

Colonel Donley Promoted To Brigadier General

There's a new star shining at Redstone Arsenal today.

Col. Edwin I. Donley was promoted to Brigadier General Friday morning by Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the U. S. Army Missile Command. The star of rank was pinned on by Gen. Zierdt and Mrs. Donley at a ceremony attended by top staff members of the Missile Command and the three Donley sons, Steven, Kevin and Douglas.

Gen. Donley is Deputy Commanding General for Land Combat Systems at the Missile Command. Prior to his new assignment he served as Pershing Project Manager.

He has the unusual distinction for an Army officer of being a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, holding a BS degree in Engineering. He also holds an MBA degree in Industrial Management from the University of Michigan.

Following graduation from Annapolis in 1940, he left the Navy for employment with Babcock and Wilcox Co. as a marine engineer. He secured a Reserve commission and entered the Army in 1941 and was assigned to the Industrial Division, Office, Chief of Ordnance.

In 1942 he was reassigned to the 76th Infantry Division and served with it in the European Theater. In 1943 he attended the Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Since the end of World War II, Gen. Donley has had a three-year tour of duty with the U. S. Army, Caribbean Area, as Ordnance Officer; spent a year on loan to the State Department in the Office, Foreign Liquidation Commission; (See DONLEY on Page 3)

FAMILY APPROVES OF NEW STAR—The Army Missile Command's new Brigadier General Edwin I. Donley wins congratulations of Mrs. Donley and their three sons shortly after his promotion ceremony. Looking on as their mother embraces the new general are, top to bottom, Steven, Kevin and Douglas. Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the Missile Command, did the promotion honors. Gen. Donley is Deputy Commanding General for Land Combat Systems.

TIM FIRING SUCCESS

Fluid Control System Pioneered At Command

A TIM FLIES—Sailing over an Army Missile Command Research and Development Directorate test range at Redstone, a Test Instrumentation Missile (TIM) completes a successful test. TIM was controlled in flight by a fluid control system, and demonstrated feasibility of fluid gyros, amplifiers and reaction jets in controlling missiles. The program is conducted by the Control Systems Branch of the Army Inertial Guidance and Control Laboratory, Missile Command Research and Development Directorate.

Successful firing of a Test Instrumentation Missile (TIM) controlled by a fluid control system has been announced by the U. S. Army Missile Command. The Missile Command has pioneered research and development work and has demonstrated the application of advanced fluid technology to missile control systems.

The firing was conducted here at a Research and Development Directorate missile test range and demonstrated feasibility of the fluid gyros, amplifiers, and reaction jets in controlling missiles. The flight, which lasted approximately 20 seconds, rose to about 2,500 feet altitude and went about 7,000 feet downrange.

Post flight analysis of data showed that the fluid control system met all test objectives.

The fluid control system tested in the TIM vehicle was designed to control the roll rate of the missile. A sensing device inside the missile detects any tendency for the missile to roll in flight and activates gas jets which correct the roll and cause the missile to return to its normal position. No moving parts are required.

The fluid control system used in the TIM differs from conventional hydraulic and pneumatic controls in that it has no moving parts except the working fluid which perform functional operations.

The Army anticipates that the basic simplicity of the fluid components will result in low cost, highly reliable systems for future Army missiles.

The TIM vehicle is designed to provide a realistic environment for components and systems considered for further development. After 10 seconds of flight, an onboard parachute recovery system is deployed which floats the missile gently back to earth. This

Col. Mohlere Receives Legion Of Merit, Retires

The Legion of Merit (First Oak Leaf Cluster) was awarded to Col. Edward D. Mohlere last week at Redstone Arsenal.

The former Chief of Staff of the Army Missile Command retired from active military service on March 31.

Making the presentation was Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the Missile

Command who had awarded Col. Mohlere the Legion of Merit in 1964 based on service in Vietnam.

The citation was for exceptionally meritorious service while serving as Chief of Staff of the Missile Command from July 1964 to March 1966.

He "played a foremost role in the success of the Command mission during a period characterized by distinct changes in organizational structures and demanding requirements to support national objectives worldwide . . ." the citation read.

It continued: "He achieved equal success in resolving manpower problems and in directing actions which contributed to the economical management of the command through the consolidation and centralization of certain functions.

"His comprehensive guidance and managerial ability were also clearly reflected in the successful introduction of the Zero Defects program to the Army Missile Command and to all of its principal contractors.

" . . . He stimulated a team spirit among all who served with him and contributed in great measure to the defense effort of his country . . ."

Retirees Honored With Parade, Review

Nine of the eleven men retiring in March were honored at the Retreat Parade and Review on the Redstone Arsenal parade field Wednesday afternoon.

Col. Edward D. Mohlere, the Army Missile Command Chief of Staff since July 1964, headed the list.

Two among those honored have had duty assignments with the Marshall Space Flight Center, Col. Robert H. Kessler and Col. William Teir.

The others are Lt. Col. Henry L. Watson, CWO Thomas D. Griggs, SFC Harold R. Seal, SFC James D. Wood, SFC Gordon W.

Wright and S/Sgt. William E. Corbett.

Two who did not attend the ceremonies are Maj. Roy A. Merrill and S/Sgt. Daniel W. Efird.

Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the Army Missile Command, was the Reviewing Officer. Among the men sharing the reviewing stand were: Brig. Gen. Clarence C. Harvey, Jr., Deputy Commanding General for Air Defense Systems; Col. Thomas W. Cooke, Commander of the Army Missile Support Command; Air Force Brig. Gen. Edmund O'Connor, MSFC; and Col. Zacarias F. Rael, Director of Individual Training at the Army Missile and Munitions Center and School.

Lt. Col. Willard Anderson served as Commander of Troops.

The 291st Military Police Company was represented by its honor guard and by a company of men newly assigned for on-the-job training after completing basic training.

Other troops represented the Missile Command, the Support Command, the Missile and Munitions Center and School and the 55th Army Band under the direction of CWO Robert E. Edmonds, Jr., with SP4 Tom Zale serving as drum major.

It's Income Tax Time

If you are required to file a U. S. income tax return this year and have not done so already, get busy now! Your return must be postmarked no later than April 15, except for Service members in a combat zone who may wait 180 days after leaving Vietnam before filing.

The Internal Revenue Service is making increasing use of computers in handling tax returns, and they will catch errors and inconsistencies that might otherwise escape attention. Therefore, be doubly careful. Print or write clearly; be sure your dates are correct, and be certain that you give the right social security number.

It is an amazing fact that many taxpayers, both military and civilian, complete their tax returns and mail them without remembering to sign them. Don't let your memory play tricks on you! Sign your name; if you are married and are filing a joint return, be sure your wife signs also.

After you finish your return, hold it for a day or two and then check it over. It is surprising how often errors creep into a tax return and how easily you overlook these at the moment. Glance at the return a day or two later, and these mistakes glare at you. You can correct them easily then and save yourself a future headache.

