Redstone Hosts Third Army Baseball Tourney This Week

Col. Thomas W. Cooke, Post Commander, threw the first ball at 10 a.m. Monday, August 27, to open the Third Army Baseball Tournament at Linton Field, Redstone Arsenal. Playing the opening game were Ft. Benning, Georgia, and Ft. Jackson, South Carolina.

Attending the opening ceremonies were Col. William J. Macpherson, Commandant of the Ordnance Guided Missile School, Lt. Col. Claude C. Anderson, Executive Officer of OGMS, Lt. Col. Raymond Hansotte, director of training, research & development at OGMS, and Lt. Col. Stanley Nyhan, Assistant Personnel Administrator at the Army Missile Support Command. Invocation was given by Chaplain (Col.) W. R. Bottoms, Post Chaplain.

Ft. Jackson Wins

The first game ended in victory for Ft. Jackson over Ft. Benning, with a score of 4 to 2.

Ft. Benning took an early lead scoring their first run in the top of the first inning. They scored again in the top of the second with their last run.

Four runs came across the plate (See TOURNEY on Page 5)

Billy Graham Says

Research Work Done Here Typifies The Period in Which We Are Living

He Draws Record Crowd of 35,000

Billy Graham came to Redstone Arsenal Sunday, bringing a message of peace and tranquility to the people who live in the topsyturvy world of missiles and rockets.

More than 35,000 persons, some from as far away as Florida and Arkansas, came to the Redstone Air Field to hear the famed evangelist speak.

They sat on blankets, cushions, chairs, stools, concrete and grass and listened not only to Billy Graham but also to a 2,100-voice choir made up of volunteers from congregations throughout the Tennessee Valley. The crowd was one of the largest ever on Redstone Arsenal and was comparable to the average Billy Graham drew in his recent Chicago Crusade.

Graham spoke warmly of Redstone Arsenal and of the work being done here by the Army and the Marshall Space Flight Center.

"The great research and work being done at Redstone Arsenal," he said, "is characteristic of the period in which we live, a time of tremendous emphasis on scientific achievement throughout the world."

"We often hear about the so-called conflict between true science and true faith. But, in fact, they are partners."

He emphasized: "God is the great Creator and science is the great discoverer."

After the address, more than 500 persons came forward at Graham's invitation to make their "decision for Christ."

The people who heard Billy Graham began arriving at the Air Field early Sunday morning. The first car rolled through the Arsenal gates at 7:30 a. m. It was from Port St. Joe, Fla., some 500 miles from Huntsville. Scores of spectators drove more than 100 miles to hear the internationally-known evangelist talk. Military police stationed at the five gates which were open Sunday counted a total of 8,713 vehicles between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

The first persons seated at the Air Field were a quartet of women from Florence and Sheffield. Mrs. J. A. Williams, Mrs. C. W. Holland, Mrs. Maude Harrison and Mrs. W. H. Bevis took seats in the sixth (See GRAHAM on Page 6)

CEREMONY OPENS CONARC MEETING

An Honor Guard ceremony at Continental Park, Ft. Monroe, Virginia, marked the opening of a two-day conference of U. S. Continental Army Command school commandants on August 16, according to Col. William J. Macpherson, Commandant of the Ordnance Guided Missile School.

The conference was the first to bring all school commandants together since CONARC assumed control of additional schools under the recent Army reorganization plan, Col. Macpherson stated.

USCONARC, formerly responsible for 17 Army schools, now monitors a total of 27 under its in- (See CONARC on Page 3)

PROPELLANT SAMPLERS—James Higgins (left) and Bernard Alley of the Army Missile Command's Propulsion Laboratory prepare standard pellets for comparison with samples of missile propellant. The new method of sampling was developed by the two men and represents a new and easy method of making sure missile motors burn properly.

Fuel Sampling Made Easy By Analytical Chemists

Sampling the exotic blends of Army missile rocket fuel has become almost as easy as tasting soup on the kitchen stove through a new process developed by scientists of the Army Missile Command.

Bernard Alley and James Higgins of the Analytical and Physical Chemistry Group of the Command's Propulsion Laboratory worked for a year to develop the technique and calculations required for the new propellant sampling process.

The process — called x-ray emission analysis—yields more information on rocket fuel in the "soup" stage than the manual process formerly required. The old technique took a day to complete, the Alley-Higgins process is finished in 15 minutes.

ROCKET DEADLINE

Due to the long Labor Day Weekend, all copy for next week's Redstone Rocket, including both ads and editorial material, must be turned in by noon Friday of this week.

