As Time Runs Out, CFC Needs Help

"We've got a long hard pull ahead of us, and not much time," is the way Lloyd Lively, the Area Coordinator for the Annual Combined Federal Campaign assesses the current status of the drive.

Five-sixths of the solicitation has been completed but less than three quarters of the assigned Federal employees have responded, Lively commented in reviewing the latest progress report.

The Figures for the Missile Command's participation is even less encouraging with slightly less than 70 percent response.

The progress report released by reports chairman Gene Sisson last Friday the funds collected were approximately $75,000 behind last year at the same time. Over $30,000 of this shortage is reflected in the MICOM report.

"At this time," according to Lively, "our goal of receiving a generous gift from every person is in deep trouble." Also in jeopardy is the proud Huntsville area record of having raised over a half million dollars in six consecutive drives.

The Area Coordinator called on all campaign chairmen and solicitors to extend greater effort during the remainder of this week to insure that all persons have been contacted and asked to contribute to the cause of their choice.

Commenting on the apparently slow progress reported for the Missile Command, MICOM chairman Lee Watson said he felt a lot of the shortfall was due to area chairmen holding back on payroll deduction pledges for the final report this Friday.

He pointed to the average gift per contributor which he said ranked with or slightly ahead of previous campaigns, while the overall participation was down by almost fifteen per cent.

Watson expressed confidence in the final outcome and said a

Swine Flu Shots Start

Flu shots for soldiers will start tomorrow at the Troop Health Clinic in accord with the schedule below.

The shots are mandatory for all active duty military personnel.

Vaccine for dependents, retired and civilian Army employees has not yet come in. A schedule for those shots, which differ in dosage and strain of vaccine from those given soldiers, will be announced as soon as the vaccine is available.

Active duty personnel must take their yellow shot records with them when reporting for the vaccinations.

The schedule announced by MEDDAC for active duty only is as follows:

Nov. 4: 7 - 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 - 4:30 p.m.; HQ, MMCS; Company A; Company B; Company C.

Nov. 5: same hours, 4th; 5th; 6th; 7th; 8th Student Companies; Air Force; EOD; Marines; Navy (Seabees).

Nov. 8: 7:30 - 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 - 4:30 p.m.; 291st MPs; 95th Calibration Co; HQ & HQ MICOM; MICOM activities.

YEP, HIM TOO — The point of all this is that flu shots are mandatory for all soldiers. MG George E. Turnmeyer got his from Capt. Clara Huff while CO1. R.B. McLean, MEDDAC CO, filled him in on plans to vaccinate all military personnel.

Foreign Jails

Army Legal types have released the latest on soldiers spending some time in foreign jails. These figures are the number of soldiers in post-trial confinement as of May 31, 1976.

With the status of forces agreements between many countries, these countries hold the right to try soldiers for crimes committed in their country. Soldiers on leave in a foreign nation may also be arrested and tried for crimes and the military has almost no say in the matter.

Soldiers are jailed in the following countries: Australia-1; Canada-1; Denmark-2; Germany-77; Greece-4; Italy-1; Japan-16; Korea-11; Mexico-3; Panama-1; Spain-1; Thailand-3; Turkey-3. The total Army personnel in foreign jails number 124.

In comparison, the Air Force has 39, the Navy and Marines have 106 for a total of 269 American military personnel in jails. (AR-NEWS)

Troops Put On Good Show

TO: All Enlisted Personnel Who Participated in the Annual Noncommissioned Officers' Retreat Parade

1. As Commander of Troops for the noncommissioned officers' parade conducted 28 October 1976, it is a distinct pleasure for me to personally commend each of you for your superior personal appearance and performance during the ceremony.
2. It would not be practical for me to pass to you all of the laudatory remarks made by the reviewing party and attendees. However, the Commanding General of Redstone Arsenal, the Commandant of the Missile and Munitions Center and School, and many others praised your appearance and performance as being outstanding. I, as Commander of Troops, was especially proud of you. As a technically oriented post, you proved that you are professionals not only in the classrooms and shops but also on the parade ground.

Wooden Tank Takes Top Fair Prize

Tommy Wilkes likes tanks—in fact, all Army equipment, but tanks best.

So, despite the fact he was born with undeveloped fingers on his right hand, he picked up the pen and knife, drew his own tank plans, and carved 1,176 pieces of white pine.

His assembled tank won a first and Best of Show in the hobby class at the Northeast Alabama State Fair this fall.

The sixteen-year-old comes by his talent naturally. His father, James A. Wilkes, employee of Graphic Arts Branch, works as an illustrator and has built wooden toys in the past as a hobby.

"I used dad's shop some", said Tommy, "I cut the track tread squares on his band saw, then shaped them by hand."

The tracks on the tank are moveable and are hinged with brads. The suspension system is workable and has a shock absorber feature which he obtained by using cross sections of a bicycle tube. Auxiliary equipment fits neatly into a tool compartment. There is a model engine viewable when the engine compartment is opened.

The tank also features a turret with missiles mounted on it. However the tank was shown in the fair with a turret and gun.

"I had started the tank when I decided to enter in the fair. So I completed it in two months. I had made two others, but they were not this large. I had carved miniatures of Army equipment before.

"It's fun. After you do it you get a sense you've done something—it's worth doing."

number of MICOM organizations have already distinguished themselves with their response.

He cited the Computer Management Division of the Management Information Systems Directorate, and the Roland Hellfire, and Hawk Projects.

The MISD division reached 100 per cent in participation before the end of the first week of the drive, according to the directorate chairman, Wilton Wigham.

Overall MISD was at 93.1 per cent after four weeks with the contributions totaling some $1,500 more than a year ago.

International Logistics, a part of Materiel Management last year, is at 96 per cent while Materiel Management had reached 89 per cent with two weeks to go. Plans and Analysis was at 95 per cent at the same time.

Roland passed the 100 per cent figure with 76 contributions from the 75 assigned personnel and has banked $1,134 more than the previous campaign. Hellfire celebrated their first drive with a 100 per cent rating.

