MICOM OFFICER CITED—Lt. Col. John McCarthy, Chief of the National Inventory Control Point, pins the Army commendation medal on Capt. John Hulder, in recognition of the latter's meritorious service while serving with the 14th Inventory Control Center in Saigon, South Vietnam. Capt. Hulder was assigned to the Missile Command after returning to the States in October and is a Project Officer with the NICP of the Supply and Maintenance Directorate.

Benefit Association Offers Accident Insurance Plan

Civilian and military employees of the Army at Redstone Arsenal will soon have the opportunity to buy travel accident insurance under a special plan.

The Redstone Benefit Association, which administers a group life insurance program for Army civilian employees, will administer the proposed new plan.

More than 3,600 military and civilian employees expressed interest in a travel accident insurance plan during a survey conducted earlier this year. Since that time, 21 companies were invited to submit proposals.

An evaluation committee, composed of representatives from major Army elements at Redstone, selected a proposal from Continental Insurance Company as the most advantageous. The plan has been concurred in by the Army Missile Command, the Missile and Munitions Center and School and the Nike-X Project office.

At this point, officials of Redstone Benefit Association and the insurance company are working out details for the program, and initial enrollment is tentatively set for late December or early January.

Preliminary planning is for a policy with a minimum coverage of $10,000 and a maximum of $100,000 in multiples of $5,000. Members will also have the opportunity to purchase insurance for their wives and dependent children. Coverage will also be available for pilots with a maximum of $50,000.

Additional details will be announced in the near future.

Posthumous Award Made County's First Casualty

Madison County's first soldier to be killed in action in Vietnam, PFC Marion F. Acton, has been awarded the Silver Star Medal for gallantry during the fierce battle in which he lost his life.

The 18-year-old rifleman, son of Gaines H. and Jeanette P. Acton, suffered mortal wounds on April 11 while serving with Company C, Second Battalion, 16th Infantry. He had been in Vietnam since May 1965.

Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the Army Missile Command, presented the medal to Mr. Acton Monday in a private ceremony.

The citation accompanying the medal prepared by Headquarters, First Infantry Division, said in part:

"Private First Class Acton was serving as a rifleman when his company was engaged in fierce combat by an estimated Viet Cong battalion. Hostile machine guns were inflicting heavy casualties on the advancing American troops. Private First Class Acton, with complete disregard for his personal safety, advanced undetected to a machine gun position and engaged the Viet Cong crew, killing them all with his automatic rifle.

"Though he was constantly exposed to the Viet Cong and their fire, he continued his advance and inflicted many additional casualties among the enemy. He was preparing to single-handedly assault yet another hostile gun emplacement when he was mortally

$20.5 Million Earmarked For Services

Several hundred orders ranging from less than a dollar to several hundred thousand dollars totaled more than $20.5 million to cover support services at the Army Missile Command during the last month.

Firms in Alabama received approximately $2.5 million, and Huntsville's share was more than $2.3 million. The rest of the awards were spread nationwide.

Some of the goods and services purchased are office and laboratory supplies, business machine rental, food, clothing, electronic gear, and various repair parts.

These orders do not include those for a million dollars or more

Kwajalein Power Plant Contract Let

The Nike-X Project has announced the award last week of a $1,198,193.00 contract to the A. G. Schoonmaker Company of Sausalito, Calif., to design and manufacture a power plant for Meck Island in the Kwajalein Test Site.

The precise power plant will become part of the Project's complex research and development program for the Nike-X missile system underway at Kwajalein.

The contract was awarded through the Army Corps of Engineers which said it comprises an initial award to the company for the power plant.

Redstone Arsenal's Redstone Scientific Information Center is playing host this week to the first workshop to be sponsored by the Army Technical Library Improvement Studies. More than 60 librarians from throughout the country are expected to attend.

Starting Tuesday with a welcome address from Col. William F. Kaiser, Chief of Staff of the Army Missile Command, the workshop will run through Thursday afternoon.

Primary concern of this first workshop on "Automation in Libraries" is a discussion of automated procedures and services. Redstone Scientific Information Center has been referred to as a prime example of the effectiveness of modern library techniques in the rapid dissemination of technical information throughout the Missile Command and Marshall Space Flight Center and their supporting contractors.

Edward B. Taylor of the Engineering Extension Service of Auburn University is General Chairman of the Workshop. The three-day program is divided into four areas: General Systems, Current Dissemination Programs, Retrospective Searching and On-Line Applications.

Kay D. Guiles of the Library of Congress is the only visitor participating in the program covering General Systems. Redstone Scientific Information Center personnel taking part will be Fred E. Croxton, Director; Mrs. Clara T. Rogers, Chief, Documents Section; Section;

Dependents Medical Benefits

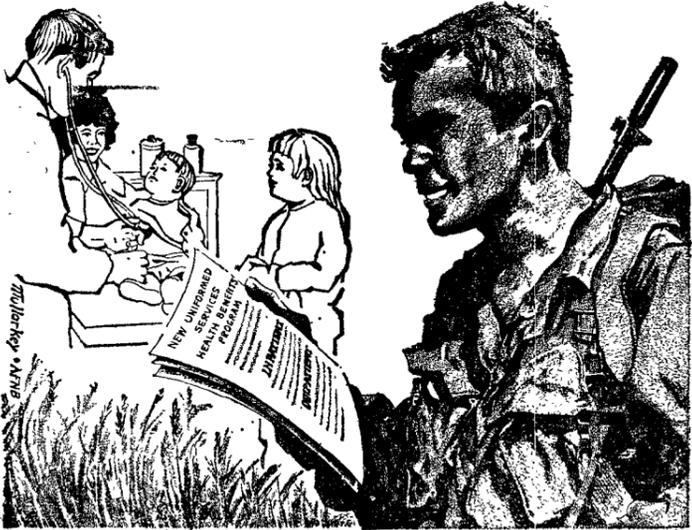

A serviceman gets a warm feeling when he knows his loved ones are well-cared for and safe.