Do you need help in preparing your return? Do you have questions? For example, if you served in Vietnam part of last year, how does this affect your 1965 income tax? If you have questions, see your personnel or legal assistance officer. If he cannot help you, he will see that you get competent advice.

Act now. Don't let April 15 overtake you! AFPS

Program Has Fast Pace

Redstone civilians continued their fast pace in the U. S. Savings Bond program during February when they purchased 71 per cent of all the bonds that were sold in Madison County.

The monthly sales of Series E and H savings bonds in the county amounted to $527,861. Civilian employees of the Arsenal purchased bonds with a total value of $374,981.25 during the month.

Throughout the state Alabama ans invested $3,692,418 in bonds to reach 16.6 per cent of the 1966 goal of $48,900,000.

The bonds purchased by Arsenal employees during February bear the higher interest rate of 4.15 per cent, compounded semiannually, when held to maturity.

Those bonds which were purchased prior to December 1, 1965, are earning 4/10s of one per cent more under the revised rate.

LEGION OF MERIT AWARDED—Mrs. Edward D. Mohlere looks on happily as Col. Mohlere receives congratulations from Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt following award of the Legion of Merit with First Oak Leaf Cluster. The Colonel served as Gen. Zierdt's Chief of Staff at the Army Missile Command from July 1964 until this month when he retired from active military service.

BRITISH VISITOR AT REDSTONE—Dr. John Sanders, Lecturer in the Clarendon Laboratory of Oxford University, England, looks over a laser rod during a visit to the Army Missile Command's Electromagnetic Laboratory Monday morning. He was visiting William B. McKnight, Chief of the Applied Physics Branch, who will be going to Oxford later this year on a Secretary of Army Research and Study Fellowship.

Maj. Gen. Hansen Addresses Class With 40,000th Student Graduating

The Army Missile & Munitions Center & School last Friday awarded its 40,000th diploma to a Marine and conferred its highest academic honor on a German.

In a colorful international and inter-service ceremony addressed by Maj. Gen. Floyd A. Hansen, commander of the Army Munitions Command of Dover, N. J., Marine Norman B. Dohm of 301 North Lafayette St., Newton, Ill., became the 40,000th graduate of the school which has trained men from all branches of the U. S. forces and 22 foreign nations since 1952.

Immediately after the ceremony, Dohm received a spot promotion to Lance Corporal. Similar Marine promotions for excellent grades and deportment also went to Robert M. Baird Jr., 1024 Muldowney Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.; Michael F. Bassett, 2513 Corning Ave., Oxen Hill, Maryland; R. W. Douglas, 3310 Lexington Ave., Bakersfield, Calif.; and Harley Winklebank, III, 666 Greenlawn Ave., Fort Wayne, Ind.

German Army Staff Sergeant

Manfred Lades of Rothenberg, West Germany, won the outstanding student award of the Association of the U. S. Army for averaging 96.5 in a course on the Pershing land combat missile. The award was made by Col. Gilbert P. Levy, commander of the Army Depot at Anniston, Ala.

In awarding the 40,000th diploma, Col. Erwin M. Graham, commandant of the Missile and Munitions Center and School, remarked that 40,000 graduates are two and one-half times the total population of 16,000 who lived in Huntsville when the school was opened here in 1952.

In the commencement address, Gen. Hansen noted that 104 of the 147 graduates had concentrated on ammunition training. "The bullet business is here to stay, and the Army is starting a new program for ammunition specialists who choose military careers," he said.

had two tours totaling six years with the Office, Chief of Ordnance, in Washington; and a tour as Executive Officer and Deputy Commander at Picatinny Arsenal, N.J. Gen. Donley attended the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, Washington.

At the completion of his course there in June, 1961, he went to Korea for an assignment with the Korean Military Advisory Group (KMAG), as Senior Supply and Maintenance Advisor to the Deputy Chief of Staff (Logistics), Republic of Korea Army.

Gen. Donley reported to Redstone following completion of his Korean tour. His decorations include the Bronze Star Medal, awarded for service with the 76th Division during World War II; the Legion of Merit which was awarded earlier this week for his service as Pershing Project Manager; and the U.S. Army Commendation Medal.

Mrs. Donley is the former Miss Marion Loraine Miller of Annapolis, Md.

The Army leads all branches of the Armed Forces in the number of personnel, military and civilian, buying U. S. Savings Bonds on a regular purchase plan. The number of military personnel signed up exceeds 70 percent.

Some Due Salary Increase

Increased salary rates and ranges for certain professional positions have been authorized for Department of Army personnel by the United States Civil Service Commission.

Acting under authority of Section 504 of the Federal Salary Reform Act of 1962 and Executive Order 11073, the increases cover Grades GS-6 through 9 in Engineering and Architecture Series, certain Physical Scientists and Mathematicians and positions in the Industrial Hygiene Series.

The pay increase is effective as of the first day of the first pay period which begins on or after June 1, 1966, and is personal to the employee. The increases range from $192 annually for GS-6 jobs to $254 annually for GS-9 jobs.

Effective dates for the pay raise for some 75 Army employees at Redstone Arsenal will be either June 5 or 12.

Following is the Professional Pay Chart:

system allows all hardware to be recovered and permits the missile to be used many times in the evaluation of different TIM systems and components. The TIM missile used in this test has been flown before and will be used in future tests of both conventional and fluid systems and components.

In announcing the successful test, the Missile Command said development of an acceptable fluid flow system would provide the Army with the simplest, most economical and most durable control technique yet devised.

Development of the fluid control system is managed by the Inertial Guidance and Control Laboratory of the Missile Command's Research and Development Directorate. The test flight successfully completed one phase of an extensive development program in the application of fluid devices to missile control systems.

The program is being conducted by the Control Systems Branch under the direction of William A. Griffith, Branch Chief, and Thomas G. Wetheral, Team Leader. Although many people in the A.I.G.&C. Laboratory contributed to the success of the flight test, major contributions were made by Jack Clayton, Jim Williams and Charles Chaffin. Their work included the design of numerous components, integration of in-house designed components with components procured from industry, system packaging, and pre-flight system test and evaluation. The flight test at Redstone was directed by Virgil Gulley, Test Engineer of the Test, Evaluation and Reliability Laboratory.

Bowling Titles Undecided As End Of Season Nears

Parade of Stars

AMC League: Bill Seigman, 530 (209-211), Hugh Porterfield, 574 (243), Tom Patterson, 543, Ray Bates, 541, Howard Roop, 540, Joe Leary, 540.

Supply Management League: Fred Stewart, 568, Harold Hill, 566, Ernie Danes, 559, Jim King, 558, Nolen Honea, 556 (236), Hansel Fosche, 555, Charlie Rymer, 555, Chris Leachman, 555.

Field Services League: Bob Adams, 584 (221), Troy Faulkner, 571 (224), Cliff Walker, 566 (218), Bill Crump, 562, Hal Williams, 530.

