-II weapon system for years to come.

The potential setting up of a second production basis, in the U. S., still further increases the ability of the SS-II missile to fulfill the defense requirements of the Western World.

The Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency tested and evaluated the SS-II.

Colonel Brownson Goes To Post in Washington

He Has Been Deputy Commander, ABMA For Past Year

Col. H. N. Brownson, Deputy Commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Redstone Arsenal for the past year, began a new assignment Monday in Washington.

Gen. Richard M. Hurst, Commander of ABMA, announced the change. He said Col. B. J. Leon

GEN. McMORROW GETS 2ND STAR

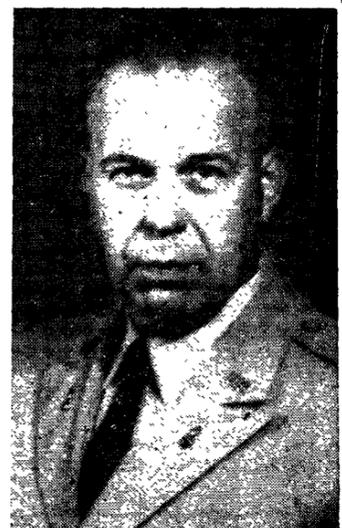

The newly-named Deputy Commanding General of the Army Ordnance Missile Command has been promoted to Major General. Brig. Gen. Francis J. McMorrow due to assume his new duties at Redstone Arsenal on July 17, was advanced to two-star rank effective July 1.

Maj. Gen. August Schomburg, AOMC Commanding General, today named Brig. Gen. Richard M. Hurst to act as Deputy Commander in the interim.

Gen. Hurst is Commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency.

Maj. Gen. McMorrow replaces Maj. Gen. John A. Barclay who retired from active Army service after more than 30 years in uniform.

A 1933 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, the 51-year-old McMorrow comes to AOMC from an assignment in the Pentagon.

Approximately 100 Will Receive Reduction Notice

Col. Thomas W. Cooke, Commander, Army Ordnance Missile Support Agency (AOMSA) at Redstone Arsenal announced July 7 that approximately 100 AOMSA employees will receive reduction in-force notices between now and September.

These are personnel employed in primary skills no longer required. Many of these personnel possess secondary skills which can be utilized in positions where vacancies exist.

Every effort will be exerted to relocate these personnel within elements of the Army Ordnance Missile Command and National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Redstone Arsenal. Thus the actual number of personnel to be separated will be less than 100. (See REDUCTION, Page 3)

Civilians Break Arsenal Safety Records in 1961

Civilians working at Redstone Arsenal broke all records for safety during the fiscal year which ended on June 30.

Henry Dyer, safety director for the Army Ordnance Missile Command, said civilian personnel at Redstone worked 17,471,187 man hours with only 10 lost time accidents.

"This is considerably better than any previous year," Dyer said. The period covered was from June 1, 1960 to July 1, 1961.

The Army Ballistic Missile Agency, an element of AOMC, went the entire fiscal year plus 10 days without time-lost accidents at all. During that period ABMA personnel worked 3,474,404 man hours.

The other elements of the Command—the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency and the Army Ordnance Missile Support Agency also scored excellent safety records.

ARGMA personnel worked 6,072,

999 man hours with only four time-lost accidents. AOMSA had six accidents while working 7,650,784 man hours.

Dyer attributed the record to "full cooperation" at all levels throughout the Arsenal. "We had the complete support of top management in our safety program," he said.

The safety director also placed credit for the record with the nature of the work done at Redstone. "Handling missiles and missile propellants is, of its own nature, hazardous work," he pointed out. "People who work here have to develop good safety habits. These habits, have, obviously, paid off. Our record shows that."

The safety habits also pay other dividends. Dyer says civilian personnel have fewer accidents at home simply because they take the safety habits developed here home with them.

SOLDIER OF THE MONTH—SP4 Robert C. Adams and his family register at the Russel Erskine Hotel as part of the Huntsville Soldier of the Month program which is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and Huntsville Lion's Club. Registering the Adams family (foreground) is Paul L. Tanner, room clerk at the hotel. SP4 Adams, a member of Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, U. S. Army Ordnance Missile Support Agency, was selected Soldier of the Month at Redstone Arsenal. This summer he is on duty as a life guard at the Special Services Swimming Pool. Prior to entering the Army he was studying at Clarkson College of Technology at Hempstead, N. Y., and is presently attending the University of Alabama, Huntsville Extension. He plans to earn a degree in law at Hofstra College. Both SP4 Adams and his wife are natives of New York State. Their son, Robert, is 15-months-old.

Suggestions Save Taxpayers Money

Army employees at Redstone Arsenal saved over $237,000 for themselves and their fellow-taxpayers during the fiscal year that ended June 30.

Adopted suggestions for operating improvements also netted over $13,000 in cash awards for employees at five Army agencies on the Arsenal, according to Frank H. Holmes, executive secretary of the Arsenal's incentive awards committee.

Besides the outstanding display of economy, the government workers set two new records for the suggestion program on this installation.

The suggestion submission rate of 60 per cent topped all previous records and employees submitted more suggestions during the past fiscal year than any of the past seven years as civilian employees tossed 5,749 suggestions to their supervisors.

Of these ideas, 23.1 per cent were adopted and cash awards ranged from $10 to $275. In addition 664 employees received Career Service Awards totaling 10,680 years on the job. 621 Sustain- (See SAVE MONEY, Page 3)

The Redstone Rocket

The Redstone Rocket is a privately owned newspaper published every Wednesday at no expense to the Government by Jack W. Hoffhaus, Hartselle, Alabama, with exclusive regard for the reader interests of personnel at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama, in accordance with an agreement between the publisher and the Public Information Office, Army Ordnance Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama.