Mrs. Cedric Heath will accept the advertising copy in her office at the Times building.

All editorial copy must be in the Information Office, Bldg. 5250, by noon Friday to assure its appearance in the following Wednesday's Rocket.

TANGLED IN TAPE—Boy Scouts from Redstone Arsenal picked up the debris on the Arsenal Air Strip following the Billy Graham rally at the Arsenal on Sunday. Among the debris that needed to be removed was miles of engineer tape which marked the spectator, choir, and rally workers areas on the field. Tangled in leftover tape which they helped clear from the field are (left to right): Dan Coffeen, David Pope, Kenneth Reynolds, Glenn Bass, James Turner, Bruce Crownover, Mile Duffy and Charles Ellis. In the background are Mark Reiber and Bruce Underwood.

And butter and jam,
The more they are spread,
Quite certain I am.
But here is a thought
That just entered my head:

Come Back in One Piece

Starting about 4:30 p.m. Friday will be the last great exodus of the Summer from Redstone Arsenal. Thousands of workers will finish the week's work, make a dash for home to pick up the family and then head for other parts to take advantage of the long Labor Day week end.

The heavy flow of traffic will be reversed Monday evening as these thousands of travelers wait until the last minute to return home in time for Tuesday work.

"Long weekends" always create the most hazardous conditions for life and limb. This isn't limited to our highways, either. There are such things as accidents in boating, skiing, hiking and other forms of recreations. And there are also those injuries received falling off step ladders while painting or cleaning windows around the home as part of the holiday do-it-yourself effort.

Many safety "words to the wise" will be printed and spoken in the next few days. We hope our readers will take these to heart. We would like to think that the Army Missile Command "family" will come back from the Labor Day holiday relaxed, healthy and ready to go.

Appreciation Expressed

In reviewing the appearance here Sunday of Dr. Billy Graham, I feel that the cooperation among all staff elements and between the Arsenal organizations and the community groups was outstanding both in planning and accomplishment.

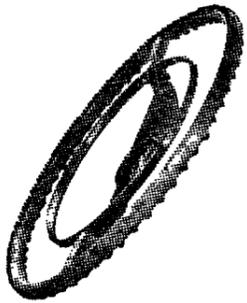

The assembly of 35,000 persons in a relatively small area multiplies the possibility of adverse conditions such as accidents and illness. We had no serious accidents. There can be no better tribute to the persons from the Arsenal and community responsible for the planning and operational aspects of the event.

The assistance offered by Dr. Wernher von Braun, Director of the Marshall Space Flight Center, and Col. L. A. Parks, Commanding Officer, Army Chemical School, Ft. McClellan, who furnished helicopters, greatly relieved operational pressures of the event.

Because this was a religious service, the military uniform appeared in minimum. However, civilian personnel associated with federal activities at Redstone Arsenal and military personnel stationed in this vicinity were numerous among the 35,000 participating.

I have received many favorable comments from persons who attended the service. The day was regarded as highly successful by the Billy Graham team. Therefore I extend my appreciation to the military and civilian personnel whose efforts contributed so much toward these satisfactory results.

"ARRIVE ALIVE"—Lee Camp, Post Safety Division, and Cpl. Robert Knight, 291st MP Co., watch Jim Lockard of the Huntsville Jaycees display the Labor Day weekend safe driving bumper sticker. The bumper stickers will be distributed starting today in offices, parking lots, and at the perimeter gates of the Arsenal.

SAFETY MEN URGE "ARRIVE ALIVE"

The Huntsville Jaycees, in conjunction with the Alabama Highway Patrol, are sponsoring a Labor Day weekend safe driving campaign in Huntsville and the surrounding area. To further safe driving practices over the weekend the Post Safety Division and Provost Marshal Division are cooperating wholeheartedly with the Jaycee campaign here on the Arsenal.

The safety slogan "Arrive Alive," printed on easy-to-remove bumper stickers highlights the intensive safety drive on the Arsenal. Other phases of the safety promotion — hand-out brochures, posters, lectures — are directed to the overall prevention of all types of accidents. This specific safe driving phase of the campaign is intended to help reduce the vehicle accident rate which last year claimed 515 lives on the nation's highways and one fatality in the Huntsville area.

The bumper stickers will be distributed by Jaycee and Safety Division personnel in offices and parking lots throughout the Arsenal and by Military Police at the

A combination of liquid chemicals and a special binder material, solid rocket propellant looks a lot like fresh concrete when it is first mixed. In this soupy state, it is poured into the motor case where it hardens to its final, solid form ready for use.

