Redstone Praised For Armed Aircraft Work

LANCE OVER THE MOON?—The Army's Lance missile appears to be headed past the moon into outer space. Actually, this illusion was captured by a data camera during a recent test firing at White Sands Missile Range, N.M. Lance is the Army's newest surface-to-surface artillery missile being developed to replace the Honest John. Capable of firing either conventional or nuclear warheads, the Lance program is managed by the U. S. Army Missile Command.

Gen. Tolson Speaks At Dinner Meet

Maj. Gen. John J. Tolson, Commanding General of the U.S. Army Aviation Center and School, Fort Rucker, last night praised Army personnel at Redstone for their contribution toward making the armed helicopter an effective weapon for the United States.

"You have, and are today, contributing heavily to the development of new and improved weapons systems," he said in an address prepared for delivery during a dinner meeting of the Tennessee Valley Chapter of the Association of the U.S. Army at the Officers Open Mess.

In reporting on the increased use of helicopters and aircraft by the Army in Viet Nam and elsewhere, he pointed out three important results from U. S. participation in the Viet Nam conflict. They were:

One, general acceptance throughout the Army of the concept of air mobile operations.

Two, development of the armed helicopter. In elaboration, he (See GENERAL TALKS on Page 3)

Air Force To Conduct Chaparral Track Tests

The Air Force will soon conduct a series of tracking tests for the Army's Chaparral air defense weapons system at the Air Proving Ground Center, Eglin Air Force Base, Fla. The tests are to evaluate and determine the capability of the Chaparral's visible and infrared acquisition system.

Chaparral is a surface-to-air missile system being developed by the U.S. Army to protect the forward battle area against enemy aircraft. The system uses the previously Navy developed Sidewinder CI air-to-air missile slightly modified for this new ground-to-air role. For missions requiring full-tracked mobility, the fire unit is mounted on a modified M-548 cargo carrier.

Four missiles are fired from a turret mounted on the vehicle. Additional missiles may be stored in an area under the vehicle's shell. The gunner who fires the missiles sits in a plexiglass enclosed area on top of the vehicle.

According to test officials, all the tests call for a non-firing environment. As many varied conditions as possible will be simulated during the tests using Air (See CHAPARRAL on Page 3)

Target Missile Conference Is Underway At Command

The Army Missile Command is the host this week for the annual world wide conference on target missiles. The three day meeting opened Tuesday morning when the visitors were welcomed by Brig. Gen. Clarence C. Harvey, Jr., Missile Command Deputy Commanding General, Air Defense Systems.

Col. Richard Irvin, Jr., deputy to General Harvey, heads the Missile Command group at the conference.

$4 Million Plus Goes To Martin To Build Pershing

The U.S. Army has announced the award of a $4,750,000 contract to the Martin Co. for continued production of Pershing missiles.

The work will be performed at the company's Orlando, Fla. plant. The Pershing is in the hands of troops in the United States and Europe, and is a highly-mobile, solid-fuel ballistic missile.

The contract was negotiated and executed by the Army Missile Command Procurement and Production Directorate headed by Col. B. A. Saholsky, and will be administered by the Orlando Branch Office.

The Missile Command's Pershing Project Manager's Office, under Col. Edwin I. Donley, will handle technical supervision of the production program.

Materiel Command Gives Douglas Safety Award

An almost perfect safety record during Fiscal Year 1965 earned for the Charlotte (N.C.) Army Missile Plant the Army Materiel Command's Award of Honor for Safety. The government-owned installation is operated by Douglas Aircraft under the jurisdiction of the Army Missile Command.

A. D. Jamtaas, Douglas vice-president and general manager of the Charlotte Plant, came to Redstone last Friday to accept the award that was presented to the installation by Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the U.S. Army Missile Command.

Charlotte won the coveted Award of Honor by amassing a total of 96.7 points out of a possible 100 in the AMC procedure for evaluating the safety program. All installations and activities of the Weapons Command, Test and Evaluation Command and the Missile Command were entered in the competition.

During the year contractor and government employees of CAMP worked almost 2.4 million man hours with but a single disabling injury. During the same period over 77,500 miles were logged in Army vehicles without an accident.

The accident cost for the year was a low $500, or $.44 per person with an average exposure of 1,100 persons working per day. A majority of the Charlotte employees are employed by Douglas Aircraft.

G. C. Neff, the Safety Director at the North Carolina plant, who accompanied the Manager to Redstone, said that the FY 65 report represented a 78 per cent improvement over the previous year when six accidents and five injuries were recorded.

AMC AWARD OF HONOR—Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the Army Missile Command, presents the Army Materiel Command's Award of Honor for Safety to A. D. Jamtaas, manager of the Charlotte (N.C.) Army Missile Plant. G. C. Neff, safety director for the Douglas operated Charlotte Plant, is at the right in the picture. The award covered the outstanding record in safety compiled by the government and contractor employees of the plant who were awarded 96.7 points out of a possible 100 in the AMC rating system.

A Simple Report Form Gives Post Accident Aid

Even though the National Safety Council and local military and civilian officials warn us of the perils of traffic accidents, we still are involved in them. The dictionary defines "accident" as an unexpected occurrence. No matter how much we know about traffic safety, accidents will happen.

We all should know how to prevent an accident. But the question arises what to do if one does have an accident?

Every reputable automobile insurance company has a prepared form to help those involved get all the facts about an accident.

Some of the data needed includes the date, time and place of the accident. This information could have a later bearing on the case. Another important factor is the weather and road condition.

Next, the name, address and license number of the other driver, the name and address of the car's owner, its license plate number and state, and make, model and year of the other car is required. This information should also be furnished on your car to the other driver.

Make sure the names and address of anyone injured in your car, as well as those in the other car, are listed.

If there is any doubt as to who had the right of way or who was responsible for the accident, names and addresses of any witnesses are very important. So, too, is the name and badge number of the investigating police officer.

The name of the insurance agent for the owner and driver of the other car should be obtained, if available.

Perhaps one of the most important parts of an accident report form is a diagram showing the position of the vehicles involved—both before and after the accident. Almost every report form has a basic cross-street diagram already printed, and all that is required is to draw in what happened. Usually your car is known as Number One and the other as Number Two.

This diagram, if filled in at the time of the accident, can later be used to settle certain arguments. While most insurance companies advertise "quick payment," difficulties may arise and it could be months before a settlement is reached. In this period of time, the persons involved may forget some of the accident details. Memories can become very hazy. If the other driver was in the wrong and insists that you are the one who committed the wrong, your diagram could very well save the day for you.

Obviously, the best thing to do is avoid having an accident. But if, despite your precautions, you become involved in one, a properly filled-out accident report can save a lot of heartaches. (AFPS)

Adm. Burke To Be AOA Speaker

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke (Ret.), National President of the American Ordnance Association, will be guest speaker Friday at the annual meeting of the group's Tennessee Valley Post.

Election and installation of new officers will also be part of the dinner meeting at Redstone Officers Open Mess.

Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the Army Missile Command, will introduce Adm. Burke who will speak on "The Challenge That Faces America."

The famed World War II Naval hero retired from active service in 1961 after 42 years of continuous duty. At time of retirement he was Chief of Naval Operations and Navy member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

During the Korean War he served as Commander of Cruiser Division Five and was a member of the United Nations Truce Delegation which negotiated for a military armistice.

