CFC OFF TO FAST START

YOU CAN SAY THAT AGAIN—Army employees who fly to Washington and New York are just as jubilant as this jet over a United Airlines announcement that—come October 30—it will begin operating these 600 miles per hour planes out of the Huntsville-Madison County airport. United says it will operate six flights daily on the Huntsville-Washington-New York run, cutting 40 minutes to an hour off flying time each way. These Boeing 727's—first three-motored American built commercial airplanes since the old Ford Trimotor—will be the first pure jets to fly out of the Huntsville-Madison County airport on a scheduled basis. While it won't exactly sound like a chuckle, the 727's will bring a new sound to the Huntsville area during takeoffs and landings. By the way, they won't carry these tooth markings. Artist Dick Miller of the Missile Support Command caught the spirit of things and declared this photo of a 727 to show it's just as happy to see Huntsville as Huntsville is to see it.

Airline Offers Huntsville To New York Jet Service

A well-balanced schedule of jet airline service will soon be available linking Huntsville and Washington, according to an announcement last week by United Airlines.

The airlines will start operating six jet flights daily in and out of Huntsville on October 30 using Boeing 727s for all flights. It will mark the first regularly scheduled use of jet aircraft in this area.

In announcing the improved commercial airline service, Harvey Abbott, the United sales manager here, said the scheduled change will make for improved timing and provide additional seats for direct flights to Washington and New York.

The first northbound flight on the daily schedule will depart Huntsville at 7 a.m., stop in Knoxville, and arrive in Washington at 10:03 a.m. The flight will continue on to Newark Airport serving metropolitan New York City, terminating there at 11:20 a.m.

A mid-day flight to Washington will leave at 11:43 a.m., arriving there at 2:53 p.m., stopping in Knoxville. The third northbound jet will operate non-stop, departing Huntsville at 6 p.m. and arriving in Washington at 8:20 p.m. This flight will also continue on to Newark, where it will terminate at 9:40 p.m.

The first flight inbound to Huntsville will arrive at 11:20 a.m. (See AIRLINE on Page 2)

Anti-Tank Group Meets

Representatives from the United Kingdom, Canada and the United States are convened at the U. S. Army Missile Command here this week for talks and exchange of ideas on anti-tank missile guidance and control.

Panel members from participating countries include C. J. Camfield of UK; Christopher J. Wilson of Canada and D. L. Kilbourn of the Missile Command's Research and Development Directorate who is chairman of this fourth annual meeting.

Brig. Gen. E. I. Donlev, Deputy Director, is presiding. (See ANTI-TANK on Page 3)

Combined Campaign Gifts Larger Than Last Year

Redstone personnel are responding to the 1967 appeal of the Combined Federal Campaign in larger numbers than ever before and with increased individual gifts.

Over $166,000 was collected or pledged through payroll deductions during the first week of the campaign in support of local, national and international fund-raising agencies, according to Al LaGrone, financial chairman for the drive.

"The early returns," according to LaGrone, "indicate that Redstone personnel have adopted the payroll deduction feature in even greater numbers than a year ago when approximately 60 per cent of the total contribution of over $400,000 was pledged in this manner."

The great majority of the opening week donations were made through payroll deduction authorizations.

Army elements have contributed approximately $100,000 to the drive while the Marshall Space Flight Center has made a total contribution of $66,000. This represents 29 per cent participation by Army personnel and 37 per cent by MSFC.

The average gift received by the two large organizations was about equal and in both cases, greater than the per capita gift of a year ago. At that time, the Huntsville area gift of slightly better than $20.00, was the highest in the nation.

The rapid start in the campaign solicitation made by several of the key workers has resulted in a number of organizations attaining their goals. (See PERSONNEL on Page 3)

NCO CLUB

As the Rocket went to press announcement had not been made of a temporary location for the Noncommissioned Officers Open Mess. As soon as a suitable building is found and designated announcement will be made on the Redstone Internal News service, in the Daily Bulletin, in The Redstone Rocket as soon as possible, and on the School TV.

Bloodmobile Visit Set Wednesday

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at Redstone Arsenal today.

It will be at Building 7110—the old Post Hospital—from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Persons who visit the Bloodmobile to give blood, even those who are not accepted for some reason, will be issued blood donor cards valid for six months. In case of accident, persons with these cards are entitled to receive any amount of blood free of charge. Their wives, children, parents and parents-in-law are also covered.

Volunteer nurses interested in assisting on the Bloodmobile may contact Mrs. J. M. Loomis at 881-9582.

Red Cross Volunteers willing to assist are asked to contact immediately Mrs. W. D. Lewis, 837-5004.

Newly arrived Red Cross Volunteers may register with Mrs. M. A. Jones, 877-4758.

Gen. Dodge To Be AUSA Speaker September 28

Lt. Gen. Charles G. Dodge, new executive vice president of the Association of the U. S. Army headquarters in Washington, will open the 1966-67 program series of the Tennessee Valley chapter here on Wednesday, Sept. 28, according to Walter T. Weissinger, III, president.

At the same time, Weissinger said the Tennessee Valley chapter has scored an unusual record in its membership drive by having the largest percentage of civilian members of any of the 125 chapters in the AUSA. Of 3,854 Tennessee Valley members on July 31, 3,320 are civilians from Redstone Arsenal or the Huntsville area, he said. The only other chapter with such a large civilian roster is the Pikes Peak chapter with nearly 2,200 civilian members. The Tennessee Valley civilian percentage is 86 per cent of total membership while the overall AUSA average is only 25 percent.

With a large number of membership renewals due in September and October, Weissinger urged A. A. Stewart of the Supply and Maintenance Division of the Army Missile Support Committee—who heads the local AUSA membership committee—to concentrate on adding more military members.

Gen. Dodge will speak on "AUSA and the Changing Army" at a dinner at the Redstone Arsenal Officers Club at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 28. The dinner will be held at the Officers Club. (See AUSA on Page 2)

Another Milestone In Redstone History

Formal dedication of the John M. Cone Metrology Laboratories last Thursday marked another significant milestone in the Army's planning for permanency at Redstone Arsenal.