The Rocket is NOT an official or semi-official Army or Ordnance Corps publication. Policies and statements reflected in the news and editorial columns represent the views of the individual writers and are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army, the Ordnance Corps, or any organization at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama. Appearance of advertisements in the Rocket does not constitute an endorsement of the advertising matter by the Department of the Army, the Ordnance Corps, or any organization at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama.

The publisher will receive editorial content for publication in the Rocket only through the Public Information Office, Army Ordnance Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama, Blag. 7101, Extension 876-3362. All advertising copy and payments therefor are received by Mrs. Zillah T. Heath, 311 Holmes Ave., N.E., Huntsville, Alabama, P. O. Box 346, telephone 534-4701, as representative of the publisher.

The Redstone Rocket is distributed free of cost to personnel at Redstone Arsenal. Mailing rates for the Rocket are $5.15 a year, or $2.83 for six months, Alabama sales tax included. Mailing arrangements may be made with the publisher.

ABMA is charged with responsibility for all Army missiles and rockets that follow preset or predetermined flight paths, including the Army's newest and longest range ballistic missile, the Pershing, now under development.

A native of Lansing and Monroe, Mich., Col. Brownson was graduated from Michigan State University in 1933 with a degree in mechanical engineering and commissioned in the Coast Artillery.

He entered active military service in 1942. His military service includes a three year tour in Europe. He is married and has two children.

Col. Hirshorn has been in his present assignment since 1958. Born in Pinc Bluff, Ark., he graduated from the University of Arkansas in 1934 with a degree in chemical engineering. He began active Army service in 1940. A variety of military assignments at home and abroad included service with the Eighth Army in Korea.

He is married to the former Miss Frances Spellman of Little Rock, Ark.

Wallace Ruskin Joins Southern Associated Engineers Staff Here

PLAINVIEW, N. Y. — Wallace R. Ruskin has been named general manager of the Systems Division of Powertron Ultrasonics Corporation it was announced July 7 by William G. McGowan, President.

Mr. Ruskin will have his headquarters in Huntsville at the office of Powertron's subsidiary, Southern Associated Engineers, Inc., a service contractor in missile development. Southern's 209 employees provide support services of documentation and illustration for the guided missile systems. This program includes the Nike, Hawk, LaCrosse, Honest John, Littlejohn, Sergeant and Corporal missile families.

Powertron, which has facilities at Plainview, L. I., Chicago, Ill., and Los Angeles, Calif., in addition to its Huntsville operation, produces automatic ultrasonic cleaning and missile liquid level sensing systems. The company recently made new advances in control devices for liquid hydrogen, pyrogenic solutions and missile propellants.

Pershing's Short Range Is Success

Versatility Is Demonstrated, Objectives Met

The U. S. Army successfully fired a Pershing ballistic missile in a short range test recently at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Brig. Gen. Richard M. Hurst, Commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency (ABMA), described the firing as a demonstration of the versatility of the inertially guided missile. Pershing is being developed as a field Army support weapon with selective range capability.

All test objectives were met.

The Army said the missile was pre-set to impact on a target considerably closer to the firing point than in recent tests.

Exact distance covered by the missile was not disclosed.

Lift-off and operation of both the missile's solid propellant stages were normal. The warhead unit separated as planned. Flares carried in the missile were ejected downrange as aids to tracking and data collection.

The missile was fired directly from its mobile transporter-erector launcher mounted on a fully tracked prime mover designed to give the Pershing high overland mobility.

It was fired by a crew composed of personnel from the Martin Company's Orlando, Fla., Division and the ABMA Test Evaluation and Firing Laboratory.

The Martin Company is prime contractor for the Pershing system under the technical supervision of ABMA.

PROMOTED TO WARRANT OFFICER

George M. Reagan, received new rank of Warrant Officer. His bars were pinned on by his wife, Elizabeth, and Col. Charles W. Eifler, commandant, during ceremonies at the U. S. Army Ordnance Guided Missile School.

He is the son of Mrs. Eva Annette Reagan of Memphis, Tennessee.

He was formerly assigned to the Department of Administration and Service at the Missile School. He entered the Army in April, 1946.

PROMOTED TO WARRANT OFFICER

William L. Kelly, Jr., became a Warrant Officer recently in a ceremony in the office of Charles W. Eifler Commandant, Army Ordnance Guided Missile School.

Presently assigned to the Unit Training Command at the school, Kelly served a tour of duty at the U. S. Army Caribbean School, Panama Canal Zone, before coming to Redstone Arsenal. He entered the Army in September, 1947.

He is the son of Mrs. Lurine Kelly of Popular Street, Bamberg, S. C.

W/O and Mrs. Kelly presently reside at 1232B Nike St., Redstone Arsenal, Ala.

Col. Cooke emphasized that every effort will be made to relocate these personnel affected by the reduction-in-force. Skills and aptitudes of each person affected will be closely reviewed and, if possible, personnel will be placed in vacant positions which are compatible with either their primary or secondary skill or aptitude.

An area placement committee will, in every possible way consistent with the Civil Service Commission's rules and regulations, help relocate separated employees," Col. Cooke said.

"Those who cannot be placed through efforts of the committee will, as provided by Civil Service rules, qualifications of the individuals, and sound management principles, be given priority consideration for re-employment in vacancies which may occur."

Officials of the Army Ordnance Missile Command said this move represents a realignment of forces and is being done to align skills with current requirements.

AT SOJOURNER MEETING—Col. Thomas W. Cooke, Commander of the U. S. Army Ordnance Missile Support Agency, gives an Independence Day address to members of Redstone Chapter 353 National Sojourners in the Hawk Room at the Squirrel Hill Officers Club.