Redstone League: Bill Davenport, 632 (218-222), Dick Cizek, 590 (203), Jim Gulley, 588 (224), Jim McCormack, 586 (216), Ed Demirjian, 575, Joe Leary, 559, Marly Schmitz, 562, Ed Murrah, 546, Charlie Lavoy, 542, George Foster, 549.

All four of the civilian bowling leagues are in the stretch drive of their seasons with three of the league titles still very much in doubt.

The AMC and Field Services loops enter their final two weeks tonight, each with three quintets striving to pick up all the marbles. The Redstone League has four more sessions after this week the same as the Supply Management League.

Only in the latter loop does it appear as though one team has clear sailing. However, even here, a bad night this week for the Brick and Tile bowlers against the All-Sports Trophies could turn theirs' into another dogfight.

The Redstone grabbed off all the individual honors last week with Bill Davenport leading the assault. Davenport turned in a 222 and a 218 and ended up the session with a 632, the only Honor Roll count posted during the week.

He got a lot of help from Jim Gulley (588) but it was only enough to get a split on the four points with the Ginger-Ruth Shop. The latter took one of the games and then captured total pins, 2929 to 2927. George Foster turned in a 549 for Ginger-Ruth.

Dean's Trailer Court boosted their league leading advantage to four points with a 3-1 win over Aero's as Ed Demirjian shot a 575. All five of the Dean's bowlers went over 500 and the team hit a 2987 total.

The Six Shooters lost three to the Super Hawks and fell into a second place tie with Ginger-Ruth, four points off the pace.

The AMC lead was back into a deadlock again after the Maulers were held to a split by the dangerous Thunderbird five while the Bombers were taking a trio from the Gladiators. The Ramblers gained on both with a sweep over the Alley Cats and moved to within three and a half of the top.

Al Seigman took individual honors for the league with a 580 for the TOW Boys and Hugh Porterfield showed signs of shaking a season-long slump when he fired a 243 game and a 574 series for the Bombers.

The Bombers put all five of their regulars in the 500 class and turned in a 3020 total pinfall. There were eight teams games of over 1000 rolled.

In this week's matches the Thunderbirds will try to show that they have no favorites when they take on the Bombers while the Maulers are doing battle with the Panthers. The Ramblers will have their eyes on both matches in addition to their own business with the Skippers.

The Guided Muscles were jolted out of their long-time lead in the Field Services league when they took a 3 to 1 setback doled out by the Wheels. They moved in by sweeping all four points from Baker Real Estate. Central TV is in third with the Chiefs a notch further back.

Bob Adams was the league's top individual gunner with a 584 for Central TV and Troy Faulkner led the Cracker surge with a 571. Cliff Walker slumped in his third game after a 204 and 218, but ended with a 566 for the Chiefs.

The Brick and Tile bowlers showed the Satellites why they have been on top of the Supply Management League almost since the start of the season when they put together a 1116 game, good for two points. That was all they got though and the Satellites took the lesson to heart by throwing a 1032 of their own to get a split.

All-Sports warmed up for this week's duel with the leaders with a pair of 1000 games on their way to a sweep from the Wee Fives to pare two points off of their deficit.

Fred Stewart turned in the league's best individual total when his 568 paced the Marauders to a 1099 game and a 3097 series total. Harold Hill was runner up with a 566 and Ernie Danes chopped down 559 sticks.

A-B-C League Title At Stake Tonight

An entire season's work will be on the line at the Base Lanes tonight when the A-B-C Officers bowling league comes to the end of its 1965-66 schedule with the Saturn V and the Wheezers battling for the championship.

The two teams will take identical won and lost records into the final night of play. And in case they stumble, the Lucky Strikes will be ready to move in from three points back.

The Saturn team expects the most trouble in its match with the S Winners while the Wheezers are taking on the Hopefuls.

Last week the Wheezers forged into a deadlock by taking all four points from the Lucky Strikes while the Saturn five was winning three from the Pin Splitters. The Winners split with the Black Jacks and the Stump Knockers took three from the Hopefuls.

Tom Wilkerson grabbed individual honors for the week with a 550 for the Wheezers and Dave Dozier pitched in with a 538 to secure the sweep. Trev Dumitru led Saturn with 543, Carl Bayer hit for 540 and Bill Loomis collected 515.

The Winners got a 542 from Paul Boyer in their split and John Moore fired a 535 for the Jacks.

Rollers Looking Like Champions

Barring an almost complete about face during the final three weeks of the season, the Rocket Rollers are in as far as the championship of the MMCS Officers bowling league is concerned.

The Rollers hung up their third consecutive sweep last Thursday to boost their lead over the Bad Gnus to eight and a half points. They need only take four points out of the last twelve to eliminate all chance for the Gnus.

In two of the three weeks the Rollers accomplished their main task of winning points without the benefit of an outstanding individual score. Myron Sato had led the league with a 567 that included a 233 game, to set the pace for the first sweep.

That same week Chuck Ayres fired a 545 for the Gnus, Bob Percy turned in a 519 for the Rounders and Lin Grubbs totaled 518 for the Black Jacks.

Individual scoring was at a premium during the second week as George Earl was the highest with a 513, for the Jacks. Chuck Long connected for a 508 for the Rounders. Orrin Butterfield fired a 220 game.

Earl came back to rattle the maples for a 571 last week and his team mate, Tom DeLoach was almost as tough with a 554. The latter included a 218 in his total.

Arsenal Gal Falls Short In Perfect Game Bid

"Gee, the place was as quiet as a morgue," commented Sue Todd last Friday morning as she recalled the events of the night before when she almost reached the pinnacle of bowling proficiency — a perfect 300 game.

Bowling in the Ladies Field Service League at the Parkway Lanes, Sue was right on the dot on each of her first nine pitches to come within three strikes of the goal of every bowler.

By that time every bowler in the establishment was aware of what was going on and stopped their own bowling to watch as Sue made her bid to become the first woman bowler to roll a perfect game in Huntsville.

"I was just throwing by in-

stinct," she said, "because I was so nervous that I couldn't even see the pins."

Her first ball in the tenth frame was in the 1-3 pocket for No. 10 but the next pitch was off the mark from the start. The ball "that weighed at least a ton" swept all the way across the lane and picked up the 4, 7 and 8 pins.

"All the girls went back to their bowling after that," she recalled, but her nerves were just as unsettled for the final toss and she was only able to pick up two more pins for a 278 game.

The disheartening finish cut Sue short in her hopes for a perfect game, but the 278 still added up to the highest game ever rolled by a woman bowler in Huntsville. (Continued on Page 7)

Wachsler, Sell Tie For Putts

Twenty-four members of the Golf Group sponsored by the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club played for low putts on the Arsenal course last Wednesday.

Jeannette Sell and Grace Wachsler tied for first place with 12 putts. In second place with 13 was Ann Dorris. Isabelle Hill was third with 14.