His visit will mark the first time that a President of AOA has visited the local Post.

Report of the nomination committee will be made during the meeting, followed by election of officers and six new members of the Board of Directors.

The list of proposed nominees is: President, John H. Goodloe, Thiokol Chemical Corporation; Vice President, J. P. Smith, J. P. Smith Associates; Vice President, A. V. Pilling, Hayes International Corp.; Vice President, Col. I. O. Drewry, Nike-X Project Manager; Secretary-Treasurer, J. W. Hendrix, Brown Engineering Company; National Council Member, Col. O. M. Missile Graduates Told To Ask For Help In Work

Missile maintenance men should never be ashamed to ask for help if they encounter repair problems they cannot solve themselves.

This advice was given to 44 graduates of the Army Ordnance Guided Missile School last week by Lt. Col. Kenneth C. Johnson, deputy chief of a special logistics task force study at the Army Missile Command.

Lt. Col. Johnson spoke at a ceremony in the Post Theater where he was introduced by Lt. Col. Robert J. Percy, who heads the Missile School's directorate of unit training.

Himself a graduate of the Missile School and a veteran in missile maintenance, Lt. Col. Johnson emphasized to the graduates that they are members of a team, all of whose members are pledged to help each other solve maintenance problems.

"Don't be ashamed to call for help whenever you need it. You'll find hundreds of trained men ready and willing to come to your aid," he said.

There were two Association of the U.S. Army honor students who attained an average of 96 or better in this multi-national graduation class of German, Turkish, French, Italian and American students. SFC Bernhard Kaeppler of the German Air Force in the Nike Test Equipment Repair course had a 98.2 grade and Sp6 Arlan E. Rounds, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Rounds, Beloit, Wis., with a score of 96, were presented plaques by the AUSA representation and Smith.

Proposed new members of the Board of Directors and their years of service are: W. A. Beach, SPACO, Inc., 1966; J. L. McDaniel, Army Missile Command, D. H. Newby, MSFC, 1967; Maj. Gen. J. A. Barclay (Ret.), Northrop Space Laboratories; B. F. Beckelman, Boeing Company; C. W. Huth and R. D. Walker of MSFC, 1968.

tive, Mr. Reavis O'Neal, Jr., OGMS Information Officer, for their achievement.

Other honor graduates were: 1st Lt. Walter R. Rysz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rysz, Old Forge, Penna., in Ordnance Missile Systems Maintenance Officer course; 1st Lt. Gero Weiss, German Air Force, in the Ballistic Missile Maintenance Technician (Sergeant) class; Staff Sgt. Jacques Leclercq, France, in Nike Missile Repair; Sgt. Eugene N. Boney, son of Mr. Charles A. Boney, Edinburg, Ark., in Nike Hipar Acquisition Radar and Radar Simulator Repair course; and Sp4 Edward J. Hanzel, son of Mrs. Dorothy Webeck, 574 Woodbine Drive, San Rafael, Calif., in the Ballistic Missile Digital Computer Repair (Pershing) course.

TVA Officials and members of the Tenn-Tom Development Authority continued the tour.

Congressman Kirwan, member of Congress for 29 years, is chairman of the Public Works Committee of the House Appropriations Committee. At MSFC the group saw the Saturn V launch booster in the Quality and Reliability Assurance Laboratory and toured the test laboratory where Saturn V rocket engines and stages are ground tested.

Missile Command officials, led by Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, briefed the visitors on Army rocket and missile programs managed at Redstone Arsenal.

Following a two and one half hour stay at Redstone the visitors departed the MSFC boat docks for Florence, Ala. Other cities on the week long tour include Nashville, Chattanooga, Decatur, Tuscaloosa, Waverly, Tenn., Columbus and Corinth, Miss., and Demopolis and Mobile, Ala.

Approximately 20 visitors are expected from Washington, D. C., Ft. Monroe, Va., Ft. Belvoir, Va., Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., Ft. Bliss, Texas, Ent Air Force Base, Colo., Ft. Monmouth, N. J. and from the Caribbean, European and Pacific areas.

Col. Robert Allgeier Announces Retirement

Col. Robert M. Allgeier, Redstone Arsenal's ambassador at large for the past four years, today announced plans to retire from active military service on November 30.

As principal assistant for community relations to Col. Thomas W. Cooke, Commander of the Army Missile Support Command, Col. Allgeier became will known throughout Alabama as a spokesman for and point of contact with Army elements at Redstone Arsenal.

His broad activities in the community have included all areas of particular interest to the Army commanders here and their impact on military personnel as well as the thousands of Army civilian employees and their families.

The colonel assisted city, county and state officials in solving problems relating to housing, schools, roads and transportation and implementation of the federal programs for off-base equal opportunity for military personnel and equal employment opportunity.

In daily contact with elective officials and civic leaders, Col. Allgeier has been an active participant in programs of the Huntsville-Madison County Chamber of Commerce and the Industrial Expansion Committee and was one of the key men in establishment of the Association of Huntsville Area Contractors.

He has represented his commander and Army activities at Redstone in hundreds of community functions and ceremonies and has worked closely with local officials in planning the proposed Space Science Exhibit Center and the Army Missile Display at Redstone Arsenal.

The Colonel and his wife, the former Miss Ethel Mary Boudreaux of Morgan City, La., have built a home in Huntsville and plan to settle here after his retirement.

Mrs. Allgeier is the Director of Services to Military Families for the Huntsville-Madison County Red Cross Chapter.

A native of Alliance, Nebraska, the 54-year-old officer received his schooling in Deer Park, Washington, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Allgeier, still reside. He is a graduate of Washington State University with a degree in business administration.

He entered the Army in 1942, and served in General George Patton's Third Army during campaigns in Europe in World War II. Before coming to Redstone Arsenal as Assistant for Intelligence, Operations and Security in September 1960, the Colonel was senior G-2 and military police advisor to the Second Republic of Korea Army with the Korean Military Advisory Group.

said:

"Viet Nam has certainly established the armed helicopter in the Army's Arsenal."

Gen. Tolson's third point was cited as general acceptance throughout the Department of Defense of the survivability of the slow, low flying helicopter in a combat environment.

In support of the latter he quoted statistics revealing that from Jan. 1, 1962 through Aug. 31, 1965 U.S. helicopters flew nearly one million combat sorties in Viet Nam. He said that chances of being hit by ground fire were one in 347 and of being downed by ground fire one in 8,129.

The veteran Army aviator said the chances of a helicopter being lost were one in 15,341.

The hazards of driving from Fort Rucker to Dothan or Redstone to Huntsville contain more danger, he added.

Gen. Tolson told of the tremendous buildup of aviation capability in Viet Nam. He said that last June the U.S. Army had 500 helicopters there and that by January 1, there would be about 1,400.

He said that at Fort Rucker the training of helicopter aviators is being increased from a present 96 graduates a month to 290 graduates a month, maintaining a flow of 25 fixed wing graduates each month. He also said that 20,000 enlisted mechanics would be trained there during the current fiscal year.

