Viper in first manned firings

BY BOB HUBBARD

The Army Missile Command has conducted successfully the first manned firings of the Army's new Viper tank killer.

MICOM and General Dynamics Corp., prime contractor, conducted a joint flight test program at Redstone Arsenal, the first with a man in the loop, to demonstrate Viper safety and accuracy and assure that weapon system noise levels are acceptable.

"Flight tests have been highly successful," said Col. Aaron J. Larkins, Viper Project Manager here, "and we have accomplished test objectives."

Larkins said additional firings are planned, along with environmental tests (hot and cold

House burned

Army cares for its own at Christmas

BY RAY ROWDEN

Two weeks ago today a house burned in northeast Huntsville and SFC Dean P. "Andy" Anderson, his wife and daughter were left homeless.

"The house and everything in it is a total loss," said Anderson. "We lost absolutely everything. The only things we didn't lose were my truck and her car."

With Christmas just around the corner, the family faced the heartrending task of replacing virtually all of their worldly goods. Insurance would help, but it would take time.

But Redstone's military community decided not to wait. SFC Danny Cook opened his house to them. The American Red Cross made purchase orders for necessities available. Anderson's coworkers at Redstone Army Airfield chipped in $224 and the NCO Wives'

Hoary tradition

Editor:

One of the hoary Redstone yuletide traditions is the annual affair of musical health-insurance plans. Long about the end of November comes an edict from CPO announcing the open season, to close promptly the first week in December, non-availability of health-plan brochures notwithstanding. Then comes an amendment to the edict aforesaid, in which the open season "is extended", the new deadline remaining a matter of mystery.

Anon the brochures are distributed, but like so many priceless gems, one or two to a building, wherein they are on display in some office to be discovered by hearsay. There they may be viewed and admired for the few fleeting moments one has before the next pilgrim gets his turn.

In the meantime every bulletin-board groans under the weight of papers, most trivial and yellowing with age, and everyone who rejoices in a desk or even a table is daily burdened with other papers of equal value, most of which are promptly consigned to the wastebasket. The annual aggregate of these missives must amount to many tons, and the printing of them in their thousands must involve the efforts of a fair-sized gang of workers.

Why are we forever deluged with individual copies of trivia, and yet denied the printed matter upon which alone we could make intelligent and wise decisions and choices in health insurance? Why does this fatuous scramble have to occur every December — and in fact get worse each year?

Soldier now, but woman for life

Editor:

This is in reference to the letter you received from the young lady whose name was withheld in the Dec. 10, Rocket.

What I was saying to the females, pertaining to their role in the Army, was that if they want to do the same job, that calls for the same physical endurance of a male, is to go right ahead! I myself can not lift a duece and a half tire off of the truck nor can I push it away once it is off. I am no weakling and I'm pretty sure that you will hardly be able to move it if I couldn't.

I do not feel that women are the same as men, at least I am not. Some are better in some things and some are not. An Ammunition Specialist here on the Arsenal has no standard as compared to the same MOS in Germany. I am capable of doing my job as an

Paperwork

Question: Civilian Personnel Bulletin No. 296 dated 4 Nov. '80, paragraph 3 c. states if you are currently enrolled in either Blue Cross or Aetna and are remaining in either of these two plans for 1981, fill out DF giving name, office symbol, bldg. number, name of plan and forward to DRSMI-JSP. Why? This is generating much paperwork, particularly since there is no change in insurance.

Answer: Jimmy Temple of Civilian Personnel responded, "The form need only be completed if the employee wishes a booklet. Since both of these hospitalization plans have some changes in coverage, it was assumed that most employees would wish to have a new booklet outlining the coverage. However, no action is required of employees that do not wish to change their hospitalization enrollment. The purpose of the form is to request a booklet, not to continue the coverage."

One-way

Question: There is a traffic hazard caused by people going the wrong way on the one-way lane on the west end of the west parking lot at Bldg 4488. The land is supposed to be one-way Ammunition Specialist, but I am better in the clerical field. Either way I put my best foot forward.

I feel that if women want to be in a job that calls for physical endurance, that they should have some type of test to perform in order to make sure they can do this job. Please don't waste my time in AIT if I can't do my job in permanent party! I will be wasting my time and the Army's.

The young lady calls herself a female, then she should understand what I am talking about. I am a soldier and I will be one as long as I am in the U.S. Army, but I am a woman for the rest of my life.

High standards

Editor:

In the Dec. 10 issue of the Redstone Rocket, Troop Talk article, I saw something that was degrading and an insult to the Army. Your paper asked a Pvt. Luke O. Williams what he thought of the return of the Airborne beret, and in his favorable response he mentioned that he was Airborne.

If he is Airborne he should have never allowed his picture to be taken while he was wearing those unauthorized glasses, and that pitiful field jacket. I wonder if Pvt. Williams realizes that the civilian public has access to this paper. Can you imagine the effect on the public's opinion of the high standards that the Airborne and the Army has.

I feel that Pvt. Williams and the Redstone Rocket have tarnished the image of the Airborne and the U.S. Army by publishing his picture and comments.

southbound but some people go the wrong way on it to exit north to Morris Road. Can something be done about this dangerous situation?

Answer: Military police say they appreciate your concern and will watch the area for violators and enforce the law.

No fishing

Question: Why can't we fish or hunt in the Test Area 2 ponds?

Answer: The Junior Officers' Council asked Maj. Gen. Moore the same question recently. He looked into it. The ponds will remain closed to fishing and hunting. So will the adjoining area of McKinley Range westward to the drainage ditch that runs North-South through McKinley. The ponds are within the safety fans of TA-2 where certain hazardous operations are carried out. There are additional security reasons to deny a hunters access to the east portion of McKinley which is bordered to the north by Test Area 1 and TA-2 to the east. Whenever possible, use of arsenal land for both missions activities and recreation is the policy. When there is a conflict, mission requirements take priority.

Holiday message from commander

To all members of Redstone Arsenal:

As 1980 fades into memory, we come to the most joyful holiday season of the year. Christmas is a time for celebrating, exchanging gifts and lighting candles, a time for being with friends and loved ones — and for remembering.

Christmas is the season of hope, a time of deep religious significance for people all over the world who celebrate the birth of Christ and His eternal message: "Peace on earth, good will toward men."

As Americans do everywhere, the Army family here hopes for the day when peace will bring an absence of armed conflict between nations, and freedom from war.

But it is well to remember that peace has many meanings — harmony in human and personal relations, absence of fear, a world where all men live together as brothers. When we pray for peace, let us do so in the full knowledge of its many meanings. And let us remember that our RSA family is involved in preserving that peace.

As we celebrate with families and friends, let us ever be thankful for our blessings. Let us reaffirm our faith in the ideals of free men and rededicate our thoughts, our words and our actions to make the dream come true for all mankind: "Peace on Earth, good will toward men."