The Group meets every Wednesday morning. Newcomers are eligible to play as soon as they become active members of the Wives Club. The Group is open to active and retired wives of officers.

Irv Lyles Takes Handball Crown

After having been forced to settle for runner up honors a year ago, Irv Lyles made it all the way this time around by capturing the 1966 Redstone Arsenal individual handball championship last week with a final round win over Tom Ellis.

The sports specialist in the Special Services Office captured four straight matches in his march to the crown, capping his march with a 21-15, 21-5 conquest of Ellis.

In the final match last year Lyles carried Dan Bowlus to three games before dropping a hard fought match and the championship. Bowlus has since left the Arsenal and was not able to defend.

Ellis earned the right to take on Lyles in the finals with wins over John Kovacs and Willy Clinton. He was forced to go three games in each match.

In the semi-final match of the loser's bracket, Ellis outpointed Kovacs, 20-21, 21-12, and 21-13. He took Clinton in an even closer scrap, 21-20, 21-13, and 21-18, to earn the right to challenge Lyles for the title.

Softball, Baseball Clinic Next Week

An official's clinic covering both baseball and softball is scheduled for next week and will be held each evening, Monday through Thursday at the Service Club starting at six.

The Special Services Office, in setting up the clinic, indicated that all Unit Level teams should be represented at the sessions. A spokesman for the office said that persons desiring to officiate in either the softball or baseball leagues, should also attend.

Almost the complete staff of officials from previous years has departed from the Arsenal and it will be necessary that several volunteers be found to fill out the ranks.

It is expected that at least ten units will be represented in the Unit Level Softball league this year with four or six of them also fielding a baseball team.

Tentative plans call for the softball league to swing into action the first week of May with baseball following a week or two later.

Short Athletes Have Their Day

Volleyball, like basketball, is a game that is supposed to be ruled by the long, tall athletes who can reach up over the nets to drive the ball down the throats of their smaller opponents.

But don't you believe that the little fellow is beat before he starts the game. If that were the case a team of Japanese students at the Missile School would be down around the bottom of the standings of the Unit Level Volleyball league.

Rather the six-man team of Japanese students are within two games of taking the loop championship. They have used their speed and ability to keep the ball in play in winning nine straight matches, despite spotting the height advantage to every team.

The Japanese erased the last remaining unbeaten aggregation last week when they handed the German Staff team a defeat, 11-9, 15-5, 15-6, in the hottest contested game of the season. The first match only went to 11 points due to the 8-minute time limit on a game.

Civilians Organize For Coming Season

Organizational plans for the 1966 Civilian Softball League season will be drawn up with a meeting on Thursday afternoon, immediately after work in Room A-115 of Building 5250.

In calling for the organizational meeting, Del Williams, the league president said, that it is hoped to have both the men's division and the women's division established by mid-April and permit the start of games by the first of May.

He said that tentative plans call for the games to be played at the Civilian Employees Recreation area this year. Two fields have been laid out at the area and lights are to be installed within the next couple of weeks.

Williams said that a representative from each team that is planning to enter the league, should be present for the meeting.

Maj. Gen. Robert H. York Is AUSA Dinner Speaker

Public opinion in the United States and especially in South Viet Nam will be the key factor in reaching a satisfactory settlement of the war in Southeast Asia, Maj. Gen. Robert H. York told the Spring dinner meeting of the Tennessee Valley chapter of the Association of the U. S. Army here last week.

The Alabama-born commander of the Infantry Center at Fort Benning, Ga. made some picturesque comparisons for the benefit of 200 AUSA members and guests at the Officers Club last Wednesday evening.

Putting down terrorism and catching up with Viet Cong supporters is "like trying to catch a criminal in a large city where half the population sympathizes with the law breaker and the other half is afraid to identify him," Gen. York said.

During their 20-year fight against the French and the Allied forces in Viet Nam, the Communists have assassinated 61,000 provincial and town officials, he said. This has made the formation of stable local and state governments almost impossible except in areas where the Vietnamese and Allied Forces have literally flushed out Viet Cong soldiers and sympathizers one by one, he said.

The confusion at local levels is reflected in the instability of the national government, with political functions vying for control of the South Vietnamese presidency and cabinet.

However, Gen. York saw hope for ultimate settlement as the South Vietnamese are influenced by decisive military victories by the Allies and the simultaneous success of the reconstruction and development program proposed by President Johnson, agreed to by Premier Ky and now being put into effect in areas cleared of Cong terrorism.

He gave high praise to the work of U.S. civil affairs forces and of the military themselves who are demonstrating to the South Vietnamese at the village level that the Allies offer and can bring true all the promises of individual betterment long promised by the Communists.

Gen. York also lauded the individual American soldier for his quick comprehension of the requirements of the confused political and military situation in South Viet Nam and the dedicated work of squads and platoons of the Army in voluntarily working with villagers in such elementary matters as hygiene, protection of food crops, medical attention and schooling for children. Soldiers themselves often personally finance such activities, he said.

Gen. York was introduced by Brig. Gen. Clarence C. Harvey Jr., deputy commander of the Army Missile Command. The two officers were classmates at West Point.

Dr. Fredrik S. Schultz, chapter president, presided at the meeting and announced that the next meeting will be held on June 29 with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, vice chief of staff of the U. S. Army, as speaker. Officers for 1966-67 will be installed at the meeting.

ACTIVE ARMY CAN TAKE RESERVE STUDY COURSES

Active Army personnel will be authorized to participate in the USAR School Program effective with the 66-67 school year, according to Col. Angelo Ferranti, Commandant of the local USAR School.

This is one more step in the implementation of the "One Army" concept. This change was brought about by the publication of AR 140-1, USAR Mission, Organization and Training, that was distributed to all units in early March. The participation of active army personnel in the reserve program will not preclude attendance at the Resident Service School Courses.

The local USAR school will begin its 66-67 school year in September 1966. Interested active army personnel are invited to visit the USAR training facility at 1218 Meridian Street, NE or call Howard Cornelius at 536-5631 for any additional information.

Her 653 total was not quite of record proportions, but it did admit her to membership in the exclusive 650 Club and has been surpassed three times in the four leagues of civilian men.

Gen. Cone, WSMR, Is Buried At Arlington

Maj. Gen. John M. Cone, Commanding General of White Sands Missile Range, was buried in Arlington National Cemetery Monday following funeral services in Arlington Chapel. The 51-year-old general died unexpectedly last week at W.S.M.R. as he was returning from a speaking engagement at El Paso, Texas. Gen. Cone had been Commanding General at White Sands Missile Range since August 1965. During his 32-year military career, most of his assignments had been in the Ordnance Corps, including a tour of duty as Commanding Officer of the Anniston Ordnance Depot. He is survived by his wife and a son.

Metrology Creates Own Zero Defects Emblem As Reminder

Metrology is pushing the Zero Defects program by creating a Zero Defects emblem of its own, the brainchild of James H. McAdams, Acting chief of the Microwave Standards Laboratory and alternate Zero Defects coordinator.