American fighting men separated from their families because of an overseas assignment, or a service family assigned to a remote area, now have renewed insurance that dependents will receive adequate medical care.

The Military Medical Benefits Amendments of 1966 passed by the 89th Congress is now law.

The new Uniformed Services Health Benefits Program lists major changes in medical benefits provided by the Government.

These benefits are for dependents of active duty, retired, and deceased members of the uniformed services, plus retired members of the Armed Forces.

In a nutshell, the new health benefits fall into three broad categories:

- Civilian outpatient care for the wives, children, and dependent husbands of active duty personnel.
- Civilian inpatient and outpatient care for retired members and their wives, children and dependent husbands, and the wives, children, and dependent husbands of members who died while on active duty or in a retired status.
- Institutional care, training, rehabilitation, and special education in civilian facilities for wives, children, and dependent husbands of active duty members who are moderately or severely mentally retarded or who have a serious physical handicap.

The new law eliminates restrictions on types of hospitalization which may be provided dependents, such as treatment for nervous and mental disorders and chronic conditions.

If used wisely, the Military Medical Benefits Amendments of 1966 should prove advantageous to the serviceman and his family—providing the necessary health care for wives and children of those wearing uniforms of this country's Armed Forces. (AFNB)

United Givers Funds Get Lions Share Of Record Contribution From Arsenal

Sixteen Alabama and Tennessee United Givers Funds will share in the record contribution made by Army personnel at Redstone through the 1967 Combined Federal Campaign.

The annual fund-raising effort was concluded two weeks ago but scattered donations have continued to trickle in to campaign headquarters. As of last Friday, the contributions totaled $231,013.19.

The largest single recipient of the Redstone gift is the Huntsville-Madison County United Givers Fund. The local organization will receive a total of $195,080.49 that was contributed through cash donations and payroll deduction allotments.

In addition to the area community drives, very liberal donations were made to the National Health Agencies and the International Welfare Agencies. The former will receive $36,969.12 with another $7,204.73 going to the latter organization.

The unofficial breakdown of funds that were designated for other United Givers Funds is: Guntersville, $4, 531.85; Morgan County, $10, 771.80; Athens and Limestone County, $8,419.40; Colbert County, $355.10; Lauderdale County, $603.86; Albertville, $1,625.46; Lawrence County, $578.57; Arab, $7,040.30; Cullman County, $967.67; Jackson County, $1,594.82; Blount County, $337.40.

Those in Tennessee are Murphresboro and Rutherford County, $20; Bedford County, $66; Fayetteville-Lincoln County, $4,042.97; Giles County, $803.74.

$9.7 Million Contract Let

The U. S. Army today awarded a $9,734,777 million contract to Radio Corporation of America, Burlington, Mass., for electronic equipment that can automatically test guided missile systems.

The equipment is called the Land Combat Support System.

Under the contract, several LCSS sets will be delivered to the Army for initial field support of the Shillelagh anti-tank weapon system. These test sets will enable soldiers in the field to conduct rapid tests and repairs of Shillelagh equipment.

The LCSS program is managed by the U. S. Army Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Ala., under Col. Cyril D. Sterner, Land Combat Commodity Manager.

Consisting of two primary pieces of equipment—an electronic test set and an auxiliary repair and storage set—LCSS is based on a modular building block concept. Housed in standard Army tested shelters and transported by helicopter or on Army trucks, LCSS can pinpoint in minutes a missile system malfunction—even to a piece part or non-repairable module. When the malfunction is detected, details are printed out in English, along with directions to eliminate the trouble.

LCSS can even fault-isolate its own assemblies.

Negotiating the contract for the Army was Systems Contracts, Division A, of the Missile Command's Procurement and Production Directorate, headed by Col. E. J. McGinnis.

Florida Company Receives Contract

The D & A Equipment Company, Inc., of Pensacola, Florida, has been awarded a $593,068 contract for constructing additional facilities at Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Alabama, for training soldiers in military occupational specialties, according to Army District Engineer at Mobile announced last week.

The Pensacola firm will erect six prefabricated metal buildings with concrete floor slabs and concrete masonry unit interior partitions, and provide all necessary utilities, drainage, and sidewalks.

Nine similar MOS training buildings are already under construction at Redstone under a contract awarded last July to Pearce, DeMoss and King, Inc., of Decatur.