Hawk, the largest project, was just short of 100 per cent with 97.3 through four weeks. However, their overall contribution was $2,633 ahead of 1975.

Lance was at 98 per cent, Pershing had reached 89.7 and Stinger was at 86 per cent.

The 100 per cent category also includes the Ballistic Missile Defense System Command and the General Accounting Office.

BMDSCOM actually is at 108.2 per cent after having reported 396 contributions and an assigned strength of 366. The Research Park agency reports an average gift slightly in excess of $50.

High participation rates have also been reported by the Missile and Munitions Center and School (96.7), the Internal Revenue Service (93.3) and the Army Engineer Division (86.6).

Engineer Dies

Funeral services for Joe Hiatt, a Missile Command engineer, were held Saturday at the Bryan Funeral Home in Chickamauga, Ga. Burial followed in the Chickamauga cemetery.

Hiatt died suddenly last Wednesday night, apparently of a heart attack. He was 37.

A graduate of Georgia Tech with a degree in mechanical engineering, Hiatt had been employed at Redstone since 1964, most of the time with the Product Assurance Directorate.

For the past year and a half, he was test engineer with the MICOM team conducting production acceptance tests on Dragon and TOW missiles.

Hiatt is survived by his mother, Mrs. Ohlen Hiatt and a sister, Mrs. Raymond Evans, both of Chickamauga.

TAKING SQUIRREL EYE — Given the opportunity to shoulder a Viper launcher during a visit to MICOM, Senator John Sparkman, as they once said in Hartselle where he grew up, took "squirrel eye aim" at a dummy tank. MG George E. Turnmeyer hosted the senator Oct. 27, for briefings, a tour and lunch in the troop dining facility with Alabama soldiers.

Officer RIF Not Expected

WASHINGTON (ARNEWS) — Year group identities of some commissioned officers are being changed. However, DA officials say that the adjustments will have no effect on professional development or assignment consideration—to include school selection and promotions.

Officers who entered on active duty—or who have a Regular Army adjusted date—during the period July 1 through September 30 will now be identified within a year group one year earlier.

For example, an officer who entered on active duty Sept. 20, 1960 has had a year group identity of 1961. Effective with redefinition of the Fiscal Year (FY), the officer's year group has been changed to 1960.

On the other hand, this administrative change has no effect on those officers who entered on active duty or have an RA adjusted date during the period October 1 through June 30.

Appropriate year group date changes already have been made to the officer master files and will appear on officer records briefs printed after Sept. 31, 1976.

Commissioned officers are designated a year group identity for personnel management purposes. This grouping usually corresponds to the FY they entered on active duty. The FY now starts October 1 and ends September 30.

DA officials say there should be no concern on the part of officers concerning school selections and promotions. The change of year group identity will have no effect. Officers are considered for schooling based on their active Federal commissioned service date while promotion eligibility is based on time in service.

Some officers have recently expressed concern over being identified with an overstrength year group. The chief concern, DA officials say, centers around the possibility of a RIF of the year group.

DA officials indicate there is currently no expected need for any additional RIF's. Only with unanticipated severe cuts in allowable officer strengths would it be necessary to consider RIF's in the foreseeable future.

Coyotes Here But Seldom Seen

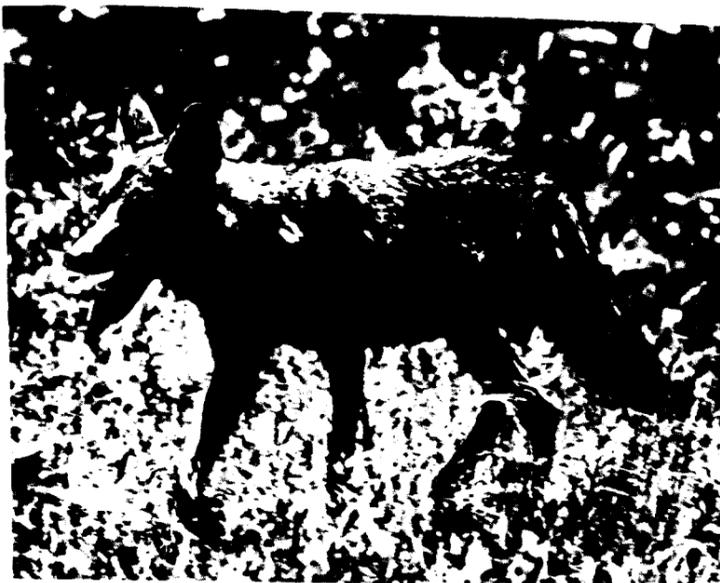

Hunters spot them occasionally looking like runty German shepherds from a distance and every now and then a motorist hits and kills one but the coyotes at Redstone give no indication that they're undergoing the population explosion reported for the species nationwide.

After more than 20 years on the arsenal, the coyotes remain elusive but are not so mysterious as they once were.

The animals are presently establishing themselves in many places far beyond their customary range. Normally associated with the Great Plains of the west, coyotes now seem to be firmly established in the southeast.

After several years of reported sightings in this area, the coyote presence was confirmed in the '50s when Wheeler Refuge specialists got positive identification of a dead specimen found on Highway 20 near Indian Creek. Later a skull found on the arsenal was identified as that of a coyote.

How many are on the arsenal and how and when they got here are not known. Wheeler Refuge Manager Thomas Z. Atkeson considers it highly unlikely that they came here on their own, but were imported.

The strain that occurs here is somewhat different than that in western states and according to one theory has evolved from coyotes mating with wolves and feral dogs.

Feral dogs are strayed and abandoned pets and their offspring that live as wild animals.

Some observers believe that it is feral dogs rather than coyotes that commit much of the killing of livestock and certain wildlife, especially deer, for which coyotes are blamed. Both have been accused of attacking livestock locally.