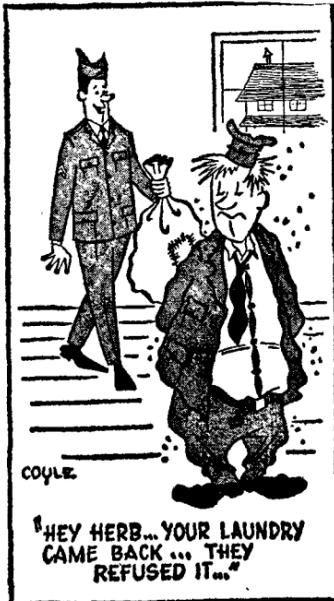

Don I. Hervig, Director of the Metrology Center, encouraged the program. He encouraged everyone to participate.

The winning emblem design was created by John G. Hodges, an electronic technician in the Electronics Standards Laboratory. In second place was Herbert B. Murch, a physicist in the Physical Standards Laboratory.

Hodges design is a micrometer symbolizing the need for no defects in the field of measurement science. Murch's design depicted "Partner's in Progress" in precision measurement.

In third place was James E. Fisher, an electronic technician in the Electronics Standards laboratory, with a design of precision balance between metrology and zero defects. Honorable mention went to an engineering technician, Donald L. Hymer, who submitted the most entries.

ROADS Scholars Stretch Brains And Like It

They're getting their "hands dirty" and their brains stretched, and they think it's wonderful.

That's the reaction of 17 men and women at the Army Missile Command who are participants in the first year-long Replacement Opportunities as Developed Specialists (ROADS) program sponsored by the Procurement and Production Directorate in conjunction with the Civilian Personnel Office of the Army Missile Support Command.

Zane M. Phillips and Miss Georgia Coll, two of the "ROADS Scholars" as they are called, reflected the sentiments of the group when Zane remarked "The ROADS program is providing an excellent opportunity to get a first hand look at the Missile Command, and more specifically, at Procurement and Production operations. The pace is fast and at times it is physically and mentally tiring. However, those things are far outweighed by the personal satisfaction of participating in this program."

An enthusiastic employee, Georgia praised the experience saying, "I believe in this program one-hundred percent! Those of us who were chosen to participate in this training have been given an opportunity that is without precedent. The familiarization with the many different aspects of Procurement and Production, which we are gaining, is something which should be desired by every employee in this Directorate."

The "ROADS Scholars" were carefully selected last Fall for an intensive development program in all phases of procurement practices. It was a new program designed to fill a gap experts foresee in the not too distant future when experienced procurement top managers and supervisors would be retiring from Federal Service.

With qualified specialists coming up from the program, there would be a normal flow of professionals into the workforce to fill the shoes of those departing through retirement or attrition.

The instructors are top level procurement people from the P&P Directorate and experts from other fields.

The program participants have been going into the different areas of P&P to work under close supervision of qualified specialists thus getting first hand experience.

"They spend time in our offices performing every step of a procurement action. Their training isn't all in classrooms receiving instruction on theory," Col. B. A. Saholsky, Director of P&P, said.

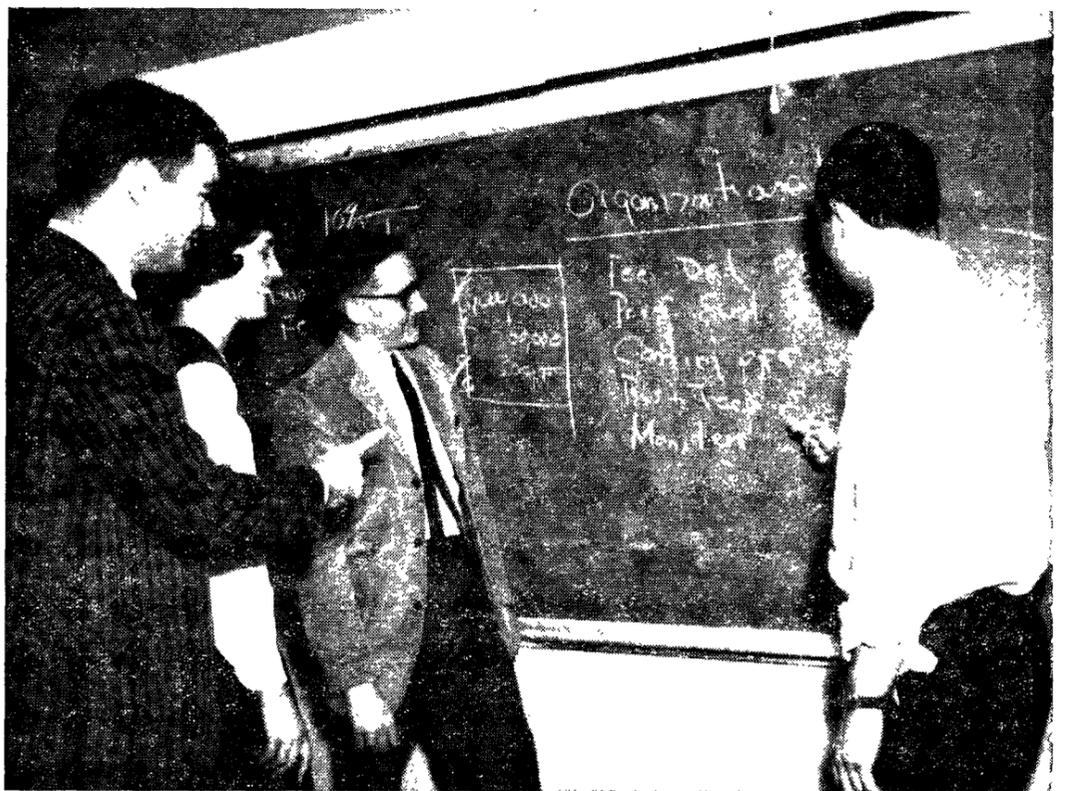

The current group has now covered four months of training starting with general orientation given by the Civilian Personnel Office and going through courses in procurement cycle functions, plain letters, human relations, and Army Materiel Plan and small purchases workshops. They have also had a course on DOD advanced incentive contracting presented by Harbridge House, Inc.

Included too are conference leadership, experience curves, procurement planning, cost and price analysis, quality assurance, value engineering, industrial engineering, programming, procurement management and negotiations, and finally a two-week field trip to Orlando, Fla. to take a close look at contract administration with emphasis on the Defense Contract Administration Service.

In addition, the group attends the monthly meetings of the Missile Command Procurement Council where there is top level discussion of procurement problems, policy and new programs. The Council is composed of representatives from the Project Managers' Offices, Directorates and Division heads in P&P with the discussion led by Col. Saholsky.