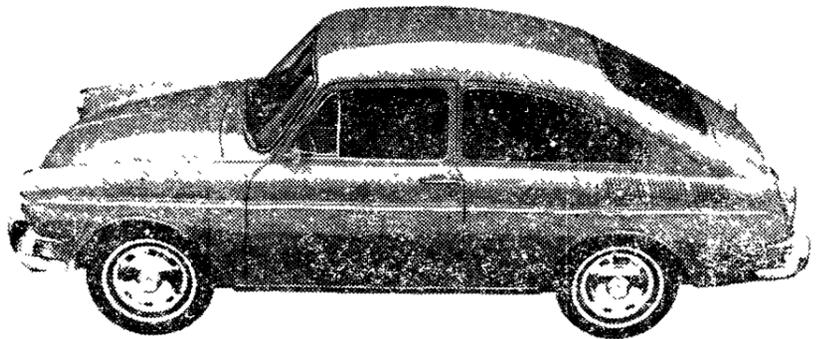

Because of the urgent need for the buildings, which are required to be completed for use one a week from Feb. 14 through Mar. 22, the Corps of Engineers invited competitive proposals from seven pre-qualified contractors. The contract was awarded to the firm making the lowest of the four offers received. The contract was set aside for award to a small business concern.

Make sure you like it before you buy it. You know how long Volkswagens last.

Like it or not, that's a Volkswagen. With all the beauty of the funny-looking one.

An air-cooled engine that can't boil over or freeze and averages 28 miles per gallon of gas. Which is pretty good for a car that goes 84 miles per hour.

We not only put in a lot of what makes the bug so nice. We also put in a lot of what makes the bug so nice for so long.

Sweat.

The Volkswagen Fastback is made the same way Volkswagens were made ten years ago. Since most of them are still around, that couldn't be too bad.

It goes through 3,120 inspections. Nothing gets into the car that isn't perfect.

For a scratch on the door that only a trained VW inspector could ever see, we'll scratch the whole door.

We even take a lot of pains with what you can see. The paint job involves 2 chemical baths, 3 sandings (one by hand) and 4 coats of paint.

So first be sure you like the Fastback. Then be sure to pick a color you can live with a long time.

Procurement Fairs Well Received

The Army Missile Command's Procurement Fairs have been well received by industry according to the representatives of two Huntsville firms who recently received contracts as a result of the first Fair in October.

The events are sponsored by the Missile Command Procurement and Production Directorate.

The Huntsville industrialists pointed out that the title "Procurement Fair" has a double meaning. They say it is not only a competitive exhibition of the Army's current requirement for missile components, but gives all qualified companies an equitable opportunity to see everything being offered and submit bids or proposals.

"We consider the Fairs a fair way of doing business," is their sentiment.

Wallace E. Fine, president of Fine Instruments, Inc., a small business concern located at 3300 6th Ave. S. W. in Huntsville which specializes in precision manufacturing, received a contract for his firm to produce a bolt clevis assembly for the Nike Hercules air defense missile system.

"I like the Fairs because they give everyone a chance," he said, "and we can pick our own areas by going through all the procurement packages available at the events. I haven't missed a Fair yet and I won't miss any."

He also emphasized that Jeff Darwin, the Missile Command's Small Business Advisor, has been extremely cooperative and helpful to him.

The head of another Huntsville small business, John R. Everett, and his contract administrator, John McCutchen, said the Fairs have been the means of bringing new types of work to their company, Meridianville Machine Shop, Inc.

"Everything the Army needs in the way of machined items, electronic components and other such materials for missiles is laid out at the Fairs. We get to see them all which is an improvement over waiting to see on which packages we might be solicited to bid when our name came up on a rotating list," McCutchen said, "and also we realize we're competing with firms all over the country."

"We've been doing business with the Army Missile Command for about four years," Everett said, and he and McCutchen both felt that for their type of operation procurement procedures have been simplified and "the pay comes faster" they added.

Meridianville Machine Shop, Inc. received a contract to produce a manifold actuator cylinder for the Hawk air defense guided missile system. Their field is precision machine work and sheet metal fabricating.

The next Fair is scheduled for Nov. 16. The events start at 8:30 a.m. in Building 4488 on Redstone. Issue of the procurement packages selected by the contractors begins at 10 a.m.

Wives Club Climaxes Lunch With Fashion Show

The November lunch sponsored by the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club was climaxed with a style show of fashions from morning to midnight provided by the Loveman store in Huntsville.

Approximately 375 people attended the lunch at which Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt received a $500 check for forwarding to the fellowship assistance fund of the Army Distaff Foundation—funds earmarked for assistance to needy wives or daughters of deceased Army officers as a result of the annual Harvest Ball.

Another check for almost $730 dollars was presented to Mrs. C. R. Cranford, welfare chairman of the Wives Club. These funds from the same source will go into the treasury of the Joint Activities Council Welfare Fund.

Hostesses for the event were wives of officers stationed at the Marshall Space Flight Center. Among the distinguished guests was Mrs. Wernher von Braun, wife of the MSFC director. Mrs. Edmund F. O'Connor was chairman of the hostess group.

Through the Looking Glass was a theme carried through with trees of tiny mirror leaves dancing on the branches. A marble-pillored arch with three columns was the base for an oval mirror framed with gold. The walls around the ballroom were lined with mirrors, both framed and unframed in settings to enhance the beauty of the mirrors. Bunches of bluegreen flowers decorated the tables and a representative of Paul Masson presented each guest with a book about cooking with wine. Mrs. J. H. Thompson was in charge of decorating for the luncheon.