Gen. Tolson was introduced to the local AUSA group by Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the Army Missile Command. Both were 1937 graduates of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Possibilities Open For New Career—Mrs. Harvey

A scholarship for graduate study granted by the American Association of University Women has opened the door to new career opportunities for Frances Harvey of Redstone Arsenal.

Her husband, Brig. Gen. Clarence C. Harvey, is the Army Missile Command Deputy Commanding General, Air Defense Systems.

When they moved to Redstone this summer from Arlington, Va., Fran brought a very new and very important item with her, a masters degree in Psychology from George Washington University, which she received in June.

Living In Arlington

While they were living in Arlington when Gen. Harvey was assigned in the Pentagon, Fran noticed a newspaper story about a woman in nearby Alexandria who had received an A. A. U. W. scholarship for advanced study. Fran called her to find out the details, then applied for a similar scholarship. Her application was approved.

At the time, she was one of four women in Virginia and of 43 in 11 Southern states receiving a grant under the A. A. U. W. College Faculty Program. The Program, designed to provide more college teachers and more opportunities for women over 35 to brush up on their college training, has since been expanded to include areas outside of the South.

Support for the Program comes from the Rockefeller Foundation Fund. Fran hopes this report might encourage other qualified women to advance their educational level. Further information about the project is available from Mrs. Ann Kelsall, College Faculty Program, A. A. U. W., 2401 Virginia Ave. N.W., Washington, D. C.

Takes Courage

Fran found that going back to college for the first time since her graduation from Stanford University took a lot of courage, persistence and downright hard work.

She had majored in Psychology at Stanford, but approaches and methods have advanced radically over the past few years.

"If I had been going back to study Ancient History or French, it wouldn't have been so difficult because those subjects don't change," Fran said. "I had to take a few undergraduate courses in Psychology to bring me up-to-date with the latest trends before I went on with graduate work," she explained.

Wants To Use Training

She wanted to use her recent academic training and retain "the language of Psychology," so she is currently serving as a consulting Psychologist at the Muscle Shoals

Mental Health Center once a week. She has been asked to lecture to the Psychology classes at the University of Alabama Huntsville Extension.

In addition she is doing research for a paper which she hopes to present at the Southern Psychological Association meeting next spring in New Orleans. She plans to use the same subject as her thesis "Writing Therapy, a New Technique in Psychotherapy."

The Harveys were in Europe four years before the recent Washington tour of duty and lived in Paris one year, Baumholder two years, and in Stuttgart a year.

German Hunting License

Taking advantage of educational opportunities is typical of Fran Harvey. In Germany she passed the examination for a German hunting license which qualified her to be taken on hunts by the jagers and forest meisters. She says this was a wonderful way to get to know the German people.

While they were living in Paris, she attended and graduated from the Cordon Bleu School of Cooking.

The Cordon Bleu course gave her a real insight into French cooking, and why it varies so much from the usual American way. The French achieve their succulent results because they are meticulously particular about the ingredients they use, and they don't mind spending a whole day preparing one recipe. Every onion, apple or potato used has to be at the very peak of perfection, for instance.

Cooking Superb

Use of prepared mixes and American "short cuts" is unheard of in France. The results of their cooking are naturally superb.

The class was taught in French, and some of the ingredients given are not available in the U. S. Americans in the class had to keep inquiring through an interpreter what American products might be substituted.

In addition to the language problem, American students had to have a knack for mathematics. The portions in the French recipes are given in metric measurements, and the cooking temperature in Centigrade degrees.

Here is a French recipe from the Cordon Bleu:

Chef Narcisse's Canard a l'Orange (Orange Duck) (Serves four)

Ingredients:
1 young medium duckling

For garnish:

Juice of 2 oranges
Rind of 1 orange (cut in thin slices)
Sections of 4 oranges (peeled and seeded) ½ C shredded orange rind

salt and pepper
4 ozs. cognac
4 ozs. Madeira wine

For sauce:

giblets
neck and wing tips of duck
2 t. butter
2 medium onions
"bouquet garni" — (2 shallots,
1 clove garlic, all finely chopped, placed and tied tightly in piece of gauze.)
1 heaping t. flour
1 pint meat stock
½ t. tomato puree.

To prepare duck:

Sew both ends closed. Sew wings and legs to duck. Place on side in shallow pan, cover generously with butter, salt and pepper. Roast ¾ hours, 240 degrees C. Baste every ten minutes. At quarter time, turn duck on other side, at half time, turn on back, at three quarter time, or when duck is brown, lower oven to 220 degrees C. Duck is cooked when juice from inside is white, not red, when tested.

To prepare garnish: (While duck is roasting)

Cut rind off 1 orange (thin slices, no pith). Place in covered pan with small amount of cold water. Cook 2 minutes, remove. Place orange sections in pan, heat slightly, sprinkle with small amount of cognac. Keep warm on back of stove.

To prepare sauce:

Cut neck and wings in small pieces. Combine all pieces but liver, brown in frying pan in 2 t. butter. Add onions cut in fine pieces. When brown, pour off grease. Return to fire, add 1 heaping t. flour, stir do not brown. When ingredients are coated with flour add 1 pint meat stock, ½ t. tomato puree, bouquet garni, salt, pepper, ½ tsp. sugar. Simmer ½ hour. (If sauce becomes too thick, add more stock and some juice from oranges and cognac mixture.) Strain. Just before serving, add juices from bottom of pan duck (See POSSIBILITIES on Page 5) cooked in, after removing grease. Pour some of the sauce over orange mixture, cover and heat. Pour rest of sauce over orange rind, boil 1 minute. Add 1 liquer glass cognac, 1 (European size) wine glass madeira wine. Warm. Sprinkle with part of shredded rind.

MRS. CLARENCE C. HARVEY . . . At Home With Her Books

To serve duck:
(Allow duck to stand 10 minutes before carving.) Filet duck, return pieces, place on serving platter, keep warm in oven until ready to serve. Before serving, arrange orange sections around duck. Sprinkle top of duck with small amount of rind which has been grated. Pour some sauce over filets. Serve remaining sauce in a side dish.

Been Too Busy

Fran says she hasn't had a chance to try many French recipes in the last year or so because she had to do her cooking with one hand and hold a Psychology text book in the other!

The Harvey's living room is bright with flowers and greenery, colorful paintings and other appointments. There is a mosaic called "The Jewel Tree," on one wall, made by Gen. Harvey's mother from rocks and semi-precious stones the family has collected. The elder Mrs. Harvey is a noted Florida artist. One of her large paintings hangs above the fireplace.

Cups and saucers Fran has collected from all over the world are displayed in a dining room cabinet. Her favorite came from a site where they went on a skiing trip in Switzerland.

Whole Effect Gay

The whole effect is one of gaiety, sparkle and charm, an accurate reflection of Fran's personality.

A native Californian, Fran grew up in San Francisco. She says that nevertheless, she feels some kinship with the South because part of her family originally moved from Little Rock, Ark. to California during the Gold Rush.

Having seen something of the world as a member of the Stanford Debating Team sent to Honolulu during her senior year to debate the University of Hawaii, Fran and some of her Delta Gamma sorority sisters, after graduation, decided they'd like to attend school in the East, so they went to Katherine Gibbs in Boston for a year.