Applications are now being screened for employees to enter the second 12-month program which will start later this year. Approximately 20 highly qualified participants are being sought. First requisite for an applicant is a passing grade in the Federal

"ROADS SCHOLARS" IN CLASS—Three of the 17 employees in the Replacement Opportunities As Developed Specialists (ROADS) one-year program at the Army Missile Command discuss points in DOD advanced incentive contracting with their instructor. Left to right, Benny Hyatt, Miss Linda Evans and James Brannon talk with instructor Maynard Goldman of Harbridge House, Inc. who taught the one-week course. All were awarded certificates on completion of this phase of the ROADS program which is sponsored by the Missile Command Procurement and Production Directorate in conjunction with the Civilian Personnel Office of the Army Missile Support Command.

Career Development Is Pursued By Employees

Twenty-eight Army civilians were included on the off-post training schedule for classes that began last week and a like number started classes at military schools, contractor plants and leading colleges this week.

Those selected for the specialized training in their individual career fields, will be away from their regular assigned duties for periods ranging from a week to three months.

The off-post training courses are made available through the Missile Command's career development program and are intended to help the civilian employees to increase their career potential.

The program is administered by the Training and Development Division of the Civilian Personnel Office.

The largest single number of Redstone civilians going to one place for specialized training are the 19 who are enrolled for ten different classes at the U. S. Army Management Engineering Training Agency, Rock Island, Ill.

Jo Popkins (Mgmt Sc) and Floyd Agee (F & A Center) are taking the Data Systems Analysis and Design course and Wilfred Davis (P&P) and John Gassaway (R&D) are taking Elements of Reliability. Both courses started last week and will be concluded April 15.

Thomas Moore (Nike-X), Joseph Morris (SAM-D), Clarence Elmore (Hercules) and Woodrow Dooley (TOW) are studying Project Planning and Control Techniques. They will complete the two-week course on Friday.

Francis Ellingsen (AMSC) is attending the Seminar for Chiefs of Management Offices and Margaret Burns (P&P) is enrolled for Systems and Procedures Analysis. Both will return to the Arsenal on Friday.

Benny Dishroon, Howard Hightower and James Helton, all of P & P, will also complete their training in Defense Quality Control Management this week.

Harvey Peebles (Nike-X) and Oliver Patrick (MMCS) are taking the ADP Appreciation course this week and Charles Barber (Mgmt Sc) and Josephine Hall (S&M) took an accelerated course in New Organizational Concepts for Top Management, also this week.

Kenneth Brooks (Inspection Div) took Annex I of the Hawk System Engineering Course, Tommy Whately (Pershing) is enrolled for Statistical Quality Control I, and Willard Collins (P&P) is studying Work Methods and Standards Appreciation.

Another six locals left for Pomona, Cal., this week for a two-week course in Redeye NET Field Maintenance at the General Dynamics plant. They are, Clarence Hudson, Robert Hume, Brian Duff, and Hubert Stewart, all of S & M, Richard Hower (MMCS) and William Ensley (Maint Spt Div).

Thirteen Redstone civilians are taking specialized training at the U. S. Army Logistics Management Center, Ft. Lee, Va. Two of them, John Oakes (P&P) and Eugene Beckler (Nike-X) left last week for a three week course entitled Defense Advanced Procurement Management.

Caleb Burgoyne (Nike-X), Irvin Hadden (Hercules), Donald Buckbee (Sergeant) Bobbie Storm (Sergeant), Ward Jensen (TOW) and Angelo Ferranti (S&M) are enrolled for the Army Project Manager Course through April 22.

Taking the Defense Advanced Inventory Management course for the next five weeks are five more Arsenal civilians, all from S & M. They are, Frances McFarland, Margaret Adams, Margaret Allen, Irmagene Smith and Coolidge Needham.

Joseph Collier, William Monigle and Jimmy Merrell are taking a course in Basic Optical Alignment at the Marshall Space Flight Center here at the Arsenal, and Willis Cleveland (P&P) is in Washington for the Defense Procurement Executive Refresher course offered by the Department of Navy.

Paul Kittle (AMSC) is taking Contract Law at the School of Systems and Logistics, Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, and Raymond Peck (R&D) along with Edward Hines (P&P) are at the same place for the Defense Data Managers Course.

James Bacchus (P&P) is taking Quantitative Methods of Cost Analysis at the Ohio Air Force installation. He will be there until June 3.

Gon Gee and Andrew McLean, both of P & P, are in Washington to study Cost Price Analysis and Negotiation Techniques at the Office of Chief of Navy Materiel.

Joe Bigger (R&D) is taking Use of Computers in Structural Engineering at the University of California at Los Angeles and Robert Stimson (Hawk) is enrolled for two classes at Northeastern University in Boston. He is taking Probability and Transients in Linear Systems, both three month courses.

Jere Ducote (R&D) and Henry Clinkenbeard (Nike-X) are attending the Advanced Atomic Weapons Orientation at the Defense Atomic Support Agency at Sandia Base, N. M., and Eugene Powell (F & A Center) is studying Installation Supply Procedures at the USA Quartermaster School, at Ft. Lee, Va.

Outstanding U. S. Savings Bonds, as well as those currently being sold, are now earning more interest than ever before. Americans own a total of over $49 billion worth of E and H Bonds.

AIR SUPPORT—Captains Donald F. Miller (left) and Jack E. Schmidt use a map to select the next air strike target. Captain Miller is a forward air controller with the 21st Tactical Air Support Squadron at Pleiku, Republic of Vietnam. Captain Schmidt is commander of the Special Forces camp at Plei Djereng. Captain Schmidt feels his unit could not have held its position this long if it were not for air support.

Anna Russell To Perform

London-born Anna Russell's one-woman show, "All By Myself," will be presented by The Arts Council of Huntsville and its 38 member organizations April 13 and 14 at 8:15 p.m. in Huntsville High School Auditorium.

Jay C. Fryman, chairman of the project committee, announced that tickets are available to the public from The Arts Council office in the Temporary Civic Arts Center, 311 West Clinton Avenue. Net proceeds from the two benefit performances will go to support The Arts Council and its current operations at the Temporary Civic Arts Center. General admission tickets are $5 each, $3 of which is tax deductible. A limited number of patron tickets (reserved seat section) are available at $25 per couple or $12.50 singly.

This is the first benefit show to be sponsored by the council, and will be the highlight of the Third Annual Festival of the Arts, which is coordinated by The Arts Council. The festival begins March 25 and continues through May 8.

Anna Russell has appeared across the United States eleven times and twice around the world, entertaining thousands. Press releases acclaim her as "the funniest woman alive."

Miss Russell writes, composes, arranges and performs all her own material.

EASTER STORY—Seven-year-old Anita Kahl sometimes reads aloud for five-year-old John but often it's more fun to let mother read to them. They are doubly insuring that they will understand the Easter story when it comes up Sunday morning in Sunday School. There are two more in the family of Chaplain (Capt.) and Mrs. George Kahl. Mrs. Kahl, an accomplished musician, also gives piano lessons.