I thank each of you for your dedication and support. Carol and I wish for you a happy holiday season followed by a year of accomplishments and good health.

Reenlistment NCO credits team effort for award

BY SKIP VAUGHN

Stickers on the in-out box — "Stay in the Army" and "Don't get OUT, stay Army" — are hints the desk belongs to a reenlistment NCO.

Cole

SFC Ben Cole has been working behind the desk as reenlistment NCO for the Missile Command and post almost two years. He was selected career counselor of the year in 1980 by the Army Materiel Development and Readiness Command.

"I've got to tell you, the award is nice to have. I feel real good about it. However, unless you've got the commanders and first sergeants that I get to work with here, this never would've happened," Cole said.

He attributes his success to a "collective effort" of all the commanders and first sergeants in MICOM.

About half of MICOM's people are overseas. Cole has a terminal behind his desk that enables him to find slots and schools to answer inquiries.

Besides answering questions for MICOM units worldwide, Cole is an active counselor here. "I talk to all the people here at Redstone about reenlistment," he said.

The DARCOM award was based on having the highest reenlistment rate and other criteria. "It's the whole person concept, too," Cole explained. "What innovative things you've done since you've been here. The reenlistment rate was part of it."

The Missile Command's reenlistment rate — which includes all MICOM soldiers worldwide — was 112 percent of goal for first time reenlistees and 120 percent for soldiers who had reenlisted before.

Reenlistment is the MICOM commanding general's program, Cole said. "I'm his maintenance man. What I got this award for was maintaining this program."

Cole's office is in the Special Troops building but his immediate superior is Sgt. Maj. Fred Bowman, NCOIC at Military Personnel. The MICOM reenlistment officer is Maj. David Hosemann.

Cole, 33, entered the Army in Jan. 1965. "My background is combat arms, really. I started out in Airborne and went into special forces," he said.

In 1970 after his second tour of duty in Vietnam, Cole volunteered to be a recruiter. He was a recruiter in the Florida cities of Miami, Fort Pierce and Key West for five years. He got into the reenlistment field in Alaska in 1976 and came here January 1979.

Cole, whose hometown is Key West, is a senior undergraduate majoring in accounting at Athens State College.

He and his wife, Tina, live onpost and have two girls and a boy.

He was qualified as a diver when he was in special forces. "I still dive for fun, not in the line of duty anymore," Cole said. "What I do now is scuba diving. Before it was a lot of facets of diving."

Cole was surprised when the command put him in for the reenlistment award. "I was surprised when I got put in for it; I was surprised when I got it."

Retiree 'look back' provision changes

Congress has passed the so-called Reconciliation Act which changes retirement benefits for civil service employees.

Forty-five days after the act was signed by President Carter on Dec. 5, the "look back" provision will be eliminated.

This means that people who retire after Jan. 18, 1981, cannot get the cost-of-living increase for September 1980. That increase was announced at 7.7 percent.

Also in this act, the cost-of-living increases are prorated, according to officials. People will get one-sixth of the increase for each month or portion of a month they are retired.

Before this law, officials explain, people who retired at the end of April would get the full cost-of-living increase due in March. Now they will get one-sixth of that increase, according to officials.

Anyone in civil service who retires now will get one-sixth of the increase due in March 1981 for each month they have been retired. They would receive one-sixth for December 1980, another sixth for January and a third sixth for February.

Handicapped spaces added at buildings

More parking spaces for handicapped persons are being added at Building 5250 and the Bicentennial Chapel after a survey of facilities for handicapped persons at the arsenal.

The survey, by the Morale and Welfare Division, RASA, resulted from a suggestion made to Maj. Gen. Robert Moore, MICOM Commander, by MSgt Generino J. Petracco, retired, a Huntsville resident.

MSgt. Petracco propped more spaces in the rear of building 5250 with easy access to the ramp at the rear entrance of the building. That is being done. A ramp will be placed at the Bicentennial Chapel and spaces for handicapped parking marked there.

The survey checked parking spaces, elevators, building ramps, and restroom facilities for the handicapped at the major work areas of the arsenal as well as those post buildings most frequently visited by retired persons and dependents on personal business. Results indicated facilities already available were adequate at most buildings.

Facilities made available at specific work sites are based on the number of handicapped persons employed there.

Additional requirements that result, for example, by a transfer of a handicapped person from one building to another should be made known to the building custodian.

$225 million Roland award

The Army Missile Command has awarded two contracts totaling more than $225.4 million to Hughes Aircraft and Boeing Aerospace Companies for fiscal year 1981 production of the Army's new U.S. Roland air defense missile system.

Hughes and Boeing, associate prime contractors for the weapon system, received more than $112.7 million each Dec. 10 for missiles, fire units, and related equipment. Under the fixed price incentive contracts, Hughes will deliver missiles and components while Boeing will deliver fire units and associated equipment.

The Army ordered the short range, all-weather plane killer into production a year ago.

Developed by France and West Germany, Roland is being built in this country under license with Euromissile. Of particular importance to NATO defense, U.S. missiles and the majority of the field replaceable parts will be interchangeable with their European counterparts.

Roland, which will protect troops, airfields, fortifications, supply depots and other battlefield targets against low altitude air attack, can detect and identify aircraft while on the move, a feature important to mobile Army units.

Roland can operate as a self-contained unit on a tracked vehicle or from fixed ground emplacements.

A first

'I'd never even fired a rifle before . . .'

BY BOB HUBBARD

Toni Rinehart has worked at sprawling Redstone Arsenal for only two and a half years but already she has etched her name in MICOM missile and rocket history.

Rinehart, a Huntsville native and a 1976 graduate of Johnson High School, shot the Army's new Viper tank killer just recently and is believed to be the first woman ever to fire an Army missile here.

"I was excited . . . and I was scared! the engineering aide with General Dynamics said, recalling her experiences with the eight-pound, shoulder fired weapon. "But I think this (being interviewed) is harder than firing Viper," she laughed.

Rinehart was one of eight gunners, and the only woman, to fire Viper in a joint Army-General Dynamics test program just concluded at Redstone to man-rate (no pun intended) the anti-tank weapon.

"I had never even fired a rifle before," she said.

But when her boss, Fred McCord, half-jokingly asked her one day if she would like to shoot the weapon she replied: "I'd love to."

"I had watched firings before while we were shooting from fixed launchers," she said, "so I knew what it was like. And Tracy Williams, the first gunner to fire, told me it was a piece of cake."

She was influenced, she said, by the thought that she worked with the round, and how could she expect others to fire the rocket if she wouldn't.

"I don't think I slept much the week before but the day I went out to shoot, I was okay. I was excited but not nervous. All the gunners had told me what to expect. They really gave me a lot of support."

She said Ron Aaron, one of the gunners, spend about 45 minutes showing her how to aim and fire. "He told me to concentrate on the sight and I'd be surprised when I heard the boom."