In other industries x-ray emission is a common process to check quality of the product, but it is normally applied to hard metal products and not to the soft paste of uncured rocket fuel mix.

The Alley-Higgins process can determine the ingredients in a propellant "soup" and the percentage of each in the mixture, much more precisely than a good cook can determine the ingredients by tasting it. The add-a-pinch-of-this-and-that technique can't be used in mixing solid rocket fuel where each batch must perform exactly like the one that came before and the one that follows.

The new process can also determine the size of particles in the propellant, an important factor in determining the burning rate of solid rocket fuel.

ture and aids; and future plans and programs.

TENNIS

In the follow-up of the 1962 Leech Cup Championship, the Army repeated their performance against the Air Force on Aug. 14 and swept four singles matches on the 15th from the Navy, virtually clinching the 1962 Championship. In the day's play the two teams number one players Pvt. Ron Holmberg defeated Navy Lt. Dick Gaskill 7-5 and 6-1.

Army's number two player Pfc Bob Bowditch had little trouble defeating Navy Aqcs. Leon Wilson by scores 6-1 and 6-1. 2nd Lt. Norm Perry looked better than any other netter during the meet by defeating Navy SN James Whitehead 6-0 and 6-1. At no time during the singles competition was the Army in trouble and the race for the Riseley Bowl will be a battle between Holmberg, Bowditch and Perry all Army personnel.

Only 1st Lt. Henry Jungle of the Air Force seems to have an outside chance. In the evening of Aug. 15 the Army team was presented the Leech Cup at an Interservice Tennis banquet. This was accomplished by the Army team sweeping all eight singles matches and five of the doubles matches. The Army team consisted of Pfc Robert Bowditch, 2nd Army; 2nd Lt. Norm Perry, 2nd Army; Sp5 Leslie Dodson, 6th Army; Pvt. Roger McCormick, and 1st Lt. John Newman both of Army Europe.

Doubles Action

In the doubles action on the Aug. 15 the Army had three victories over the Navy, only the Air Force doubles team was able to stop the Army and prevent a complete shut-out. Holmberg and Dodson defeated Gaskill and Whitehead of the Navy by 6-2 and 6-2 over the Air Force's Jungle and Hack 4-6, 6-1 and 6-2. Perry and Bowditch won over Navy's Oettinger (partner unknown) 6-2 and 9-7. The Army's double team then lost to the Air Force combo of Delgado and Rubell 4-6, 6-4 and 9-7. McCormick and Newman beat Navy's Wilson and Candland 6-3 and 6-2. They then continued on their road of victory by defeating the Air Forces Waters and Kenderson 6-1 and 5-2.

On Aug. 16th the Army continued to dominate the tennis competition by making a clean sweep of the first round in the open singles. In the biggest upset of the tournament and the best match of the meet, Pvt. McCormick of Army Europe downed the Navy's number one man Lt. Dick Gaskill 6-3 and 10-8.

The remainder of the matches went as expected. Pvt. Ron Holmberg had to go overtime against Air Force 2nd Lt. Gene Waters before beating him 6-3 and 7-5. Pfc. Bowditch defeated Navy John Oettinger 6-3, 6-10, 2nd Lt. Norm Perry whipped Air Force Donald Rubell by 6-1, 6-4. Sp5 Leslie Dodson waltzed by Air Force's A2c Bobby Delgado of the Air Force 6-0, 6-3. The Services other than the Army did not go home without one spark as Air Force number one player 1st Lt. Jungle easily defeated Navy Lt. Steve Bard 6-10, 6-2. Another Air Force man 1st Lt. Stanley Hack Jr. had little trouble in beating Navy SN James Whitehead 6-1, 6-2. One Navy man remains in contention as ADCS Leon Wilson whipped Air Force's Ed Kenderson 6-2 and 6-0.

For the first time in history of the Interservice Tennis Tournament, its an all Army Semi-finals in the open division. The biggest match of the quarterfinals was won by Army's Pfc Ron Holmberg as he downed last year's Interservice Champ, Army 1st Lt. Norm Perry in a marathon struggle 13-11 and 6-3.

Last Hope

The last hopes of the Air Force fell before the strong play of Army's Pfc Bob Bowditch Jr. and Pvt. Roger McCormick. McCormick staged a comeback and defeated 1st Lt. Stan Hack 7-5 and took the second set 6-3. 1st Lt. Jungle fell before the relentless serves of Bowditch and plus Bowditch's amazing variety of shots lost 7-5 and 6-3. Sp5 Leslie Dodson had little trouble in ousting Navy's last hope, in defeating ADCS Leon Wilson 6-0 and 6-3.