Mrs. Morris W. Pettit, the Club president announced the resignation of the recording secretary, Mrs. E. W. Divis, and the corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. P. Mooney. Both their husbands have received orders to transfer. In addition to her job as Wives Club secretary, Mrs. Divis is the chairman of the Nursery Board.

Mrs. Thompson's decorating committee included Mrs. T. I. Dumitru, Mrs. K. J. Martin, Mrs. E. E. Stembridge, Mrs. W. K. Martin and Mrs. Sam Yarchin. Mrs. William H. Loomis was in charge of the menu.

The daytime wools in the fashion show depended heavily on texture, color and seaming, most of them barely shaped. Even the evening costumes were carried on little heels.

Hats were much in evidence ranging from multi-colored yarn to the sumptuous luxury of chinchilla. Costumes of two and three pieces ranged in appropriate time-of-day varieties, one was a soft wool sheath topped by a grape full coat lined to match the dress. The dress was accented at the throat line with the grape of the coat. The evening counterpart was a metallic thread knit jacket and sheath in gold.

Overlength sweaters, long tunics and pleated or slightly flared skirts were in evidence. Many of the dresses were gradations of color such as three tones of blue, mapping the figure from neckline to bust, from bust to hips, and from hip to hem.

Filmy chiffon and lace topped sheaths of crepe and taffeta for evening. One in white was caught at the shoulder with a satin bow. The hem was edged with satin. The flow was slightly reminiscent of the Grecian toga while other styles showed the influence of the East. A black chiffon was called the tent.

In the formal clothes the dips in back came in a variety of shapes, the vee, the square, and the oval. They also varied the depth of the dip. Almost all of the fronts were almost halter high.

To top these confections, a collection of mink stoles and jackets ranging from pastel to ranch of deepest brown topped both daytime and after five wear.

For instance a taupe silk suit was topped by a ranch mink cape and hat. Another shape was the cage in red lace, buttoned with rhinestones down the back and edged at neckline and hem with matching satin. Oversize and normal size sequins were much in evidence and many of the dresses were embroidered with beads of the same or of contrasting shades. Only the wearers discretion will control the glitter in the season's fashion parade. Designers are using neon colors where sequins are inappropriate.

and firing greenware, and finishing in glazes, and is attended by students from ages 10 through 17 who are military dependents. A flyer will be distributed soon announcing the date for starting a new class.

Volunteers Receive Caps In Candlelight Ceremony

Twenty-eight new Red Cross volunteers received their caps at a candlelight ceremony Nov. 15 at the Post Chapel.

Maj. Georgia I. Hasler, Chief of the Nursing Service, assisted by Mrs. Donald E. Burnett, capped the following members of one of the largest classes to train at Redstone Arsenal:

Mmes. Richard C. Angiin, John H. Boyes, Sayre C. Brown, Ora O. Caldwell, Terry M. Carlton, Curley Cornelius, Arville K. Douglass, E. O. Drumbheller, Herbert L. Duncan, Jack W. Forbes, Delmer W. Groves,

Marvin Snow, Peter S. Stadler, William T. Weissinger, Clyde B. Williams, Christian S. Yamate and John Zima.

Col. J. N. Jean, Director, Arsenal Support Operations Directorate, presented certificates and Mrs. Milton A. Jones, Chairman of Hospital Volunteers presented Red Cross pins to the new volunteers. Mrs. Henry Arrott, Vice Chairman of Volunteers, administered the pledge and was in charge of the candlelighting. Chaplain Peter T. Farrelly delivered the Invocation and Benediction. Mrs. Manuel R. Flores provided organ music.

T. P. Alvarez, Red Cross Field Director, Redstone Arsenal, welcomed the class with Mrs. Edwin I. Donley, Chairman of Volunteers. The class was presented to Lt. Col. Russell J. Gale, Surgeon and Hospital Commander, who accepted for the Post Hospital.

The ceremony was followed by a social hour hosted by Mrs. Louis Strihafka, Mrs. Thomas Kelley and Mrs. Earl Kingsley.

ELECT OFFICERS

The Golf Group sponsored by the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club elected Blanche Kaiser as its chairman for the next season.

Charlene Powell is the new chairman and Jean Kirby the secretary-treasurer.

The formally programmed schedule ended with the Fall Ringer and presentation of the Club Championship trophy at lunch at the Officers Open mess last Wednesday. However, golfers stop for nothing except weather, and an informal get together will continue among the golf group—weather permitting.

Post Gridders End Season In All-Star Clash

Gates Open For Saturday Battle

An All-Star game which could very well be the "clash of the year" officially closes the 1966 football season at The Arsenal on Saturday afternoon.

The Arapahos and the Bulldogs, from the Enlisted Training Companies of MMCS, will combine their best against the MMCS Hawks and Directorate of Arsenal Support Operations Bulldogs in the finale.

The Arapahos finished the season in first place with a 5-1 record but were upset victims when beaten, 36-14, by the third-place Bulldogs in the final regular season game.

