

Nike-X Adds To Staff, Creates New Position

Three new Colonels—two assistant Project Managers and a Division Chief—have been assigned to the Nike-X Project Office at Redstone Arsenal.

In addition to the naming of the new officers, two other high level changes were made in the

(Other Pictures Inside)

Nike-X organization.

Two of the three new officers have served previously at Redstone.

The additions bring to seven the number of full Colonels assigned to the Project Office including Col. I. O. Drewry, the Project Manager, who has been nominated for Brigadier General.

Col. Drewry announced the assignment of:

Col. J. T. Prendergast formerly of the Military Assistance Command in Vietnam as Assistant Project Manager for Research and Development.

Col. Hartsell H. Northington formerly with the Office, Deputy Chief of Staff, Logistics, Department of the Army, as Assistant Project Manager for Corps of Engineers activities.

Col. Herbert L. Duncan, recent graduate of the Army War College, as Chief of the Production and Logistics Division.

Both Col. Northington and Col. Duncan served at Redstone during the late 50's.

The organizational changes were: Col. J. W. Walters, Chief of the Test and Range Operations Division, was assigned additional responsibilities as Assistant Project Manager for National Range and Test Operations with direct responsibility for the Kwajalein Test Site.

COL. H. H. NORTHINGTON

Lt. Col. T. G. Ellis, formerly Nike-X Executive Officer, was named to the newly created position of Chief of Staff.

Col. Northington and Col. Duncan were both members of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency (ABMA) at Redstone during the days when this agency was the Army's pioneering organization in both tactical and space booster rockets.

Col. Northington, during the period from March 1956 until June 1959 spent two years as Deputy Chief in the Engineer's Office at ABMA and a year as Redstone Arsenal Post Engineer.

Col. Duncan had a number of assignments in ABMA including those of Project Manager for the Improved Honest John and the Littlejohn. He also served in Detroit with the Chrysler Corp. as an expeditor on the Jupiter missile program.

The new Assistant Project Manager for R&D, Col. Prendergast, is a native of Oklahoma City,

MMCS Scheduled To Train 9700 Students In FY '67

Emergency requisitions for beds and barracks are taking precedence over ballistic missiles and bullets for the time being as the Army Missile & Munitions Center & School gears for 9,700 students in FY 1967, the highest number of men ever to be trained at the 14-year-old, $70,000,000 school.

The record year for the Center & School will bring not only the largest number of students ever to be enrolled there but also increased numbers of U. S. Marines and the widest representation of foreign nations in school annals.

These were the highlights of a conference held last Thursday with the MMCS sub-committee of the Huntsville-Madison County Chamber of Commerce by Col. Erwin M. Graham Jr., commandant.

Five new missile systems are being added to the school curriculum, ammunition training is being expanded and accelerated training is slated for students on the four missile systems on which the school has been concentrating for several years, he said.

The result is a $3,000,000 construction and renovation program including a $1,000,000 academic building that will provide some 40 classrooms and a lecture hall for classes in basic missile electronics and other fundamental subjects, a new building for classes on the improved radar system for the Hawk air defense missile, a number of portable aluminum classrooms, conversion of several warehouses and office buildings into

ARPA To Make Use Of Redstone In SPARTA Tests

The United States, Australia and Great Britain will conduct a cooperative program to study re-entry phenomena at the Woomera Range in Australia, the Department of Defense has announced. The program is called SPARTA (Special Anti-missile Research Tests in Australia).

The Advanced Research Projects Agency of DOD has awarded a $9.5 million contract to TRW Systems Group of TRW, Inc., Redonda Beach, Calif., as prime contractor.

Several of the famed Redstone missiles are being brought out of retirement to be used as boosters to hurl a series of payloads high above the Woomera Range. Other rocket boosters then will fire the payloads back into the earth's atmosphere at ICBM velocities. These payloads will be observed by various range radars.

SPARTA is part of ARPA's Project Defender, a series of investigations in ballistic missile defense.

Work on the program is being directed by the Intercept Technology Branch, ARPA Division, of the Research and Development Directorate of the U. S. Army Missile Command at Redstone Arsenal, Ala.

Negotiating the contract for ARPA was the Systems Contract Division A of the Missile Command's Procurement and Production Directorate.

The Missile Command is managing SPARTA for ARPA.

Combined Federal Campaign Planning Committee Appoints Area Chairmen

Organizational planning for the 1967 Combined Federal Campaign at the Arsenal was completed this week with the designation of 17 area chairmen to direct the drive within their respective units.

In naming the area leaders, Leonard Brockman, executive chairman for the Arsenal campaign, said that nine of those named will be serving a repeat assignment while the others were named for the first time.

They will meet with Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, and other key officials at a luncheon at the Officers Open Mess next Wednesday. A training session will be conducted in conjunction with the luncheon to familiarize the organizational chairmen with the technique and mechanics of the campaign.

The 1967 Combined Federal

Campaign will open at Redstone Sept. 12 and will be conducted over a six weeks period in support of the various local, national and international fund-raising agencies.

Veteran campaign workers, Bob Malone, Abner McNaron and Robert Lowery, head the list of returning area chairmen.