The semi-finals matches pit Bowditch against McCormick and Holmberg against Dodson. Reports of the semi-finals are not in, but the finals for the 1962 Interservice Open Singles and the winner of the Riseley Bowl is in. Pvt. Ron Holmberg breezed by Pfc Bob Bowditch of the 2nd Army and captured the Open Singles Championship. Holmberg defeated Bowditch by 6-2, 2-6, 6-1 and 6-0.

Teaming up with Sp5 Leslie Dodson from the 6th Army, Holmberg and his steady partner defeated the Air Force team of 1st Lt. Henry Jungle of Richards-Gebaur AFB Mo., and Airman 2nd Class Bobby Delgado of McClellan AFB, Calif. 6-2, 6-4, 6-3 to win the doubles crown. Earlier the Air Force duo had whipped 1st Lt. Norm Perry and Bowditch 6-3, 6-4 and 6-4.

Seniors Champs

M/Sgt. Bill Milliken of the 1st Army repeated as Seniors Champion by downing Army teammate Sgt. Ray Antignat of Army Pacific 6-2, 6-1. Milliken teamed with Antignat and the "oldtimers" repeated their doubles performance of 1961 beating Navy Commander Burt Smith of Comptevfor Norfolk and AQCS Jack Candland of NASS Kingsville, Texas, 6-4, 6-1 for the Seniors Doubles Crown.

Softball

Softball is just a memory to most on the Arsenal, but one team has its work cut out for them. Hq & Hq, AMSC, will represent Redstone Arsenal at the Third U. S. Army Softball Tournament to be held at Fort Jackson, S. C. Sept. 10-14.

This team will leave Redstone on Sept. 8 and return (with the

The good sportsmanship and the fine personality of all the players are a credit to themselves and to Redstone Arsenal. A better team could not be found to represent the Post in competition of any kind.

A roster of the team that all should recognize is as follows: 1st Lt. John Blondell (OIC), Sfc Wyoma Hicklen, Sfc. Edward Waldrup, Sp5 Edward Bramlett, Sp5 Shinji Higa, Sp4 John Bosco, Sp4 William N. Gawron, Sp4 John Gering, Sp4 John P. Revels, Sp4 Warren Sadler, Sp4 Woodrow Thomas, Pfc Joseph Ginocchi, Pfc Felix Livingston, Pfc. Robert McClure, Pfc. Steve Rubio, Pvt. Jerry Hudson, and Pvt. Frank Wellwerts.

This team constitutes a mixture of different parts of country working together as a team and proving itself by winning the Redstone Arsenal Post Level Championship over other competition.

The members of Hq & Hq range from Washington, D. C., Louisiana, Texas, North Carolina, Illinois, Michigan, California, Florida, New York, Hawaii and Pennsylvania. All our good wishes to the team to aid them in bringing back the 3rd U. S. Army Softball Championship in September.

this writing, a large number of entries had been received for this event, showing that rallying certainly is not a forgotten sport in this area.

Once again the organizers of this event extend their appreciation and thanks to the many sponsors, workers, and contestants for their excellent cooperation and assistance. If this event is judged a success by the Sports Car Club of America, we can look forward to an even bigger SCCA National Rally for Huntsville next year.

A description of the rally course and the winners list will be presented next week.

On the list of future events in this area are a gymkhana on Sept. 9 and the Courtland races on Sept. 14-15.

John Amoroso (GMS) and John Schlosser (NASA) are getting their heads together to plan what is promised to be a new and different type of gymkhana for the enjoyment of the driver-type sports car enthusiasts. Unfortunately, we'll have to wait until Sept. 9 to see what's up.

The Tennessee Valley Region, SCCA, is placing a great deal of effort in planning the administration and operations required to make the Courtland races next month a much greater success than on previous occasions. Discrepancies noted during previous races were thoroughly discussed during recent club meetings and the ball has started to roll for corrective actions. The members of both local clubs will be at Courtland on September 14-15 to see if we can't make this last race of the year a really big success.

Flying Club Is Refurbishing Its Planes, Equipment

The Redstone Flying Club has its Navion back in commission after an overhaul that makes it equal in capability to a new plane.

The club is planning to commission another Navion, similar to the present four-place one and buy a Cessna 140. It also owns a five-place Cessna 195 equipped with full panel and radio navigation equipment.