Sojourners Hold Fourth of July Ceremonies Here

The monthly meeting of the Redstone Chapter No. 353 of the National Sojourners was in the form of Independence Day Ceremonies. This meeting was held at the RSA Commissioned Officers' Mess on July 4th at 1100-1200 hours. Refreshments were served before the meeting began.

The ceremonies were opened by the Sojourner president, Brother Captain K. W. Gryder. Brother, Major Reuben Anderson introduced the speaker, Col. Thomas W. Cooke, Commander, Army Ordnance Missile Support Agency. Col. Cooke spoke on the history and meaning of Independence Day and explained the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights. This information and educational talk was most interesting to the audience of approximately 100 Sojourners, their families and friends.

Brother, Lt. Col. Grady Pepper, chairman of the Americanism Committee, introduced Brother, Lt. Col. Eugene J. McGinnis, Executive Officer, OGMS, gave a flag presentation speech and presented a 50-star United States of America flag to Chaplain Lt. Col. E. Batterson for use in the Post Chapel. Chaplain Batterson accepted the flag on behalf of the Post Chapel and the chaplains of all the faiths using the Chapel.

CLEMSON CLUB PLANS OUTING

The North Alabama Clemson Club will hold an outing at Valmonte Resort, south of Guntersville off US 431 on Saturday, July 15. The festivities will begin with a barbecue at 12:00, followed by swimming, boating, games, and fun for all. All Clemson Alumni and friends are cordially invited to attend.

July—What can you say about July, except that it is hot? It's a good month for swimming, sitting on front porches or inside air-conditioned houses, and, believe it or not, it's a good time for ice skating, too, as those who sign up for the Ice Skating Party on Thursday will discover.

I seem to be getting ahead of myself, though, let's go back to Wednesday for a moment. On Wednesday evening, the Dance Classes will meet in the main lounge at 1900 hours for their weekly lessons.

Then, on Thursday, the 13th, the Shutter Club will meet in the small lounge at 1800 hours. The Ice Skating Party will start here at the Club, 1930 hrs., when everyone will gather to go to the rink. There will be an admission fee at the skating rink. You can get the exact fee and any further information you need when you sign up, as an advance reservation list will be necessary. If you can't skate, don't let that bother you, because I expect to see very few experts out there.

On the 14th, Friday night, there will be a Table Tennis Contest at 2000 hours.

A Patio Bridge Party will begin at 1900 hours on Saturday night out on the back patio.

Sunday morning, Coffee Call will be held at 0930 hours. Hot coffee and donuts will be served from the kitchen. At 1500 hours, comes a very special program. Fort McClellan is sending a troupe of entertainers for a variety-musical show that is sure to be top-notch entertainment. Remember the date and time, Sunday, the 16th, at 1500 hours. Do yourself a favor and come to see the show. Sunday evening, the Platter Whirl will begin at 1900 hours.

Monday night at 2015, our weekly games will hold the spotlight.

On Tuesday evening, the Bridge Club will hold its weekly meeting at 1930 hours in the small lounge. At 2000 hours, Tommy Martin's Orchestra will strike up the opening notes for the big Summer Dance. There will be a floor show, too, so be sure you're here on the evening of the 18th. If you recall, Tommy Martin played for our Halloween Dance last October. Those of you who were here know that he makes some very danceable music. Both the Birmingham and the Huntsville Hostesses will be here, so I urge you again not to miss this one.

HISTORY

Our Sunday night Record Dances have become by far one of the most popular of the "regular" programs here at the club, and last Sunday night, we had an especially good one. Drop by sometime on Sunday evening and look in—you will enjoy it.

Toastmistresses Hold Impromptu Speech Contest

Impromptu speeches were the order of the evening for the Huntsville Toastmistress Club meeting on July 5 at Morrison's Restaurant.

Mrs. G. L. Wyss, newly-elected president, named committee chairman to serve with her, and held a meeting of this group following the regular session at which Mrs. G. W. Warren and Miss Dollie Wiginton tied for best speaker of the evening.

Mrs. Grady Kennedy was Toastmistress, Mrs. Edith Nilsson the topic mistress.

Misses Martha Jewell Wiginton and Martha Jane Evans were guests. The young ladies from Florence, Ala., are nieces of Miss Dollie Wiginton.

STUART JONES IS PRESIDENT OF PERSONNEL CLUB

Stuart H. Jones, Personnel Director of the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency, has been elected president of the Huntsville Chapter of the Society for Personnel Administration.

He succeeds Jack McConaha, who is Deputy Director of Civilian Personnel, Army Ordnance Missile Command.

Other officers elected for the coming year were Mr. Owen Hammett, Personnel Manager of Huntsville Manufacturing Company, Vice-President; Mr. Roy Hollihan, Manager, Redstone Arsenal Federal Credit Union, Treasurer; and Mrs. Katy Lyle, Personnel Program Specialist, MSFC, Secretary.

The Huntsville Chapter of the Society for Personnel Administration was organized in 1957 and has approximately 47 active members. There are now 21 chapters in the United States.

Outstanding guests at meetings during the past year were Hon. Roger W. Jones, Chairman of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Barbara Bates Gunderson, one of three Commissioners of the Civil Service Commission; Dr. Turner W. Allen, Dean Florence State College; Dr. Joseph H. Mahaffey, Educational Advisor, Command and Staff College, Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama.

Brown, during graduation ceremonies recently at the U. S. Army Ordnance Guided Missile School. Schleihauf was the honor graduate in the Hawk Continuous Wave Radar Repair course at the Missile School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Schleihauf of West Lorne, Ontario, Canada. Schleihauf was assigned as a technical writer at Montreal, P. Q., prior to coming to the Missile School in March of 1958. He entered the Army in September of 1941. Mr. and Mrs. Schleihauf presently reside at 1014 1/2 Elliott Rd., Huntsville.