"I just tried to remember what he told me I took a deep breath, held it, and squeezed off the round," she said. "It made a pretty good boom. But I wore earplugs so there was no problem.

"I was lucky enough to hit the target," she said modestly. "It wasn't until after I fired and laid the tube down that my knees got weak.

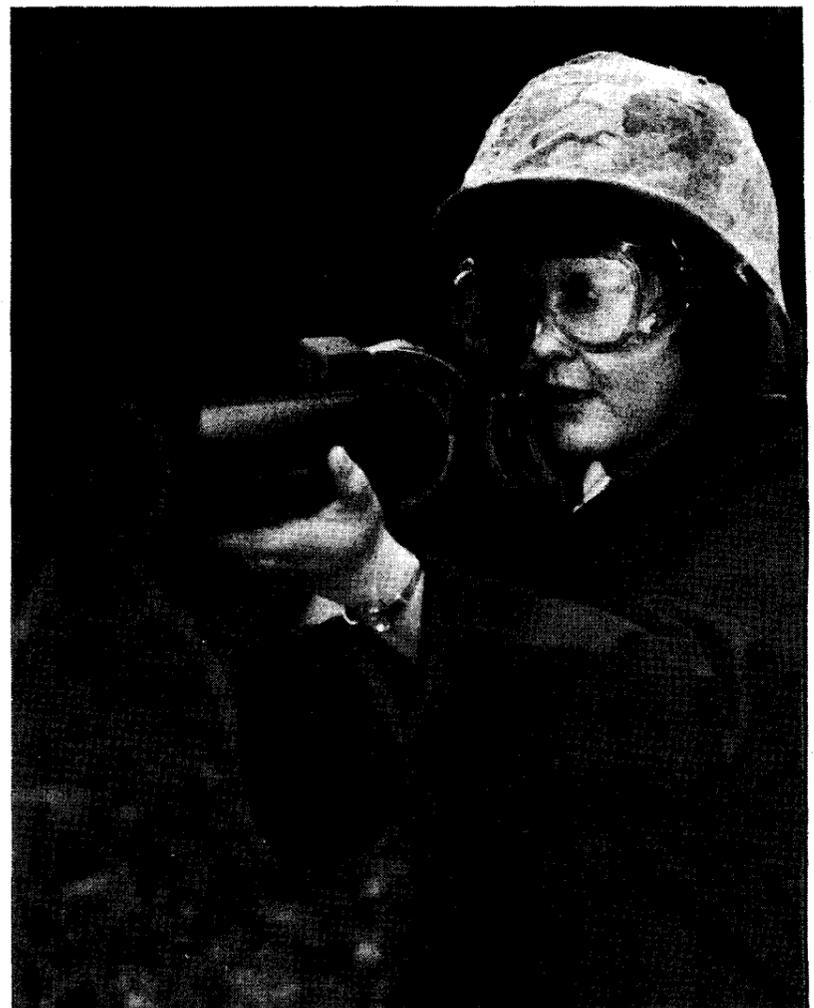

Her boss, Fred McCord, was a bit more effusive in his praise.

"Toni did an outstanding job," the senior test engineer for General Dynamics said. "She followed directions perfectly, did exactly what she was told and her accuracy was super. If all gunners follow directions like she did, they won't have any problems with Viper."

Rinehart, who started as a secretary before transferring into Viper environmental testing, is attending night classes at the University of Alabama in Huntsville.

What are her future plans?

"I don't really know," she said. "But I love what I'm doing right now."

Rinehart takes aim

Viper

temperatures, vibration, shock, etc.) before the Army and General Dynamics conclude the program early next year.

Earlier Viper firings were unmanned shots from a fixed launcher.

To man-rate the eight-pound tank killer, eight General Dynamics gunners each fired three rounds — a single round on one day, then two rounds less than a minute apart a day later.

Medical experts from Fort Rucker, Ala. monitored the tests and performed audio checks on gunners before and after they fired.

"There was no degradation, not even a temporary hearing loss, in any of the gunners," Larkins said.

Light, compact and shoulder-fired from a throwaway case that serves as launcher, Viper will be substantially more powerful, accurate and effective than the M72 LAW, and will have a much longer effective range.

Once in production, Viper will be issued as a round of ammunition.

Warrant officers receive charter

The Redstone Arsenal Chapter of the U.S. Army Warrant Officers Association received its charter in a ceremony here last week.

The charter recognizing the Redstone chapter as an official extension of the national association was presented to chapter president CWO 3 Howard Carmichael by Brig.

Gen. Benjamin Pellegrini, MICOM deputy commander.

In a speech Pellegrini commended the warrant officers for good performance as resource managers and pledged the MICOM command group's support and encouragement to the chapter, according to CWO 2 John Frank, chapter organizer.

Vint Hill Farms closing announced

WASHINGTON — Vint Hill Farms Station, Va., which houses several headquarters elements of the U.S. Army Intelligence and Security Command, will be closed as an active Army post, according to DA officials.

The Army also announced that INSCOM headquarters will be consolidated and moved to Fort George G. Meade, Md., over the next five years. Other INSCOM headquarters activities are presently located at Arlington Hall Station, Va., Fort Bragg, N.C. and Fort Meade.

Several other Vint Hill Farms Station activities will also be moved, according to officials. These include the U.S. Army Electronic Materiel Readiness Activity which will relocate to Fort Monmouth, N.J. and Tobyhanna Army Depot, Pa.; the Signals Warfare Laboratory to the Harry Diamond Laboratories, Woodbridge, Va.; and, Company B, 303rd Military Intelligence Battalion which will move to Fort Hood, Texas.

Officials estimate the realignment will result in an estimated cost savings of $7.1 million and eliminate 214 military and 54 civilian spaces. It is expected to be accomplished over the next five years as needed construction work is completed. (Arnews).

Tony, Pete and Sp5 Jeff Zimmerman head for home with a Christmas tree cut on a no charge, self help basis. Active duty soldiers, and authorized offices have until Friday to cut trees from a marked area northeast of the intersection of Toftoy Thruway and Marshall Road.

Move continues to Tin Village

Moves continued this week to relocate personnel of the Maintenance and Materiel Management Directorates of MICOM before contractor crews begin removing potentially hazardous insulation containing asbestos from the ceiling in the south end of building 5681.

About 100 Materiel Management personnel were shifted during the past weekend into temporary quarters in buildings 5687 and 5678. Moving people of the Maintenance Directorate to buildings 3734, 3737 and 3738 in Tin City east of Patton Rd. is underway.

The first increment of 130 Maintenance people were moved from the North end of 5681. If installation of computer terminals in the Tin City structures is completed as planned, 75 more Maintenance workers were to move there from the south end of 5681 beginning tomorrow. If the computer terminal installation is delayed, that move will take place as soon as the terminals are operating.