Approximately 40 members who are Government employes at the Arsenal, military personnel and their dependents, and inactive Reserves are active in the Redstone Flying Club.

Interested individuals may gather additional information from Rex Kohr, 876-0135 or William Leonard, 876-2146.

row of the center section promptly at 9 a.m. There they waited beneath umbrellas until the program began at 4 p.m.

The evangelist was brought to the Air Field from the Huntsville Airport by an Army H-21 helicopter on loan from Fort McClellan, Ala.

Graham arrived in North Alabama Saturday morning accompanied by members of his Crusade team. At his request, there was no official party to greet him as he stepped off an airplane in Huntsville.

Saturday was a busy day for the 43-year-old North Carolinian. At noon he was guest of honor at a luncheon held at the Holiday Inn Motel, where he stayed. This was followed by a press conference and, later, in the afternoon, a reception at the Redstone Post Chapel.

The weather threatened briefly Sunday during the Graham rally and a few drops of rain fell just before Graham was to speak. But the thundercloud moved on, leaving a gray overcast sky. This dropped the temperature down to a comparatively pleasant 80 degrees and eased the discomfort of the thousands who were seated on the Air Field.

The day was without incident despite the heavy turnout. First aid stations reported only 29 treatments, these of a minor nature, mostly for headaches brought on by the heat which was prevalent earlier in the afternoon.

Billy Graham came to Redstone Arsenal at the invitation of the Huntsville Ministers Association and Col. Thomas W. Cooke, commander of the Army Missile Support Command. It was his only the planning and organization of the rally; Col. William J. Macpherson, Commandant of the Army Guided Missile School; and Huntsville Mayor R. B. (Spec) Searcy. In the back row are Rev. H. P. Snodgrass, Pastor of Church Street First Baptist Church, and Deputy Post Chaplain Alister Sinclair. In the background is a portion of the 2,000 voice choir composed of members of churches throughout the Huntsville area.

GRAHAM RALLY CROWD—These hundreds of people were just part of the estimated 35,000 who came to Redstone Arsenal Sunday to hear Evangelist Billy Graham preach. Despite the large crowd there were no major mishaps and only 29 people reported to first aid stations for assistance.

At the Service Club

By Brenda Hanson

Here's an instant quiz to determine your sociability rating and the amount of imagination you have.

(1) Have you ever said that there was nothing to do in Huntsville?

(2) Do you ever stay in the barracks at night, not because you want to, but because you can't think of anything else to do?

(3) Do you hate people but love music?

(4) Do you hate music but love people?

You can find your rating in the Miscellaneous Section of this column, but don't go dashing right down to read it. Read through the schedule for this week, and when you find out how sociable you are, you'll know what to do with your charming self on these empty evenings.

Starting Aug. 29 at 1800 hours in grand style will be our regular weekly dance classes taught by Sgt. Frank Gutierrez. The first two hours will be devoted to the beginners and the latter to the ones who have already gotten the basic fundamentals but want to further themselves in the art of being a good dancer.

The word "Theatre" invades the Service Club this week as the "Musical Satire Comedy Hit, "The Boy Friend" opens Aug. 30 in the Main Lounge. By all means, everyone should plan to see this performance either on Aug. 30, 31, or Sept. 1. The curtain will open each evening at 2015 hours. The admission is free, so if you have the time, we have the entertainment.

At 0930 hours, Sunday, Sept. 2, coffee and donuts will be served from the kitchen at coffee call. For the late risers who miss breakfast, a big donut and a hot cup of coffee is just the thing to help get the day off its launching pad. A finishing touch of the orbital flight will be the regular Sunday night dance. The theme for the record dance is "Exciting Tunes." The records will start spinning at 2000 hours.

Special treat, celebrating the National Holiday. Come to the Service Club Kitchen Monday, Sept. 3, for a hot cup of coffee and fresh donuts.

Labor Day evening of games will be played in the Main Lounge at 2015 hours.

Small games, which include games of your choice, will be played at 2000 hours on Sept. 4. Goodies will be served at 2030 hours.

When you are searching for indoor recreation, keep us in mind. In addition to the schedule of programs I have just mentioned, we have a big dance featuring Ginger and Hal Willis for the latter part of the month. Keep these incidents in mind and be sure not to miss any of them.

Miscellaneous

Here's the rating for the quiz. If you answered "No" on the first one, not only do you have imagination, but are probably misrepresenting the truth; if you answered "Yes," then don't worry, just everybody says this at one time or another. But if you can't find anything to do in Huntsville, try your Post Service Club.