Post Librarians Attend Conference At Cleveland, Ohio

Flying to Cleveland, Ohio, last week-end were the following library delegates from Redstone Arsenal, to attend the annual conference of the American Library Association, July 9-15: Mrs. Jean L. Hoffman, Assistant Librarian, Post Library; Mrs. Jim Clark and Miss Mary Mazza, Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency Technical Library; Mrs. Jane Bentley, ABMA Technical Documents Library, who is representing the Alabama Library Association as president, Mrs. Bentley, and Mrs. Lucile D. Ridings from ABMA Library, editor of the "Alabama Librarian."

The Librarians are staying at the Statler-Hilton and Sheraton-Cleveland where the John Cotton Dana Public Relations Awards were presented at a reception on Monday afternoon, July 10.

A series of 40 to 50 meetings, panel discussions, institutes, and pre-conference sessions on Latin American materials, buildings, and rare books are on the agenda. Official registration and examination of exhibits at the Cleveland Auditorium began Sunday afternoon.

The first general session was slated for Sunday evening, with a general reception for all delegates.

Thursday afternoon has been set aside for tours to art museums, sightseeing on Lake Erie and library school re-unions. The closing session will be the inaugural banquet with a southerner, Mrs. Florinnet F. Morton, Director, Louisiana State University Library School, to be installed as president.

The Ballistic Missile Early Warning site at Thule, Greenland, requires millions of watts of power — enough to light a city of 30,000 people. Power is supplied by a U. S. Navy generator ship.

Protestant Group To Have Picnic

The July meeting of the Protestant Men and Women of the Chapel will be a picnic July 20 at the Tennessee River Recreation Area 2.

Picnickers will furnish their utensils for eating, soft drinks, and one covered dish.

The picnic begins at 5 p.m. Further information may be obtained by calling 877-5753, 877-5457, or 877-5348.

Milton Cummings Will Address Engineer Meeting

The Northeast Alabama Chapter of the Society of Professional Engineers will meet at the Albert Pick Motel at 6 p.m. on July 13.

Preceding the 7 o'clock dinner will be a social hour. The after dinner speaker is Milton K. Cummings, President and Chairman of the Committee for the Research Institute in Huntsville. Mr. Cummings will talk about plans for the Institute.

Dr. Jerry McCall, Assistant to the Director at the Marshall Space Flight Center, will be an honored guest and will also answer questions from the audience concerning the Research Institute.

"Stop waving your arms and making faces, sir," said the dentist impatiently. "I haven't even touched your tooth."
"But doc," wailed the patient, "you're standing on my corn."

NEW ASSIGNMENTS LISTED

New officers recently assigned to Headquarters, the U. S. Army Ordnance Missile Command at Redstone Arsenal include Col. Cecil H. Fuller, Lt. Col. Frank E. Moore, Capt. David E. Green, and 2nd Lt. Robert E. Salter.

A native of Virginia, Col. Fuller is assigned as Chief, Engineer Office. He was formerly with the Mobile Corps of Engineers stationed at Redstone Arsenal.

Assigned to the Research and Development Section, Lt. Col. Moore is the son of Mrs. Frank E. Moore, Paris, Texas. His last duty assignment was Headquarters, Defense Atomic Support Agency.

Also named to the Research and Development Section is Captain Green whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Green, live at Andalusia, Alabama. He came to Redstone from Purdue University where he was a student from

NCO WIVES MET

The monthly business meeting of the NCO Ladies Auxiliary will be held Thursday, July 13th at the NCO Club. All members are urged to attend with regard to the coming BAR-B-Q which will be held Sunday, July 16th at the Arsenal Boat Dock.

Reservations must be made with Mrs. Frank Reed, 534-7806 or Mrs. James Walden, 877-5470. If reservations are made and are not filled, $1.00 per person must be paid to the Auxiliary. Special entertainment has been planned for the children.

Headquarters, 5th Army.

2nd Lt. Green, assigned to AOMC Signal Office, was formerly a Signal Corps student at Fort Monmouth, N. J. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin E. Salter of Margarita, Canal Zone.

Treat Your Signature With Care; Read First

It's important to read the small print on any contract you are to sign.

You should know what interest is charged for the purchase, what the exact finance charges are or how much interest you pay. Legal assistance officers make this point: "Remember your signature, like your reputation, is too valuable to be treated casually.

It also should be remembered," they say, "that a signature, like a fingerprint is unique; the folly of its imprint may result in events of tragic consequence."

Here are a few examples of the terms sometimes included in contracts that, if not discovered by you, can spell trouble:

* A pickup payment—which is really a down payment required before you can pick up your car from a lot after you have paid the advertised "only one dollar down." This payment may be financed through a separate small loan company (perhaps owned by the dealer) at a rate of two to three per cent a month.

* A balloon payment—which is an extra large payment at the end of a contract, sometimes amounting to several hundred dollars. Legal officers say it is often the cause of repossessions.

* Agreements to pay additional sums beyond those itemized in the contract, probably for life and collision insurance, service charges, carrying costs, penalties or clerical fees.

* The monthly payment—which is set low enough and extended for a long enough period so you may afford the entire package. This single figure lends a deceptive air of simplicity to the deal.

* Split-level payments — which set the monthly payment at one level for the first six months and then lower or raise it for the balance of the contract.

The Colorado Bar Association recently pointed out that virtually every transaction you make, whether it be purchase, sale, mortgage or other, is subject to the regulations and interpretations of the law.

It also notes that the path of the inexperienced through the maze of legal technicalities and entanglements is full of obstacles.