Public Relations

Back in California after this, she worked in the public relations office of a well-known firm on the Monterey Peninsula south of San Francisco. A highlight of this experience was interviewing movie stars who vacationed in the Carmel-Monterey area. "The stars were easy to interview because they knew just what they wanted to read about themselves in the papers," she said, "but other vacationers who weren't accustomed to interviews sometimes weren't so easy."

Like all Army families, the Harveys have lived in various locations all across the U. S. as well as Europe—Ft. Sill, Okla., West Point, N.Y.; Carlisle Barracks, Pa.; Ft. Bliss, Texas, the Washington, D.C. area, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.; and California while Gen. Harvey studied for his masters degree in Aeronautics and Guided Missiles at the University of Southern California.

The Harveys have three sons, James, a lieutenant with the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N. C., who has just returned from duty in the Dominican Republic; Dave, in his first year at West Point; and Bob, a Butler High school junior.

Keep Cruiser

The Harveys have a 24-foot cruiser they keep at Guntersville Lake where they frequently spend weekends. They also enjoy golf, swimming, scuba diving, and skiing.

Fran once rode in horse shows and she was on the Stanford golf team. Now she plays golf and rides, less some of her former ex-

The Harveys had not been to northern Alabama before they moved to Redstone. They are delighted with the charm and beauty of the area and the warmth and hospitality of the people who live here.

Fran plunged right into post activities at Redstone, and recently headed the committee for the annual Harvest Ball.

The rut has got you down?

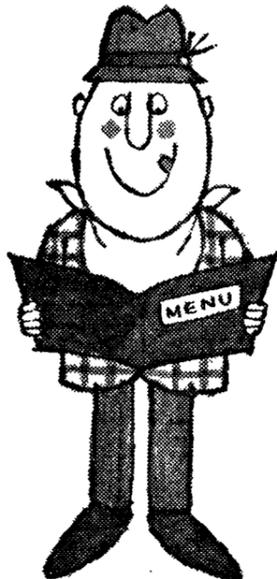

You'd like food with more flair?

Tired of wasted weekends?

Get up and go! And go with United. We fly jets to more places in the States than anyone else. More jets, too, so waiting time is shorter — gets you going sooner.

Fly to Greenwich Village in New York or Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco. Don't laugh — they're both just a few hours away from where you sit! On many flights, we'll even serve you — with a flair.

Do something! See your girl, or just pick a town and have a ball. With us, you'll have a ball getting there. And it sure beats polishing your boots for the Monday morning inspection.

Stand by United for Furlough Fun

Traveling is a great way to break up the military routine. So fly with us . . . at just half the jet coach fare. Just come to the United ticket counter, or your base airline ticket office (JAMTO)* in uniform and with a copy of your leave papers. And leave the rest to us.

they are: Louise Hix, runnerup in the third flight; Irma Wiklund, runnerup in the championship flight; Grace Wachslar, champion and medalist; Midge Clisson, runnerup in the second flight; and Edna Hodges, third flight winner. Sue Brownlee's husband was transferred so she received her trophy as second flight winner in a private ceremony before she left.

Grace Wachslar Wins Tournament Championship

General Harvey Installed As Club Commodore

Brig. Gen. Clarence C. Harvey, Army Missile Command Deputy Commanding General, Air Defense Systems, has been elected commodore of the Redstone Yacht Club. He was installed in the office Friday night during the club's annual banquet at the Russell Erskine Hotel.

Other officers elected include Roy B. Southworth, vice commodore; Maj. John M. Kiminek, rear commodore; Don Howard, secretary; Lt. Larry Martin, master at arms; and Lt. William A. Moeller, custodian.

James W. Yates, Russell Mitchell, Brooks Frimme and Maj. Arthur W. Brochu are on the board of directors.

Another Week-Same Story With Rollers

The Rocket Rollers seem to have the right idea for holding onto first place in the OGMS Officers bowling league. They just keep winning four points each evening and increasing their lead.

Last week it was the Satellite's turn to try their luck with the Rollers and the result was the usual story—another sweep for the leaders. The span between first and second place is now four and a half points.

The Black Jacks are closest to the Rollers after breaking a tie with the Bad Gnus last week. The Jacks followed the lead of Tom DeLoach to grab three of the four points. George Earl helped the cause along with a 508.

Most of the fireworks were generated by the Rounders in their 3 to 1 win over F Troop. Bob Percy contributed a league leading 560 and Al Leonard had a 514 as the Rounders piled up a single game total of 1005.

Champion and medalist in the annual Golf Group Tournament of the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club is Grace Wachslar. The trophy was awarded at lunch at the Redstone Officers Open Mess last Wednesday.

Runnerup to the champion was Irma Wikland. In the next two flights Sue Brownlee was winner with Midge Clisson runnerup and in the bottom flight Edna Hodges came in the winner followed by Louise Hix.

Prizes were awarded by the temporary awards chairman, Mimi Diehl, and Golf Group Chairman Jo Donley.

Officers for the coming season were unanimously elected from the slate presented by the nominating committee.

Billie Fogel is the new chairman with Jane Windell vice chairman and Joy Pyle secretary-treasurer.

Other prizes were also awarded at the luncheon to winners in the Consolation tournament and to individuals who had not won anything all year.

Harriet Sterner was winner of the Consolation with Lilit Lewis in second place. Lella Mullins won the next flight with Vi McDermott the runnerup.

Others who received consolation awards were Tutta Colquit and Peg Granger.

The luncheon in November traditionally winds up the scheduled competition for the Golf Group even though stalwart members of the Group continue to play, weather permitting.

Golf Group Ends Seasonal Ringer

At the close of the seasonal ringer tournament sponsored by the Golf Group of the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club, Jeanette Sell shot a 35 average for the championship. Martha Napper was one stroke behind with a 36.

First flight winner was Mimi Diehl with Louise Hix the runnerup. In the second flight Irene Tyler stroked an average 39 over Betty Haywood's 40.

Third flight winner was Marian Deppensmith with Jean Kirby the runnerup.

Louise Hix was declared the most improved golfer, dropping 23 strokes from her average during the season.

Lindsay Splinters Maples For Another Honor Count

Parade Of Stars

Redstone League: Vic Passavant, 615 (233), Ray Profit, 608 (224-201), Dick Cizek, 566 (219), Bill McCoy, 542, Jim Blackburn, 541, Jack Ward, 539 (217), Carl Worley, 536.

Supply Management League: Tom Lindsay, 655 (248-220), Hal Miller, 575 (216), Fred Stewart, 562 (212), Sid Bright, 560 (214), Ed Lawson, 557 (211), Dan Chepkaukas, 548 (202).

Field Services League: Jim Carlisle, 592 (228), Nick Sparks, 563 (211), Paul Barney, 566 (203), W. A. Thompson, 547, Walt Young, 544 (205) Frank Ralph, 532.

Three more Honor Roll counts were entered in the average books last week as Redstone civilian bowlers continued their assault on the maple ten pins at downtown bowling emporiums.

An old stand by, Tom Lindsay, led the assault with his third better than 600 total while Vic Passavant and Ray Profit each made their initial appearance on the elite list.

Passavant and Profit combined their talents in leading the Dean's Trailer Court team to a 3 to 1 win over the Six Shooters in the Redstone League. The outburst came at a very opportune time as the league was bowling a position night, and the win boosted the Trailermen to a 2½ point lead over the Shooters.