Feral dogs — and cats — have been on the arsenal and the adjoining Wheeler Refuge for some years. They stay in remote areas but sometimes venture out to the road to pick over carcasses of dead animals. They are sometimes seen in packs of six to eight dogs.

Attempts are made at controlling them but they're probably added to about as fast as they are taken out. They may mate and produce litters once or twice a year. Their numbers may be increased by family pets that are left behind or stray, as dogs are lost by hunters as unwanted animals are brought here and dumped.

But man's best friend is no friend when he returns to the wild. Besides damage done to livestock and wildlife, they have been known to maul humans but no such incidents have been reported locally.

Wheeler Refuge officials have had people say they were chased by feral dogs and one man reported his string of fish taken by one of the animals.

Knights Protect Unbeaten Slate

The Redstone Knights ran past a pair of late October opponents in boosting their seasonal slate to five wins and a tie in six Pop Warner PeeWee league contests.

The Knights hung a 19-7 setback on the International Vikings in an October 21 game and came back six days later to blank the Madison Rams, 25-0.

In the win over the Rams, the dependent youths displayed a devastating ground game that accounted for 253 yards and three touchdowns. The other six-pointer was scored on a pass.

The Knights take this week off and get back into their grid warfare on Thursday, November 11. The International Steelers will provide the opposition in a 6:30 game at the Goss Road gridiron.

Ward Commands MMCS Detachment

Maj. Thomas R. Ward, a native of Albuquerque, N.M., has been named detachment commander of the Missile and Munitions Center and School's Nuclear Weapons Division at Kirtland A.F.B., N.M. He succeeds Lt. Col. Warner W. Talso.

Ward is returning from an assignment with the 84th

Ordnance Battalion in Muenchweiller, W. Germany.

He entered the Army in April 1964 after receiving his commission through the Reserve Officer Training Corps program at Norwich University. From October 1970 to October 1971, he was stationed in Vietnam.

Nelson Joins Guard Bureau

Johnny Nelson, who spent eight years as an education specialist at the Missile and Munitions Center and School, has accepted an employee development specialist position with the National Guard Bureau in Washington, D. C. Nelson began work last week.

The Birmingham, Ala., native first worked for the government as a Co-op student at Marshall Space Flight Center in 1961. He returned to Marshall as a summer clerical assistant, then transferred to the missile school, where he spent three years as an instructor in basic electronics before assuming education specialist duties.

Nelson earned a bachelors in business from Alabama A & M University, Huntsville, in 1964, and a masters in personnel administration from the same school in 1971. Last August, he received an education specialist's degree in human development counseling from George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.

Nelson, his wife Shirley, and their two children will reside in Fairfax, Va.

than a soft job I hate."

That's the way SP5 Tom Burt feels about his job in a Mortar Squad.

"It's rough every now and then. Especially when your unit's short of men and everyone's doing someone else's job too. But it beats doing the same dumb thing day after day.

"And you're only as good as the people in your unit. So even if you don't start out so good, if everyone pulls together and has pride in their unit, you'll end up with a unit the Army can be proud of too.

"As far as reenlistment goes, I'm going to reenlist and reenlist. I got out of the Army awhile back and got my Associate of Arts Degree. But I guess I couldn't get the Army out of me, because here I am. And if I had it to do over again, I'd have stayed in.

"In fact, if anybody tried to talk me out of reenlisting, I'd tell them to go to hell."

QUESTION: If you had the authority, what changes would you make in Army uniforms?

PFC. FAY WILSON, COMPANY A — "Shorten the skirts; make the uniform more feminine and comfortable. I think they should do away with the cord uniform and replace it with the new green dress."

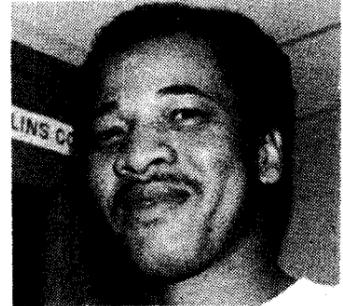

SP4 SCOTT BEHM, COMPANY A — "I would like to have jump boots issued instead of the combat boots they use now. I'd like to see flair pants on the greens and have WAC skirts shorter. I'd also have all the uniforms made permanent press."

SGT. 1ST CLASS DAN SCHUSTER, Company C — "I only have one: put chevrons back on the fatigues instead of those silly pins."

SGT. 1ST CLASS JOHN SMITH, COMPANY C — "Make the ladies' dresses shorter, throw away hats for everybody, and get out of OD green. Change to a three-quarter length boot instead of combat boots. Go to a more conventional shoe because I think the low quarters stink."

MAJ. SIDNEY DAVIS, COMPANY A — "The green uniform should be styled like the old 'pinks and greens' uniform—belted with the epaulette like the rest of the world's standard military cut—instead of this sack."

"You should have an insignia worn on the collar and possibly a knit shirt, so if a man takes off his coat you would know what his rank is. The sweater should be eliminated. It looks like something somebody got from the Salvation Army. A knit-type dress shirt could well be a substitute. Fatigues should be worn as a work uniform. The shirt should be cut like a bush jacket with belt, and have wide sleeves that could be rolled up and buttoned in the summer. The fatigue hat should likewise be a work hat—a bush hat would be much more appropriate. For other than formations, jungle boots should be for optional wear. All enlisted personnel should be issued a set of blues. There would be routine ceremonies and formations for their use. Blues should also be belted similar to the U.S. Army band uniforms. They should also use chukka boots in place of low quarters everywhere but in formations. Wash and wear khakis should be standard issue, and a short-sleeved bush-type jacket should be created for use as a blouse. The Army should campaign to encourage military to wear their uniform off duty."

Open Season For Health Insurance

Civilian employees at Redstone and throughout the Federal establishment have a new opportunity to change their health benefit plans, or to enroll in the Federal Employees Health Benefits program for the first time during the open season that will run from November 15-30.

During the annual open season, eligible employees who have not enrolled may do so, or if already enrolled, may alter their coverage under the program.