Malone has accepted another term as chairman for the drive within the Land Combat System area, McNaron will be seeking to repeat the 100 per cent participation effort accomplished by the Office of the Comptroller and Director of Programs last year, and Lowery resumes his chairmanship for the Office of the Commanding General and the Missile Command Staff Offices. Other returning area chairmen are, Arthur Tarwater, Air Defense Systems, Ed Michaels, Quality and Reliability, B. A. Ingram, Air Defense Control and Coordination Systems Office, Jim Williams, Missile Intelligence Directorate, Jim Abercrombie, Area Engineers and P. T. Campbell, Rohm and Haas Company.

Tarwater, Ingram and Williams joined McNaron on the list of chairmen who attained 100 per

National President Talks To Local Reserve Officers

Guest speaker at last week's Reserve Officer Association luncheon at the Redstone Officers Open Mess was the Association's National President, Brig. Gen. Horace B. Hanson, Jr.

He was welcomed by the Commanding General of the U. S. Army Missile Command, Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, and Huntsville's Mayor Glenn Hearn who presented him a key to the city.

Among the guests were: Alvin Blackwell, President of the Huntsville Industrial Expansion Committee; M. B. Spragins, Chairman of the Army Advisory Committee; Brig. Gen. Edmund O'Connor, Director of Industrial Operations at the Marshall Space Flight Center; Carl Jones, President of the Huntsville Industrial Associates; Brig. Gen. Lewis C. Pattillo (ret.), former Chief Umpire of the 8th Maneuver Command; James Record, Madison County Commissioner; John Hatch, President of the Chamber of Commerce, and Col. John R. Henderson, Assistant Commandant of the Missile and Munitions Center and School here.

Shelter Managers, Monitors Taking Refresher Course

Civil Defense refresher courses for old hands, a brand new course to the new ones, are being conducted under the direction of Col. A. O. Wiklund, Assistant for Operations and Security, U. S. Army Missile Support Command.

Two types of defense workers are being trained: radiological monitors and shelter managers. The former are being trained by people schooled in the art of radiological detection, the latter by personnel specially trained at the Army Staff College in shelter management.

Manager training took place last Wednesday and today. The other four days of the two weeks, the monitors are concentrating on mastering radiological detection instruments in two-four-hour sessions for each monitor. The latter began Aug. 1 and will end Aug. 16. A possible manager makeup course may be held on Aug. 17.

All segments of the civilian and Army communities on post are represented. Organizations name two shelter managers plus two monitors. All told, 290 shelters are usable for personnel here.

The training is part of the periodic refreshers needed to keep the trained people at a passive defense level. Many new ones are replacements for those lost through transfer or resignations.

The Redstone Rocket

The Redstone Rocket is published weekly, on Wednesdays. The publisher will receive editorial content for publication in the Rocket only through the Information Office, Army Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Ala., Bldg. 5250, Room A-136, Extension 876-1400 or 876-1500.

All advertising copy and payments therefor are received by Mrs. Vergie Robinson, Huntsville, Ala., P. O. Box 346, telephone 534-4701, as representative of the publisher. Advertising deadline—both display and wanted—is noon of Friday before publication.

The Redstone Rocket is distributed free of cost to personnel at Redstone Arsenal. Mailing rates off post for the Rocket are $6.36 a year, or $3.50 for six months, tax included. Mailing arrangements may be made with the publisher, P. O. Box 520, Huntsville, Ala.

Write Right Now!

"I know that when my Country calls I must go. For each time the aggressor stalks the weak, and goes unchallenged, the hobnailed boot of oppression treads one step closer to me and mine."

Technical Sergeant Gerard R. Eder, USAF, wrote the above lines. They were included in his 500-word letter, "I Am An American," to Freedoms Foundation last year. He collected $1,000 for his winning letter.

And now it's time for the 1966 Freedoms Foundation Letter Awards Program. The official "kickoff" is July 1, 1966.

As a serviceman or woman on active duty, YOU are included in this program. YOU TOO can win a cash prize and a trip to Valley Forge, Pa.

Here are the simple rules. The subject this year is: "Defending Freedom Safeguards America." Write or type no more than 500 words on this subject using only one side of the paper. Be sure to print or type your name, rank, military address and home address. Mail entries to Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa., 19481. The deadline is Nov. 1, 1966.

The top award is $1,000. There are 50 awards of $100, 50 more of $50. Runners-up will receive the George Washington Honor Medal or Honor Certificate.

What is the Freedoms Foundation? Basically, it is an independent, nonprofit organization not affiliated with any sectarian religious group or political party, dedicated to creating and building an understanding of the spirit and philosophy of the Constitution and Bill of Rights . . . (AFNB)

Astronomers Will Have 'Open House'

The next regularly scheduled open house of the Rocket City Astronomical Association will be Aug. 12, beginning at 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. weather permitting.

The observatory's 41.91cm telescope will be trained upon our neighbor planets, and some of the constellations.

Mark Bentley will be in charge, assisted by two of the junior members of the Association, Billy Rankin and Carl Lanier.

The observatory is located on the East end of Monte Sano and may be reached from either the Bankhead Parkway entrance to the Park or from the Nolan Drive entrance off Monte Sano Boulevard.

The public is invited. Admission is free.