The Bombers finished in second place with a 4-2 record. But in their last start against the winless Hawks they barely escaped with a 12-6 victory. The Hawks lost their last three games by a total of only nine points, and were rated by many as the most improved team in the league in the second half of the season.

All Arsenal and Huntsville area fans are invited to the game that will start at 2:30 p.m. at the Redstone Arsenal football field.

Wheezers Continue Fast A-B-C Pace

The Wheezers widened their lead in the A-B-C Officers bowling league to three and a half points last week with a well rounded attack that netted a pair of wins and half of another from the War Hawks.

The second place Lucky Strikes five was only able to win a single point from the Mixers, the Hopefuls won three out of four from the Pin Splitters and Saturn had the same winning margin against the Black Jacks.

Bill Steinebach was the top gunner in the Wheeler attack with a 570 total. Bob Coon contributed a 229 game along with a 535 series and Tom Ellis rolled a 524 set that included a 228 game.

Both of the big games came in the middle as the Wheezers put together a 1013 game. Their 2829 series total was also the best of the evening.

Carl Bayer was runner up in the individual race with a 539 for Saturn and Duane Ready shot a 525 for the Pin Splitters.

Civilian Bowling Leaders Find Going Plenty Rough

The civilian bowling season is only about a third along the way and for the three defending league champions, it's a good thing, because all have bowled themselves into a place where they have ground to make up.

In the Field Service League the Guided Muscles have dropped all the way to a very unfamiliar fourth place while the Bombers in the AMC and HUBCO in the Supply Management League are still holding onto second.

After winning the league title for the past two years and then adding the Directorate roll off to their laurels each time, the Musclemen are finding the going plenty rough this time around.

"We're getting a lot of pins," claimed Nick Sparks, "but they just aren't falling at the right times." As a result the erstwhile leaders are losing several close games, something that they aren't accustomed to doing.

Bramblets doled out the second straight 3 to 1 loss to the defending champions last week to stay atop the standings. The Expeditors moved into second, two points off the pace, with a sweeper over the Rejects.

The new leaders got a 540 from Ralph Sturgill and a 534 from Billy Tippins while the Expeditors took their lead from Fred Hopper who collected 537 pins.

Mike Shuput took scoring honors for the league with a 568 for the Banner TV five and Theron Sumner tossed a 250 game on his way to a 555 total for the Crackers. Sam Boda chipped in with 542 as the Crackers had a 1061 game and a 2996 series.

The Bombers went into last week's action with a share of the lead but came out of it trailing the Ramblers by four points. The latter five got a 543 from Tom Patterson and a 540 from Dick Gore as the Bombers were suffering through one "of those nights."

Frank Strawn set the AMC individual pace with a 571 for the Skippers. Howard Helmick fired a 533 for the same team but it was not enough to stave off a 3 to 1 setback from the Hi-Lo's.

Al Rossi shot a 537 as the Lancers collected 2934 pins and three wins from the Stars whose Ken Bell connected for a 536.

HUBCO was hit with a clean sweep scored by the Shoot 'n Scoots last week and dropped two points behind the Auto Center, a three time winner over the 7 Ups. They get their chance to reverse the deficit this week when the two meet head to head.

Hal Williams led the Auto Center in their surge to the top with a 564 and Cliff Cline pitched in with 542 more. Roy Parmalee led the HUBCO downfall by clearing the decks of 563 pins while D. B. Smith did him two better in the losing cause.

Ray Harlston grabbed off the league scoring honors with a 586 in leading the All-Sports to a trio of wins from the Manglers and Chet Wysocki kayoed 542 maples for the same team.

CONTAMINATION

The American Association For Contamination Control meets at 6 p.m. tonight at the Redstone Officers Open Mess.

Buxton To Be At Chapel On Saturday

The Officers Christian Union will be host to the organization's National executive secretary, Cleo Buxton, Saturday and Sunday at the Redstone Post Chapel.

Buxton, a World War II Ranger in North Africa and Italy, will be the guest of honor at a Fellowship breakfast Saturday morning at 8 a.m.

The conference will begin at 12:30, following the theme "Christian Growth In Witness."

At 6 p.m., the members and interested participants of the conference, will join the Protestant Fellowship members in a potluck supper in the Chapel Social Room.

Sunday morning, Buxton will

speak at both Protestant services at the Chapel. He was ordained a Baptist minister after graduation from the Princeton Theological Seminary which he attended at the conclusion of World War II. He has been executive secretary of the OCU since 1952 and recently returned from an International speaking engagement in Europe.

Lt. James L. Leet is the coordinator for the conference. Details about the conference, which is open to everyone, can be obtained by calling the office of Maj. C. R. Cranford, 876-0678.

STC Keglers Go All-Or-Nothing

Clean sweeps must have been the order of the day in the STC Bowling league last week with five of the eight matches ending with an all or nothing result.

Company C No. 1 scored one of the sweeps to protect a three game bulge over Headquarters No. 1, another four-time winner. Other sweeps were scored by Co. B No. 2, Nike FMTE and the Fourth ETC.

Jerry Weisner grabbed individual honors for the evening with a 608 honor roll count in leading Co. A to a 3 to 1 margin over Co. C No. 2. Weisner's big total was highlighted by a 256 game.