"Traveling through this maze," the association said, "without the benefit of experienced legal advice, can and very often does, result in expensive litigation and unnecessary and unforeseen conse-

Railroad Track Will Be Sold at Redstone

Col R. W. Love, U. S. Army District Engineer at Mobile, announced July 7 that about 45,500 linear feet of two-rail railroad trackage located at Redstone Arsenal, will be sold to the highest bidder.

The trackage, which has become surplus to the needs of the Government, consists of 75-, 80- and 85-lb. rail in spurs, crossovers and siding, and includes cross-ties and appurtenances such as plates, spikes, switches, and bumpers. It is being offered for sale on an as quences."

In other words, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and it is wise to consult your legal assistance officer or your civilian attorney when in doubt.

Here, briefly, are six things you can do before you sign any document.

- * Know what you are signing and what the document contains.
- * Read everything in the document.
- * Check and verify the document.
- * Ask questions.
- * Retain a copy of the document.
- * Above all, don't sign blank contracts.

A man walked into a restaurant, ordered three hamburgers, two steaks, a shrimp salad, fried rice, a side order of dill pickles and ice cream.

The waitress was amazed. "Boy!" she exclaimed. "You sure like food."

"Matter of fact," said the customer, "I hate it. I'm just crazy about bicarbonate of soda."

A husband charged with desertion was pleading with the judge.

"Honest, your honor," he cried. "if you knew my wife better you'd know I'm not a deserter—just a coward."

"Boss," said the dock foreman, "the men on the dock are a little lerry of the new freight loader you hired yesterday."
"Why so?" asked the terminal manager. "He checked out well." "Maybe so," replied the foreman, "but this morning he stubbed his toe on a crate of iron castings and said, 'Oh, the perversity of inanimate objects.'"

WITH AN INANIMATE OBJECT a photographer can take his time and set up a closeup of equipment such as the law launcher on the light table which is being photographed in the AOMSA Photo Lab by Bill Kellar, photographer, formerly of Sarasota, Fla., and now a resident of Huntsville. The Kellar family now numbers five with two boys and a girl.

As far-flung as the missile program, Army Signal Photo men operate a program which faithfully records the steps of missile advancement from the basic research on a component to the final firing of the operational missile.

At the hub of the program at Redstone Arsenal where Army Ordnance Missile Command has headquarters, work orders pour in by phone, courier and intra-arsenal mail.

The orders fall in three categories: engineering, documentary and news. Any one of the three categories may call for industrial photography, copy work or action. The men follow the missiles to the proving grounds and record the firings on site.

Refrigerators and hot boxes where missiles are tested for durability under given conditions are visited by photographers.

The life of a photographer is a modern day version of the pony express riders: weather doesn't stop delivery, but is braved.

Military and civilian employees work side by side in the dark rooms, in administration, and in the field with cameras to record anything from the arrival of the President of the United States to keep the men abreast of the steps taken to arrive at particular results.

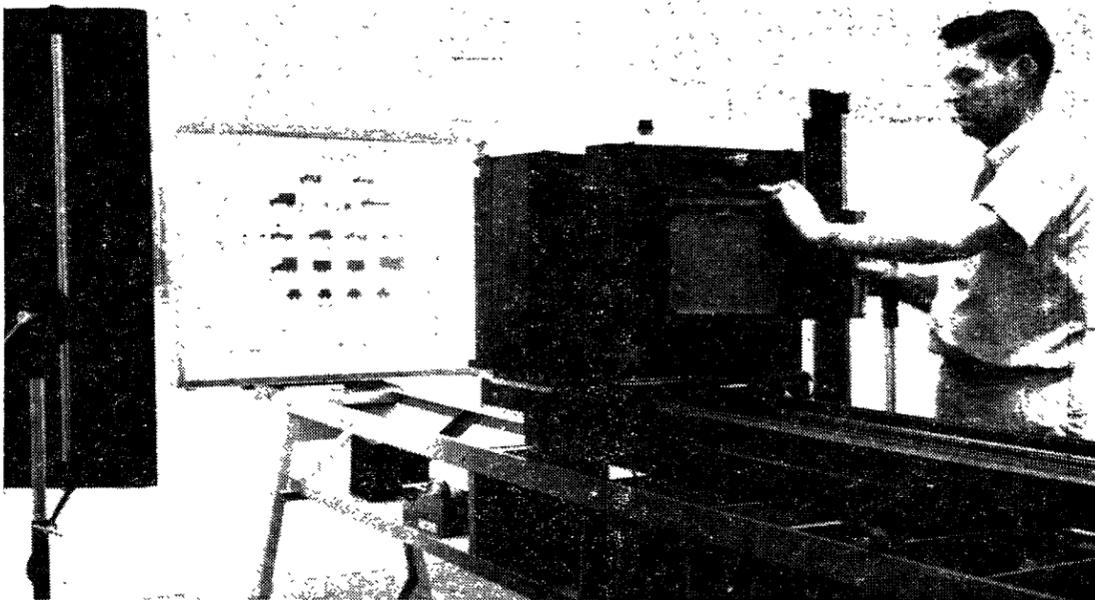

The Still Photo Lab is under the supervision of Capt. Elwood H. Neener Jr. The chief of the Lab is Thomas Wideman, a former Counter Intelligence Corpsman.

Anything that needs photographic coverage is taken care of from the first shutter click of the cameraman to the finished photo.

In addition to work in the field, the cameramen also operate a portrait studio which includes orders for news, documentary and passport photos.

The bulk of the lab work is accomplished in Bldg. 7441, and a small laboratory in Bldg. 4488 is used for a copy lab.

Kawaye Named Outstanding Judoist of Tournament

PFC. Jim Kawaye, coach of the Redstone Arsenal Judo team, placed first in the 180 pound weight division, at the recent tournament held at the Tuscaloosa YMCA. He was also voted Outstanding Judoist of the Tournament. His team mates, Lt. Don Pundt and SP4 Don Malandra, also brought home trophies. SP4 Malandra was second in the 180 pound weight division and Lt.