Knows What He Wants—

Youthful Hopes Advanced By Visit

On TV, in the movies, everywhere you turn, the typical teen-ager today is pictured as one of the "lively crowd"—surfing, doing the frug or watusi, or running with reckless abandon to "where the action is."

But MICOM officials last week saw in Eddie Napps a teen-ager cut from a different mold. At the stage when most youngsters have discovered sports, the latest fads—and the opposite sex—the 18-year-old Texan is enthralled with the mysteries of science. His burning ambition is to become a scientist.

Eddie, who graduated this year from Longview High School, was a week long guest of the Missile Command. He earned the trip, along with a superior award, for winning one of two Army awards at the 17th International Science Fair in Dallas, Texas, in May.

As part of the red-carpet treatment for him, Eddie toured research and development laboratories where much of the Army's exploratory and advanced development efforts on missilery are carried on; talked with the the Army's top scientists on missile activities and toured most of the facilities scattered around the arsenal's 40,000 acres.

"It has been a wonderful experience — even better than I thought it would be—and I'll never forget it," Eddie said in expressing his gratitude.

Napps' winning exhibit at Dallas was a "Van de Graaff Particle Accelerator" which he built to study the effects of high speed particles on various chemicals, seeds, gases and elements. So naturally, he was particularly interested in the Army's Van de Graaff facility in the Physical Sciences Lab. Following a briefing by N. M. Shapiro, deputy lab director, Napps admitted with a laugh, "there is a little difference between mine and this one."

"One thing made me feel pretty good though; I found out that scientists here, in the beginning, had some of the same problems I had — that is, getting a vacuum seal between rigid pipe, for example, and glass. I finally solved mine by using an asphalt with resin mixture."

Eddie, who normally is reserved and soft-spoken until he begins discussing his work—then he bubbles over with enthusiasm and words gush forth with machine-gun rapidity—said he began work on his accelerator as a high school sophomore. At first, this meant accumulating parts. Before long however, he was working on the project every day and, even then, he spent two years completing it.

How did he become interested in physics?

"Just reading about it, I guess. When we got into science in the ninth grade, I started reading everything I could."

He now has a full-sized lab set up in a shop behind his house in Longview, complete with an eight-foot vent (for getting rid of fumes and odors), lab table, an assortment of chemicals, a small X-ray machine and lead-covered walls, has generator and remote controls to operate the equipment.

He has done experiments with electron scattering (finding densities and impurities of metals), the bombarding of seeds, plants, brine shrimp and even a live snake. "The snake died after about five days, from a kind of radiation sickness, I suppose," Eddie said.

At one time, he had in his lab for experiments, a collection of white mice, snakes, plants, seeds and even chicken eggs. All his spare time was spent keeping tabs on them. "A lot of mornings, I have gotten up at 3 and 4 a.m. to look in on the lab," Eddie said. "With all that going, I had to keep a close check on equipment and such things as temperature—otherwise, I would have had to quit and start all over again."

Practically all his work has been documented, he said, most of it on graphs. "I have become a kind of nut on graphs," he said. "I have them all over the walls."

Such is Eddie Napps, a dedicated youngster who knows what he wants and is willing to pay the price to accomplish it.

Eddie will enter the University of Texas this fall where he will major in nuclear physics.

Staff of the Military Assistance Command in Vietnam.

He holds four degrees: bachelors in petroleum engineering and geology from the University of Oklahoma, a masters in engineering from Ohio State and a masters in business administration from George Washington University. He is also a graduate of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces.

Col. Prendergast entered service in 1940 and has served in Europe and the Far East. He won the Legion of Merit in Vietnam.

A native of Altus, Okla., Col. Northington holds a BS degree in mechanical engineering from Oklahoma State University and has done post graduate work at George Washington University. During World War II he served with a combat engineer group in Belgium, Germany and the Netherlands.

In his last assignment with DCSLOG he was Chief, Installations Program Branch and Deputy Chief, Installations Management Division, Installations Directorate.

He is a graduate of both the Army War College and the Command and General Staff College and is the holder of the Silver Star awarded in Korea. He has also been awarded the Bronze Star with first Oak Leaf Cluster.

Col. Duncan is a native of Henderson, Ky., and has 24 years service. He has a bachelor of arts degree in chemistry from the University of Kentucky and a masters in business administration from Harvard University.

He fought in North Africa, Sicily, Italy, France, Germany and Austria during World War II and was in the Korean conflict. He holds the Legion of Merit and the Bronze Star with two Oak Leaf Clusters.

troop barracks and re-conversion of the entire "Tin Village" complex of huge Quonset huts and the "Splinterville" group of World War II buildings into troop housing, he said. "Tin Village" will also include a 1,000-man mess hall to eliminate the need for bringing soldiers by bus from Splinterville for all their meals.

The five new missile systems being added to the school's training courses include the Redeye, a portable anti-aircraft weapon for foot soldiers; the Shillelagh which is fired from armored vehicles through a tube that can also use conventional shells; the TOW, a new anti-tank and fortification weapon; the Chaparral air defense weapon which is adapted from the Air Force and Navy Sidewinder, originally an air-to-air weapon; and the Lance, a new ballistic missile for support of Army divisions with either nuclear or conventional warheads.