Bill Belt was not far behind, missing Honor Roll status by a land McCary, 876-3153, has additional information.

Brown And Belt Win The Turkeys

It was Turkey Day in the Thursday morning ladies bowling league last week with Liddy Brown and Lu Belt getting off to a fast start on their Thanksgiving Day dinner.

Actually Liddy could have grabbed off both of the birds that go to the bowlers with the best game and the best series. She had a rousing 232 game and ended the series with a 538 total.

But league rules limit the winnings to one per bowler so Lu got the other turkey with a 526 series.

The two were pitted against one another and Lu got a little better support from her mates in leading the Bowling Bags to three out of four from the Do Nothings.

A third 500 series went into the books under the name of Doris Pound who collected 515 maples in pacing the Twisters to three wins from the Splatter Pins.

The Queen Pins and the Angels split their set and the Rare Spares won three out of four from the Four Hopefuls in other matches. Martha Trump rolled a 188 game for the Pins and Ann Wiener totaled 463 for the Hopefuls.

Furphy Memorial Service Scheduled In Amarillo Today

AMARILLO, TEXAS—Col. and Mrs. Foster L. Furphy, U. S. Army Retired, were notified during the weekend that their only son, Specialist 4 Kent P. Furphy, 22, had been killed in action in Vietnam.

Memorial services are scheduled for 9:30 a.m. today (Wednesday) in St. Stephens Episcopal Church, Amarillo. The family has expressed a preference that flowers be omitted and suggests that friends who wish make a memorial donation to the charity of their choice. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery at a time to be announced.

Specialist Furphy died Nov. 12 from injuries caused by the fragments of a Claymore mine. He had been in Vietnam since April of this year, having volunteered for duty there following 10 months in Korea.

He was graduated from Westlawn Jr. High School in Huntsville, Alabama, and attended Butler High School in that city from 1961 until 1963. He was active in school football, the Butler High choir and Boy Scouting in the Huntsville area while his father was Chief of Staff of the U.S. Army Missile Command at Redstone Arsenal. The Furphy's came to Redstone in 1959.

The family has been living at 1214 South Kentucky Street, Amarillo, since Col. Furphy retired in October 1963, after completing 34 years of military service.

Other survivors include a sister, Mrs. James Stovall, Amarillo, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Stovall, 8809 148th Street, Jamaica, New York.

Rugby May Soon Join Sports Scene

The latest effort in new sports in the ever expanding Redstone sports scene is Rugby Football.

It. Chuck Wells of The Nike-X Project Office, came up with the idea for the new team.

Wells and another former Rugby player, Carter Welford will coach the British-type football team made up of 15 players.

They asked that any former football players or Rugby players meet them at Brahan Springs practice field at 4:30 Wednesday to begin practice sessions.

According to the two the team will play matches with Birmingham, Nashville, Mobile, Atlanta and St. Louis if possible this season.

For further information, prospective players are asked to call Wells at 876-3110 during the day or 877-5758 after 5 p.m. or Welford at 876-7337.

Marines Observe Anniversary

Members of the Marine Corps at Redstone Arsenal celebrated the 191st anniversary of the founding of the Corps with two Balls Thursday night.

The officers and senior noncommissioned officers held the ceremonies, cut the cake and danced in the patio room of the Redstone Officers Open Mess.

The balance of the men observed the ceremony, and concluded with

Recruits May Enter OCS From Basic Training

FORT MONROE, VA. — High school graduates entering the Army may apply for Officers' Candidate School (OCS) during in-processing at reception stations, a spokesman for Headquarters, United States Continental Army Command announced today.

Under the old system, only soldiers having college degrees could apply at reception stations.

The new procedure was recently tested for high school graduates during reception station processing at Fort Benning, Georgia, and Fort Jackson, South Carolina.

Test results were so favorable that the program has been expanded USCONARC-wide. It will begin November 14, 1966 at the Army's 11 reception stations — Fort Benning; Fort Jackson; Fort Bliss, Texas; Forts Knox and Campbell, Kentucky; Fort Dix, New Jersey; Fort Bragg, North Carolina; Fort Ord, California; Fort Polk, Louisiana; Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri; and Fort Lewis, Washington.

By processing for OCS at the reception station, the applicant can be assured of an assignment to specialized AIT which will best prepare him for the OCS he will later attend, according to a spokesman from the office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel.

The spokesman added, "It is more advantageous to the individual when the decision is made early in his career. For example, under the old program the final decision was often made so late that the applicant was already in Infantry AIT when selected to go to Engineer OCS."

At the reception station, an inductee or enlistee may apply for any branch OCS. He must score at least 110 on the General Technical Aptitude Test, 115 on the Officer Candidate Test, and 128 on leadership ability and potential. If he qualifies, the candidate is then interviewed by a commissioned officer to determine his acceptability for OCS.

Eligibility requirements remain essentially the same. The prospective candidate must be 18-27 years old at time of acceptance, be a US citizen, possess high moral character, and meet physical fitness standards. For applications made at the reception station, a formal high school education is required. Two years of high school mathematics (or equivalent) are necessary for attendance at the US Army Artillery and Missile

School, Fort Sill, and the US Army Engineer School, Fort Belvoir. Those who do not meet the prerequisites for the accelerated reception station program may still apply for OCS during BCT or later during their term of service.