About 100 Maintenance Directorate staff remaining in 5681 are to relocate into the north end of the building later this month as soon as renovation work is completed there.

Meantime, bids have been sought to remove the insulation covering about 30,000 sq. ft. of the inside ceiling in the south end of 5681. Facilities Engineer plans to have the work underway on or about Jan. 5. It will take about 60 days to remove the insulation. Once that is done, contractor crews will complete renovation and modernization work in the south end of 5681.

Personnel from both directorates will start moving back into 5681 from their temporary locations about mid-June under the schedule now planned.

The decision was made two weeks ago to clear the south end and remove the insulation before proceeding with further building modifications. The sprayed on insulation was put on the ceiling more than 20 years ago when 5681 was converted to an office building.

MICOM officials became concerned that the building modifications might disturb the insulation and release asbestos fibers into the work area. Asbestos can cause cancer in humans if inhaled.

Contractor crews removing the insulation will wear full protective equipment. The south end of the building will be sealed off from the north end while the work is in progress.

While in temporary quarters, the Materiel Management Directorate's director, administrative staff and materiel readiness office will be in Building 5687. The Policy and Plans Division is in Building 5678.

Maintenance personnel moving to Tin City include parts of the directorate's air defense and land combat engineering divisions and the entire policy, plans and programs division. The remainder of the Maintenance personnel will stay in 5681.

New telephone numbers will be issued this week for the directorate elements shifting to Tin City.

Dental activity limits services

BY SKIP VAUGHN

The Dental Activity here offers a limited amount of service because of personnel turnover, according to the DENTAC commander.

"The loss of people has been a gradual thing but got worse this past fall," said Col. Edward Hirsch, D.D.S. DENTAC went from a high of 13 dentists and three hygienists to nine dentists and two hygienists.

Dental Activity will be gaining a dental hygienist by Feb. 1 but expects to lose two dentists this summer. It hopes to gain at least one dentist this summer but the losses are "definite" and the gains "tentative," the dentist said.

Active duty servicemembers can receive all phases of dentistry except orthodontic care — straightening of the teeth with braces.

Active duty dependents and retired members can receive examinations, X-rays, cleanings, fillings, oral surgery, limited periodontics (gum surgery) and limited fixed prosthodontics (crowns and bridges).

"There will be no dentures made for dependents or retired personnel until the new removable prosthodontist (who makes dentures) arrives," Hirsch said. "All of these services are strictly limited to available appointment times which are at a minimum."

DENTAC's removable prosthodontist left the Army and his position will be filled again "hopefully by Sept. 1, 1981," Hirsch said.

Dental Activity here consists of a main clinic at Bldg. 3494 and a clinic at Fox Army Community Hospital. A dental lab and the headquarters are located in 3494.

The problems at DENTAC began last year when its three clerk-typist receptionist positions were down-graded, "causing us to lose those specialists from our organization," Hirsch said.

DENTAC was fortunate to have three individuals hired under the worker trainee program and under the handicapped program who filled the vacant receptionist positions, he said.

The three receptionists are "extremely talented" but are trainees, Hirsch added. "Though they are doing an extremely fine job, many individuals who utilize this facility do not accept the basic fact that these individuals are trying to do a myriad of tasks and unfortunately they (the three trainees) receive an overwhelming number of irate phone calls and other less-than-desirable instances at the clinics."

DENTAC also has lost some experienced doctors who either left for other assignments or got out of the Army. Hirsch attributes part of the turnover problem to reevaluation by the Army Health Service Command of all dental slots and auxiliary positions throughout the command.

"This was done to alleviate shortages at some camps and stations and overages at others," he said. "We are given dentists based upon the military population assigned to the post."

DENTAC, which has a military and civilian staff of 37, is a tenant organization here and comes under the Army's Health Services Command.

The free dental services are available to active duty service people; dependents of active duty service people living within a 30-mile radius of Redstone; retired servicemembers; and emergency-care only for dependents of retired servicemembers living within a 30-mile radius of Redstone.

"Dependents of retired personnel can receive only emergency care due to the shortage of dental personnel assigned (here)," Hirsch said.

The 30-mile radius provision for dependents is required under government regulations — Title 10 of the U.S. Code.

As of Jan. 6, all patients can receive examinations on a walk-in basis from 7:30 to 9 a.m. and from 12:30 to 2 p.m. only, Hirsch said. "Appointments will be given on a space available basis.

"If there are no appointments available, the individual can wait on a stand-by basis to be worked in as a patient or can call (876-1643) during the listed times (3-4:15 p.m. on Tuesdays and Fridays)," he added.

If a patient is having difficulty, that problem will be "alleviated immediately," according to the DENTAC commander.

Patients who feel they are not being treated fairly should contact either Lt. Col. Horace Duffey, chief of the dental clinic at Fox Hospital at 876-6860; or Lt. Col. J. Richard Chretien, chief of the main dental clinic at 876-7474.

"If there still seems to be a problem, and it has not been alleviated by contacting either of those individuals, then they should contact me at 876-2530," Hirsch said.

Hirsch has been DENTAC commander here since June 1979. He came from Aberdeen Proving Ground in Maryland where was executive officer of dental services and chief of prosthodontics and oral diagnosis.

"I am very, very people oriented," he said. "Got to be, because that's my job."

Four seek credit union posts

Four MICOM civilian employees are seeking to be nominated and elected to the Board of Directors of the Redstone Federal Credit Union by an unusual route.

One of them, James T. Deaton said they hope to be nominated under a rule in the Credit Union Charter which says nominations for vacancies on the board may be made by petition signed by at least one per cent of the members.

Deaton seeks a three year term on the board. Others associated with his effort, he said, are Donald B. Cooke and J. Keith Fowler, also hopefuls for three year terms, and Leroy J. Williams Jr., who seeks a two year term.

The membership will elect four individuals to vacancies on the nine member board at the annual meeting in late January. Charles Ray of MICOM is a chairman of the board's nominating committee. He said his proposed candidates will be announced to members soon.

Deaton said Credit Union members who wish to support Deaton, Cooke, Fowler and Williams can do so by signing nominating petitions now being circulated or by mailing a signed statement to: Petitions, 2605 Mountain Park Circle, NW, Huntsville 35810.

Those who close to mail in should sign the following statement:

"I or we as members of the RFCU petition the nominating committee to nominate Mr. Donald B. Cook for a three year term, Mr. James T. Deaton for a three year term, Mr. J. Keith Fowler for a three year term, and Mr. Leroy J. Williams Jr. for a two year term for the Board of Directors of the Redstone Federal Credit Union for consideration by vote at the annual membership meeting, January 1981."

The Credit Union charter also states, Deaton said, that no nominations may be made from the floor at the annual meeting unless sufficient nominations have not been made by the nominating committee or by petition to provide at least one nominee for each position to be filled.