While adding five new missile systems to training, the school will step up training on four systems already being taught, Graham said. These include the Nike-Hercules and Hawk air defense missiles and the Sergeant and Pershing land combat systems.

The 9,700 students to be trained in fiscal 1967 include 3,000 ammunition specialists and some 2,000 students for the Hawk which is now a standard weapon for the U. S. Army and Marine Corps and 17 nations of Europe and Asia.

Col. Graham introduced to the Chamber of Commerce committee his new assistant commandant, Col. John R. Henderson, the first high-ranking Artillery Corps officer to be assigned to the school.

He also asked the Chamber to help find some 200 civilian instructors to replace military teachers in such fields as electronics, mathematics and missile science. The school has been authorized to hire some 400 such civilians but has been able to recruit only about half that number to date.

Gen. Hanson was introduced by the ROA Program Chairman, Pete Redding.

In his speech, Gen. Hanson praised the Army Missile Command for "outstanding accomplishments in research and development of missiles" and said these are vitally needed for the country's national defense. The General also cited the Reservists for the part they are playing in the Vietnam war and reported that sixty per cent of the officers serving there are Reservists although no Reserve units have been called to active duty.

SOCIAL ^{and} CLUB EVENTS

Pre-School Registration Is Monday

Parents of pre-school age children are reminded that registration for kindergarten and nursery school classes will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Post Chapel Social Room.

Eligible to attend the classes which begin September 6 are the dependents of any active or retired member of the armed forces. New members of the Pre-School Council, which governs the program at RSA, will also be elected during the meeting.

Registration fee for the nine month term is five dollars and the monthly tuition fee is $14 per child. Classes will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. five days a week, with buses transporting children living on Redstone Arsenal. The pre-school term will observe the same holidays and schedules as the Huntsville schools.

At The Service Club

By MOLLY PATTERSON

The Post Service Club has two stage shows lined up that should be a delight to all the viewers.

On Saturday at 8:15 p.m. the Stage Show will represent some of the best talent at Redstone Arsenal. A number of the enlisted men worked professionally before joining the Army. This variety show, from what I've seen, should be good.

Sunday Kurtis Marionettes will make their first appearance at the Service Club. The Kurtis Brothers are not new to show biz, but seasoned performers, having appeared in the top nighteries, hotels and theatres. They are also experienced TV performers. This is an on-the-spot performance. This show is decidedly different. Show time is 8:15 p.m. Come early to get a good seat.

I'll see you fellows at the bridge table Wednesday night at 7 p.m. Remember there is always room

Mrs. Garrabrant Wins At Bridge

Mrs. Andy Garrabrant was the winner of the bridge session sponsored Thursday morning by the Redstone Officers Wives Club at the Open Mess.

Among the six tables of players, Mrs. L. M. Hardiston was second high with Mrs. M. H. Rieves in third place. Mrs. Robert Scott tallied low.

Reservations to play with the group are handled by Mrs. Arthur Matthews.

Toastmistress Club Honors Mrs. Nilsson

Edith Nilsson, a charter member of Huntsville Toastmistress Club, was honored during the club's first August meeting last Wed. She was presented a memento to carry with her to her new home in Phoenix, Ariz.

Mrs. Noel E. Donlin presented charms to the members, awarded by Toastmistress International for attaining a full club membership of 30 during the past year. Membership is limited in order to offer maximum opportunity for individual participation in the development of speech and leadership techniques.

Miss Dolli Wiginton received the President's cup from Mrs. Donlin on behalf of Miss Marian Hocker, immediate past president. Each president awards it to the member who is of the greatest assistance to her during the term.

Through the Looking Glass theme carried into the table topics presented by Mrs. Rhoda High. Mrs. R. M. Coulter, Toastmistress, presented three speakers, Mrs. Marguerite Martin extemporaneously; Mrs. Mary Jane Hearn offering Parliamentary Hints, and Mrs. Gere Wyss who reviewed "How to Live 365 Days a Year."

The vote gave Mrs. Nilsson the best topics response and Mrs. Wyss the best speaker award. Mrs. Wyss also presented an original poem written for a Council 8 Conference, and another as a farwell speech honoring Mrs. Nilsson.

NCO WIVES DELIVER TABLE—Officers and the Welfare committee chairman of the Redstone Non-Commissioned Officers Wives Club delivered a pool table last week to the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home as part of their program in community service. Left to right are: Mrs. James Huff, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Lander Skeen, 1st vice president; Mrs. Phillip Burch, treasurer; and Mrs. Henry Reichelt, Welfare committee chairman. The group presented the table to Robert Neaves, superintendent at the Home.

Scout Leaders To Plan International Programs

Troop leaders of Girl Scouts will meet at the Girl Scout House at Redstone Arsenal to share with the Huntsville Council for International Visitors and some of the women from other countries a planned program to introduce the local Scouts to customs of other countries.

Mrs. Raymond Berry, Director of Field Services for the Girl Scouts of North Alabama will preside at the meeting Aug. 16 from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Some aspects which will be discussed are: how to be hostess to visitors from other countries; planning ways for girls to share experiences with those from other lands; the role of the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. as a part of the World Association.

Interested adults may attend if they register in advance with the Girl Scout Council office, 5-R Traylor Island, 534-3171.