Some 60 plans are available during 1977 under the overall program, all of them offering options for the employee alone as well as the employee plus family. Many of the plans offer two price ranges.

Of the 60 plans, two are government-wide, 12 are employee organization sponsored, and the others are comprehensive plans. The types of coverage offered by the plans vary.

One of the government-wide plans, the Service Benefit Plan (Blue Cross-Blue Shield) generally provides benefits through direct payments to doctors and hospitals. The other, the Indemnity Benefit Plan (Aetna) reimburses the individual for payments made to doctors and hospitals.

Employee organization plans may use either the direct payment or reimbursement method in providing medical coverage. Comprehensive plans generally meet medical needs by directly providing medical services themselves.

A more detailed discussion of the types of plans available can be found in pamphlet BRI 41-210, entitled "Information to Consider in Choosing a Health Plan."

Enrollment in the government-wide plans is open to all Federal employees. In employee organization plans the individual must be a member of the sponsoring organization. Employees who live in the service area of a comprehensive plan(s) are eligible to enroll in that plan.

All employees will receive pamphlets, BRI 41-211, "Open Season Instructions," BRI 41-212, "Bi-Weekly Health Benefit Rates", and the brochures of the two government-wide plans. Employees must request brochures of the other plans for which they may qualify.

The costs of health benefits are shared by the employee and the government. The government contributes to each self-only plan, and each self-and-family plan a dollar amount equal to 60 per cent of the average high option premium of the six largest plans.

The maximum government contribution is 75 per cent of any one enrollment.

Time To Winterize

Insulate and Save

Residential heating and cooling will consume almost 11 percent of all the energy used in the United States in 1976.

This could be reduced significantly if homeowners would properly insulate their homes. Insulation can reduce the load on the heating and cooling equipment of the average house and save the householder enough in 3 to 5 years to pay for the cost of installation. For the "do-it-yourselfer", the costs may be saved in one-half that period of time.

Huntsville has numerous lumber and hardware stores that sell home insulation materials as well as provide advice on their use.

Jim Morgan, an employee at a local lumber store has had a lot of experience in selling winterizing materials and advising the general public on home insulation. He believes that a homeowner should begin insulating his home by caulking and weatherstripping the windows and doors.

Caulking is usually applied around window and door frames with a hand-operated pressure gun. Three types of caulk are available—latex, oil base and butile rubber. Latex is considered to be the best all round caulking for sealing wood and masonry surfaces. Oil base is the least expensive and used on all surfaces. Butile rubber is best to seal wood against metal or metal against wood. According to Morgan latex is the most popular caulk.

It takes about one tube of caulk to seal the average window and two tubes to seal three small windows. One tube of caulk will fill 25 feet if the hole in the tube is a quarter of an inch.

Caulking costs anywhere from 69 cents to $1.25 per tube with the gun averaging about $2. Cost to a homeowner in Huntsville for properly caulking windows would run about $20 for an average sized house, depending on the number of windows.

Caulk should be used to seal holes or cracks around windows and doors as well as on wood siding and overhangs. Care should be taken in sealing window jams and casings, because they are the number one source or air leaks.

After caulking the windows and doors, the thresholds under exterior doors should be made air tight. If there are any spaces, even ones as minute as a sixteenth of an inch, valuable heat can be lost.

Various kinds of thresholds are available at local stores. One is installed on the door, the other on the floor. The rubber installed on the floor is considered to be the most durable and only costs from $4 to $8 depending on the width of the door.

Weatherstripping should be attached to the movable part of exterior doors if the existing strip is in poor shape. Rigid rubber strips, rolled vinyl, metal and felt strips are available. The recommended weatherstripping is the rigid vinyl which can be cut to the length of the door and easily installed. It costs about $4 per door and lasts longer than any of the other stripping on the market.

Garage doors should also have new weatherstripping if the existing strip is rotting or allows any airflow. Stripping for wood doors comes in vinyl rolls and costs $3 for single and $5 for a double garage door.

DO THEY NEED CAULKING OR PUTTY?

Look at a typical window and a typical door. Look at the parts shown in the pictures. Check the box next to the description that best fits what you see:

- OK ... All the cracks are completely filled with caulking. The putty around the window panes is solid and unbroken; no drafts.
- FAIR ... The caulking and putty are old and cracked, or missing in places; minor drafts.
- POOR ... There's no caulking at all. The putty is in poor condition; noticeable drafts.

If you checked either "FAIR" or "POOR", then you probably need caulking.

weatherstripping and caulking a house is $30 to $75 yearly.

In the past, many energy experts have advocated the use of plastic sheeting around windows. Most "do-it-yourselfers" in the Huntsville area consider the use of plastic storm windows to be a waste of time. Plastic storm windows require a great deal of time to install and only last for one year.

Polyethylene plastic used to be available at Redstone for offices and government quarters but has been withdrawn because of noxious smoke that results when the plastic is ignited by live ashes or matches.

The only recommended use for the plastic is on screen doors.

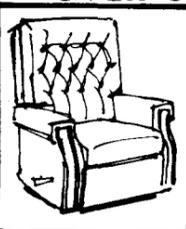

Although air spaces are the most obvious places to start in winterizing a home the handyman shouldn't forget about insulating exposed water pipes. Older homes, especially those over 20 years of age need to have water pipes protected in some way.

Various types of pipe wraps are available. The newest in the line are heat tapes that wrap around the pipes and are plugged into an electrical outlet. Heat tapes come in two models—automatic and manual. The automatic tape comes with a thermostat that turns the electrical heat on when Storm windows and doors are great energy savers and help reduce utility bills on the average of $50 to $150 yearly. Besides caulking and weatherstripping, a house's insulation should also be checked. Jerry Lawson, a home insulation expert at a Huntsville lumber store, recommends six-inches of insulation for a home in this area.

Most of the insulation found in the Tennessee Valley is the loose rock wool that is blown in a new house. This loose fiber has a tendency to settle down after a few years and reduce the insulating value.