During the World War II years installations here had war missions and the goal was to get into production as quickly as possible and help win the war. Hence, most of the buildings went up in a hurry and were temporary except where safety regulations dictated a permanent type structure.

With the coming of rocket and missile development missions in the 1950's the type of building construction took on a new look. The new technology that the Army was centering at Redstone required a more permanent home . . . buildings which would equip Redstone personnel for the tremendous job of keeping the United States on top in the missile age.

So with missiles and rockets came concrete and steel . . . up-to-date buildings, overpasses and modern four-lane highways.

We are still using many of the World War II structures but they are giving way to more permanent structures which are adequate for today's job.

Completion of the John M. Cone Metrology Laboratories marks a welcomed addition to the Redstone landscape and will assist our personnel in meeting tomorrow's challenge in calibration and metrology standards.

Where The Action Is

There is plenty of action just around the corner for the serviceman who wants to participate.

This particular action doesn't come very often, but it's as exciting as any Kentucky Derby.

This race, of course, pertains to the upcoming general elections in November. And when your ballot is finally cast, you have participated in one of the most exciting events in our democracy. To see the results of your action as an eligible voter do these simple things:

Learn who the candidates are; learn the issues at stake in your locality and make your choice; get your Federal Post Card Application form; mail it to your home state; and, when you get your absentee ballot, fill it out accurately and mail without delay.

Generally, that's all there is to it. But the reasons you voted in the first place go much deeper.

For example, the history of the world has borne out the truth of the warning that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." Case after case can be cited in which people's individual liberties have been lost because the majority of the people neglected their responsibilities.

In most countries which have experienced dictatorial forms of government, dictators came into power not by the will of the majorities, but with the support of aggressive minorities aided by the indifference of the majority.

So, there you are. An alert majority is what counts. And you are a part of that majority. Eligible voters have the duty and responsibility to exercise their right to vote. Then, and only then, will the majority have their say and our great form of government continue to thrive. (AFNB)

AIRLINE

Huntsville each day will arrive here at 10:37 a.m. The flight originates in Newark at 8 a.m., stops in Washington at 9:15 a.m. and also serves Knoxville on the way here.

A non-stop flight from Washington will leave there at 4:15 p.m. and arrive in Huntsville at 4:51 p.m. This flight will originate in Newark at 3 p.m.

The sixth flight on the new schedule will begin in Washington at 7:40 p.m., stop in Knoxville and arrive here at 9:02 p.m.

The United official said that the airline will continue to operate two daily flights in Huntsville with Viscount turbo-prop aircraft.

One of these will depart here at 3 p.m. for Knoxville, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Detroit. The other will be a 2:39 p.m. arrival from Memphis. The northbound Viscount flight will be similar to one which United presently operates out of Huntsville at 3:20 p.m. However, there is now no Pittsburgh stop on the flight.

While the number of United flights in and out of Huntsville will be decreased when the jets begin flying, the new flights will offer a much better balance of service to Arsenal and Huntsville passengers.

In addition to improved timing, the schedule change will provide additional available seats on direct flights to Washington and New York. The three jet flights will offer 288 seats to Washington, compared to 207 now available on four piston flights.

The two jet flights serving New York will provide 192 seats, compared to 102 normally available on two piston flights.

ner will be preceded by a "dutch treat" social hour. Tickets are on sale at all agencies of the Arsenal at $2.50 each, and all members of the AUSA—officers, enlisted and civilian and their ladies—are invited. Uniforms or civilian attire are suitable.

Gen. Dodge is a West Point graduate of 1930. He retired earlier this year as commanding general of the Fifth U. S. Army. He has also served as Chief of Army Information and chief of the U. S. Element during the Allied occupation of Austria after World War II. He has also commanded the well known 1st Cavalry Division.

CLASS A RATIONS which include these tasty but highly perishable foodstuffs like fresh meat, vegetables, fruit, and dairy products, are getting highball treatment from the Army's 1st Logistical Command. To rush these good things to troop units deep in the central highlands, the 1st Log has set up a series of refrigeration storage points at ports along the eastern coast of Vietnam. Whenever the roads are open, big refrigerated vans rumble inland; and Army planes airlift the groceries on a regular schedule. While fresh "home-cooked" meals are not yet daily fare for every combat unit, more and more soldiers are queuing up for an evening meal of steaks or hamburgers, fresh peas and corn, fresh eggs and cheese . . . mighty welcome chow in the rugged jungles. CONE LABORATORY OPEN

Ceremonies Highlighted By Plaque Unveiling

The U. S. Army Missile Command dedicated its $1.4 million Metrology Center Thursday, the nation's largest, most completely equipped laboratories for precise calibration and measurement of guided missile equipment.

Mrs. John M. Cone, widow of the late Maj. Gen. John M. Cone, for whom the 39,000 square foot laboratory complex is named, cut a ribbon to complete the short dedication ceremony. The traditional red ribbon had a tape measure superimposed upon it, symbolic of the measurements function of the new laboratories.

Mrs. Cone looked for the number "13" and cut squarely through it explaining: "It's my lucky number."

Lt. Gen. William B. Bunker, Deputy Commanding General, U.S. Army Materiel Command, in his dedication address cited the new

The measurements and calibrations functions performed in the new laboratory by its expert staff of 150 can also satisfy requirements of other government agencies as well as the Army needs for which it was designed.

Technicians wearing white laboratory coats, engineers, secretaries and others joined civilian dignitaries from Huntsville and Madison County, and visiting Army general officers for the brief ceremony.

Both Gen. Bunker and Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, commanding General of the Missile Command, who served as master of ceremonies, praised General Cone's contributions to the Army's metrology program which is essential in insuring the quality and reliable performance of military weapons. Gen. Cone and Gen. Zierdt were classmates at the U.S. Military Academy and close personal friends.

Mrs. Cone and her son, Lt. John M. Cone, Jr., also unveiled a bronze plaque to be placed in the lobby of the new building. The plaque is a profile of General Cone with the inscription "His standards are the base on which we build."