MANAGERS TO MEET

David Chichester, the immediate past president of the Association for the Education of Brain Damaged Children, Inc., will be the speaker at the August Meeting of the Thiokol Management Club, Inc. at Willowbrook Country Club Monday. His topic will be "The Management of Brain Damaged and Mentally Retarded Individuals."

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Collins Bridge Winner Monday Night

Mrs. T. L. Collins was the winner among the six tables in play at Monday night bridge at the Redstone Officers Open Mess last week.

In second place was Mrs. C. F. McBrearty followed by Col. B. A. Saholsky.

The group meets every week. Reservations are handled by Mrs. McBrearty, 837-0546.

AIR MEDAL FOR NIKE-X STAFFER—Maj. Kenneth V. Barnwell (left) of the Nike-X Project's Production and Logistics Division has received the Air Medal for flying more than 100 missions in Vietnam. The Florence, Ala., native was presented the medal by Col. I. O. Drewry, Nike-X Project Manager.

Hitch Hiker Wins Army Air Medal

Hitching a ride on ammunition planes flying over enemy territory is hardly the safest way to travel but that and other things have won an Air Medal for Maj. Kenneth V. Barnwell of the Nike-X Project at Redstone Arsenal.

The Medal was waiting for the Florence, Ala., native when he arrived at Redstone Arsenal this month following a year's tour of duty in Vietnam.

Though not a flyer himself, Maj. Barnwell won the Medal for being aboard more than 100 missions in aircraft ranging from transports to helicopters. Most of them were in connection with transportation of ammunition or construction of ammunition depots for Vietnamese and United Nations combat troops fighting in Vietnam.

"We got shot at a few times," he says. "One of the first things I always did after we landed was check the plane for bullet holes."

His efforts in Vietnam also won the Major a Bronze Star.

No stranger to the hazards of high explosives, he is one of the relatively small group of Army personnel qualified as explosive ordnance demolition experts and was an EOD advisor in Saigon.

Maj. Barnwell is a graduate of Florence State College and received his commission through the ROTC program there. He and Mrs. Barnwell, the former Ann Bobo of Florence, and their two children live on Redstone Arsenal.

The Seventh Annual Armed Forces Chess Championship Tournament will be held in the Hall of Flags, American Legion Bldg., Washington, D. C., Nov. 11-18, 1966. The tourney is a project of the American Chess Foundation, a non-profit educational organization with offices at 1372 Broadway, New York, N. Y. 10018.

Motorist Thanks Man In Uniform

Ruth Moses, a laboratory assistant at the Huntsville Hospital, is in a dilemma.

On the way home from work a week ago last Thursday, her car stalled. She was helped by a kind man in an Army uniform. He went to a great deal of trouble to assist her and someone in front of her who also stalled.

The frustration came when another kind stranger pushed her off before she had a chance to say thank you to the first man. She isn't even sure of the kind of car he was driving, only that he was an Army man; who went to a great deal of effort to get her on her way.

She asked the Rocket to say thank you with the hope that the helpful stranger will get the message.

FREEDOM AWARDS

Military personnel on active duty are eligible to compete in the 1966 Freedoms Foundation Letter Award Program. Rules are simple. Submit a letter, not to exceed 500 words, on "Defending Freedom Safeguards America" by Nov. 1 to FREEDOMS FOUNDATION, VALLEY FORGE, Pa. Be sure to include your name, rank, military and home addresses.

ATTENTION SERVICEMEN

FREE estimates for claims purposes on any damaged electronic item, brought to our store. We will outfit your home with one item or any selection of RCA Victor TV, stereos, radios, tape recorders, or RCA Whirlpool washers, dryers, refrigerators, freezers, dishwashers, or air-conditioners. Recruiters Needed In Southeast Area

In a double-barreled move signaling greater emphasis on voluntary enlistments, the Army announced a reorganization of its Recruiting Service and the addition of 450 sergeants to its recruiting team increasing it to 2,230.

The U. S. Army Recruiting Command, Fox Hill, Virginia, began reporting directly to the Department of the Army and assumed responsibility for world-wide recruiting activities.

A critical shortage of Army recruiters exists in the Third Recruiting District, headquartered in Atlanta, Ga., and includes all of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Missisissippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee in addition to several counties in southern Kentucky.

Prior to this change, supervision of recruiting activities was divided between The Continental Army Command at Fort Monroe, Va., and Department of the Army. Continental Army Command was responsible for recruiting in the United States while Department of the Army directed recruiting overseas, including Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

DPO Extends Win Streak To Five

Rain cut out half of the Civilian Softball League schedule for last week and as far as most of the league was concerned, it might just as well have erased the other night too.

Data Processing wasn't the least bit deterred over the Tuesday evening wash out and went right on with their business of winning ball games when they went to the Civilian Recreation area diamond on Thursday. Procurement and Production was the victim this time to the tune of 23-10.

The win was the fifteenth of the year against a single loss and the fifth straight win in the second half for the first half winners.

Communications knocked off Finance and Accounting, 16-8, the Prop Lab took the S & M Lab into camp, 14-6, the G & C Lab surprised the Comp Center, 22-6, and the Comptrollers put down a last minute rally to whip Documentation, 19-18.