Holy Week Observances Begin Tomorrow At Chapel

Easter and the Passover fall in the same week this year and both the Christian community and the Jewish Community have scheduled observances. At the Redstone Post Chapel on Maundy Thursday, Chaplain R. L. Andrist will officiate at the Communion Service. Mrs. Morrow W. Pettit has arranged a special program of music for the choir and vocal solo by Rosalyne Brooks. The service begins at 7:30 p.m.

Friday at 2:45 p.m., services will be conducted by Chaplains J. P. Kirkland, Jr., George Kahl and R. L. Andrist covering the "Seven Last Words." Choir music will be furnished by the Women's Ensemble under the direction of Mrs. Pettit.

Easter Sunrise Services are scheduled at 6 a.m. Music will be furnished by the 55th Army Band and the Lee High School Choir under the direction of Jasper Jenkins.

Ministers from the community outside the military installation will participate in the Easter Services. Scheduled to give the Invocation is the Rev. Robert H. Stanbury from the Covenant United Presbyterian Church; the scripture lesson, Rev. Amos Robinson, Primitive Baptist Church; the Easter Prayer, Rev. Boyd Armstrong, West Highlands Baptist Church; the sermon, Rev. Harrison McMains, First Christian Church, and the Benediction by Chaplain (Maj.) John P. Kirkland, Jr., the Post Chaplain.

Jewish Passovers services began Monday night with a Seder being observed in the homes and at a Community Seder for family units and single persons. The Passover observances will end Apr. 12.

Director Visits

Dr. Donald MacArthur, Deputy Director, Office Chief of Research and Engineering (Chemical Technology and Materials, Office of Secretary of Defense), and Dr. Helmut W. Schulz of that office, are visiting the Army Missile Command today.

Briefings and tours of Army laboratories in the Research and Development Directorate will be given them during the morning. The afternoon will be devoted to a visit to the Rohm & Hass facility at Redstone Arsenal.

The value of Series E and H Savings Bonds owned by Americans has passed the $49 billion mark and continues to rise.

This year, 1966, marks the 25th or Silver Anniversary of the Savings Bonds Program. The first Series E Bond was purchased by President Franklin D. Roosevelt on May 1, 1941.

"If you can sell her on this, you can sell her on anything."

"Me? In that?"

When you take your wife to see the Volkswagen Station Wagon don't be surprised if you have to drag her.

"But it looks silly."

That's your first problem: you have to explain the flat face and square shape.

The front is flat because the engine is in the back. This eliminates a long hood and makes our wagon almost as easy to park as our sedan.

(There's only 9 inches difference.)

And the square shape holds almost twice as much as an everyday wagon: 170 cubic feet.

Once you coax her behind the wheel, be ready for something like this:

"But it's like sitting in a fishbowl."

She's right, it is. There are 21 windows in the Volkswagen Station Wagon.

And if she handles the family checkbook, you might show her a few numbers:

24 mpg on regular. 35,000 miles on tires. 4 pints of oil, not quarts.

If you can sell your wife on the VW Station Wagon, consider yourself a star salesman.

We certainly will.

MEETING OF VALUE ENGINEERS—When the quarterly meeting of the Army Materiel Command Value Engineering Manager's Council was held at Redstone recently the cost reduction experts were welcomed by Col. R. B. Braid who was involved in the Army's first Value Engineering program a decade ago. Colonel Braid is now Deputy Project Manager of the Nike-X missile defense system. He was Chief of the Industrial Division at Watervliet Arsenal in 1956 when Value Engineering was started there. Here Colonel Braid greets D. E. Redmon, Chief of the Value Engineering Office, Army Materiel Command, who was chairman of the meeting. Looking on is S. K. Zelobowski, Chief of the Nike-X Value Engineering Office.

Value Engineering Cuts Many Costs

Value Engineering has resulted in reduced costs on such varied items as men's stockings, bomb racks and half-tracks, according to Charles H. Katreeb of the Department of Defense Value Engineering Services Office.

The DOD expert on how to save money spoke recently to the quarterly meeting of the Army Materiel Command Value Engineering Manager's Council at Redstone Arsenal. The Nike-X Project

Office was host for the meeting.

Council members included representatives of commands reporting directly and indirectly to the Materiel Command, Natick Laboratories, Harry Diamond Laboratories, the Army Logistics Management Center and the Army Management Engineering Training Agency.

Chairman for the meeting was D. E. Redmond, Chief of the Value Engineering Office of the Materiel Command.

iel Command.

The Council members were greeted by Col. R. B. Braid Deputy Nike-X Project Manager, and S. K. Zelobowski, Chief of the Nike-X Value Engineering Office.

Col. Braid was Chief of the Industrial Division at Watervliet Arsenal in 1956 where the first Value Engineering program was developed for the Ordnance Corps and Army.

He told the Council he was pleased at the wide-spread government and industrial acceptance of Value Engineering.

SELLING AT

AUCTION

SAT., APRIL 9, AT 10:01 2/3 A.M.

The property belonging to Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Salters located 7 miles northeast of Toney, Alabama, 16 miles north of Huntsville on Elkwood Section Road, 2 1/2 miles east of Elkwood, 4 miles northwest of New Sharon, 4 miles north of Blue Waters Spring Park on State Aid Road. Only 6 miles west of Memorial Parkway.

A FINE 80.51 ACRE ALL LEVEL FARM, A 6 ROOM HOME, STORE BUILDING AND GOOD BARN, DIVIDED INTO 15 TRACTS, ALL FRONTING ON STATE HIGHWAY AND ELKWOOD SECTION ROAD.

FARM

This 80.51 acres farm, all level, that all can be cultivated with the exception of 2 acres, that in woods. Has 6 room home, built of solid oak, has large store building 50x25 with shed and porch. Has large feeder barn, has everlasting water consisting of pond well stocked with fish, 2 good wells, one with pump in well. These wells will furnish enough water for 10 homes and is everlasting. This farm has two permanent pastures that have recently been sown in fescue and ladino clover, about 30 acres.

THIS FARM WITH LAVISHLY RICH SOIL, BONUS YIELDS OF ANYTHING YOU PLANT. YOU CAN TAKE THE CROPS OF YOUR PICK AT THE SALTERS FARM BECAUSE THIS FINE RICH SOIL WILL PRODUCE JUST ABOUT ANYTHING YOU CHOOSE AND GROW IT IN ABUNDANCE, WHICH WOULD MEAN BIGGER DIVIDENDS FOR YOU.

It is ideal for cotton, corn, wheat, oats, or any other small grains, equally adaptable for rotating row crops or pastures for good grazing. You could raise your own feed for a good herd of cattle on just part of the land and row crop the remainder. And if you build a home, you won't have to worry about establishing a lawn or shrubs, with soil like this the job is easy.

This farm also has one of the finest orchards that you will find on any 80 acre farm in north Alabama. Having plenty of shade, having large orchard with 100 peach, apple, pear, and plum trees.