In a private ceremony prior to the laboratories dedication Gen. Bunker had presented to Mrs. Cone the Distinguished Service Medal award posthumously to her husband for his exceptional military service and the Soldier's Medal for heroism in recognition of his attempts to aid a man trapped in an overturned automobile. Gen. Cone, who was then commanding White Sands Missile Range, N. M., suffered a fatal heart attack last March while trying to free the accident victim.

The Tennessee Valley Chapter, Association of the United States Army, hosted a luncheon for the program participants in the Redstone Arsenal Officer's Club.

Commandant of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, and former Commanding General of Army missile activities at Redstone Arsenal, attended. Other out-of-area dignitaries attending included Maj. Gen. Leland G. Cagwin, CG of the Army Test and Evaluation Command; Maj. Gen. Horace H. Walker, Division Engineer, Army Corps of Engineers; Brig. Gen. Horace Davisson, newly designated CG of White Sands; and Brig. Gen. Thurston T. Paul of the Army Staff.

Also, John J. Riordan of the Office, Secretary of Defense; Col. Karl Eklund, Acting Commander, White Sands; Seymour J. Lorber, Director of Quality Assurance at the Army Materiel Command and Col. William A. Porter, Commanding Officer of Anniston Ordnance Depot.

LIGHT MOMENT DURING DEDICATION—Though the occasion was as solemn as the grey skies overhead which threatened to rain out the ceremonies, there were still times for laughter last week during the dedication of The John M. Cone Laboratories. Here an off-the-cuff comment brought smiles to the faces of three main participants in the dedication. They are (left to right) Lt.

Gen. William B. Bunker, Deputy Commanding General of the Army Materiel Command, Mrs. Cone and Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the Missile Command. The Laboratories were named for Mrs. Cone's late husband whose face is engraved on the plaque, center, that will be installed in the new building.

SUSTAINED EXCELLENCE—Six Redstone organizations now have Minuteman flags in recognition of another year of sustained participation above 90 per cent in the savings bond program. The new flags were presented to the heads of the organizations at a recognition luncheon at the Officers Open Mess on Monday. Shown with the new flags are, left to right, Col. J. N. Jean, commander, Army Missile Support Command; Col. E. J. McGinnis, Director, Procurement and Production; Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General, Army Missile Command; Thad Holt, state director of the U. S. Savings Bond Program; Col. William S. Grabowski, Director, Supply and Maintenance; John McDaniel, Acting Director, Research and Development; Col. Thomas Ashworth, Comptroller, U. S. Third Army; and Col. Erwin Graham, Commandant, Army Missile and Munitions Center and School. Col. Ashworth made the presentation to the School while Mr. Holt presented the flags to the Missile Command units. The Minuteman flag is awarded to an organization for attaining 90 per cent participation for a three month period and a white star is added for each year that the rate is maintained at the minimum requirement. The Missile Command flag has one star, each of the other flags have two stars.

PROUD MOMENT—Mrs. John M. Cone and her son, Lt. John M. Cone Jr. share a proud moment with the Distinguished Service Medal and the Soldier's Medal, awarded posthumously to Maj. Gen. John M. Cone, and presented to Mrs. Cone in ceremonies Thursday immediately preceding the dedication of the laboratories named for the general.

GENERAL PAUL VISITS REDSTONE—The Director of Plans and Programs in the Office of the Chief of Research and Development in Washington, D. C., Brig. Gen. T. T. Paul, Jr. spent last week touring facilities at Redstone Arsenal. In the Physical Sciences Laboratory of the Missile Command's Research and Development Directorate, Dr. John P. Hallows, Jr., (center) laboratory director, and George Tanton explain some of their projects.

Wheeler Refuge Applications Due September 30

Opening Day For Doves Saturday

Only a few days remain for hopeful goose hunters to make application for a reserved blind at Wheeler National Wildlife Refuge during the annual waterfowl hunt which begins there on Nov. 16.

In the meantime, Alabama's small game season opens at noon Saturday when doves become legal shotgun targets throughout the Tennessee Valley, provided you have written permission from the landowner to hunt on his property.

Persons planning to hunt on the Arsenal must have completed the required Hunter's Safety course.

Applications for the goose hunt must be received at the Wheeler Headquarters by Sept. 30. You can apply by addressing a post card to Thomas Z. Atkeson, manager, Wheeler National Wildlife Refuge, Box 1643, Decatur, Ala. Be sure to list your return address and the date you want to hunt.

Shooting will be permitted only from 50 blinds placed within specified areas of the refuge. The hunting area this season will be extended east from Limestone Bay to Rockhouse Landing.

Dates for the hunt will be Wednesday through Saturday beginning Nov. 16 and continuing through Jan. 14. When applying, specify the day you want to hunt and what alternate days will be acceptable. Only one application will be accepted from an individual.

Atkeson plans to conduct a drawing on Oct. 3 to determine who gets the blinds among the thousands of applications anticipated. Those who get blinds will be notified by mail of the date their reservation will be honored.

As in the past, hunters must present a state license and duck stamp at a control point near the Highway 31 bridge over the Tennessee River together with their reservation to receive a blind assignment.

All reserved blinds that go unclaimed on any day will be assigned by a drawing shortly before legal shooting time.

The 70 day state goose season, with bag limits unchanged, opens Saturday, Nov. 5. Duck season, with five extra days added this year to make 45 in all, opens on Nov. 24. A change in legal shooting time will be in effect this year. Hunting begins one half hour before sunrise and must end at sunset.

State game regulations should be checked to determine the bag limit on various species of ducks and geese.

Softball Finals Set For Monday

An untimely combination of rain and temporary duty has thrown a crimp into the scheduling of the final game of the Civilian softball league post-season tournament.

First it was the rain interfering with the regular schedule of games leading up to the finals and then when the field had been reduced to the two finalists, several of the players were called on for trips away from Huntsville.

As a result the game between Finance and Accounting and the Pershing Project Office, that was to have been played last Wednesday, has been rescheduled for next Monday evening. Weather permitting, that is.