Vern Arnold hit a grand slam home run while Ead Smith and Bob Hall collected four hits apiece to lead Data Processing to their latest win. The leaders broke the game open with a 10-run rally in the top of the 7th.

Smith was the winning pitcher and Gary Mann led the defensive platoon from his shortstop position.

A perfect throw to home by Wilbur Daniels cut down the tying run and preserved the Comptroller win over Documentation. The winners took a 19-11 lead into the final inning only to see Documentation erupt for 7 runs.

Ed Trentham was the hitting star of the game with a pair of homers, a triple and a single out of four tries. Daniels got three hits and Jim Bishop took credit for the win. Sid Sapp got three hits in the losing cause.

Communications started fast with six in the opening frame and went on to hand the Accountants their second setback of the round, as Al Grainger got four straight safeties including a pair of homers.

Neil Winterburn and Bobby Thornton chipped in with three hits apiece as Wayne Henderson took care of the pitching chores. Russ Ward, Les Cietat and Julian Williams were home run hitters for the losers.

Held to a single counter in the first five innings, the Prop Lab broke loose with five in the sixth and eight more in the seventh to put down S & M.

Bill Wright delivered a three-run triple to highlight the first rally and Bruce Elliston did the same in the following inning. Tom Duerr collected a homer and L. B. Thorn took the win.

The G & C Lab connected for 25 hits in a surprisingly easy upset win over the Comp Center. Bob Alongi pitched hitless ball over a five inning span while his mates built up a 20-0 lead.

Alongi, Matt Rezmer and Mike Agron collected four hits apiece while Jay Dunaway and Don Parker connected for circuit blows.

S&M Keg League Seeks More Teams

Openings for additional teams are available in the Monday night Supply and Maintenance Bowling League.

Ten teams have signed for the Fall Season but six more teams are needed. League play begins Monday night, Sept. 12 at 6 p.m. at Starlite Lanes.

Interested teams should contact Hal Williams at 876-7003 or Tom Lindsay at 876-5230 for further details.

New ID Bracelet Introduced By VA

An emergency medical identification bracelet or necklace is now being issued to veterans with serious medical problems, the Veterans Administration said today. The identification is issued on the prescription of the attending VA physician.

The object of the new identification is to provide information to medical personnel for treatment of the veteran should he become unconscious by accident or sudden illness.

Such information will include special needs of the patients, such as heart pacemaker, or the patient's reaction to certain drugs. Diabetes and epilepsy also will be identified.

The VA's Department of Medicine and Surgery supply service is making initial distribution of the bracelets and necklaces to all VA hospitals and clinics. They will be furnished without regard to service-connected disability.

Five Simple Tips On Job Relations

A capsule course in better human relations on the job and off shows that every employee can profit from practicing its five simple points:

Five most important words: I am proud of you.

Four most important words: What is your opinion?

Three most important words: If you please.

Two most important words: Thank you.

Least important word: I.

Good human relations at work and anywhere is a matter of forming habits of thinking and acting that make people like us, trust us, and believe in us. It's a matter of cultivating simple habits that make others like to deal with us and associate with us—simple habits of friendliness, dependability, sincerity, cheerfulness, and honesty.

Good human relations is also a matter of understanding people, of being considerate, of being tolerant of others, of being willing and active in helping others, and of sharing with them. It's an attitude of being willing and anxious to help others live more fully, to help them grow and make the best of their lives.

Perhaps the deepest yearning in the human heart is the desire to be important, or at least to be recognized. All of us want to count. We want others to think well of us. It's an essential human need.

One of the best ways to be recognized, to count, is sincerely to recognize the good in others. It's the heart of good human relations at work and elsewhere.

The youngest general counsel in the Federal Government is 31-year-old Phillip F. Zeidman of the Small Business Administration. He was appointed General Counsel of SBA last January at age 30.

Career Development Draws Summer School Employees

Twenty-eight Army civilians left their jobs this week to enroll for advanced training courses in their respective career fields and another thirty will depart for the same purpose next week.

All were selected for enrollment in the graduate level training under the Missile Command's career development program administered by the Training and Development Division of Civilian Personnel.

The training courses are offered by military schools, contractor plants and leading universities located in twelve states and the District of Columbia. The local personnel will be away from their duties for periods ranging from one week to ten months.

Almost half of the total number are enrolled for classes at the U. S. Army Logistics Management Center, Ft. Lee, Va., fourteen MICOM civilians included in the Defense Procurement Management course that opens on Monday, and 13 others started classes in three courses there this week.

Julius Cage (Chief Counsel), Melvin Foster (Nike-X), Charles Twyman (Hercules), George Bailey (Chaparral) and Sara Bruce (Nike-X) are in the Army Project Manager course, while John Moore (ADCCS) and Ronald Marbut and Bobby Henry (Maint Spt Div) are taking Maintenance Management.

Gertis Elliott, Wilford Brisendine, Billy Tankersley, Buford Pillow and Johnnie Mitchell (all of S & M) are enrolled for Defense Inventory Management.

and Linda Bentley (Pershing), are those who will take the Procurement course.

Six more left this week for the University of Michigan. Boyd Wooten (Nike-X) is taking the short course on Lasers — Theory, Technology and Application, and John Plexico (R & D) is enrolled for Quality Control by Statistical Methods.