Army commemorates George C. Marshall

WASHINGTON — "Architect of Victory; Builder of Peace." That theme set the mood as the Army commemorated the 100th anniversary of the birth of General of the Army George C. Marshall during a pentagon ceremony Dec. 5.

Marshall, who died in 1959, served in many responsible positions in the government, including Army Chief of Staff, Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense and president of the American Red Cross. Marshall has been characterized as the organizer of victory in World War II and the architect of the peace that followed. For his efforts in organizing the historic Marshall Plan, he received the 1953 Nobel Peace Prize. Marshall Space Flight Center at Redstone Arsenal is named after him. (Arnews).

Santa visits senior citizens

Outside it was a cold, gray and rainy December day, but it was bright and warm for 100 senior citizens who came to the Christmas Party held by the Officers Wives Club Dec. 9.

The guests received presents, refreshments and a cash donation at the party, held annually at Christmas for the Huntsville Senior Citizens Center by the wives group.

MMCS soldiers led by Capt. Stephen Moore escorted the party guests to the Officers Club where they were given brightly wrapped favors donated by area merchants.

Following refreshments which included ham and sausage biscuits, assorted cookies, coffee and punch the group heard Christmas carols and seasonal music by the Randolph School Ensemble.

And what Christmas party would be complete without a visit from Jolly Old Saint Nick? Santa Claus appeared, passed out candy canes and was even spotted taking "orders" from all the "good boys and girls!"

Gift checks totalling $425 were presented by the OWC to the Senior Citizens Center, Post Chapel Christmas fund and Post Dental Activity.

Virginia Brazleton accepted a check on behalf of the senior citizens and said the money will be used to replace worn out dining equipment at an area nutrition center that provides hot meals, fellowship and services to senior citizens.

A second check was received by Col. Delbert Gremmels, post chaplain, for the Chapel Christmas fund for needy families.

The donation to DENTAC is for use in a children's poster contest during Children's National Dental Health Month in February.

Product Assurance in charge of memorial service

Product Assurance Directorate has taken charge of MICOM's memorial service for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. under a new concept where different organizations are designated lead agency in arranging commemorative programs and other "special emphasis" events.

The King memorial is the first of several programs that will be presented during the coming year by various MICOM agencies.

Equal employment opportunity chief Charles Ray said the programs formerly were handled by his office but it was Maj. Gen. Robert Moore's idea to let other agencies participate.

He said his office's role is to advise and assist as needed, and that they can be helpful. "We've been doing it a long time and have experience in pulling these things off," said Ray. "And we have the outside contacts with people of stature in this area," he added.

"We give them (lead agencies) whatever assistance they request and support them financially," Ray said. "We can give guidance and historical information on what's been done in the past so we don't get repeats."

James Redmon, who has been in charge of arrangements for the King memorial service, thinks parceling out the events to different agencies is a good idea. "It gives everybody in the command a chance to get involved," observed Redmon, "instead of just having one office do it all the time."

"This way your your new ideas because you're spreading it around," said the quality assurance specialist.

Lead agencies for other programs in the coming year include:

- Procurement and Production Directorate, "Sharing Trade Secrets for Clerical Personnel, Jan. 22-25

- Materiel Management Directorate, "Black History", Feb. 7

- Management Information Systems Directorate, "Black History", Feb. 21

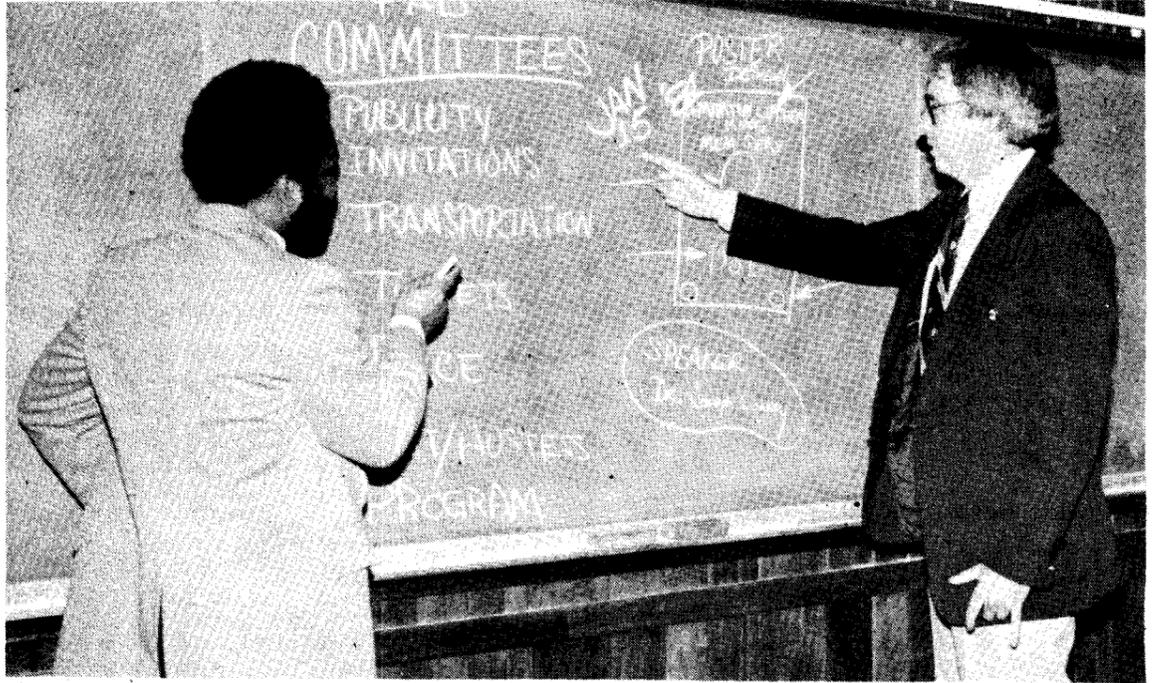

- Civilian Personnel Office, "Hispanic Speaker Forum", March

- Maintenance Engineering Directorate, "Career Day — Opportunity for Women in Materiel Maintenance," April 22-25

- RASA, "Different Perspective — Women in Apprentice and Blue Collar Jobs", July 15-18.

- Weapons Systems Management Directorate, "Women's Suffrage Day," August 26

- Legal Office, Hispanic Heritage Week, Sept. 15-21

Plans are being made for the Missile Command's Jan. 15 Dr. Martin Luther King memorial service. Discussing the observance are, from left, James Redmon, committee chairman, and Laurie Atkinson, director of Product Assurance Directorate which is doing the planning.

Care

Club gave the family a $400 check less than a week after the fire.

Six days after the fire, CSM Roy Hall asked the men and women of the 1st Battalion to remember the Christmas spirit and three days later he had more than $625 for the homeless family.

"I didn't know we had so many friends," said Andy. "But I guess that's one reason I made this a career — the brotherhood between soldiers."

His wife, Mae, added, "It's true that the Army takes care of its own. They're good and kind people."