When play started last week six teams were still in the running with the two finalists still unbeaten. Documentation eliminated Procurement and Production with a 10-4 win and Communications ended the Data Processing hopes for a clean sweep in a 7-6 barn burner.

F & A sent Pershing spinning into the losers bracket with a 12-7 setback and Documentation came back to knock off Communications 15-8.

Pershing earned the right to challenge F & A for the title with a 9-8 squeaker over Documentation as Wayne Dahlke smashed a two-out home run in the bottom of the seventh. Dahlke connected with a mate on base to turn almost certain defeat into a last minute victory for the Missilemen.

COLLECTING THEIR AWARDS—Ray Bridges (center) and Howard Andrews (right) accept their awards for play in the P&P Golf League this summer from Paul Schaeppi, Deputy Director of Procurement and Production. Bridges teamed with Floyd Clark to win the team championship and added the low individual average to his laurels, while Andrews received a special award for scoring the only hole-in-one during the season. Other golfers honored were Billy Perkins, Bill Evans and Ralph Kay, all of whom played for the runner up team, and Eddie Hainmons who was cited as the most improved golfer during the season.

Clean Sweep Wins Is Order Of Day

It was all or nothing in the MMCS Officer bowling league last week with each of the four matches ending in a clean sweep.

For two of the winners in was the second sweeper in a row. The Rounders and the Black Jacks swapped opposition this time around with the same result as the Bad Gnus and the Rocket Rollers left the Post Lanes still looking for their initial win.

The Satellites won all four from the Hubs and the Swags had entirely too much for the Squirrel Hill Mob.

On the individual front the Swags placed three of their members at the top of the list. Bob Hannon was first with a 553 effort, Don Davis was close behind at 548 and Tom Wilkerson came in with a 547. Karl Pasch shot a 506 for the same team.

The pickings were a little slim in the rest of the league. Bob Percy shot a 534 total for the Rounders and Milt Fogel connected for a 521 for the same team. Lin Varney toppled 530 sticks in the losing Hub attack and Tom DeLoach ended the evening with a 505 for the Black Jacks.

Tom Lindsay Gets Fast Start In Repeat Effort

Flashing the form that made him civilian bowler of the year last season, Tom Lindsay got the new bowling season off to a rousing start last week with a 267-pin bomb in his very first game.

Lindsay ended last season with a 186 average, the top effort among the better than 200 employees who regularly engage in the four civilian leagues. His opening game heroics provided all other members of the bowling fraternity with firm evidence that he intends to keep his laurels.

The Fayetteville bomber ended his opening night foray with a 623 total, one of the three Honor Roll counts posted last week. A. F. Rosencutter connected for a 601 in the Supply Management League and Bob Adams turned in a 613 set in the Field Services League.

There were no 600 bowlers in the AMC League although Jim Kyzer made a good run at it before ending with 594.

Lindsay started his big game with a spare and then missed the nine pin in the second frame. That blow upset Tom and he took his spite out on the pins by firing nine straight perfect hits before leaving up the 9-pin again.

He came back with a 192 in the middle and then had to settle for a 164 in the third game when a 45-minute breakdown threw him off stride. The big opener provided the Huntsville Brick and Tile with an even split with the Pin Busters.

Rosencutter also started fast with a 235 in leading Lily Flagg to a trio of wins from Pearsall Flowers. Other top efforts in the Management League were rolled by George Bush, whose 578 led the Debuggers to a sweep, by D. B. Smith who had a 558 for HUBCO, and by Howard Helmick, who connected for a 553 for the Pin Busters.

The Brick and Tile five shot a 1031 (952 scratch) game and a 2944 set.

Adams was the second Honor Roll bowler in two weeks of action in the Field Service League. He reached the select circle with games of 217, 208 and 188.

Ralph Sturgill took runner up honors with a 573, Gene Foster shot a 565 and Nick Sparks rattled the maples for a 557, as the defending champion Guided Muscle team took over the top rung of

Williams To Speak On Cost Reduction

The Army Missile Command's Cost Reduction Coordinator, Horace M. Williams, will speak during the next month at two cost reduction seminars sponsored by the Continental Army Command.

In Ft. McPherson, Ga., on September 26-27, he will address representatives of 23 Third Army elements on the Missile Command's cost reduction program. He will deliver the same speech, entitled "Success Through Motivation", in Fort Sam Houston, Tex., during an October 10-11 seminar. Attending the Texas meeting will be representatives of 15 elements in the Fourth Army area.

Grace Wachsler Shoots To Golf Championship

Grace Wachsler ended two days of competition on the Redstone Arsenal Golf Course as medalist and champion of the Golf Group sponsored by the Redstone Officers Wives Club. Runnerup was Claire Miller.

Winner in the first flight was Camille Schlendering with Louise Hix finishing in the runner-up position.

The trophies will be presented at a luncheon

Macy Tops A-B-C League With 616

With Tom Wilkerson continuing his hot pace the Wheezers made it two sweeps in a row by brushing aside the Black Jacks in the A-B-C Officers bowling league at the Post Lanes last week.

Wilkerson followed up his 566 of the previous week with a 546 this time and his mate chipped in with the necessary support to keep their record clean after two weeks.

The Lucky Strikes were not so lucky though and fell out of the unbeaten ranks by dropping three and a half points to Saturn. Tom Rodgers led the Saturn attack with a 546 and Carl Bayer was almost as productive with a 542.

The two best individual efforts were put together in the match between the War Hawks and the the league standings.

The Crackers shot the best game, a 1035, while the Chiefs, led by Sturgill, turned in a 2970 series.

Kyzer was the top gunner in the Star attack that netted the top series of the evening, a 2898 total. It gave the Stars a trio of wins from the Angels.

Oliver Patrick started with a 229 and ended with 573, Walt Heflin had a 235 game and a 561 series, and Al Lemanske totalled 563 with a 222 game. Roy Bates turned in the best game, a 244.

The Ramblers dropped their first two games to the Maulers, but came back with a 1079 (952) scratch to earn an even split on the evening.