Passavant had a 615 total with a 233 game while Profit counted a 224 game in his 608 series. The two big games came together and gave Dean's a 1064 game.

Dick Cizek was next in the line with a 566 for Giles Garden Center, Bill McCoy collected 542 sticks and Jim Blackburn finished his evening's work with 541.

Lindsay made his third appearance on the Honor Roll a resounding 655 in leading the Huntsville Brick and Tile to a 3 to 1 win over Bramblets in the Supply Management League.

The Fayetteville Terror started out with a 248 and came back with a 220 and closed out with a 187. His team mates helped him along with a 1056 game and a 3022 series total.

The All-Sports five took over the league lead when they scored a sweep at the expense of the New Streaks as the erstwhile leading Jones Lumber team lost three of their four points. Sid Bright tossed a 560 for the new leaders.

In losing the Lumbermen dropped all the way to fourth with the Brick & Tile team taking over second, a notch ahead of the Debuggers. Jim Carlisle came within a single mark of hanging up another Honor Roll total when he put together a 592 for the Chiefs in the Field Services League.

His efforts led the Chiefs to a 3 to 1 win over the Crackers and boosted the Chiefs into a second place tie with their victims. The Guided Muscles took advantage of the Crackers.

His efforts boosted the Chiefs into a second place tie with the Crackers who dropped three points to the Guided Muscles. The 3 to 1 win for the Muscles gave them a one point lead.

Nick Sparks led the Musclemen to their win with a 563 and Jim Wiswall chipped in with a 539. Paul Barney had a 566 in the losing cause.

Touch Footballers Brace For Title Stretch Drive

A real old fashioned battle royal is shaping up for the closing weeks of the Unit Level touch football league with four of the nine teams having tasted defeat a single time.

MICOM and Headquarters, STC, have each won four while A Company and 2nd ETC have each been victorious three times. To complicate matters even more the 5th ETC team has only dropped two encounters while winning the same number.

The last team to taste defeat was STC when they fell victim to the penetration rule after fighting MICOM to a scoreless deadlock over the regulation time. In the playoff to decide a winner MICOM was able to pick up 17 yards in four downs while STC was restricted to 11 yards.

Policemen Pick Up Where They Left Off—Winning

If there are any military units entertaining hopes of derailing the Military Police outfit in the Unit Level Basketball league about the best advice at this time is to figure a way to corral big Mike Stuart.

Although the league has only finished one week with six games having been played, the MPs have chalked up a pair of wins and Stuart has drilled 64 points through the nets.

The husky gunner out of Warren, Ohio, started off the season where he left off last spring when he split for the nets for 29 points in one game and then came back with 35 more in the second victory.

The MPs used Stuart's lead in hanging up a 70-64 win over 1st ETC in the opener and an 83-54 victory over the Medics later in the week.

Jerry Rusnick pitched in with 18 in the opener as the MPs pulled away late in the final quarter after a nip and tuck battle all the way. Walt Dockus led the First attack with 24 and Jim Charette added 16 more.

In the other game the defending champions took an early lead over the Medics and continued to add to the lead. The Medics were also looking for their second win but were unable to cope with the sharpshooting of Stuart.

Harry Duncan was the leader of the Medic attack in each game. His 23 points paced a 54-30 win over the Support Command and his 18 was high against the MPs. The closest game during the opening week of play saw Headquarters, STC, come back from a 11-point half time deficit to outlast Fourth ETC for a 49-46 win.

Tom Werth hit an 18-foot one hander with 90 seconds to go to break a tie and provide the winning margin. The Fourth had two more chances but missed on both. Werth led his mates with 14 while Hezekiah Thomas collected 21 before fouling out with five minutes to go.

In another low scoring contest, C Company took an early lead and then played control ball to hand MICOM a 46-39 setback. Frank Wilson hit for 13 for C Company while Jim O'Dekirk was the big cog in the MICOM attack with 17.

The Officers looked like the team with the best chance of dislodging the MPs when they opened their season with a smashing 78-35 win over Third ETC.

The winners exhibited a well rounded attack paced by Bob Murphy who hit for an even two dozen counters. Jacques Taylor collected 15 points for the Third despite fouling out midway in the third quarter.

smith held low net. Most improved in the tournament was Karol Landram.

Drissell Sets Pace For A-B-C Officers

Dan Drissell captured weekly individual honors for the A-B-C Officers bowling league last week as he chopped down 574 maples in leading the Lucky Strikes to a clean sweep over Saturn V.

The Strikers also got a 544 from Don Vanderheyden and a 538 from Rex Javins as they cut the Wheeler lead to two points. The leaders held their place with three points over the Pin Splitters, as Dave Dozier rolled a 544.

The Saturn loss dropped them into a third place tie with the Hopefuls.

Len Kidd rolled a 533 total and Gene Budd had a 201 game. Drissell had a 203 in his total while Javins included a 201 in his series.

Redstone Officers Wives Hear Gen. Zierdt

Redstone Officers Wives Club members heard Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the Army Missile Command, discuss many different facets of Army life at their luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Redstone Officers Open Mess.

The General, who was the guest speaker, drew comparisons between Army life 100 years ago and the present time. He noted that the same basic philosophy and spirit pervaded in the Army and among Army wives in the early days and today.

He gave some colorful examples of life in the West during the Indian wars. He also mentioned that the type of war fought then followed some of the same patterns as the conflict in Viet Nam.

Decorations for the luncheon followed the Pennsylvania Dutch theme. The luncheon committee worked under the supervision of Mrs. Thomas W. Cooke, and Mrs. Richard Davidson was the chairman. Committee members were: Mrs. G. E. Carothers, Mrs. I. V. Gulbranson, Mrs. A. O. Wiklund, Mrs. G. E. Meadors, Mrs. J. P. Kirkland, decorations; Mrs. J. T. Thompson, Mrs. F. M. Creighton, door prizes; and Mrs. S. E. Tillery and ladies of the aviation group, punch table.

Approximately 200 members and guests attended the luncheon.

Mrs. Gatwood Wins Wives Bridge Game

Five tables of players attended the Thursday Bridge session sponsored by the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club at the Open Mess.

Winners were Mrs. M. F. Gatwood, first; Mrs. Lella Mullins, second; and Mrs. Stanley Tyler, third. Mrs. A. J. Matthews was low.

Reservations to play with the group are made by Mrs. A. V. Garrabrant.

OGMS Wives To See Fashions Tuesday

A fashion show featuring wigs and hair pieces will be presented by OGMS wives on Nov. 23 at 12:30 p.m. in the Redstone Officers Open Mess.

A wide selection of shades, styles and quality in wigs as well as high fashion coiffures will be accented by new season daytime and evening wear shown during a commentary by a beautician specialist in wigs. The program will follow the traditional Thanksgiving meal served in an appropriate atmosphere of colorful table settings. Dunnivant's will also present fashions at the show.

Ladies of the Directorate of Individual Training headed by Mrs. Zacarias F. Rael are arranging and hosting this unique fashion event. Publicity is being handled by Mrs. H. C. Sanford, 37 Ripley Drive, Phone 877-4478.