If a homeowner's insulation doesn't measure six inches, he should add the necessary thickness to make it so. The recommended insulation is the rock wool that comes in rolls or batts. Lawson said that most of his customers preferred the rolls because they find them easier to work with.

The cost of adding 3 inches of insulation to a 1500 square foot house would be around $150 with estimated savings of $35 to $120 yearly.

Whatever steps a homeowner takes to conserve energy will result in savings to himself and to future energy users.

Learning German

By Karen Aman

Communication has always been a problem, but at Redstone Arsenal Charles Owens of the Education Service Center has been working on it, at least as it affects soldiers assigned to Germany. The center has begun a 10-week German Headstart program covering the country's language and culture.

"We're trying to orient our people and their families to go overseas," Owens explained. "We hope to be able to close the language gap which can sometimes be embarrassing to a soldier overseas."

Such simple but much-needed phrases as "What time is it?" ("Wieviel Uhr ist es?") will be taught by Mrs. Judy La Canne, a native of Germany. Mrs. La Canne formerly taught headstart in Germany.

Soldiers will not only get acquainted with the language, they will receive practical instruction on Germany customs. The program teaches by repetition. Soldiers learn in weekly classes and through books and tapes.

The course is set up for 20 students, but at present there are approximately 30 soldiers and their families attending.

At the course's inception last week, students were welcomed by Brig. Gen. David E. Watts, MICOM Deputy Commanding General, and Maj. Jerry Roberts, chief of the Morale and Welfare Division.

Also attending was German Air Force Liaison officer Lt. Col. Georg Schreiber, who said he is planning periodic visits to see how the class is progressing.

Program coordinators say its purpose is to make assignments in Germany more enjoyable for soldiers and their families. It is hoped soldiers who have completed the course will be able to speak with Germans—if only a little—and will understand what is being said to them. In a foreign country, things will always seem different. But German headstart workers think narrowing the communications gap even slightly encourages soldiers to get out among the people and get used to the differences.

A BIT OF GERMANY — Brig. Gen. David E. Watts wishes best of luck to the first class in the Redstone headstart program of Germany language and culture. The program is designed to simplify the transition from American to German living for U.S. soldiers assigned there.

Hawk on Display In Birmingham

The Missile and Munitions Center and School is sending a HAWK self-propelled launcher to Birmingham, for display in the city's Veterans Day Parade Nov. 11.

Leslie A. Connally, an Army civilian working in the school's Maintenance Branch will drive a five-ton rig carrying the launcher. Sgt. 1st Class Ernest L. Hazzard of HAWK Division will accompany Connally and operate the launcher in the parade.

The Birmingham Regional Veterans Day Celebration will include a dinner Nov. 10 honoring Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong, who will receive the National Veterans Award. Gen. George S. Brown, Chairman of the Joints Chiefs of Staff, will speak at a luncheon the following day, at which Gov. George C. Wallace will present awards.

Waterfowl Arrive At Refuge

Large flocks of feeding waterfowl reportedly are putting on a good show for spectators from the observation building at Wheeler National Wildlife Refuge. The building is open each Friday, Saturday, Sunday and holiday afternoon from 2:30 to dusk.

Waterfowl are said to be arriving fast, with large numbers of geese visible feeding in nearby fields and trading back and forth from fields to water.

GI Party: Not So Bad After All

By Jennifer Garren

The barracks, it seemed, were in chaos. Dirt was flying, mop pails sloshed, buffers moaned and soldiers scurried.

The 6th Student Company at the Missile and Munitions Center and School was hosting what is commonly known as a GI party—all-out preparation for the Inspector General's visit the next morning. Some soldiers wore the intense expressions of housewives concentrating on spring cleaning. Others laughed and joked while they cleaned.

Many seemed to be frowning. Their opinion of the IG inspection was not favorable. They couldn't understand what the fuss was all about.

The dissatisfaction came from a common idea that the IG was only interested in how clean the barracks were. But the IG doesn't look only for dirt or spit-shined shoes.

Maj. John A. Baggett, acting Inspector General, says he is most concerned with the living conditions of military personnel. His inspections are not focused on troop performance, but on company living conditions.

"The Inspector General is a problem coordinator, not a watchdog or a police agency. I check to see that the company gets enough support from the school and post to support the troops efficiently," said Baggett.

The IG visits many facilities—mess halls, supply and dayrooms as well as soldiers' rooms—checking on the living and study environment provided for soldiers in Advanced Individual Training here.

If there are many problems with company, school or post services, soldiers can make a complaint to the IG during an inspection as they can at his office. A complaint session is held between 11 and 12 a.m. on the day of the inspection so that anyone can come to report a problem.

"Complaints have been few and no trend is developing with them," the IG said. There are complaint files and records kept by category. These files are constantly monitored for trends," Baggett said.

"The IG is the eyes and ears of the commandant," he said. "The commandant is briefed monthly on the number and kind of complaints, and on those complaints that have or haven't been resolved."

If a problem is noted, the IG will go through command channels to seek corrective action. "For the most part, co-operation is such that companies correct problems that have arisen in the past and there is no need to go through higher channels," said Baggett.

IG inspections are constructive rather than critical, he says. The IG isn't looking for that one missed wrinkle in a shirt, or for a shoe out of alignment.

"In a large sense, the mission of Advanced Individual Training is to provide field commanders with soldiers who are well equipped, trained and motivated to go to work," Baggett stated. The IG inspections help the school accomplish this important goal.

As the 6th's GI party came to an end, many frowns were replaced with smiles.

"You know, that wasn't so bad after all," said one student.

"Hey," yelled another, "I'm really proud. This place really looks sharp."

One of the last statements made before everyone dispersed was, "After all that cleaning, these barracks shouldn't have to be GI'ed again until next year."

"Yeah," somebody replied. "But see you at the weekly GI party Sunday."

The IG inspection began the next morning at 7:30 and ended at 3. "The 6th Student Company has been one of the most outstanding companies that we've inspected," concluded Baggett.