This farm is located in the 4th district of Madison County, Alabama, in the northeast corner, is one of the finest farms that money can buy. This land will be divided into 13 tracts, also offered as a whole. The way it brings the most money is the way it will sell. Don't forget to attend this auction sale on April 9 at 10:01 2/3 A.M.

Located only 6 miles west of the Memorial Parkway, about 16 miles from the city of Huntsville, Alabama, the Rocket City of the United States of America. Mr. Salters has chosen to cut this into 15 tracts because suburban living is in great demand in North Alabama and Madison County. This is a builder's dream, having two 10 acre tracts with house and barn, fronting on state highway, a 72 ft. highway, blacktop road, which is tract No. 2 and 3. Tract No. 1 has 10 acres with the large store building, and is a corner lot fronting on state highway and also fronting on Elkwood Section Road. This is a choice corner lot for grocery store, service station, or any kind of commercial property that the buyer so desires.

The other 10 tracts, are cut into 5 acre tracts. This is tract Nos. 4 through 13. With 165 ft. fronting on Elkwood Section Road, all as level as a floor and as clean as a parlor, having beautiful home sites on each tract and close to water on each tract, where well can be dug with a minimum cost.

This 80 1/2 acre farm located in the rich farming section and one of the sections that has built up in the past three years, with new brick homes on all sides of the road, where people working at the Arsenal and working in the city of Huntsville, Alabama have chosen to build their homes and spend the remainder of their working days. There are plenty of acres for chickens, gardens or truck patches in these tracts. You will have a chance to buy separately and then as a whole. Your way will be our way. This will all sell for the high, high dollar. This farm has one mile road around the entire farm, three-fourths of it blacktop. One-fourth of the road east of the farm is a state highway, 72 ft. wide and is blacktop. The farm also has 16.1 acre cotton base, 13 acres corn base.

This farm is also located on school bus routes, milk routes, one mile from stores, approximately four miles from schools and churches, on mail route, and everything the owners could desire in city living in the country.

INVESTORS, BUILDERS AND HOMEOWNERS, HERE IS REAL ESTATE IN A FAST GROWING AREA WHERE THE PRICE OF REAL ESTATE IS UNLIMITED, THE KIND THAT SHOULD BE A PART OF YOUR INVESTMENT PROGRAM.

Natural beauty of level terrain just a short distance from the Rocket City, Huntsville, Alabama, will feature suburban living and make a builder's dream come true. All anxious to own a home for better living will find a lot or tract here, the ideal spot, close enough to commute everyday. This is a preferred spot to build your dream home. Mr. and Mrs. Salters have purchased a farm in Giles County at Pulaski, Tenn., a 350 acre farm and have already moved to the farm, so this farm must sell. Your price will be our price. Possession will be given with delivery of deed. The terms, 25% down sale day, the balance on or before 30 days. Make your own arrangements. Go by and inspect this 80 1/2 acre farm, ladies and gentlemen. Inspect the lots, the commercial property, the building lots, and the farm as a whole. This land is ready for building now. Make your choice of the tracts you want to start building on. Have your new home ready to display by the time summer is here. Real estate of this kind is better than money in the bank, stocks and bonds, because everywhere property values are climbing everyday. Population growth in Huntsville and Madison County is growing by leaps and bounds. It is increased by highway building and by many other factors, and those factors are going to continue to push land prices up. Buy where those factors are hard to work now. Act before all the good real estate in this surging Huntsville area is bought up by others.

Three Officer Candidates Will Be College Graduates

Testifying to the quality of students trained at the U. S. Army Missile & Munitions Center & School, is the recent selection of three Marines to attend college under a highly prized Navy education program.

The Marines are. LCpl Steven A. Gilham, PFC Thomas G. Grove, and PFC Roger L. Rainey. Each has successfully completed a course in the Hawk missile system or is now enrolled in such a course. LCpl Gilham is a native of Pratt, Kansas, while PFC Rainey is from Boise, Idaho. PFC Grove hails from Lakewood, Ohio and attended Wittenberg University for one year before entering the Marine Corps.

The education program is the Navy Enlisted Scientific Education Program, and provides an opportunity for outstanding enlisted men, on active duty to achieve a career as a Marine officer. NESEP is designed to provide the Marine Corps scientifically trained regular officers. Marines who successfully complete the program receive a baccalaureate degree in the areas of science, engineering and mathematics, and a commission as a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps.

An indication of the achievement of the three Marines, is the fact that only 65 Marines are selected each year to attend college under the program. Prior to attending college, the candidates must attend 10 weeks of schooling at the Naval Preparatory School, Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md., or the Service School Command, Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif. where they receive instruction in Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, and English.

Upon completion of the preparatory schooling, candidates will be assigned to one of the participating institutions, in their current grade with full pay, allowances, promotional opportunities, and normal leave.

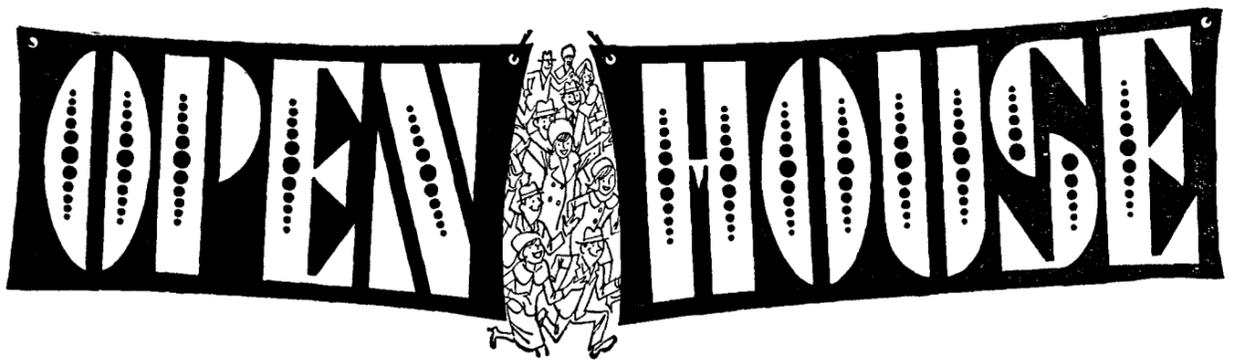

During the summers candidates must attend summer classes but between their second and third years they will attend the Marine Officer Candidate School at Quantico, Va. Upon completion of this demanding four year schedule of work and study the men will be appointed second lieutenants in the Regular Marine Corps.

Thus for these three Marines, the road to a scientific college education and a career as a Marine Officer began in the classrooms of the Missile & Munitions Center & School, where the quality of training is once again denoted by the achievements of its graduates.

TEARY TRAINING—Army Pvt Paul D. Reed (Winterhaven, Fla.) of the 24th Infantry Division's Headquarters Company reacts naturally after getting a dose of tear-agent gas during CBR training in Germany. Regularly scheduled exercises in the use of protective masks is just one phase of the soldier's continual training which adds up to personnel readiness.