A "Yes" answer on the second shows a lamentable lack of imagination because there's always something going on here at the club, and it's within easy walking distance of the barracks; a "No" answer doesn't indicate anything except that you're better off than those who said "Yes."

The third and fourth questions are traps, as no matter what you say, you're going to wind up liking either music or people, and both are to be found in abundance here at the club.

Now here's your sociability rating: Those of you who read this and decide to drop by the Club when you're bored and have nothing to do, are sociable, and those of you who don't are anti-social. Simple, isn't it?

Last Sunday evening, Aug. 19, marked the Farewell Record Spin of one of our favorite D. J.'s, PFC Bob Cardillo. We hate to lose "Bob" but we know all good things have to end.

Seemingly, PVT Donald Neals from Hq & Hq STC has the rabbit's foot on winning tournaments and contests at the Service Club. Not only did he win the Post-Wide Pool Tournament, but he also won the Shuffleboard Contest held on Aug. 17.

See you at the Service Club.

Tortured, Disease Ridden But Soldiers Defied Reds

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Army Major Lawrence R. Bailey and Sergeant Orville R. Ballenger, released from Pathet, Lao captivity on August 17, are being returned to Washington, D. C. for hospitalization after brutal treatment as prisoners during almost a year and a half of imprisonment in Laos, the Department of the Army announced.

Both men were taken to Andrews Air Force Base, Md., from Tokyo as litter patients aboard an aero-medical evacuation flight. They arrived at Andrews Friday, where they were met by Lt. Gen. Russell L. Vittrup, Deputy Chief of staff for Personnel, Dept. of the Army. Gen. Vittrup represented Gen. George H. Decker, Army Chief of Staff.

During debriefing, Maj. Bailey, suffering from malnutrition, internal parasites and malaria, told Army authorities of spending a full year imprisoned in a pitch black room under heavy guard. At no time during this period of "Black Box" incarceration was natural or artificial light permitted to enter his room.

Pathet Lao guards allowed Bailey outdoors only at night. These absences from his "Black Box" usually took place four times nightly and each lasted from one to three minutes. Thus, for a full year, Bailey spent but a few minutes out of every 24 hours away from the total darkness imposed on him by his captors.

Although Bailey was not physically abused, the strain of solitary confinement was severe. The 39-year-old Major, however, stubbornly and successfully blocked this effort to shatter his nerve and to break his will to resist.

Maj. Bailey, of Laurel, Md., fell into Pathet, Lao, in March, 61, after parachuting from a C-47 aircraft which was disabled by ground fire. At the time of his capture, he was assistant Army attache in Laos.

Sergeant Ballenger 28-years-old, confined in a different location in Laos, received equally brutal treatment, though of a different type. His guards repeatedly tried to get him to compose statements condemning U. S. support of SEATO (Southeast Asia Treaty Organization). All Pathet, Lao efforts in this regard were fruitless.

Though smitten with malaria, parasites and a bone disease induced by malnutrition, the determined paratroop sergeant refused to succumb to an endless stream of communist threats and pressures.

Ballenger began his ordeal of physical torture on April 19, 1961, the day he was captured. After stripping him of his personal effects, Pathet, Lao guards tied his upper arms close to his body, looped a length of rope around his neck and led him as though he were an animal on a leash. En route to his place of confinement, he was paraded through several villages where he was held up as an object of public scorn.

On one occasion during this march to prison, a guard sent a rifle bullet crashing past Ballenger's ear as a gesture of derision. Many times during his detention, communist guards noisily worked the bolts of their rifles and then pointed their weapons at the sergeant's head as if to execute him.

Sanitary conditions were abysmal while Ballenger was a captive. Later, when Ballenger was moved to another place of confinement, he was put in a room with other American prisoners. Filth and stench sickened the prisoners.

Ballenger and his fellow captives suffered further mistreatment. They had their feet locked in stocks while lying on their backs and were forced to remain in this immobile position for 12 to 14 hours daily. The routine of locking the prisoners in stocks usually began at 5:30 each evening.

Sergeant Ballenger was taken prisoner while serving as a military advisor to Royal Laotian troops. His wife, Miyoko, lives in Spring Lake, North Carolina.

Experiment in Education Draws Nationwide Interest

An unusual experiment in education that has gained nationwide attention comes to an end Aug. 30, having been declared an "unqualified success."

Seventeen Tennessee Valley boys and girls, holders of the first AFCEA Junior Fellowship Awards, will have "graduation exercises" tomorrow at Redstone Arsenal. The awards were sponsored by the Redstone-Tennessee Valley Chapter, Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association.