After BCT and AIT, applicants then attend OCS at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland; Forts Belvoir, Eustis, and Lee, Virginia; Forts Benning and Gordon, Georgia; Fort Knox; or Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

The USCONARC spokesman concluded: "From this new OCS recruiting program we expect to inform the applicant during the third to fourth week of BCT what class he will attend; get the man to the specialized AIT which will best prepare him for the OCS he will attend; avoid having men sitting in Army Training Centers waiting for assignment orders; and reduce administrative processing time of applications."

TEMPORARY ENLISTED PROMOTION quotas have been released major Army commanders for November. The quotas, by grade, are E-9, 79; E-8, 328; E-7, 1,233; E-6, 4,162; E-5, 19,247; and E-4, 46,370.

German Literature Arrives At Special Service Library

What would you do if you received a letter from Germany offering some books printed in German?

That's what happened to CWO William L. Kelly of the U. S. Army Missile & Munitions Center & School, Kelly, who is Chief, Hawk Maintenance Section, MMCS, received a letter from The Lions Club in Kassel, Germany, inquiring if MMCS would like to have books sent here for the German students to read.

The gift books, which have already arrived, will help to alleviate a problem at the Special Service library here at Redstone. For some time now the German students have been asking at the check-out desk for books in their native language. Thanks to the Lions Club in Kassel, the students are no longer "desperate" for reading material. Previously the books that were on hand were in constant circulation, with a long waiting list to check them out. Now, with the receipt of 350 books, the problem has been alleviated.

This is the first time that a civic organization outside of Huntsville, has made such a significant contribution to the welfare of foreign students at the multi-million dollar school.

Attending the "book unpacking" ceremony at the library were Col. Erwin M. Graham Jr., MMCS Commandant, and the German Air Force and Army Liaison Officer, LTC Hans-Werner Tesch and LTC Hans-Joachim Behrends.

BOOKS ACROSS THE SEA—Officials at the U. S. Army Missile & Munitions Center & School inspect a shipment of German books, recently received from the Kassel, Germany, Lions Club. Looking on are (L-R) Lt. Col. Hans-Werner Tesch, German Air Force Liaison Officer; Col. Erwin M. Graham Jr., MMCS Commandant; and Lt. Col. Hans-Joachim Behrends, German Army Liaison Officer. Helping to sort the books are SSG Heinz Meurich, (left) of the German Air Force, and MSG Heinz Klein, of the German Army. Approximately 350 books were sent to the Special Services library at MMCS to provide literature in the native language of the German students who are attending courses at the $75 million dollar school here.

At Ease.

Ever see anyone more relaxed and trouble-free? Maybe it's because of his two-week leave. Or perhaps he's dreaming of his welcome home. We like to think it's because he's enjoying the friendly skies of United.

Sure, the stewardess is pretty.
The chow? Almost as good as Mom's!
And that seat's soft enough to sleep in.
But, best of all, he didn't waste his leave lounging around the airport. He started winging his way home fast because he went to where the seats are. He went to United, the airline with the world's largest jet fleet.

Men and women in uniform, with authorized military leave or furlough papers, fly (stand-by) at 50% off regular Coach fare. (This rate also applies within 7 days after discharge.) They can sit wherever the seats are, even in First Class when the other seats are filled.

So, next time you travel, put yourself at ease. Fly United.

MOQUIN TO TALK TO MILITARY ENGINEER MEET

Joseph Moquin, president of the Brown Engineering Company, will be the guest speaker for the monthly meeting of the Huntsville Post of the Society of American Military Engineers at the Officers Open Mess tomorrow evening. Moquin will speak on the topic, "The Use of Management Information."
 A graduate of Washington Univ., in St. Louis, he joined the Huntsville-based firm in 1959 and was elected president earlier this year. The luncheon meeting will open OPENING ETV CLASS—Col. Sam J. Clark, Deputy Director of the Arsenal Support Operations Directorate, presents a certificate to Nora Zeman during ceremonies concluding the first class to finish the supervisory and management development course through the Alabama Education Television Network. Mrs. Zeman, chief of the Supply and Maintenance Directorate's Library Unit, was one of 12 supervisors representing Army elements at the Arsenal to graduate from the opening class. The course consisted of eight 30-minute TV lecture sessions, each followed by a two hour conference for the purpose of discussing solutions to management problems.

Huntsvillians See Air Show Over New Jetport

More than 10,000 automobiles and an estimated 40-50 thousand people jammed the new Huntsville-Madison County Jetport Sunday to view the spectacular Air Force Thunderbirds and Army Golden Knights aerobatic performance.

The largest crowd ever assembled in the Huntsville area, witnessed the two hour show sponsored by the Metropolitan and Huntsville Kiwanis Clubs. The audience included thousands of spectators stranded along nearby highways when the performance began.

Termed highly successful by Kiwanis officials, the show proceeds will benefit the Kiwanis youth activities. Included in the days attractions was the performance of several local high school bands, and the show officials were assisted with traffic and concession problems by Boy Scouts, Boys Club, and Key Club members.