Medical Society To Visit Arsenal

The Madison County Medical Society is scheduled to visit the NASA Medical Center and the U.S. Army Hospital Nov. 18.

The NASA-Army sponsored program will give area physicians and their wives a look at the medical facilities within the Redstone Arsenal complex and also a view of the space rocket and missile projects being conducted here.

The afternoon tour will be followed by the society's monthly meeting at the Redstone Officer's Open Mess.

Dr. John Peter Minton, cancer research specialist at Ohio State University Medical Center, will address Madison County physicians at the dinner meeting.

Dr. Minton, investigating the use of laser beams in combating cancer, will speak on "The Laser and Its Potential Application In Medicine."

FRENCH CLASS STARTS

A French class for members of the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club is being held each Tuesday morning between 8 and 10 a.m. at the Redstone Officers Open Mess.

Mrs. John Bond is instructing the class. She said there is room for more students if anyone in the Wives Club is interested. The contact for information and enrolling is Mrs. Wesley Taylor, 877-5257.

Debora Ann Wheat, Nov. 9, daughter of PFC and Mrs. Elmo Wheat.

William Gene Kennedy, Oct. 6, son of Sp6 and Mrs. Harold C. Kennedy.

Patrick Arnold Johnson, Nov. 7, son of Sp4 and Mrs. David L. Johnson.

Nov. 15, 1940 — First peacetime conscription bill was passed. It called for 75,000 men.

SAME To Have Air Force Guest Speaker November 18

An Air Force Major will describe the 50 Megawatt Electro-Gas-Dynamics facility being built at Wright Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio for the local post of the Society of American Military Engineers Nov. 18 at the Redstone Officers Open Mess. The meeting begins at 6:30

The speaker is Maj. Herbert L. Blackman, Jr., Air Force Site Construction Manager for Phase II, 550 Megawatt EGDF for Hypersonic-High Altitude Testing. The facility he will describe will cost $9 million and will provide the research and Technology Division Laboratories with the capability of long duration test runs of models and shapes at simulated altitudes of 280,000 feet and speeds of 18,000 miles per hour. The meeting includes dinner. Reservations can be made with Mrs. Cole, 876-3610.

Safe Drivers Given Awards

At a ceremony in the office of the Commandant of the Guided Missile School, a variety of awards was presented to nine members of the school staff. The courteous driving campaign has been stressed in a continuing effort to improve safety on the highway. Miss Edie Dunn, Nike Division, DIT, and Sp4 Carl F. Huth, 2d ETC were given safe driving caravan certificates and SFC Roland E. Ferris, Supply Division of Logistics Office and Thomas H. Jackson of the Maintenance Division won the drawing for seat belts in the courteous driving awards.

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Reynolds, secretary in the Directorate of Individual Training, and Alexander Istenes, Missile Components Department, and John M. Gullick, Jr., Ammo Department, were presented with outstanding performance rating certificates. Charles W. Zimmerman of the Officer Training Department, DIT, received a sustained superior work performance award. The OGMS best mess yearly award went to SFC Brussa C. Bright of Mess No. 2, STC.

MRS. KOSTOFF IS BRIDGE WINNER

Monday night last week at the Officers Open Mess six tables of bridge players competed at the regular session.

Winner was Mrs. Peter C. Kostoff who also handles reservations to play with the group.

Second high was John Tyson with Capt. Waldemar Minor in third place.

The bridge group is open to members and associate members of the Officers Open Mess and their dependents. Mrs. T. H. Lynch assists Mrs. Kostoff with the reservations.

DEDICATION OF STILWELL HALL SET—The memory of one of the Army's most distinguished leaders of World War II will be honored at the Ordnance Guided Missile School next Tuesday when an academic building (center) is formally named Stilwell Hall in honor of the late Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell (left) by his son Brig. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, Jr., (right) commanding general of the John F. Kennedy Center for Special Warfare, Fort Bragg, N.C.

School To Dedicate Stilwell Hall On Tuesday

The memory of one of the Army's most distinguished leaders of World War II will be honored here Tuesday when an academic building at the Army Ordnance Guided Missile School is formally dedicated as General Joseph W. Stilwell Hall.

Building 3305, which houses officer and enlisted training in the fields of missile and ammunition maintenance, will be named in honor of the deceased four-star general by his son, Brig. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, Jr., who is now commanding general of the U.S. Army's John F. Kennedy Center for Special Warfare at Fort Bragg, N.C.

The formal dedication ceremony is to begin at 11 a.m. in front of the building. Col. Erwin M. Graham, Jr., commandant of the Missile School, extended an invitation to all who are interested to attend the dedication.

Brig. Gen. Stilwell is to speak briefly and then unveil a sign that designates the building as Stilwell Hall and view a bronze plaque in the lobby with the following inscription:

"In Memoriam—General Joseph W. Stilwell, U.S.A., 1883-1946. Hero of China-India-Burma Campaign, 1942-44. Commander of U.S. Army Ground Forces, predecessor of U.S. Continental Army Command, 1946. Dedicated by his son and namesake, November, 1965."

In addition to the above posts, Gen. Stilwell also served as U.S. adviser to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek of China and as Commanding General of the U.S. Tenth and Sixth Armies.

Special guests for the occasion are Mayor Glenn H. Hearn of Huntsville, Madison County Commission Chairman James R. Record, and a number of civic leaders including officers of the Army Advisory Committee, the OGMS Sub-Committee of the Chamber of Commerce Redstone Arsenal Committee, the Tennessee Valley Chapter of the Association of the U.S. Army and Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt of the Army Missile Command and Army and NASA leaders.

Following the dedication, Brig. Gen. Stilwell will be honored at a luncheon given by the Association of the U.S. Army at the Officers Open Mess. He will receive briefings on Redstone Arsenal operations and is to depart Tuesday afternoon.

The building is the third on the Missile School campus to be named. The first honors an early commander of Redstone Arsenal, Brig. Gen. Thomas K. Vincent. The second memorializes two distinguished Alabamians, the late U.S. Senator John H. Bankhead and his brother, the late Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives William B. Bankhead. Speaker Bankhead's daughter, the noted actress Tallulah Bankhead, dedicated Bankhead Hall in 1963. A fourth building remains unnamed pending recommendations by the U.S. Continental Army Command.

Drive Safely!

At The Service Club

By BETTY HAYES

Lots of good times are planned for this week at the Service Club. Included in the activities are contests and a Harvest Ball. Details on these events and other events will be given as you read this column.

Tonight at 7:30 p.m. travelogues will be shown in the TV room. If you haven't viewed the films on Wednesday evenings, I suggest that you be present tonight. A special treat is in store for you.

Pinochle and table tennis are the two contests for this week. Pinochle will be played on Thursday at 7 p.m.

On Friday a table tennis contest will be held at 8 p.m. Let's see if you are the champion for November.

The big event for the week is the Harvest Ball, which will be held Saturday at 8 p.m. Wacs from Ft. McClellan will attend the dance as well as the Junior Hostesses. The Travelers will furnish the music for the occasion. For an evening that you won't want to miss, mark your social calendar for this event.

Coffee and donuts will be served on Sunday morning at 9 a.m. Sunday evening small games will be played instead of a dance since the Harvest Ball is Saturday night.

An evening of games on Monday, is on schedule at 8 p.m.