James Sirote and George Robinson (R & D) are in Simulation of Mechanical Systems, while Allan Norman (R & D) and Robert Jones (Nike-X) are taking Foundations and Tools for Operations Research.

Edmund Wheelahan (R & D) went to Denver to attend the Third Annual Workshop in Fracture Mechanics at Universal Technology, and John Fowler (P & P) is studying Standards of Workmanship at Frankford Arsenal.

John Mountain (Comp Ctr) is taking Assembly Language for System 360 at the IBM plant in Huntsville, and Thomas Sanders (S & M) is enrolled for Methods of instruction at the Missile-Munitions Center.

Ray Farmer (R & D) went to Los Angeles for a short course in Status of Modern Control Systems at the University of California, and William Sisson (C & DP) is taking the Auditing Data Processing Systems course at the U. S. Air Training Command, Sheppard AFB, Texas.

Poster Contest Seeks Ideas of All Workers

What started out to be a practice exercise for an off-duty art course has ended up as a model for a poster contest in which all Arsenal personnel are invited to submit their ideas for drawings.

In announcing the contest, which will support the Zero Defects program, Horace Lowers, the Command's ZD Council Chairman, said that the idea developed from a poster that had been submitted voluntarily by Mattie Hobbs, of the Sergeant Project Office.

Mrs. Hobbs was working on a lesson for the Famous Artists' course when she got the idea to adapt one of her drawings for use in the Zero Defects program.

She submitted the drawing as a suggestion and it was approved by the ZD Program Council for an award. Mrs. Hobbs received a $25 cash award.

In their evaluation of the suggestion, members of the Council came up with an idea of their own—why not encourage other Missile Command personnel to take an active part in promoting zero defects in the Command.

Lowers said that the poster contest would run until September 9 with the primary purpose being to emphasize the importance of 100 per cent participation in a program such as this.

He added that a person does not need to be an accomplished artist to participate in the contest and be eligible for an award. "We are primarily interested in getting new and original ideas. Just sketch out your idea, and we will get it SETS AN EXAMPLE—Mattie Hobbs presents a drawing to Horace Lowers to be used in promoting the Zero Defects program at Redstone. The ZD Council Chairman decided to use the poster as an example for a contest in which other Arsenal personnel are encouraged to submit their ideas for promotional posters. Mrs. Hobbs received a $25 cash award for her drawing. She said that she had several more ideas and is planning to submit a couple of entries in the contest.

drawn up," he continued. Entries should be submitted on, or attached to, a regular suggestion form and forwarded to the Zero Defects Program Council (AMSMI-XE), Bldg. 5250. The proposals will be evaluated by a panel of judges solely on their adaptability for use in promoting Zero Defects. Those persons submitting poster ideas that are accepted will be recommended for an appropriate cash award under the incentive awards program.

Introducing the 2 family car.

The population explosion hasn't caught us sleeping.

We made the Volkswagen Station Wagon big enough to hold about twice as much as a regular station wagon.

So why not two families?

There'd be seats enough (9). And luggage space enough (13 pieces). And enough windows to go around (21).

Also, you'd be able to split fuel bills. (It averages 23 mpg to begin with).

And you could park our 2 Family Wagon in 4' less space than a 1 family wagon.

The problem, naturally, is to find another family with the same tastes in drive-in restaurants and movies, and such.

However, maybe you already have enough people and belongings around your house to fill two wagons.

Then all your problems are solved.

Versatile Soldier An Entertainer At Heart

Career Counselor On School Staff

'Patches the Clown' has reported for duty with School Troop Command, of the Missile & Munitions Center & School. In military circles Patches is known as Staff Sergeant David Justus, Army Career Counselor, one of the most versatile soldiers in the United States Army.

Versatility . . . how many men can boast of having been snake handlers, criminal investigators, the northern most U. S. Army recruiter, and one of the most popular clowns associated with the Army?

Sgt. Justus has lectured and demonstrated his extensive knowledge of snakes in military instruction classes and to civilian groups. He became interested in snakes while stationed in Georgia and studied methods of the renowned Ross Allen.

His police experiences stem from assignments with the Military Police Corps and most of his military career has been with the MP's.

His last assignment in Alaska earned him the title of "Northernmost Recruiter." During his tour in the far north he always carried out his motto, "No place too far, nor too remote for me to visit anyone interested in joining the United States Army." These travels were often made in helicopters or other aircraft and more often by dog sled.

There are two faces to Sgt.

PLEASE DON'T ASK ME—Sergeant Major R. G. White appears to be a picture of bewilderment as he 'introduces' Patches the Clown to Lieutenant Colonel F. L. Long. Col. Long is Commanding Officer, and White is Sergeant Major of the MMCS School Troop Command. 'Patches' is in reality Staff Sergeant David Justus, (at left), newly assigned Career Counselor.

Justus and the face he paints on before performing is his first love. His father was a First Sergeant in the Army and his mother a professional entertainer when, at the age of nine, he started his entertainer career as a vocalist.

During the next 37 years he entertained thousands of grownups and children. He is not only a master of comedy he is also a producer, director and master of ceremonies. He has performed for children and charities of all nature everywhere assigned. He has had his own television program and has formed the "Patches the Clown Birthday Club" for his little followers which numbers over 5,000.