The brainchild of Lt. Col. Earl J. Dotson, president of the local chapter and chief of the Signal Office, Army Missile Command, the Junior Fellowship Awards were devised to give high school graduates an opportunity to apply their academic interest in physical sciences to on-the-job training under guidance of career professionals in their area of stated interest.

Now that the first group is completing its training, interest in the program has been shown from organizations wanting to adopt it in California, New York, Michigan, Florida and other areas.

Six girls and 11 boys made up the first Youth Fellowship Award class. They represent four city and six county school systems within a 60 mile radius of Redstone Arsenal, and were among 39 nominees selected by school officials. Lincoln County, Tenn., Morgan, Madison, Marshall and Jackson Counties, Ala., were chosen for the first trial of the program.

Each of the school systems represented named one outstanding senior for each 100 graduates or fraction thereof. A committee from the AFCEA made selection of the 17 finalists.

Intention of the program was to encourage high school seniors with an interest in any of the physical sciences to consider careers in the technical and scientific fields. A long range effect of the Junior Fellowship Awards was improvement of public school education in the fields of science. With this in mind, each of the recipients was to have an opportunity for three months' summer employment in his chosen field of interest at Redstone Arsenal or in a selected industry in the Huntsville area.

The students were employed on a level approximately equal to a GS2, with opportunity to earn $878 during the 13 week period, in addition to getting valuable experience. Each student was assigned to a regular employe for professional guidance on the job. This mentor followed the student throughout his employment.

Out of the 17 students in the group, 16 were able to complete the program. Val J. Hamlin of Scottsboro, became ill during June and dropped out under doctor's advice. He had been assigned to the Army Missile Command. He will take part in the closing exercises, however.

As a climax to the summer, holders of the Junior Fellowship Awards toured the areas in which their group have worked. This began at 8:00 a.m., Monday, Aug. 27. Each of the students acted as a guide for the areas in which he worked, describing to the others what he has been doing during the summer. This way each received a picture of the over-all operation at Redstone Arsenal and industry members of the missile and space team.

The tour broke at noon with a luncheon at the Squirrel Hill Officers Club. Present at this time were sponsors of the Youth Fellowship Awards or their representatives, members of the AFCEA Board of Directors, the Youth Fellowship Award Committee and Executive Committee. Also on hand was S. W. Reese of Birmingham, Regional Vice President of AFCEA and chief engineer of Southern Bell Telephone Company.

The day's activities ended about 3:30 p.m.

All members of the Awards group have been outstanding in their school community, maintaining high scholastic averages in addition to taking active part in extra-curricular activities. In addition, most of them held after-school and summer jobs.

Kenneth Clark of Huntsville, for example, maintained a 95 per cent high school average while participating in the band, Boy Scouts, school paper, male chorus and other activities. He earned money by serving a morning paper route for five years. He plans to enter Mississippi State University in September to study engineering. His Fellowship was with Thiokol Chemical Corporation.

Ted Lee of Danville took part in school athletics, Future Farmers of America and Student Council among others. In addition to helping his father operate a 72 acre farm, he drove a school bus. Having worked with Brown Engineering Company during the summer, he hopes to enter Auburn University this fall to study electrical engineering.

Kay Yarbrough of Decatur was salutatorian of her class, won honors in local and regional science fairs, holds the Alabama Award of National Council of Teachers of English and has many other honors. She was active on the staff of the school paper and had parts in class and Thespian Troupe plays. Having worked with the Army Missile Command in her Fellowship Award, she will leave in September for University of Chicago where she holds a $2,000 per year renewable scholarship. She plans to major in chemistry.

The other Award holders are equally qualified and have been equally busy during their high school years.

Feeling of the students toward their experiences is summed up by Charlotte Ann Lee of Normal, Ala., who wrote Colonel Dotson: "... The work in the Propulsion Laboratory (Army Missile Command) is most interesting and very educational... Even though I am gaining... worthwhile knowledge through my work here, I also feel that I am being of some service to the laboratory...

"All of the people with whom I work appear to be genuinely interested in helping me gain a broader knowledge of science."