A table will be reserved for you and your friends in the small lounge on Tuesday evening for bridge night at 7 p.m. Don't be late for the event.

Congratulations to William Gattschalk who identified his service

SAVE MEETING

The monthly meeting of The Society of American Value Engineers, Redstone Chapter, will be tonight, 6:30 o'clock at the Redstone Officer's Club. Featured speaker will be Marvin Wasserman, configuration management consultant to the System Engineering Department, Brown Engineering Co.

Mr. Wasserman will speak on "The Compatibility of Value Engineering and Configuration Management."

FOR MERITORIOUS SERVICE—Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the U. S. Army Missile Command, offers his congratulations to Lt. Col. Walton S. LeMay after he had presented the Bronze Star Medal in recognition of the Colonel's meritorious service while assigned to the U. S. Military Assistance Command, Vietnam. Col. LeMay recently returned to the Missile Command after having left Redstone a year ago for his Vietnamese assignment. He is presently serving as Chief of the Command's Installation and Services Office.

Col. LeMay Earns Second Bronze Star In Viet Nam

Back at Redstone to start another tour of duty is Lt. Col. Walton S. LeMay who has been named Chief of the Missile Command's Installation and Services Office.

Col. LeMay left the Arsenal in September of last year after having been Deputy to the Pershing Project Officer. He was assigned to the U. S. Military Assistance Command, Vietnam, as Chief of the Supply and Maintenance Division under the Assistant Chief of Staff, J-4.

General Zierdt presented Col. LeMay with the First Oak Leaf Cluster to the Bronze Star Medal in recognition of his distinguished service while in the war-torn Republic of Southeast Asia.

The citation accompanying the award made at the direction of the President, stated, "For distinguishing himself by outstanding meritorious service in connection with ground operations against hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam during the period September 1964 to August 1965."

The citation continued, "Through his untiring efforts and professional ability, he consistently obtained outstanding results. He was quick to grasp the implications of new problems with which he was faced as a result of the ever changing situations inherent in a counterinsurgency operation and to find ways and means to solve those problems.

"The energetic application of his extensive knowledge has materially contributed to the efforts of the United States Mission to the Republic of Vietnam to assist that country in ridding itself of the communist threat to its freedom.

"His initiative, zeal, sound judgment and devotion to duty have been in the highest tradition of the United States Army and reflect great credit on him and on the military service."

A native of Town Creek, Ala., Col. LeMay is a veteran of over 22 years of active service. He entered the Army originally in 1943 and was selected to attend Officers Candidate School the following spring and was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers.

He served in the Occupation Forces in Germany following World War II and spent a tour of duty in Korea during the Korean Conflict. Col. LeMay won his first Bronze Star during the latter assignment.

Educator Schedules Talk At Support Command Today

A well-known military educator is coming to the Arsenal today to address the Commander and staff of the U. S. Army Missile Support Command in connection with the Command's executive development program.

He is Dr. Boyd E. Macrory, Dean of Curriculum for the Academic Instructor and Applied Officer School at Maxwell Air Force Base in Montgomery. He will speak on "Achieving Worthwhile Objectives."

Dr. Macrory received his Ph. D. from the University of Wisconsin and prior to joining the Educational Advisory Staff at the Air University in 1964, taught at Wisconsin, Asbury College in Kentucky and Ohio Wesleyan University. He has also written a number of articles in the fields of education and sociology for educational, military and professional journals.

In addition to his duties at Maxwell, Dr. Macrory is very active in Montgomery civic activities and is the immediate past president of the Downtown Optimist Club. At the present time he is serving as Lieutenant Governor for Zone II, Alabama-Mississippi District of Optimist International.

During World War II the educator served as an officer in the Air Force and for several years following the close of the war was Commander of the 9921st Air Reserve Squadron in Montgomery.

He is also serving as a member of the Selective Service Reserve Unit of Montgomery with the rank of Colonel and is a past president of the Maxwell-Montgomery

Third U. S. Army Is 47 Years Old

Statistics compiled at Third Army headquarters at Fort McPherson, Ga., indicate that the organization is the largest of the six Army areas in the continental United States in terms of personnel.

With 179,400 active Army personnel, 17,000 civilian employees, 203,000 Reserve and National Guard members and 46,000 ROTC and National Defense Cadet Corps participants, the Third Army has approximately one-fourth of all the people associated with the Army in the nation, it was pointed out.

Commanded by Lt Gen. Louis W. Truman, Third Army is operating this year on a budget of $294,000,000.

The Third U.S. Army, of which the Ordnance Guided Missile School at Redstone Arsenal is an element, observed its 47th anniversary on Nov. 15 at more than 100 installations in seven South-eastern states.

Chapter of the Reserve Officer Association.

Third Army was activated in Europe at the end of World War I and served as the Army of Occupation in Germany. Its fame became world-wide when General George S. Patton made his dramatic dash across Europe during World War II.

Since May, 1941, more than 150 billion dollars in Series E and H Savings Bonds has been sold to American citizens. Of this amount, about 100 billion has been redeemed to buy things saved for by the owners. A record $49 billion remains outstanding.

Reckless Drivers Receive Big Fines

A total of 28 cases involving violation of Redstone Arsenal traffic regulations was handled by the United States Commissioner during October.

There were 120 cases referred to unit commanders and supervisors for disciplinary action during the same period.

All of the cases tried before the Commissioner resulted in convictions. The largest fine was for $140 on the basis of a number of charges including unauthorized entry onto the Arsenal, reckless driving, driving without a license, failure to yield to emergency equipment and failure to obey instructions of a traffic control officer.

Other cases included: two for aggravated reckless driving; 12 for other forms of reckless driving; 12 for speeding; one for littering.

Persons tried represented Army, Marshall Space flight Center and contractor personnel and visitors to the Arsenal.

Extension Granted Reserve Officers For Enrollment

The U. S. Army Reserve School at Huntsville has been advised that the deadline for enrollment of students has been extended to Nov. 30, according to Col. Angelo L. Ferranti, Commandant of the local unit. During the 1965-66 session, the Continental Army Command implemented a "common block" type of instruction for most branches of the service, he said.

This course is open to all Reserve Officers who have not completed their respective career courses. It is a four year course and meets 24 times a year. Classes are held at the Reserve Training Center at 1218 Meridian Street four nights weekly—Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday — to allow each officer the opportunity to attend on the night of his choice.

Each officer will attend two weeks active duty during the summer at his respective branch or service school.

The artillery and guided missile course and the air defense course is being continued through this school year, meeting on Wednesday night. These classes meet 24 times and students go on active duty for two weeks during the summer.

The command and general staff course is open to all reserve officers who have completed their branch or career course. This is a five year program and each year's course is being taught. The first, fourth and fifth year classes meet on Monday night and the second and third year on Tuesday night.

In addition, a study group class is open to all command and general staff graduates and others and meets on Tuesday night for 48 drills during the school year. This class is available for those reserve officers who desire to remain active and earn the necessary retirement points.

Reserve officers interested in enrolling in any of the USAR courses should contact Howard Cornelius at 536-5631 or visit the Reserve Training Center Prior to Nov. 30.