Pin Splitters. Ron Macy took top honors with a 616 Honor Roll count on games of 202, 212 and 202 to lead the Hawks to a 3 to 1 win.

Dwayne Ready splintered 555 maples in the losing cause and Russ Gale contributed 532 sticks.

In the other match on the weekly card the Hopefuls took three from the Mixers as Oakly Drumheller shot a 224 game and a 510 series.

Dieter Grau is scheduled to talk about the Marshall (Space Flight Center) Philosophy. He's the Director of the Quality and Reliability Assurance Fabrication Laboratory.

BRIDGE COMPETITION

Six tables of competitors among the Redstone Officers Wives Club bridge group played at the Redstone Officers Open Mess Thursday.

Bert Brown held high cards with Mabel Thompson in second place. Vera Fearson third and Cathy Smith low.

At The Service Club

By CARLEE WATKINS

The Rotary Club will host a tour of Huntsville for enlisted men on Saturday Sept. 24. The trip is planned so that one may get a birdseye view of the Rocket City in one afternoon.

Huntsville is a city of contrasts. Where Indians once shot arrows and held Pow-wows is now America's Missile Aerospace Development Center known as Redstone Arsenal.

Leaving the Service Club at 1 p.m. the tour will go through the new Research Center park and then to downtown Huntsville past the new courthouse and the city hall for a view of the city from the observation platform.

A visit to the residential section will tell a story of gracious living of the past. The unique architecture and workmanship of some of the homes date back to 1818.

At the foot of picturesque Monte Sano mountain are modern ranch style homes standing alongside restored ante-bellum mansions and at the top of the mountain a state park recreational area.

Climaxing the tour a stop for refreshments at one of Huntsville's popular drive-ins as guests of C. C. Armstrong, John R. Jones and T. P. Gates, Rotarians.

FIRST MEETING AS HUSBAND AND WIFE—SSG Hans Struik (Neitherlands Army) greets his wife for the 'first' time although they have been married for over four months. Sg. Struik, attending school at the Missile & Munitions Center & School and his wife, Louki, were married by proxy while he was in the Fort Benning, Ga. hospital. Not one to become easily excited about things, Sg. Struik was fast asleep when the proxy marriage took place at 5:30 a.m. (EST) with his father-in-law standing in for him at the wedding ceremony.

Soldier Sculptor Designs Plaque For Laboratory

A mathematician turned sculptor designed the plaque of Maj. Gen. John M. Cone which graces the new Metrology Center building in the U. S. Army Missile Support Command.

He is Mike Price, a Chicagoan who earned both Bachelor and Master degrees in mathematics at the University of Illinois.

Price came to Redstone Arsenal as a soldier assigned to the Air Defense Control and Coordination Systems Office of the U. S. Army Missile Command; As a second job, he took over a class for sculptors at the University of Alabama, Huntsville.

In Huntsville, Price was an active member of the Art League. This Fall he is teaching at Tulane University and studying for a Master's degree in sculpting, a course of study he began as an elective in 1962.

Engineers And Scientists Study Guidance Navigation

Army Missile Command engineers and scientists from the Army Inertial Guidance Management and Technology Center have just completed an intensive week-long course on Digital Techniques in Guidance Navigation. The course was conducted by three Massachusetts Institute of Technology professors, Dr. L. R. Young, Dr. J.

E. Potter, and Dr. A. L. Hopkins. Approximately 35 men from the Center, and element of the Missile Command Research and Development Directorate, attended the state-of-the-art course designed to keep them abreast of the latest technology in their field, both academically and in the research and development of hardware for Army Missile systems.

The course, sponsored by the Center, was a follow-on of last year's Inertial Guidance and Navigation series also initiated by the Center, and was conducted as a joint venture with the University of Alabama in Huntsville. Coordination of the course was provided by the Army Missile Support Command Training and Development Division.