Other students holding Awards and their places of employment during the summer are:

Carol Sloan, Scottsboro, MSFC; Bobby Dwaine Hardin, Decatur, RCA; Bobby Osborne, Fayetteville, Tenn., AMC; June Williams, Pisgah, MSFC; Martha Hulet Hamer, New Hope, Thiokol Chemical Corp.; Cole Wesley Minnick, Jr., Madison, MSFC; William Thomas Little, Huntsville, SPACO, Inc.; James Phillip Irvine, Huntsville, Brown Engineering Co., Inc.; Richard Lee Matthews, Huntsville, Brown Engineering Co. Inc.; Thomas Alton McCurry, Jr., Lester, AMC; Brenda Joyce Marsh, Madison, MSFC; Phillip Ellsworth Mcor, Boaz, MSFC.

High praise for the Youth Fellowship Award program has come from Huntsville City Superintendent of Education Dr. Raymond Christian, Decatur City Superintendent of Schools H. R. Leeman and Maj. Gen. F. J. McMorrow, Commanding General of the Army Missile Command, Dr. Wernher von Braun, Marshall Space Flight Center; and such civic and industrial leaders as Milton Cummings of Brown Engineering Co., M. B. Spraggins of First National Bank of Huntsville, John Hatch of SPACO, Inc., and Wallace Bischof of RCA Service Co.

Local industries, merchants and professional people have been so impressed with this year's program that many are wanting to have a part. Col. Dotson says that tentative plans call for 50 awards next summer with several additional Tennessee and Alabama counties being included. Work on the 1963 Youth Fellowship Award program will commence as soon as the school systems settle down from start-of-classes activities.

Participating sponsors of this year's Fellowship Award have been the Army Missile Command, Marshall Space Flight Center, Thiokol Chemical Corp., RCA Service Co., Brown Engineering Co. and SPACO, Inc.

DRAKE FUND—Huntsville Councilman Gordon B. Loftin (left) holds $846.00 contributed by the staff, faculty and students of the Ordnance Guided Missile School to the Charles Drake Fund. The fund was established for the family of Huntsville Police Department Motorscout Charles Drake, Jr., killed recently when his motorcycle hit an auto on a Huntsville Street. Police Chief Chris Spurlock, second from left, accepted the contribution from Colonel William J. Macpherson, Commandant, as Lt. Col. Raymond Hansotte, Department of Training Research and Development, and coordinator of the drive, looks on.

Pershing Meets Test Objectives

The U. S. Army fired its Pershing ballistic missile successfully in a test Aug. 21 at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Brig. Gen. Richard M. Hurst, Deputy Commanding General, Ballistic Missiles, Army Missile Command, said preliminary data available immediately after the shot indicated that all test objectives had been met.

The missile was fired from an erector launcher mounted on an XM474 tracked vehicle.

Flares were ejected from the missile's nose cone to aid in tracking the warhead after powered flight.

The Martin Company, Orlando, Florida Division, is prime contractor for the Pershing, under the technical management of the U. S. Army Missile Command. Test personnel from both organizations conducted last night's firing, another in the continuing development series of the Army's Pershing missile.

Both solid fuel motors for the Pershing missile are made at Redstone by Thiokol Chemical Corporation's Alpha Division.

Sustained Superior Performance

Carolyn S. Powers, Secretary, Office of Deputy CG, BM, Clayton G. Morgan, Missile Development Control Engineer, Research & Development Dir.; Norman Q. Frederick, Equipment Specialist, Field Service Directorate.

Suggestion Awards

Charles T. Duncan, Field Service Directorate, $105 award—this suggestion resulted in blocks or groups of Shipping Order Numbers and Index Numbers being set aside or reserved for certain systems and sections as applicable. The idea will be used for six months and the estimated savings is $2,040.

Robert E. Neely, Field Service Directorate, $150 award—this suggestion resulted in MWO's on Nike-Hercules Type IV test equipment that adds Instruction Cards only being rescinded upon printing of the Technical Bulletin that replaces the Instruction Cards. The estimated savings for the first year is $3,000.

Violet J. Minor, Industrial Directorate, $60 award—this suggestion resulted in the rescheduling of security meetings from Building 4488 to Buildings 4500 and 5678. The estimated first year savings is $1,200.

Incentive Award Payoff Revised

A recent change to an Army Regulation gives added incentive to try for an incentive award.

Frank Holmes, Executive Secretary of the Army Missile Command Incentive Committee, says that local commanders are now empowered to grant up to $1,000 for approved suggestions. The award can be $1,000 based on tangible savings to the government and $300 on intangible savings, but the total local award can only be $1,000. Amounts over that are considered by higher command.

This is a considerable increase over the previous authority given local commanders. Under old regulations, an incentive award winner could get up to $475 based on tangible savings and $300 based on intangible benefits, or a total of $775.

Amount of awards is based on the monetary savings to the operation.