It seems the soldiers' efforts were not in vain.

Morris Retires After Several Careers

Ethel K. Morris recently completed her career as a federal employee, just one of the careers she has had during her life.

"I was a high school teacher," she said, "and at that time teachers were paid so little - my husband was a teacher too - that I thought I'd better find some way to earn a better salary. We wanted to do more for our daughter than was possible on teachers' pay.

"I went to the employment office and they said there was a clerical job at Redstone, so I took a test and was hired. Later I took the Federal Service Entrance Exam and passed that too.

"After I had worked in clerical positions for several years, my supervisor asked me how I'd like to try the professional side. That's how I became an employee development specialist in the Civilian Personnel Division."

In addition to teaching school, Morris has worked in a variety of positions for companies in Hartselle and Decatur, before coming to Redstone.

In the MICOM Civilian Personnel Office, she was assigned to the Training and Development Branch where she helped hundreds of people find the kind of training they needed, then arranged for their attendance at government sponsored courses.

"I always liked dealing with people, and have found that if one speaks frankly, it's easier to get things done," she said as she prepared to retire. "It's a matter of understanding people and having them understand you."

MICOM supervisors have said, "If you gave Ethel something to do, she got busy and did it."

She received special recognition for two programs she had coordinated, the Defense Management Education and Training Program and the DARCOM Quality Assurance Industrial Training Program.

Of special note was her initiative in pooling the needs of several organizations and bringing the courses to Redstone rather than having small groups travel to another location. The Certificate of Appreciation she received said, in part "This resulted in the Command meeting more of its training needs at considerable savings."

Over a three year period more than 2,000 people received training at Redstone, and the cost benefits came to approximately $900,000, by holding the courses on the Arsenal.

Morris planned to enter the hospital for a foot operation immediately after leaving her job at Redstone, and will be recuperating for several months. "The doctor said I wouldn't be very agile for some time," she said.

Rockets Whip Aggies for 2nd Win

Powered by a 79-yard scoring run by James McDonald and three pass interceptions by Prentiss Thomas, the Redstone Rockets whipped the Hamilton Aggies 46-28 Sunday.

Early in the first quarter the Aggies showed their strength with a 41-yard touchdown pass, plus extra point. However, the Rockets weren't down for long as John Matthews ran for a nine-yard touchdown, the extra point being made by John Chandler. Minutes later Keith Taylor grabbed a 53-yard pass from quarterback Ron Hooser for still another TD. By the end of the quarter, the Rockets were leading 13-8.

In the second quarter, the game belonged exclusively to Redstone. With 23 seconds left in the half, Taylor caught another Hooser pass and made a 22-yard TD run. Chandler added to the mounting score with an extra point kick.

The Aggies tried to rally in the third quarter but their efforts were thwarted by the hard-driving Redstone team. Three minutes into the quarter, McDonald ran 15 yards for a touchdown and the kick was made good by Chandler. Joe Young lit up the board again with a 52-yard dash that made the fans go wild. With 2:52 left in the quarter the Aggies made their second TD on a one-yard run. With a little over a minute remaining in the quarter, John Matthews captured a 30-yard pass from Hooser, with Chandler again adding the extra point.

With a 26-point lead, the Rockets had little to fear from the floundering Aggie team. The Aggies did score twice, once with 12 minutes left in the game on a seven-yard run, and again on a three yard run with a minute remaining.

The Rockets scored a final time as McDonald stormed down the field for a 79-yard touchdown run.

The win gives the Rockets a 2 and 2 record for the season. They will meet the Leathernecks from the New River Marine Air Station Saturday at 2 p.m.

Big Upset In Flag

Intramural flag football saw a major upset in the week for previously undefeated Company A as the 6th Student Company upended them 12-6.

Student Oscar Bizzell snared a Richard Williams pass to put the first score on the board. Eddie Anderson of the lettermen evened it as he passed 55 yards to Johnnie Parker.

The score remained tied at the end of the half, but Williams and Bizzell teamed up again, this time for a 27-yard TD pass that delivered the students the game.

The 291st MP's barely squeezed a 9-8 win out of their contest with Company C.

The scoring for the lettermen began in the first half when Roy Robles intercepted one of the cops' passes and ran it 52 yards for a TD. Dave Swain ran the ball for two points giving the lettermen an 8-0 lead.

The MP's fired up in the second half behind Steve Donnelly's 45-yard touchdown pass to Charlie Davis. It was Donnelly again in the two point conversion passing to Eugene English. The game stalemated and went into overtime, where the cops finally were awarded the game for out-playing the C's.

The 4th Student Company walked over the 8th Student Company 12-0. An 80-yard touchdown run for Joe Young started the 4th on their winning march. Minutes later, Allen Davis passed to Keith Taylor, who ran 51 yards for the final TD.

The MP's bowed to Company B Wednesday, 8-0. Bill Beckwith passed 15 yards to Gary Payne for the first touchdown. The two point conversion was credited to Charlie Bennett.

Meddac edged the Marines 8-6 in the second contest Wednesday. All the scoring took place in the first half. Crossen of Meddac passed 20 yards to Highberger for the first TD. Highberger and Carey teamed up for the two point conversion. The only Marine scoring came as Black completed a 20yard TD pass to Jacobs.

The 4th Student Company chalked up another win, stomping the 7th Student Company 22-14. B. Howard ran 75 yards for a 7th touchdown moments after the game started. However, they couldn't keep up the momentum. The 4th turned around and scored 14 points in the half on passes from Davis Allen to Keith Taylor and from Allen to Myron Manvell. The plays totaled 105 yards.

In the second half, Ron Hooser of the 7th passed 25 yards to Bruce Howard for the final 7th TD. In overtime, Allen Davis passed to Joe Young for another 4th touchdown and was instrumental in making the two point conversion.

The 7th Student Company had no trouble ripping Company C apart 14-0 in Thursday night's opener.