With a mist in his eyes and an uncharacteristic catch in his voice, Andy concluded, "There's no way I can thank all of the people that have been so good to us. But from an old soldier to the others, whatever their age, I thank them from the bottom of my heart.

"It's going to be a much better Christmas because of them."

Hispanic students honor Army computer specialist

Dr. Charles R. Vick, director of data processing research for the Army's Ballistic Missile Defense Advanced Technology Center in Research Park, has been honored by a group of Hispanic university students in California.

Following his participation in a special program sponsored by the Society of Hispanic Engineers and Scientists at the University of California, Berkeley, last month, Vick was cited by the group for his "continuous inspiration and support." Besides lecturing on distributed computing, Vick keynoted a banquet held to honor graduating Hispanic seniors.

According to Vick the society has a twofold purpose: to foster career opportunities for Hispanic engineering and science students through contact with representatives of government and industry, and to encourage Hispanic high school students to pursue university studies in scientific and engineering fields.

Vick was impressed with the caliber of the young Hispanic scientists and engineers he met and termed them "very professional." Besides lecturing at the university, Vick has actively supported the Hispanic student group by providing them with career information and referring them to other career contacts.

For the past ten years, Vick has headed up the Army's data processing effort to devise ways to provide computer support for advanced anti-missile systems to defend the United States against an intercontinental ballistic missile attack. Prior to that he was involved in developing data processing systems for air defense and air traffic control systems. He holds a PhD in electrical engineering from Auburn University.

Recognized as a leader in his field, Vick chaired the first international conference on distributed computing in Huntsville in 1979, and has lectured at numerous universities both in the U.S. and abroad.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

The University of Alabama in Huntsville, Division of Continuing Education announces the following courses:

PROJECT MANAGEMENT

Dates: Feb. 9-11, 1981

Time: 9-4:30 p.m. with registration at 8:30 a.m.

Location: Skycenter Hotel

Instructor: Merrill Buckley

Course Fee: $325; includes all course material & refreshments

Course Description:

Largely because of its success in major defense and space programs such as the Project Apollo lunar landing mission, the project management concept has been adopted by a variety of organizations for managing one-time projects of innovation and change such as new-product development and marketing ventures and the performance of customer-specified contract programs. A recent success story has been General Motors' use of interdivisional project centers for the design of lighter and smaller automobiles.

Projects of this kind usually involve planning, organizing, and coordinating the efforts of many technical disciplines and organizational departments to achieve project, technical, schedule, and cost objectives. This course will stress the development and application of management methods and systems which minimize the problems of the project manager who has responsibility for the success of the project but often does not have line authority over everyone performing effort on the project.

Instructor: Mr. Merrill W. Buckley

Experience — For over 25 years Mr. Buckley has been intensely engaged in engineering and project management. He is presently RCA Corporation's Administrator of Planning and Management. His previous assignments at RCA have included: (a) Manager of Logistical Planning for the Talos Missile System, (b) Manager of Logistic Support for the Atlas Launch Control System, (c) Director of Field Installation for the Minuteman Command Network, and (d) Manager of Programming for the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System (BMEWS). In addition, he has participated in development of new management control systems, including the Apollo Project, the Viking Project, and commercial-industrial electronic systems. Finally, he has been retained to perform private consulting tasks in project management.

Teaching Ability — Mr. Buckley ranks among the foremost instructors in project management skills. He has conducted more than 150 programs — in the U.S., Canada and Europe — attended by more than 2500 executive, administrative, engineering and manufacturing personnel. He has lectured for a number of universities, including Penn State, Drexel, Delaware and Rutgers — as well as for professional organizations such as the American Management Association, the Society of Logistic Engineers, and the American Institute of Industrial Engineers. Moreover, he has presented specialized training programs for major organizations such as Esso, AT&T, the Army Corps of Engineers, Crucible Steel Corp., United Aircraft, U.S. Naval Weapons Laboratory, Armstrong Cork, Northern Electric Corp., and Shell Oil.

FUNDAMENTALS OF DATA PROCESSING FOR ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANTS, SECRETARIES, AND OFFICE SUPPORT

Dates: March 4-5, 1981

Time: 9-4:30 p.m. with registration at 8:30 a.m.

Location: Huntsville Hilton

Instructor: Steve Pettit

Course Fee: $195; includes course material & refreshments

Course Description

A knowledge of EDP is no longer a luxury for the office staff. Every day, administrative assistants and support personnel hear words like "batch processing", "on-line", "data base", and other big data processing terms. Yet in most cases, the jargon, the concepts, and the uses of EDP in your organization have little meaning for the staff members.

Here is a workshop that cuts through the mystique, strange sounding jargon and the complex equipment to help office support personnel take full advantage of the technology that has and will continue to change our environment ... the computer.

Instructor: Stephen W. Pettit

Is a principal in the firm Computer Knowledge. The firm specializes in the field of problem identification and consultation, providing assistance in the practical understanding and applications of computer technology in order to achieve timely and economically feasible business solutions.

His background of sixteen years in the computer industry includes experience in most disciplines in the business community. Most recently he was District Manager for Prime Computer, Inc., where he managed all marketing, support and administrative functions in an eight state southern area and the Caribbean. Prior to that he has held numerous management positions in the fields of data communications, turnkey systems houses, terminal organizations and a major computer mainframe vendor.

Chapel offers variety of holiday activities

The Post Chapel's Christmas basket program for needy military families continues to Saturday, Dec. 20 with collections of food and money.

Last week the Post Chapel reported there were two checks totaling $650. The German Air Force donated $350 and the Officers Wives Club donated $300.

So things are coming along very nicely," said Capt. Robert Countess, Assistant Staff Chaplain and project officer for Christmas activities. Canned goods and money will be collected for Christmas baskets until Saturday, he said.

Sixty baskets were given to needy military families last year and the Post Chapel anticipates "an even greater need this year."

Other Christmas activities planned by the chaplain staff include Christmas card judging set for 3:30 p.m. today at the Post Chapel. Students companies onpost have painted cards on four-by-eight foot plywood for display outside the chapel. Judges will include personnel from the Missile and Munitions Center and School.

A movie was scheduled for today at 6 p.m. in the fellowship hall of Post Chapel. Everyone is invited to see "The Cross and the Switchblade," starring singer Pat Boone as Dave Wilkerson.

Wilkerson, with his ministry in New York in the 1950s, inspired gang members there. The late 1960s movie is a 90 minute, color feature based on a book Wilkerson wrote. "It's quite an action-packed movie," Countess said.

The Protestant Women of the Chapel will have a potluck dinner at Bicentennial Chapel, Thursday, Dec. 18 at 4:30 p.m. Countess is the scheduled speaker.

Everyone is invited to the free dinner "but there will be an offering taken to give to the Rescue Mission of Huntsville," according to Lt. Col. Ronald Bynum, Assistant Staff Chaplain.