GINNA MEDARIS TROPHY TO BE AWARDED JULY 19

Competition for the Ginna Medaris Trophy continues among members of the Golf Group sponsored by the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club on the Arsenal course.

Play ends on July 18. The cup will be awarded the winner at a luncheon in the Rathskellar at the Squirrel Hill Officers Club on Wednesday, July 19 following the regular play of the group.

Play on July 19 will be a two-club tournament.

Lunch is scheduled for 12:30 p. m., followed by an award of the trophy and a business meeting.

SCHORSTEN TEAM WINS

A dogfight among the Junior Golfers at the Redstone Arsenal Golf Course last week was won by the team composed of Danny Schorsten, captain; Richard Garcia, Jim Hayes, Jim Nelson, Rick Rabnowitz and Shirley Clift.

The Army shipped 5,826,000 tons of cargo to overseas destinations during FY 1960. The transportation Corps reported that 1,871,000 tons of Army cargo arrived in this country from overseas

Members of Publication Group Presented Awards

Seven received awards at Technical Publication Excellence Award banquet, Wednesday night, at the Russel Erskine hotel ballroom.

Winning awards were — Miss Dorothy Sneed, Mrs. Mary Jane Hearn, Mr. William Meyer, Mr. Earl Guyton, Mrs. Martha Glover, Technical Publications Section; and Raymond Claude and Robert Hutchinson, Southern Associated Engineers.

The awards were presented for the Excellence Award Committee by Mr. Edwin M. Hart, Chief Technical Publications Section.

Miss Sneed received the Excellence Award for her contribution to the efficient operation of the unit to which she is assigned as secretary.

Mrs. Hearn successfully planned, organized, and staged a two-day symposium on technical art, March 9 and 10, 1961. The symposium has since been mailed as one of the most significant single efforts towards Army-Industry understanding in recent years.

Mr. Meyer was awarded the Excellence pin for a speech which successfully disseminated the philosophy of this office to a contractor at a formative time and won increased recognition for Tech Pub at home.

Mr. Guyton's award was based on a set of instructions which demonstrated his remarkable ability to write specific information in a clear and concise, yet fluid manner.

Mrs. Glover received her award because she has continuously performed tasks exceeding the requirements of her job responsibility. Her eagerness to assist other employees is a great asset to the unit.

Mr. Guyton's award was based on a set of instructions which demonstrated his remarkable ability to write specific information in a clear and concise, yet fluid manner.

Mrs. Glover received her award because she has continuously performed tasks exceeding the requirements of her job responsibility. Her eagerness to assist other employees is a great asset to the unit.

Mr. Hutchinson's award was for a TM change. He questioned, received information, and developed a different solution to the problem which served to improve the end product.

The award to Mr. Claude was for his preparation of the command maintenance inspection in the Hawk missile system.

Mr. Hart was also honored with a plaque presented by the personnel of Technical Publications Section in appreciation for his outstanding leadership.

The gold pin awards are made as part of a unique program inaugurated by the employes of the Technical Publications Section, Field Service Operations, ARGMA. The program is administered by an elected committee of the Technical Publications personnel to recognize individuals who have contributed significantly to the improvement of technical publications.

Anyone involved with publications for which this office is responsible, either government or contractor personnel, who achieve excellence in documentation is eligible to win the awards.

Special guests were introduced by Mr. Sam Bagley, Vice Chairman of the Excellence Awards Committee. Guests included Mr. Neil Roberts, Deputy Chief, Maintenance Division, FSO, ARGMA; Mr. R. W. Washburn, President, Southern Associated Engineers; and Mr. Robert Roper, Publications, Branch, FSO.

Mr. Roberts remarked that management could learn from the example set by the personnel of Technical Publications. He stated that too often management was preoccupied with finding errors rather than praising the outstanding efforts of individuals.

Mr. Washburn presented a bonus check to the SAE employes

MR. EDWIN M. HART, Chief, Technical Publications Section (R) receives plaque from his employes in appreciation for outstanding leadership, George B. Rudd (left) made the presentation.

Lt. Col. Remer Is Assigned in Europe

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — The Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency's Project officer has been transferred from his post with the Atlantic Missile Range Field Office here for duty in Europe.

Lt. Col. Oswald Remer, ARGMA project chief at Patrick Air Force Base since Oct., 1958, will be succeeded by Captain Thomas Gaiser, a native of Nashville, Tenn.

The ARGMA project officer monitors a number of programs including the AMR portion of the test and development program for the Nike Zeus anti-missile missile system and Project DAMP efforts DAMP is the Downrange Anti-Missile Measurement Program. It is conducted aboard the U. S. Army Ship American Mariner operating downrange in the areas where missiles fired from Canaveral impact

The banquet climaxed the first anniversary of the awards' program.

The new minister's car broke down just after the morning service, so on Monday he pushed it to the local garage for repairs.

"I hope you'll go a little easy on the price," he told the mechanic. "After all, I'm just a poor preacher."

"I know," came the answer. "I've heard you."

Suggestion Month Awards Are Made

The first "payoff" in the Chief of Staff Suggestion Month campaign at the Army Ordnance Missile Support Agency took place in the office of the Commander, Col. Thomas W. Cooke, last Friday morning when he presented six awards to men and women from elements of the Agency who had made suggestions which are being adopted.

Those receiving awards included: Mr. Lindsay Vaught, Missile and Rocket Inventory Control Center; Mrs. Leanne Barnett, Messrs. James C. Woosley and John Barnacle, Post Quartermaster; Mrs. Jo Neill Byrd and Miss Brenda Honey, Finance and Accounting Office.