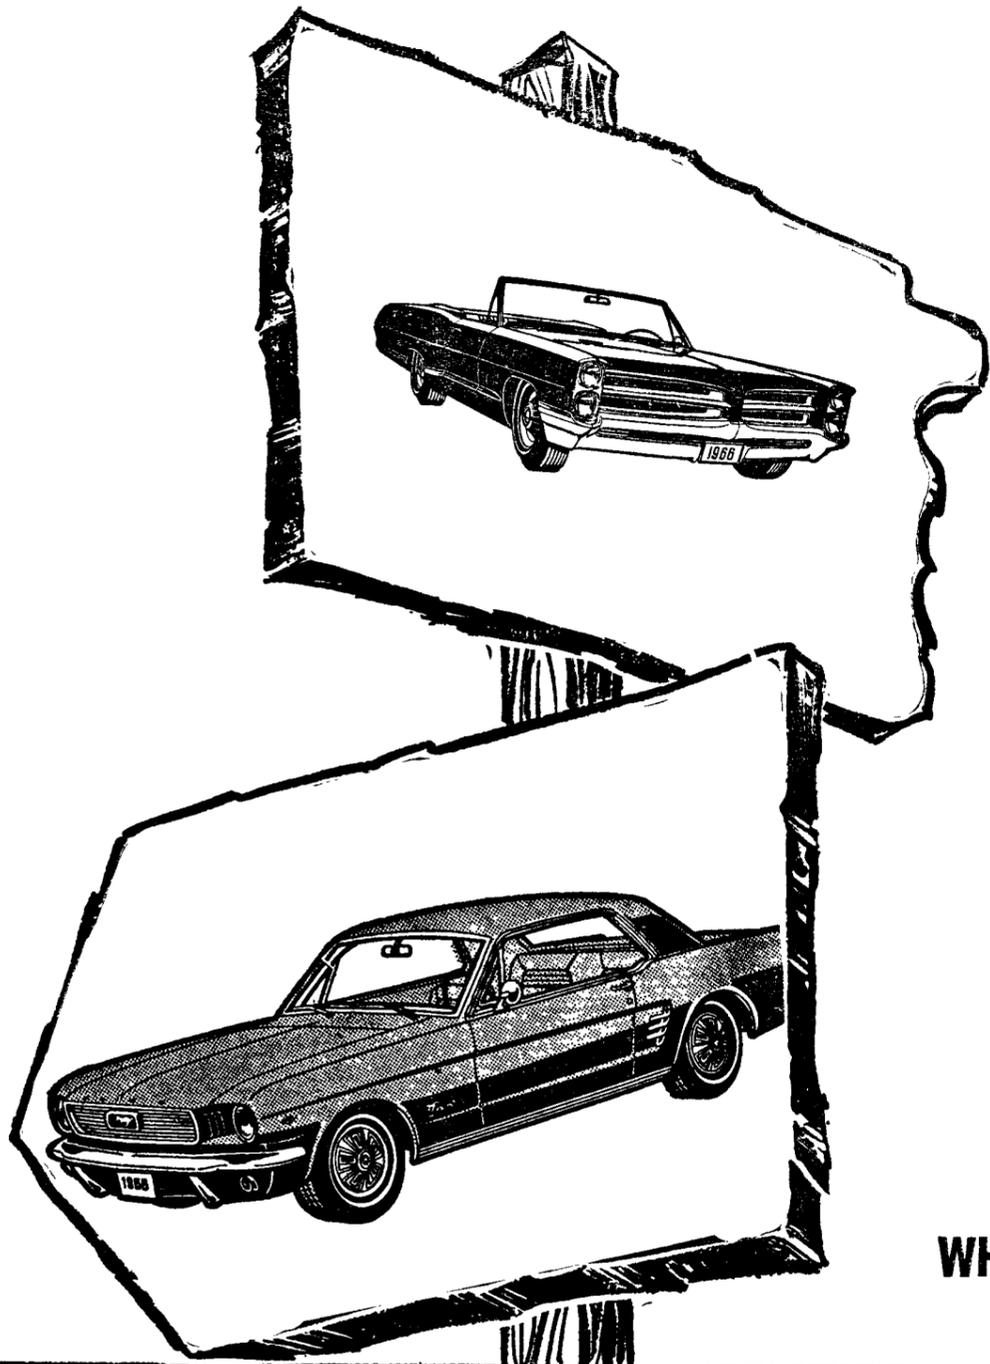

Before the course started, students attended "brush-up" sessions to clarify terminology to be used in their classes this week. These refresher sessions were lead by Prof. C. C. Dearman of the University of Alabama who had reviewed the course notes.

By holding the classes on Redstone Arsenal, considerable cost reduction resulted as travel and contingent expenses were avoided. The students could "stay home" while being alerted to the latest advances in their fields of science.

HAPPINESS IS BEING PROMOTED—Col. James W. Lothrop (center) is all smiles—and understandably so. Shiny new eagles were pinned on his shoulders this week in ceremonies at the U.S. Army Missile Command. Doing the honors is Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Missile Command Commanding General, with an assist from Mrs. Lothrop. The new colonel, now attending the Project Managers' school at Dayton, Ohio, has been named Special Assistant to Brig. Gen. E. I. Donley, Deputy Commanding General for Land Combat Systems at the Missile Command.

Gold Series Community Concert Memberships Open

Memberships are available for the Gold Series in the 1966-1967 Community Concert season, according to Alan L. Compton, SAM-D Project Office, President of the local association.

Robert Shaw, his Chorale and Orchestra lead the Gold Series this season. This will be Mr. Shaw's final tour with the group as he will become the conductor of the Atlanta Symphony next season. This concert will be on April 18, 1967.

Jorge Bolet, pianist of international renown and concert artist who has been soloist for all of the major orchestras of the U. S., will be the featured solo attraction for this series. Mr. Bolet's concert will be on January 11, 1967.

The Zurich Chamber Orchestra which appeared in Huntsville will return to the U. S. and Huntsville. This group of 28 musicians was warmly accepted by the Huntsville audience in their first tour. This concert will be on February 6, 1967.

The New York Brass Quintet

opens the season on October 24, 1966, with a unique presentation of traditionally classical and contemporary classical music. Each of this group is also a solo artist in his own right.

The remaining memberships may be obtained between Sept. 18 and Oct. 1, 1966, and will be solicited by local workers. For those who have not been contacted directly, information on memberships may be obtained from Mrs. William Dale, 534-3996. If Mrs. Dale cannot be reached, call C. J. Rieger, 881-0973, or the Huntsville Arts Council, 539-2592.

Memberships for the series are $12.00 for adult members and $6.00 for students. All concerts will be held in the Huntsville High School Auditorium on the dates indicated.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Flank, respectively, won the Monday night bridge competition last week at the Redstone Officers Open Mess with Mrs. Mal Gatwood

Cantata Singers Sought For Christmas Vespers

The adult choir, which sings at the 10 a.m. service, rehearses on Thursdays at 7 p.m. This choir will be the backbone for the Christmas Cantata, Roy Rinqueld's Story of Christmas which will begin its rehearsals at 7:45 on Thursdays. The performance will be at Christmas Vespers service December 18 at 6:30 p.m.

The Chapel Choir is made up of young people in grades seven through 12. They sing at the 11:15 Sunday Service and rehearse on Sundays at 5:45 p.m. The Junior Choir, grades three to six, also sings at the 11:15 a.m. service and practices Sundays at 6:45 p.m. Bus transportation is provided for both the Chapel and Junior Choirs. A newly organized Cherub Choir depends on parents' carpools for transportation and practices at 2 p.m. on Thursday. Members attend kindergarten, first and second grades.

The choirs will sing Carols of the World on the first part of the Christmas program and the Cantata will be presented as the second part.

OUTSTANDING GRADUATES—Sp6 Doyle D. Piland (left center) and Sp5 James M. Farris are congratulated by Sergeants Major John W. Monger (left) and R. A. Weaver upon being awarded Association of the United States Army Outstanding Scholastic Plaques at the U.S. Army Missile & Munitions Center & School, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama. SGM Monger is the first guest speaker in the enlisted ranks to address a graduating class and SGM Weaver was Master of Ceremonies. AUSA awards are presented to students maintaining an average of 96 percent or more during their course.