Paul Kanagy ran 25 yards for the first student touchdown. The Hooser twins got together as Randy threw for 30 yards to Ron for another score. Randy Hooser stamped through the C defense for the two point conversion.

Company A bounced back from early-week defeat to take the 4th S.C. 126. Early in the first half, Eddie Anderson grabbed the ball and flew downfield 99 yards for a touchdown for the lettermen. Things remained quiet on the field until Allen Davis of the students made a hand-off to Joe Young, who ran 60 yards for the score. However, Company A sparked late in the second half for a 75-yard touchdown run by Anderson that gave the lettermen the win and kept them in first place.

Company B suffered a 26-6 loss at the hands of the Marines. The only scoring play for the lettermen came in the second half as Bill Beckwith passed 25 yards to Charlie Bennett.

Black passed to King for 70 yards for the first Marine score. The pair later combined again for 65 yards and another TD. In the second half it was lack to Davis for a 20-yard TD run. Minutes later, Davis found an opening and threw 25 yards to Jacobs, who scored. The extra point was made on a pass from Black to Davis.

Company A stayed on top of a six-game winning streak by dumping a prepped-up Company C 18-6. Dave Swaim's TD made the C's the first team to score against the powerful A's this season.

In other games, Meddac swept past the MP's 20-6; the 4th S. C. blanked the 6th 6-0; the Marines edged the 8th 8-6; the 6th clobbered the 8th 18-6; the MP's whalloped the Marines 24-12; and Meddac nipped Company C 15-14.

Malpractice Protection

DOCTORS, DENTISTS, NURSES AND OTHER MEDICAL support personnel are now protected against malpractice suits.

A public law recently enacted requires that malpractice suits involving military and civilian medical personnel be brought against the U.S. rather than the individual.

The law includes Reserve Components and National Guard personnel in a Federal Status. (ARNEWS).

Ladies Bath, Plus Flag Finals

Sports fans on the Arsenal are in for a real treat during November if all goes as the Rec Services sports office plans.

Military women will be able to take advantage of a service that until now was offered only to those on B or C shift—the use of a sauna in the women's locker room.

Until recently, the gym's only sauna was in the men's locker room. With the arrival of a new unit for the men's facility, the women have inherited the old one. Though some complain that the women should have gotten the new one, chin up girls. At least we have one.

There is talk of starting another exercise class for the ladies, this one at night. There is currently a daytime class; however, the evening class would be free to all military women. It will take about eight girls to get a class started. If you are interested, call the sports office.

Well, the Rocket Bowl, that projected tackle spectacular, has undergone the first change of its relatively short life: its name has been changed to the Missile Bowl. The new title stems from an old military championship football bowl held at an Air Force base.

It has been suggested to certain higher-ups that the Missile Bowl might include such things as a high school marching band, inter-company float competition and the crowning of a queen. So far, so good.

The football team is looking for cheerleaders. All interested military women should contact the MMCS Public Affairs Office for further information.

Tentative dates for the intramural flag football championship are Nov. 8 to 12 at the football field. Contestants will be the top four teams in both conferences. According to Ralph Santaliz, sports director, there may be a few pre-tourney playoff games in the offing. The standings at press time look like this:

EASTERN CONFERENCE

	Wins	Losses
MEDDAC	4	2
291st MP's	4	2
Marines	3	4
7th Student Company	1	4
Company B	0	4

WESTERN CONFERENCE

	Wins	Losses
Company A	6	1
6th Student Company	7	2
4th Student Company	4	1
8th Student Company	2	6
Company C	1	6

Things could change at any time, but the current top four will almost surely be playing in the championship.

Civilian Cagers Set for Opening

A hard fought and closely contested scramble is predicted for the Civilian Welfare Fund basketball league with seven quintets set for the schedule top off next week.

League games will be played at the Evangel School on University Avenue on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Three games are scheduled each session with the games starting at 5:45, 7 and 8:15.

Entering the CWF league are teams representing the Metrology Lab, MRDEL, the Corps of Engineers, Product Assurance, Nike, the Commissary Warehouse and the Missile School.

The schedule consists of four rounds with each team playing 24 games.

What do you know about Article 15 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ)? Do you know who may be punished under Article 15, what punishments may be imposed, or how it differs from a court-martial? What procedural rights does a member have when faced with an Article 15? Here are some answers to these basic questions:

• What is an Article 15, and when is it used?

Article 15 provides administrative, non-judicial punishment of Military members, both officer and enlisted, who violate the Uniform Code of Military Justice when the violation is "too serious to be disposed of by counseling or other administrative responses, but not so serious as to require trial by court-martial."

Article 15 punishment is often used in response to short AWOL's, failures to go to appointed place of duty, failure to obey regulations, and other minor violations of the UCMJ.

• What punishments may be imposed?

Commanders are encouraged to take full advantage of non-punitive disciplinary measures, but once a commander has decided to impose Article 15 punishment and the individual has accepted the Article 15, the commander must decide the amount and kind of punishment which may be imposed.

The punishment depends upon the grade of the offender, the grade of the commander imposing the punishment, the seriousness of the offense and any mitigating circumstances

Punishment may include reduction in grade, forfeiture of a portion of a member's pay, placing the member in correctional custody, restriction to certain specified limits, assignments of extra duties, detention of pay and certain permissible combinations of these punishments.

• What are the Servicemember's rights?

Before Article 15 punishment can be imposed, a member is given certain rights to insure that any punishment is fair and just. No Article 15 punishment can be imposed without first notifying the alleged offender of the commander's intent to do so, and informing the Servicemember of his/her rights with respect to the proposed punishment.

THROWING LIGHT ON ARTICLE 15

Most important among these rights is the right to consult with an attorney.

The member may also request a personal hearing with the commander and submit written statements which set forth defenses and mitigating or extenuating circumstances surrounding the offense.

• How does an Article 15 differ from a court-martial?

The decision to demand trial by court-martial involves a number of considerations and should not be made without the advice of legal counsel.

The primary differences between Article 15 punishment and trial by a court-martial are the formality of the proceedings, the amount of punishment which may be imposed, and the permanency of the record.