CHUGGING DOWN THE RIVER—The Redstone Arsenal Service Club sponsored a trip on the Tennessee River, bussing to Decatur and embarking from the Decatur Marina. Frustration came to Skipper Gerald Nehr of the Klondike when a long freight kept the charter craft on the wrong side of the railroad tracks across the Tennessee River Bridge. He is joined by Pvt. John Crawford enjoying the ride—even though the start was a little late. The span finally opened and the real cruise was underway.

• Figures just announced by the Department of Defense show the effect of the Army's current expansion efforts. Total active duty strength of the Army at the beginning of October was 1,002,471 men, an increase of more than 17,000 men since the beginning of September. It was nearly 30,000 men over the same figure one year ago. (ANF)

Col. Drewry Gives Western Electric Plaque

Col. I. O. Drewry, Nike-X Project Manager, recently presented the Western Electric plant at Burlington, N. C., with a plaque in recognition of achievements under the Department of Defense cost reduction program.

He said Western Electric, which is the Nike-X prime contractor, had demonstrated cooperation with the objectives of the Value Engineering program "to help guarantee our country a maximum of defense at a minimum of cost."

C. E. Bennett, Jr., Superintendent of Engineering at the Burlington plant, said that in 1964 more than $700,000 in savings had resulted from Value Engineering practices at Burlington.

During the meeting 31 Western Electric employees were honored for their achievements in reducing costs more than $2 million on Nike-X contracting in 1965.

S. K. Zelobowski, Value Engineering Program Manager for the Nike-X Project and G. L. Sadler, Chief of the Project's Production and Logistics Division, attended the presentation ceremonies with Colonel Drewry.

TOP OFFICIALS—Some 70 Department of Defense, Department of the Army and contractor officials attended a Nike-X missile defense system manager's meeting in Winston-Salem, N.C., last week. Here A. P. Crow (left) vice president of the Western Electric Company, and Col. I. O. Drewry (right), Nike-X Project Manager, meet Willis Hawkins, Assistant Secretary of the Army for Research and Development on Hawkins' arrival at the Winston-Salem airport.

COL. GRAHAM VETERAN'S DAY PARTICIPANT

Tribute to the 30,000,000 Americans who have served in the nation's military forces since 1775 was paid here last Thursday by Col. Erwin M. Graham, Jr., commandant of the Army Ordnance Guided Missile School.

Col. Graham and U.S. Senator John J. Sparkman were featured speakers at the annual observance of Veterans' Day held on the Court House Square in downtown Huntsville on Thursday afternoon.

Col. Graham noted that 8,000,000 of those who donned the nation's uniforms are now dead. Of these, one million died in battle. He emphasized that 22,000,000 veterans are still living and stressed their contributions to the national welfare.

"There are no veterans among the demonstrators who are protesting this country's assumption of world leadership," Col. Graham declared.

He expressed hope for wider popular appreciation of the role of the United States in the world today and pointed out that the sudden emergence of the U.S.A. as the leader of the free world entailed global responsibilities as well as wealth and power.

BRITISH OFFICIALS BRIEFED—The Hawk missile system provides the background for a portion of a briefing here this week for three officials of the British Ministry of Aviation. A number of Missile Command personnel, including the British Liaison Officer, Lt. Col. W. E. J. Haywood, participated in the discussions on the formulation and implementation of reliability requirements for guided missile systems. Pictured above, left to right, are: Miles Hardenburgh, the MICOM Project Officer for the visit, Col. Haywood, Frederick Tarrant, Maurice Burt, and Reginald Chaplin.

man were introduced by Eugene M. McLain, local attorney who served as master of ceremonies at the reviewing stand set in front of the First National Bank on the square.

The ceremonies were enlivened by music by the 55th U.S. Army Band of Redstone Arsenal. The observance concluded with a parade in which some 1,000 members of veterans' organizations and 13 area bands participated.

• The Army's first early military payday came on October 29. Under a bill just signed by the President, Armed Forces personnel now may be paid up to three days early when the last day of a pay period falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday. (ANF)

$71 Million Saved In FY 65 By Employee Suggestions

A large amount of the success attained by the Missile Command in the Department of Defense Cost Reduction program during Fiscal Year 1965 was due to the concerted efforts of the personnel of the Supply and Maintenance Directorate.

During the year Command employees submitted suggestions for cutting costs that resulted in savings to the Federal Government of approximately $71 million. This represented savings of almost twice the twelve-month objective of $48 million which had been established by DOD.

Well over half, or approximately $50 million, was realized through the cost reduction proposals submitted by the personnel of Supply & Maintenance.

Col. Russell Sell recognized the Directorate achievement last week when he presented Department of Army commendations to six civilian employees for their noteworthy contributions.

The citations, signed by Lt. Gen. L. J. Lincoln, the Army's Cost Reduction Program Manager, went to Major Fowler, the Directorate's Cost Reduction coordinator, and five personnel whose suggestions resulted in large monetary savings.

Fowler was cited for his administrative ability in providing the staff guidance that led to attainment of the outstanding achievement. Through his untiring efforts the Directorate showed savings more than triple the assigned goal.

Other citations were presented to James Malone and Marion Wallar of the Supply Division, Mildred Kutz and William Torian, of Publications, and Richard Martin, of the Sergeant Project Office.

Their suggestions for improved operating procedures resulted in savings that have been validated by the Army Audit Agency at over $3 million.

COST REDUCTION—Col. Russell Sell, Director of Supply and Maintenance, had the honor of Presenting Department of Army commendations in recognition of cost reduction suggestions that helped the Directorate more than triple the assigned goal for Fiscal Year 1965. The pictured employees were honored during a Cost Reduction Week ceremony last week. They are, left to right, Richard Martin, Jane Malone, Major Fowler, Mildred Kutz, Marion Wallar, William Torian and Col. Sell. Fowler is the Cost Reduction coordinator for Supply and Maintenance and the others authored the worthwhile suggestions that resulted in the savings.

College Students, Faculty Members Visit At Redstone

Some 200 students and faculty members from 11 southeastern colleges visited the Army's Redstone Arsenal and NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center yesterday sponsored by the Huntsville Chapter of the Federal Government Accountants Association.

The students attended a symposium covering the challenge and opportunities in government employment. Most were business and accounting majors in their respective schools.

A morning session featured speakers and demonstrations of the automated techniques being used by government accountants working in the missile and space programs.

Later in the day the students toured the Army Missile Command's research and development laboratories and display and test areas at the Marshall Center.

The Accountants Association is an organization composed of professionals in the field employed by the Army and Marshall Center, the General Accounting Office, Army Audit Agency and industrial contractors in the Huntsville area.

Colleges represented in the student group attending the symposium included: Athens, Oakwood, Florence State, Birmingham Southern, Middle Tennessee State, Howard, Jacksonville, Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, Mississippi State College for Women, Stillman and the University of Chattanooga.

Beal To Speak On Reliability

John Beal will talk on Reliability Industry Surveys at the Nov. 18 meeting of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers at the Brown Engineering Conference Room on Sparkman Drive at 7:30 p.m.

Beal is employed in the Quality and Reliability Assurance Laboratory of the Marshall Space Flight Center. He will discuss the objectives and accomplishments of reliability surveys in manned flight programs. A surveyor's guide developed by the General Electric Company for NASA will be described.