MAYOR HELPS CELEBRATE—Brig. Gen. and Mrs. I. O. Drewry were hosts Friday evening at a party for some 160 persons at the Redstone Officers Open Mess to celebrate the General's recent promotion. Among the guests were Mayor and Mrs. Glenn Hearn, here chatting with their hosts. Other guests included Maj. Gen. and Mrs. John G. Zierdt, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. C. C. Harvey, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. E. I. Donley, Madison County Commission Chairman James Record, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Spragins and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Cummings. Brig. Gen. Drewry is Nike-X Project Manager and was promoted to his present rank on September 1.

Outstanding Graduates Receive AUSA Awards

Eighty eight students graduating from the U. S. Army Missile & Munitions Center & School, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama were charged today with the responsibility of "keeping our equipment and ammunition in top condition" by their guest speaker, SGM John W. Monger.

SGM Monger is the first senior ranking enlisted man to address a graduating class at the school. Also taking part in this 'first' for MMCS was SGM R. A. Weaver who acted as Master of Ceremonies for the exercise. Monger is Sergeant Major of the U.S. Army Missile Command while Weaver is the MMCS Sergeant Major.

The 39-year old guest speaker also stressed cost in evaluating the schooling the students had just completed. He asked them to "pause for a moment and try to think how much money your parents would have had to spend to send you to this school." He then told the graduates "you begin to understand how important you really are to the Army when you stop to think of how big an investment it has made in you."

Praise from two General officers was noted during his speech. He pointed out that Gen. W. C. Westmoreland had cited the Army's school system for the high caliber of individuals under his command and that Maj. Gen. Charles W. Eifler, Commandant General of the 1st Logistical Command in Vietnam recently commented that "In Vietnam any lack of professional standard on faults in training stand out in vivid relief and I find the Missile & Munitions School training measure well under this microscope caused by tactical operations."

Included in the all-enlisted graduating classes were two soldiers of France and four members of the United States Marine Corps. There were a total of eight graduating classes.

Two men were awarded the Association of the U.S. Army Honor Student Award. They were, Sp/6 Doyle D. Piland, who attained a 96.8 point grade average, and Sp/5 James M. Farris with a 96.4 point grade average. The AUSA Honor Student Award is given only to those students that attain a 96 point grade average. It is one of the Army's highest academic awards.

Honor graduates included: PFC Bobby J. Harrison, 90.6, 1SG Joseph O. Beatty, 94.6, PFC William E. Woods, 94.2, PFC Joseph S. Pitski, 87.8, PFC Lawrence F. Rep III, 89.7, PFC Harold G. Norris, Jr., 87.6, and PVT Hughlon W. Graham, 93.4.

DEFENSE SUPPLY AGENCY procurement nearly doubled in FY66, increasing to $5.7 billion from $3 billion in FY-65. DSA, which furnishes commonly used supplies such as food, clothing and POL to all military services, attributes rise to impact of Southeast Asia military buildup. (AFNB)

Not a stripe on his sleeve. He's not in the Air Force, Army, Marines, Navy. But what this United Air Lines chef doesn't know about preparing food hasn't been discovered yet.

His handiwork is one of the extras you get when you fly United. Another is extra seats. Still another, extra cities. Right now we may have as many as 124,000 seats flying to 115 U.S. cities. Any one of them could be yours.

So come see United Air Lines next time you've got a lot of ground to cover and very little time to do it.

P.S. Remember that men and women in U.S. uniform, with military leave authority, fly (stand-by) at 50% off regular Coach fare (this rate also applies within 7 days after discharge). You can sit anywhere the seats are, even in First Class when the other seats are filled.

Brooks Off To School On Weinschell Fellowship

"Welcome to the faculty" reads a letter to Morris J. Brooks Chief of the low voltage section of the electronics Laboratory in the Army Missile Support Command's Metrology Center.

AFCEA MEETS AT MESS TONIGHT

The Redstone-Tennessee Valley Chapter of the Armed Forces Communications Electronics Association (AFCEA) will meet at the Redstone Officers Open Mess tonight, at 6:30 p.m.

The guest speaker will be Guy Jackson, City Editor of The Huntsville News, his subject, "The Newspaper in a Growing Community."

Jackson is a native of Alabama and has been in the newspaper business for over 30 years. He has traveled extensively throughout the country. He received his formal education in Arizona.

Jackson's efforts had much to do with the success of the state wide fund raising program to berth Battleship USS Alabama at Mobile, as a permanent public monument to its gallant service during World War II.

CONTAMINATION CONTROL

The American Association for Contamination Control will hear Dr. H. G. Lorsch, Manager of Space Craft Sterilization for the Missiles and Space Division of General Electric at 6:30 p.m. tonight at the Redstone Officers Open Mess.

Dr. Lorsch will talk about the Manufacture of Biologically Clean Planetary Space Craft.

Brooks, known to his colleagues as Jack, is about to attend George Washington University on a Weinschell Fellowship.

The Fellowship is in micro-wave measurement and measurement science. He does not expect to teach any courses but does expect to have a busy schedule at George Washington.

A member of the staff at the Metrology Center since July 15, 1962, Brooks has a Master's Degree in engineering after attendance at series of colleges including Los Angeles City College, the University of Chattanooga, the University of Tennessee, Knoxville and the University of Alabama, Huntsville. The Los Angeles venture was a part of the V-12 program during World War II.

After the war he returned to his home state to pursue his education before going to Charleston S. C. to work at the Naval Shipyard. He tried to establish a measurement reference standard throughout the laboratories while working as an engineer. Later he was asked to establish and head a standards laboratory for the shipyard.

The Brooks family, including three children, live in Huntsville.

MORRIS J. BROOKS

SOLDIER OF THE MONTH— Private First Class Gerald E. Overton, 21, has been named the August "Post Soldier of the month" at Redstone Arsenal. A 1963 graduate of Northwestern High School, PFC Overton is a graduate of the Ballistic Missile and Internal Guidance Control Repair course, (Perishing), where he earned honors as the "top student", at the $75 million dollar U. S. Army Missile & Munitions Center & School. He is presently assigned to the 7th Enlisted Training Company, School Troop Command. Overton entered the service in Oct. 1965, and completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., before arriving at Redstone Arsenal.