Unlike a court-martial, an Article 15 punishment involves no formal proceedings, no judge, no jury. Furthermore, the maximum punishment imposable under Article 15 is less than the maximum which may be imposed as the result of a finding of guilty at a trial by court-martial.

Perhaps the most significant difference, however, is that a conviction by court-martial is a Federal court conviction which will remain on the individual's criminal record even after he has separated from the Service.

An Article 15, on the other hand, does not amount to a Federal court conviction. It is placed in the member's file and remains there for two years or until the member separates, whichever is earlier.

• When is punishment imposed?

Only after the member has had the opportunity to consult an attorney and submit statements does the commander actually impose the punishment. After punishment has been imposed, the member has 15 days to submit an appeal which will be considered not by the commander imposing the punishment but by the next higher authority.

On his appeal, the member can only appeal the severity of the punishment. The member may request that the punishment be suspended, reduced, remitted, or set aside in whole or in part. Punishment is not imposed until the appeal has been acted upon or denied.

Make sure your Life Insurance is a family affair

It used to be that only the man of the family was insured.

But family life being what it is today... with wives working, expenses going up, and life styles broadening... it takes full family coverage to assure financial security.

Metropolitan knows all about this, and many provisions and benefits are available to cover the loss of a family member... with extra income benefits on both parents... with a special benefit if both parents die within one year... with options for children to purchase additional insurance... and more.

Let me show you what can be done by using our Family Plan Endowment with Income Benefits. Call me today.

Cosmos Coach Likes Teaching Soccer

TALKING SOCCER — Lt. Terry McCartin instructs one of his players on the finer points of the game at a recent practice.

Soccer, in popularity and participation, is the number one sport in the world. Lt. Terry McCartin is helping bring a little bit of soccer enthusiasm to Redstone through a Dependent Youth Activities team, the Cosmos.

McCartin, a student in the conventional ammunition course at the Missile and Munitions Center and School, is a volunteer coach.

"I like working with kids, it's rewarding," said the Towson, Md., native. "I wanted to get into some sports activity. With this new program, it has to start out right or it won't make it."

Right now there is only one other team in the senior division with the Cosmos. To vary the competition, the Cosmos play local grammar school teams.

Team members range in age from 12 to 14 and compiled a 1-5 record. The team is coed.

"I don't think it makes a whole lot of difference when you're just starting out," McCartin said. "I like the coed team, I really didn't have any reservation when I started."

"The field is adult size and a little big for kids this age," he said. "But at their age, you know that if they decide to play they'll go all out. The age they are at is the best age for teaching them a sport."

Only one child on the team has had previous soccer experience, noted McCartin. "That's why I like to give everyone a chance to play instead of playing my better players just to win," he said.

"I think with the short time we have to teach the kids soccer, it's better to let them get out on the field and make their own mistakes."

The DYA season, which ended last weekend, covered only five weeks.

When McCartin found out he was going to be coaching the Cosmos, he said he stood up in class one day and asked if anyone would be willing to devote some of their spare time to helping out. Lieutenants Linda Fleetwood, Tim Lindsay, and John Marley volunteered.

McCartin started playing soccer in junior high. He played wing and center in soccer at Washington and Lee University and was an assistant coach of a lacrosse team.

E-9 Selections

Results of the latest E-9 selection board were recently released. A total of 859 E-8s were tabbed for promotion. Out of 1916 E-8s considered from the primary zone, 774 (40.4 percent) were selected. E-8s considered in the secondary zone totaled 2914. Eighty-five (2.9 percent) were picked. (ARNEWS).

Suggestions Rank With Best

MICOM's suggestion program recently hit top place among DARCOM subordinate commands in several categories.

The Command, named a member of DARCOM's Million Dollar Club for the second time, headed the list among subordinate commands for the highest amount of benefits realized through the program—more than $10 million worth.

MICOM also leads the list of subordinate commands rated as outstanding.

With a Department of Army goal to achieve at least 10 percent greater savings last year than in the past three fiscal years, MICOM's score was 20 percent.

"If we are going to maintain a good record, we need increasing numbers of quality suggestions," Mary Grimes, Executive Secretary of the Incentive Awards Committee, said.

"The more good ideas we receive, the better chance we have to improve efficiency and reduce cost in government."

"Each suggester can reap two-fold benefits—in better government as a taxpayer, and in cash awards and personal recognition as a participant. The challenge and opportunity are there for all military and civilian personnel."

Five suggestion cash awards for more than $1000 each were made to MICOM personnel during the past fiscal year. One of the awards was shared by two individuals.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Harrell, owners of the local Ben Franklin store, have returned from the semi-annual Ben Franklin Merchandise Show held for store owners and their store's personnel. Excitement, enthusiasm, and involvement are only three of the many words that begin to express the mood and feelings of thousands of store owners attending these meetings. Why? Because Ben Franklin is celebrating its 100th birthday! They have great plans for each community; super values, lowest prices ever, plus many surprises throughout the 1977 year.

One major program that will be featured throughout the U.S.A. is a 52-week best buy featuring one item per week at a great great price. This item will be featured as you enter the store, identified by a special signing kit. Watch for it. Starting in January special advertised sales will feature outstanding assortments of everyday needs for personal and home needs at great savings. A special 100th Anniversary Sale that offers consumers unbelievable bargains is set to run this next April. Mr. Harrell stated that the Ben Franklin Buyers have been working for more than a year to make this Sale the best ever!

In addition to the major 100th Anniversary plans, many many key lines of new merchandise had been shown to all stores, updating the knowledge of each merchant to best serve his community.

With over 2,000 locally owned stores, Ben Franklin's buying power is an important factor in today's markets. By placing orders at these shows, outstanding prices can be offered throughout the communities in which these Ben Franklin stores are located.

Your locally owned Ben Franklin store wants you to know he is interested in offering the best possible merchandise, service, and friendship to keep you as his customer.