Mr. Vaught's suggestion concerned an improvement to a monthly procedure for supply action studies involving the Army Ballistic Missile Agency and the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency.

Mrs. Barnett's suggestion concerned an improved method for storing the numerous forms used within the Quartermaster's organization.

Mr. Woosley's idea recommended that certain types of storage binders used for the accounting machine journal records be manufactured from heavy cardboard, and Mr. Barnacle improved the design of a form.

Mrs. Byrd's suggestion recommended a signal buzzer within Civilian Pay Section; Miss Honey has expedited mail delivery within the division by discontinuing the thermofax copying of certain types of mail received in the division. All of these suggestions have improved operations, reduced costs, and brought cash recognition to the suggesters.

The suggestions involving the Support Unit Vital In Military Mission

The responsibility of the individual missile repairman was emphasized in an address Friday to four classes graduating at the U.S. Army Ordnance Guided Missile School, Redstone Arsenal, Ala.

Capt. Robert S. Macy, chief of the FA & AT Br., Field Service Operations division at ARGMA, stressed the importance of effective support units in the accomplishment of a military mission. His talk was directed to 36 graduates in Nike, Lacrosse and Hawk courses.

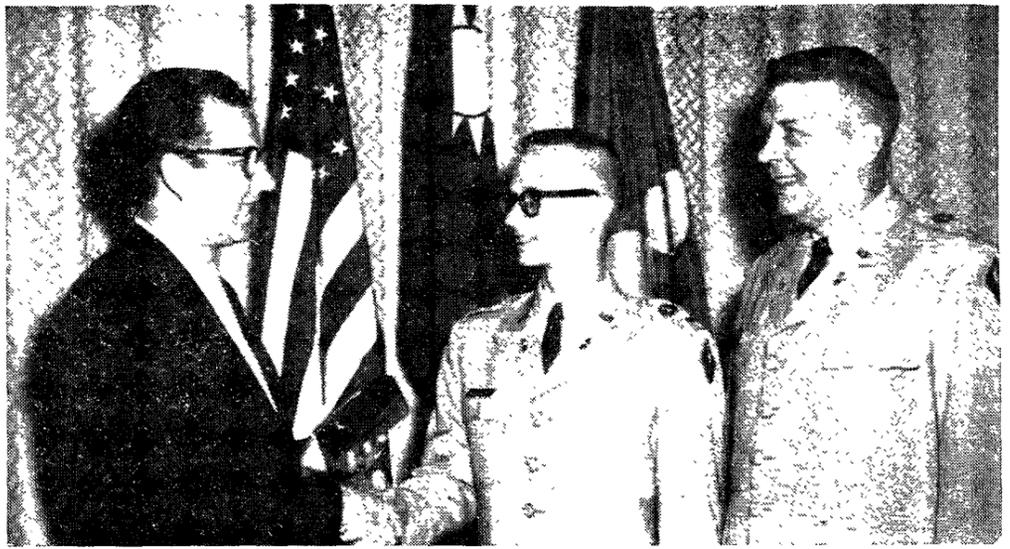

"The most brilliant strategy will avail nothing if the men, equipment and supplies are not available to carry out the strategic plan, if support and operational considerations fail to mesh smoothly both in space and time," he said.

Noting the inherent complexity of today's modern weapons, Macy said that a corresponding increased demand is placed upon support. Consequently, the technical ability and assistance of missile-

Quartermaster and Finance and Accounting employes were processed under the supervision review plan.

This is a plan encouraged by the Department of the Army whereby the employe discusses his suggestion with his supervisor and obtains the supervisor's assistance in preparing the suggestion.

An advantage of this method is that the supervisor will understand the suggested change and can attach his evaluating comments before the suggestion is mailed to the Incentive Awards Office. Consequently, a considerable amount of paper work is eliminated, processing time is reduced, and award payments are expedited.

men has become more vital. He urged graduates to insure the success of their efforts by continuing their education after graduation.

PFC. Ermal E. Penix was named outstanding student at the exercises for a 96.2 average in the Lacrosse Internal Guidance Repair Course. He was presented an inscribed plaque donated by the Association of the United States Army. Joseph Moquin, first vice-president of the local Tennessee Valley Chapter, and vice-president of Brown Engineering Co., made the presentation.

For your listening pleasure, we are pleased to recommend the following recent additions to the stereo collection: Beethoven's Symphony No. 6 in F Major (Pastorale); Song of India (Boston Popa, Arthur Fiedler, conductor; Debussy's La Mer and Ravel's Daphnis et Chloe, Suite No. 2 (Los Angeles Harmonic); World's Ten Greatest Popular Piano Concertos (George Greeley, pianist); Franz Liszt's Song Without End; Mozart's Quintet in A Major for Clarinet and Strings; Prokofieff's Concerto No. 3 (Van Cliburn); Offenbach's Gaité Parisienne; Shostakovitch's Piano Concerto No. 2 (Leonard Bernstein, conducting); 60 Years of Music America Loves Best, vol. 1 and col. 2; The Soul of Spain, vols. 1 and 2; Sibelius' Symphony No. 5, Op. 82 (Bromfield, conducting).

For those who prefer witty and informative comments on conducting, opera, Bach, etc., we suggest Leonard Bernstein's book: The Joy of Music.

Music lovers will also enjoy Downbeat magazine, which features Dixieland, and old masters of Jazz such as Louis Armstrong.

For those who wish to recall memories and momentos of Manhattan and the gayety of Broadway hits, we offer the following: The Unsinkable Molly Brown; The King and I; My Fair Lady; Belafonte at Carnegie Hall; Pal Joey; Oklahoma Carousel.

The music room now holds a Webcor hi-fidelity set, for use of military personnel and their dependents.