The name 'Patches the Clown' may be familiar to some people. It should be. Patches has appeared on television in Alaska, Vermont, Georgia, New Hampshire and New York with his own show, and has appeared on the Ed Sullivan show. He has also performed with Spike Jones, Roy Rogers and Helen Hayes to name a few.

He is a former all Army contest winner and has appeared in night clubs in Alaska, Europe and major cities in the States.

He wrapped up two solid years of television in Alaska May 21. He had the northern most live television show in the United States.

Sgt. Justus has a job at MMCS.

Page 12 The Redstone Rocket — August 10, 1966

He is a Career Counselor. Patches the Clown is looking for work. He wishes to volunteer his services to any non-profit organization free of charge. Patches offers one commodity needed worldwide today, laughter.

However, his act normally includes a female partner he calls 'Peaches'. Patches has no partner at the present and would like any lady between the ages of 18 and 34 who plays the piano, is interested in comedy, and likes to work with children to contact him. He points out that most of his performances are nights and weekends. He can be contacted at: 852-7051.

Patches will perform free of charge for worthwhile charities and organizations. He would like to have two weeks notice in order to adapt his act to the group. He also has club cards for children who want to become members of his Birthday Club.

Sgt. Justus and Patches—two different people only in appearance. Sgt. Justus is proud of his 19½ years in the army, and takes pride in his career work. Patches the Clown is happy to be a clown, he enjoys entertaining. As he says, "It's truly a satisfying thing to make others laugh, to lighten the load for awhile."

Soldier or clown. The Missile & Munitions Center & School will see a lot of both in the future.

A DOD draft study shows that monthly rate of inductions since September 1950 has been about 18,000. Draft calls were issued every month except May and June 1961.

cent participation for their organizations.

Two of the new chairmen, Len Twinem and Will Lewis, will be replacing newly assigned members of the Missile Command Executive Committee. Twinem takes over from Howard Crumrine in Supply and Maintenance while Lewis follows Wallace Kirkpatrick as the Research and Development chairmen.

Willard Collins replaces Mark Wheat in Procurement and Production and George Parker is the new chairman in the Support Command succeeding Guy Piercy.

Each chairman will head a team of campaign workers who will carry the drive to every person in an effort to continue the outstanding record that Redstone employees have posted in past years.

In the 1966 campaign, the first ever conducted here under the single drive concept, Arsenal personnel responded with the largest participation and the highest per capita gift in the country.

Almost 97 per cent of those included in the drive made a contribution to the better than $250,000 that was turned over to the fund-raising organizations.

Don't Become 'Has Been' Grads Told

A high ranking 3rd Army Headquarters official Friday cautioned graduating students at the Missile and Munitions Center and School to "Keep up with the rapid technical advancements if the United States is not to be left behind in the pace of world events."

The guest speaker for the graduation was Col. J. T. Shepard, Chief, Maintenance Division, Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics, Ft. McPherson, Ga.

Addressing 121 graduates from six countries he said, "Today you're an expert in your field, but two years from now you'll be a has been unless you keep up with the advancements."

Col. Shepard also told the graduates from U. S., Greece, Japan, Korea, Germany, and Italy, "You're more than technicians, you're citizens and leaders of the free world."

Walter F. Eigenbrod representing the Tennessee Valley Chapter of the Association of the U. S. Army presented the AUSA "Outstanding Graduate Award" to Marine Gunnery Sergeant Paul I. Gulick. Sergeant Gulick attained a 96.3 grade average in the Hawk Air Defense Maintenance Technician course.

Other academic class leaders were: Marine PFC Ham G. Lee Jr., 85.2; PFC Helge Fullman (Germany) 92.5; PFCs James C. Kidder 86.2; Oscar H. Simmons Jr., 85.2; John E. Conley 89.1; and PVTs Thomas A. Klossner 94.6; and Larry D. Sherven 90.6.

The life of a Series E United States Savings Bond purchased between May 1941 and May 1949 is 30 years due to the granting of two 10-year extensions. No Series E or H Savings Bond ever sold has stopped earning interest.

BOND SALES UP

Savings Bonds sales continued to show impressive gains over last year, with Series E Bond sales setting postwar records for May and June. A Treasury Department report shows E Bond sales were the highest for any June since 1945, while combined sales of E and H Bonds were the highest for the month since 1945.

IT'S THE LUCK OF THE IRISH, according to Sp5 Bernard B. Dixon of Columbus, Ga., crew chief of the Army's "Wee Leprechaun," the luckiest helicopter in Vietnam. The chopper has been hit by enemy fire on every operation it has flown, but the rugged bird is still whirring. As proof of its bullet-stopping performances, Dixon points proudly to the 15 holes which riddle the gallant plane's body. The helicopter belongs to the 1st Air Cavalry's 229th Assault Battalion. (ANF)

• Commanders are well pleased with the Army's Special Services Program, according to a survey conducted by The Adjutant General, Maj. Gen. J. C. Lambert. The commanders surveyed agree that the program, which includes crafts, entertainment, libraries, service clubs, and sports, is "completely satisfactory and should not be significantly changed."