The Army's Golden Knights Parachute Team thrilled spectators with their daring precision maneuvers including the breathtaking "cutaway". The stunt brought gasps from the near capacity crowd as a falling "Knight" opened his chute normally then collapsed the canopy and again plummeted earthward. At a scant 1800 feet he opened a second chute and drifted safely to the ground.

The Thunderbirds knifed through the afternoon sky for nearly 30 minutes and dazzled spectators with their precision formation and low altitude maneuvers. The performance included various multi-craft rolls through which the Thunderbirds guided their several planes as one. Another spectacular touch illustrated the low and high speed capabilities of the F-100 Super Sabre jets. With the four-ship-wedge creeping before spectators at a mere 170 miles per hour the solo plane streaked past them at a blazing 600 miles per hour.

Drawing special interest during the show was the precision work of Capt. Henry Canterbury, of Huntsville. Performing before hometown folks and during a day proclaimed "Capt. Henry D. Canterbury Day", the Air Force Academy graduate flew his "slot" mission to perfection.

Third Army Celebrates 48th Anniversary

HEADQUARTERS, THIRD U. S. ARMY, Ft. McPherson, Ga.—The Third United States Army will mark its 48th birthday on Tuesday, Nov. 15.

Today, the Third Army embraces the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, and Tennessee, plus that portion of Fort Campbell which lies in Kentucky. The total land area of Third Army installations is approximately 918,172 acres, an area greater than the state of Rhode Island.

The Third Army has the largest troop concentration of all continental armies. It also has an impressive number of training facilities.

It is responsible for administrative support of all United States Continental Army Command (USCONARC) schools located in the Third Army area.

Among these are the Special Warfare School at Fort Bragg; the Army Aviation School at Fort Rucker; the Women's Army Corps School and Army Chemical School at Fort McClellan; the Army Military Police School and Southeastern Signal School at Fort Gordon; the Army Missile and Munitions School at Redstone Arsenal, and the U. S. Army Infantry School, the largest of all the Army Service Schools, at Fort Benning.

The principal organizational element within Third Army today is the Headquarters, XVIII Airborne Corps at Fort Bragg. The 12th Support Brigade, and the 82nd Airborne Division are assigned to the XVIII Airborne Corps.

Reserve component activities within Third Army center around the IV US Army Corps in Birmingham, and the XII US Army Corps, headquartered in Atlanta.

The Third US Army is charged with the responsibility of training and providing logistical support for the US Army Reserve and Army National Guard in the area.

Third Army also trains, administers and provides logistical service for our 54,000 ROTC and National Defense Cadet Corps cadets in 110 universities, colleges and high schools.

The Third Army is responsible for the preparation of plans for the ground defense of the southeastern United States and the coordination of those plans with the commanders of units of other services in the Army area. It also provides assistance to civil authorities in disaster relief and domestic emergencies.

In its 48 years, from 1918 to 1966, the Third Army has twice served as an occupational force in Germany. In that "international police" capacity Third Army served, much as it is serving today, as a powerful instrument for peace.

Third Army's greatest fame was won in 281 days of combat, Aug. 1, 1944, to May 8, 1945, when it smashed the Nazi war machine and contributed to the destruction of Hitler's Third Reich. Under the code name "LUCKY" the Third Army kept faith with its commander's pre-invasion promise: "We shall attack and attack until we are exhausted, and then we shall attack again."

Today, Third Army's mastery of land warfare tactics is being continually updated and kept abreast of developments in an "airmobile" era.

In this brief account of the history of the Third US Army lies a tribute to the stirring deeds and stout hearts of American fighting men. The record of the "LUCKY" Third is a challenge to every Third US Army unit and an inspiration to every individual soldier.

NEW REGIME TAKES OVER—Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt presides over a short ceremony as Leonard Brockman turns over the chairmanship of the Combined Federal Campaign to his successor, Wallace Kirkpatrick, who will head the fund raising drive at Redstone next year. The changeover took place during an awards ceremony in which Gen. Zierdt presented certificates to the campaign workers who were responsible for the record breaking contribution made by Army personnel this year. George Parker (left) of the Arsenal Support Operations Directorate, and Leonard Twinem, agency chairman for the Supply and Maintenance Directorate, turned in over $100,000 in contributions from their respective organizations.

Wiesman Calls For 'Uncommon Man'

A NASA speaker for graduation ceremonies at the U. S. Army Missile & Munitions Center and School at Redstone Arsenal Friday, called the leading countries ability to produce the "uncommon man" their key to staying ahead in the competitive world.

The guest speaker was Walter Wiesman, International Communications Coordinator at Marshall Space Flight Center, Redstone Arsenal.

He cited the leading countries as those with the uncommon men, whether in business, government or industry.

He described the uncommon man as one with experience, who recognizes opportunity, and has the ability to adjust to changing conditions.

Calling today's need for these men, "greater than ever," Wiesman said, "there is more opportunity now than the world has ever seen. If you are able to adjust to rapid change, based on your past experience, you'll be the uncommon man urgently needed for tomorrow."

During the ceremonies, six students were cited for leading their class in grade average. They were: PFC George M. Badger, Pvt. William Friedeberg, PFC Noel W. Walter, PFC Ronald Wakula, PFC Thomas E. Dechant and Pvt. Michael H. Berry.