SGM R. A. WEAVER

Sergeant Major Returns To School

The U.S. Army Missile & Munitions Center & School, has regained the Sergeant Major it lost in 1959.

Sergeant Major R. A. Weaver recently assumed the same position he left in 1959 when he received orders assigning him to Germany. In between his tour of Germany and his return to Redstone Arsenal SGM Weaver served with Headquarters, U.S. Army Alaska.

A veteran of 23 years military service, he has also served in Korea with the 84th Engineer Group. During this assignment his unit was awarded the Presidential Unit Citation.

SGM Weaver acts as the senior enlisted advisor to Col. Erwin M. Graham Jr., School Commandant, on matters pertaining to the enlisted men assigned to MMCS. He coordinates and advises the commandant in administrative functions. He also accompanies the commandant on staff visits and inspections, makes recommendations on utilization of Senior NCO's, and assists and advises NCO's of the staff.

SGM Weaver is a native of Dublin, Georgia, and is a graduate of Dublin High School.

VISITS ARSENAL FRIDAY—Mrs. Jean Berry, of Lusk, Wyo., who is the reigning Mrs. U. S. Savings Bonds, will visit Redstone on Friday as part of her tour as the goodwill ambassador for the savings bond program. The five foot, three, blue-eyed blond will tour Arsenal facilities, visit with the personnel of several organizations, and have lunch with enlisted personnel at the AMSC troop mess. It will be the fourth consecutive year that the Arsenal has been included on the agenda for the nationwide tour.

EAGLES FOR COLONEL BAEN—Flashing a happy smile at friends and well-wishers, Col. Spencer R. Baen, Shillelagh Project Manager, has new insignia pinned on his shoulders in ceremonies at the U. S. Army Missile Command. Doing the honors are Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the Missile Command and Mrs. Baen.

ment of the Army's first guided missile to be launched by a tank cannon. Capable of defeating any known enemy armor and effective against field fortifications as well, Shillelagh's 152mm gun-launcher can fire either missiles or conventional ammunition and is highly accurate against moving or stationary targets.

The colonel was assigned to the Shillelagh Project in July, 1965, coming here from Washington where he completed studies at the Industrial College of the Armed Forces.

A native of San Antonio, Texas, he is a graduate of Texas A&M College. In addition, he holds MS and PhD degrees in Mechanical Engineering from California Institute of Technology.

Among duty assignments, Col. Baen has served in Korea and Hawaii, with the Armored Board at Ft. Knox, Ky., with the Air Defense School at Ft. Bliss, Texas, and in the Office of the Chief of Research and Development in Washington. He has also attended the Air Defense School at Fort Bliss, Advanced Artillery School, Fort Sill, Okla., and the Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

He holds the commendation medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Col. Baen is married to the former Joyce Kirkland of San Antonio and they have four children, Rosemary Kay, Paul, Peter and John.

Shillelagh Manager Promoted

Lt. Col. Spencer R. Baen, Project Manager of the Shillelagh anti-tank weapon system, was promoted to the rank of full colonel here today in ceremonies at the U. S. Army Missile Command.

Col. Baen's new eagles were pinned on by the boss of the Missile Command, Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt.

As Project Manager for Shillelagh, Col. Baen directs develop-

Suppliers Share
Of Missile Dollars

The Army Missile Command is offering both large and small businesses who are suppliers and manufacturers of Army missile parts an expeditious way to share in more than $1.5 million worth of government contracts through a Procurement Fair Oct. 5 at Redstone Arsenal.

At the event, sponsored by the Missile Command Procurement and Production Directorate, between 200 and 250 procurement packages will be available for examination by prospective contractors. Package values vary from relatively small dollar amounts to hundreds of thousands, and are requirements for Army missile repair parts including machined items, electrical and electronic parts, mechanical items, cable assemblies and gyros.

The Fair will open at 8:30 a.m. and continue throughout the day with registration in the lobby of Bldg. 4483 on the Arsenal.

Special arrangements are being made to facilitate the visitors' entrance to Redstone, and parking areas will be provided.

Col. E. J. McGinnis, Procurement and production Director at the Missile Command, will open the Fair and introduce Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the Missile Command, who will welcome the visitors. A procurement official will explain the "ground rules" for this Fair which is the first of a continuing series planned for the first and third Wednesday each month.

The visiting contractors may then examine the procurement packages. Release of packages to those interested will begin at 9 a.m. Included are both formally advertised and negotiated procurements. One master set of a complete package for each item solicited will be available for examination and viewing throughout the Fair. The solicitations include detailed bidding or proposing procedures for guidance in preparing a response. An Army Small Business advisor will also be available for consultation.

A complete list of all items for which proposals are sought will be made available to all attendees, and a limited number of items sought will be on display during the Fair.

Announcements of the Fair are being mailed to inform industry of the event.

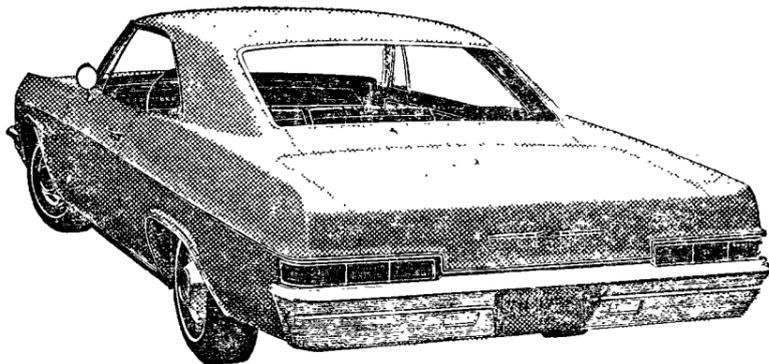

For further information, contact the Procurement Information Center, 876-5441, 876-3567.