The theme of the dinner will be "Christmas around the world," he said.

Annual candlelight communion service is scheduled for 7 p.m. Dec. 24 in the Bicentennial Chapel. The speaker will be Col. Delbert Gremmels, the Staff Chaplain for Redstone Arsenal.

Catholic activities include a Mass primarily directed at children, 5 p.m. Dec. 24 at Bicentennial Chapel. Carol singing will precede the Christmas Eve event at 4:30.

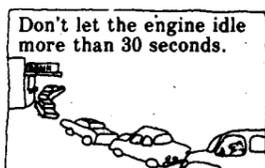

Midnight Mass at Bicentennial Chapel starts with carol singing at 11:30 p.m. Dec. 24. The combined choirs of the Post and Bicentennial Chapels will sing parts of the Mass with solo accompaniment.

For Christmas Day, the schedule of Masses is 11 a.m. at Post Chapel and 12:15 p.m. at Bicentennial Chapel. Regular schedule of Masses will be followed Dec. 27-28.

Mass is planned for 5 p.m. Dec. 31 at Bicentennial Chapel, 9:30 a.m. Jan. 1 at Bicentennial Chapel, 11 a.m. Jan. 1 at Post Chapel and 12:15 p.m. Jan. 1 at Bicentennial Chapel.

"I got out of the Army in February of 1977, right when all the prices were going up. Food. Clothing. Gas. You name it and it went up.

"Fortunately, when I was out-processing, someone asked me if I wanted to make some extra money with a local Army Reserve unit, and I said yes.

"It's good I joined right away, because it took me a couple of months to find a good full-time job.

"Even with a regular job, the extra $1,300 I earned with the Reserve came in handy. It was the difference between barely making ends meet and being able to put a little money away.

"By going direct from Active into the Reserve, I was also able to keep my rank of E-4. I'm now an E-5, pulling in over $1,600 a year. Not bad for a weekend a month and two weeks annual training.

"I'm also taking advantage of some other benefits.

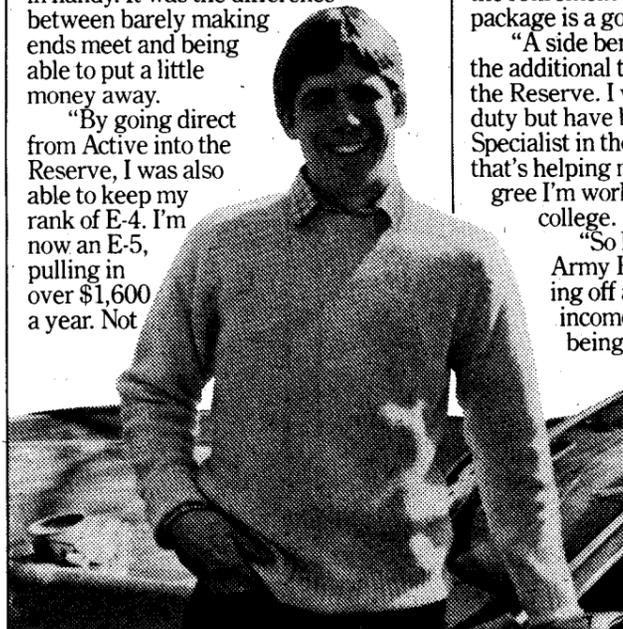

I buy a lot of my auto supplies at the PX. I carry low-cost government life insurance through the Reserve.

I also think the retirement package is a good deal.

"A side benefit that's helped me is the additional training I've picked up in the Reserve. I was an MP on active duty but have become an Accounting Specialist in the Reserve. Right now, that's helping me with the business degree I'm working toward at a local college.

"So I can recommend the Army Reserve to anyone coming off active duty. The extra income is good, and it's nice being with people who can appreciate what you achieved in the service."

Tran family waits and hopes

BY SKIP VAUGHN

It couldn't happen during a better season. The wife and mother of a Vietnamese family resettled here is preparing to reunite with her family.

Because of the necessary paperwork, Doan Tsiguyet Mai won't arrive in the United States from a refugee camp in Hong Kong for at least three more months.

She left Vietnam under similar circumstances as her husband, Quoi Ngoc Tran, and their two small sons.

Tran, 32, and his boys — Thang, 7, and Quan 5 — escaped from Vietnam in August 1979 on a small fishing boat. The boat made it to Indonesia, where the family remained until they were sponsored to the United States by chapel congregations at Redstone Arsenal.

Mai was on a boat leaving Vietnam with one of her sons while Tran was on another boat with the other son. When her boat's motor wouldn't start and needed repairs, she left to get more clothing. However, the boat was repaired quickly and left without her.

It was learned this year that she managed to leave Vietnam on a small boat and was picked up by a larger ship or freighter. Mai, 28, arrived in Hong Kong last Oct. 13.

"Everyone was in agreement, if Mrs. Tran was able to get out of Vietnam, that we would sponsor her also. Get her into this country and get her reunited," said Lt. Col. Ronald Bynum, Assistant Staff Chaplain and co-pastor of the Bicentennial Chapel.

"We heard just last month that she was in Hong Kong," Bynum added.

Tran received a letter from his wife stating that she had left Vietnam and he notified a member of the chapel committee formed to sponsor the family.

Capt. Roger Cornelius, assistant staff judge at the Ballistic Missile Defense Defense Systems Command (BMDSCOM) at Research Park, was committee chairman of the "Outreach Program" by Bicentennial and Post Chapels here.

"We were dormant until we got word she was out, and we've had a couple of meetings since then to determine the best way to get her to the states," Cornelius said.

The paperwork was filled out here and sent to the Southern Baptist Refugee Resettlement Office in Atlanta, Ga., who had helped the congregations bring the family here. These papers were in turn sent to the Church World Services in New York and are to be joined with paperwork Mai has in Hong Kong, Cornelius said.

The process for bringing her here, which includes a medical checkup, is expected to take three months, six months or possibly more, he said.

Congregations at the two chapels here raised over $1,000 in a designated offering Sunday, Dec. 7 for Mai's resettlement.

That will be used to get her clothing and all the countless things she'll need to make the transition with her family," Bynum said.

After that, the family will continue to be self-sufficient in Huntsville, he said. Special offerings raised $5,000 for the Tran family before Tran and his sons arrived in Huntsville. The money was used for housing, food and other expenses.

"They're very proud people. They want to be self-sufficient, which we think is great," Bynum said.

Tran is working as an engineer at SCI in Huntsville. He bought a house last September in the city's northwest area.

His sons attend Huntsville city schools — the oldest in first grade at Davis Hills Elementary and the youngest in kindergarten at Morris Elementary on Bob Wallace Avenue.

Tran entered the South Vietnamese army in 1968, served for seven years and was a young officer when South Vietnam fell in 1975. Soon after the communist takeover he was sent into the jungles on a so-called re-education program. He later escaped from confinement and left the country.