Interesting Adult Books of 1960 for Young People, a list compiled by the Young Adult Services Division of the American Library Association, indicated that for the first time since World War II, teenagers from 14 to 19 years had turned away from narratives about the war. A nationwide survey of 46 high school and public library specialists preceded the issuance of the list, according to Mary Beth Campbell, former teacher and new professional staff member.

This year's final 20 titles read like a world guide, with no fewer than 12 books about foreign lands, such as Laos, Greenland, England, the South Seas Russia, Africa, and the Orient. Personal experiences, biographies, space exploration, and stories about animals interested young people during 1960. Eight suspense tales topped the fiction field.

Titles included on the list of outstanding books (all available at the Post Library) are as follows:

Born Free: A Lioness of Two Worlds, Adamson.

Dr. Schweitzer of Lambarene, Norman Cousins.

The Good Years, Lord.

Grant Moves South, Bruce Catton.

The Kingdom Within, Caulfield.

The Long Haul, Rayner.

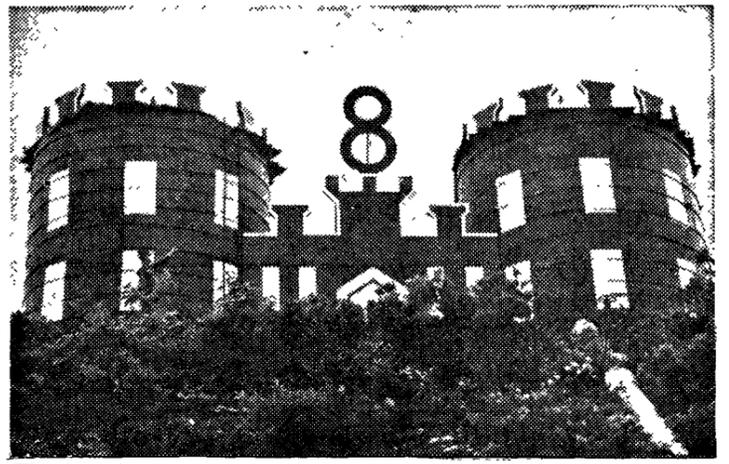

The Lovely World of Richi-San, Bosworth.

Man High, Simons.

Mistress of Mellyn, Holt.

The Night They Burned the Mountain, Dooley.

Night Without End, MacLean.

MEDIEVAL CASTLE?—Not really. It's just that members of the 8th Eng. Bn., 1st Cav. Div. Korea wanted to give their camp a landmark all its own. Two water towers, made over to look like a castle, have a huge "8" in the center. It stands for the 8th Eng. Bn., of course.

Ring the Night Bell, Magnuson.
Storm the Last Rampart, Taylor.
To Kill a Mockingbird, Lee.
To Moscow—And Beyond, Salisbury.

Trustee from the Toolroom, Norway.

Wait Till Next Year, Robinson.
The Waste Makers, Packard.

Watcher in the Shadows, Household.

The Yellow Brick Road, Cadell.

Reservations for the above books may be made by telephoning 876-4741.

Swarthout Describes Conditions in Laos

A letter from Walter E. Swarthout, a former employe of ABMA, to Oliver Snow of Huntsville, contained an eye-witness commentary of Laos that might interest Rocket readers.

Mr. Swarthout, who is now working for the U. S. Operations Mission to Laos, tells of how he was trapped in his office while the Laotian and Red Chinese soldiers battled in the streets.

It was December and he was working on a classified report in his office in the Vientiane police building when the fighting started. On orders he burned his report and classified material in a waste basket in his office. He then gave front line reports to the fighting attache until telephone communication was knocked out. He was then on his own to survive.

The police building was wrecked by bombs, so Mr. Swarthout made a desperate trek through the alleys and streets of the city to get as far away from the bombing as possible. He spent the next 48 hours trying to stay alive. Finally, he made his way to the Mekong River and escaped into Thailand where he was picked up and flown to Bangkok.

He returned to Vientiane only to be evacuated again to Bangkok. After four months he returned to Vientiane for the third time to make an inventory of what remained. He is still there.

In his letter, Mr. Swarthout makes this plea:

"... believe you me when you are here facing Reds and see how they operate and also know how they operate and also know how we are failing, we can't have too much or too many people kicking the sleeping American in the shins to wake him up to the fact that if he isn't willing to fight for his country now he might not have a chance later. He will be like Gulliver when he awakens to find himself bound by the enemy.

Back in Huntsville everyone is busy making a living and does not have too much time to worry about conditions abroad. Americans both young and old must learn and know about conditions abroad, what other countries are thinking. They must be aware of the economic status of these countries and be ready to help them to help

Commendation Given Lt. Col. Farrell

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — The departing Deputy Chief of the Army Ordnance Missile Command Field Office here was awarded the Army Commendation Medal on the last day of his tour of duty.

Lt. Col. Curtis L. Ferrell, Jr., a native of Tuscaloosa, Ala., was the recipient of the honor conferred by the Chief of the AOMC Atlantic Missile Range Army Field Office, Col. Arthur L. MacKusick, in ceremonies last Friday.

On duty as Deputy Chief since January, 1959, Lt. Col. Ferrell will shortly report as commanding officer of the AOMC Rocket Research Facility at Ft. Churchill, Hudson Bay, Canada.

The father of two sons and a daughter, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ferrell, Sr., of New Smyrna Beach, Fla. A veteran of European combat during World War II, Lt. Col. Ferrell was assigned as an ordnance officer during the Korean war. Later he had duty at Army Headquarters, Far East, Tokyo.

Serving as Chief of the Technical Materials and Equipment Branch, Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Redstone Arsenal from February, 1957, he came to the Air Force Missile Test Center at Patrick Air Force Base two years later.

The military affiliate radio system, known as MARS, operates 408 radio stations at an annual cost to the Army of approximately $40,000.