There is more than one story about why his wife missed the boat, including that she went to see her parents, but Chaplain Bynum believes she left for more clothing.

Tran and his sons arrived in the United States last February. The effort to bring them to this country was started by Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Geoffrey D. Knott, who has since transferred from Redstone Arsenal to Korea.

"As far as I know, this is the only chapel in the U.S. Army, maybe in the military, to take on a project like this," Bynum said. "I think both chapels are to be commended."

It will be a "boost" for the chapel when Mai comes here to reunite with her family after leaving the Ma Tau Wai Refugee Camp in Hong Kong.

"It's great that it happened at this time because it's a tremendous uplift for our people," Bynum said.

"At the time we were all praying she would get out, but just speaking for myself — I was wondering if she would ever get out of Vietnam. So it's just wonderful that it happened at this time of the year."

Company B wins fourth straight

BY GREG KENDALL

Forward Myrone Manuel scored a game high of 25 points and six of his teammates scored 10 or more as Company B won its fourth straight game, crushing 515th, 89-37, Dec. 9 to remain the only undefeated team in the league.

Utilizing their superior height and quickness, Bravo scored almost at will and didn't allow 515th a single point the last seven minutes of the first half. The halftime score was 46-9.

Bravo led by as many as 64 points in the second half and could have easily hit the century mark. With nine minutes left in the game, they had already put 72 points on the board, but coach Andre Brittle chose to substitute his starting five. "Yeah, we could have scored 100," he said afterwards, "but I wanted the other guys to get some playing time, too."

Joining Manuel in double figures were Earnest Hobson with 15, Kenneth Cain and Lewis Lockett with 11 and Dennis Basden and Kenneth Ellis with 10.

So far B. Company has won by no fewer than 20 points in each of its four victories and has outscored opponents 288-158, including a 66-42 blowout of the Eastern Conference Leader, Company A.

"If we keep everybody healthy, we should have no problems going undefeated," Brittle said.

Special Troops wins big in soccer

The Special Troops soccer team handily defeated a 2nd battalion school brigade (number one) team 15-0 on Dec. 8

Scorers for Special Troops were Rudy Segaar, four goals; Mark Leclerc, three goals; Mike Jones, three; Bill Strickland, two; Doug Sanbourn, two; and Jerry Trahan, one goal.

"School brigade has many fine and interested soccer players but most of them didn't hear about the tournament," Segaar said.

Irv Lyles, sports director for Morale Support Activities, said the games are regular league contests and are not part of a tournament. Participants include the Missile Command's special troops, 2nd battalion school brigade (team one), 2nd battalion school brigade (team two), and possibly 1st battalion school brigade.

This week's scheduled games depended on whether 1st battalion school brigade could organize a team, Lyles said. Another round of games was planned for January.

Local typist gets marathon record, writer gets great feeling, bad toes

BY SKIP VAUGHN

It had to be one of the greatest feelings in the world — finishing your first marathon.

For Alene Park, it was more than a great feeling. The 55-year-old typist in word processing with International Logistics here set a national record for a woman of her age group.

She was among the over 800 finishers of last Saturday's fourth annual Joe Steele Rocket City Marathon in Huntsville. The number who started the grueling 26-mile, 385 yard course was set at 1,200.

Also among the finishers was this writer, competing in his first marathon.

Park finished the run in three hours and 45 minutes to set a national record for a marathon by a 55-year-old woman.

"It was really an exciting day," she said. "I completed it. That was my first goal. Then I wanted to do it in under four hours. I did it in 3:45. That was a real extra, I guess you'd say."

She was the oldest woman in the race and got a trophy for placing fifth among women 40 and older. It was only her first marathon but "I trained hard all year. I made up my mind a year ahead of time," she said.

At 5-feet-3 and 106 pounds, Park ran 50 to 66 miles a week the last two and a half months before the race.

The winner was Louis Kenny, a student at East Tennessee State running in his first marathon, in a record time of 2:12.21. Huntsville's Steve Bolt finished second with 2:15.15.

"I started running 13 years ago but on a very small scale, a brief jog for health's sake," she said. "Until a little over a year ago, I never exceeded a mile and a half. But I liked it and I liked what it did for me."

She kept a log since last Jan. 1 which shows she ran 2,055 miles this year before Saturday's race.

What are the marathon plans for this wife and mother of a married daughter? She says she'll probably run in next year's.

"I doubt I could hold back. I just can't imagine stopping with just one."

For this writer's part, he completed the course in four hours and 10 minutes. That isn't bad for a 26-year-old 200-pounder with bad toes.

Georgia picked to stay unbeaten

BY SKIP VAUGHN

A full schedule of bowl games should whet any avid football fan's appetite from Dec. 19 through early January.

This picker says Baylor will nip Alabama, Georgia should beat Notre Dame, and Oklahoma will upset Florida State.

In other big bowl games, Nebraska should tame Mississippi State and Penn State will nip Ohio State.

The bowl schedule for major college teams is Brigham Young vs. SMU, Holiday Bowl at San Diego, Dec. 19; Florida vs. Maryland, Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla. Dec. 20; Ohio State vs. Penn State, Fiesta Bowl Tempe, Ariz. Dec. 26; Tulane vs. Arkansas, Hall of Fame Bowl at Birmingham, Ala. Dec. 27;

Missouri vs. Purdue, Liberty Bowl at Memphis, Tenn. Dec. 27; Nebraska vs. Miss. State, Sun Bowl at El Paso, Dec. 27; South Carolina vs. Pittsburgh, Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. Dec. 29; Texas vs. N. Carolina, Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston, Dec. 31; Baylor vs. Alabama, Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Jan. 1; Florida State vs. Oklahoma, Orange Bowl at Miami, Jan. 1;

Washington vs. Michigan, Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Jan. 1; Georgia vs. Notre Dame, Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, Jan. 1; and Virginia Tech vs. Miami (Fla.), Peach Bowl at Atlanta, Jan. 2

A 2-0 record last week brought this picker's record to 111-37 (plus two ties) for his weekly major college football picks.

Here's his final try at forecasting for the 1980-81 season:

- Alabama vs. Baylor — Baylor by 3
- Notre Dame vs. Georgia — Georgia by 7
- Fla. State vs. Oklahoma — Oklahoma by 7
- Washington vs. Michigan — Mich. by 10
- Penn St. vs. Ohio St. — Penn State by 3
- Arkansas vs. Tulane — Arkansas by 7
- Purdue vs. Missouri — Missouri by 14
- Mississippi State vs. Nebraska — Neb. by 7
- Pitt vs. S. Carolina — Pitt by 10
- N. Carolina vs. Texas — N.C. by 7
- Southern Meth. U. vs Brigham Young — SMU by 3
- Maryland vs. Florida — Maryland by 14
- Va. Tech vs. Miami of Fla. — Miami by 10
