Holiday video visit next best thing to being there

BY SKIP VAUGHN

Redstone Arsenal soldiers, civilians and family members can visit acquaintances and loved ones who are elsewhere in the U.S. through the magic of technology during the holiday season.

The video teleconferencing facility in Missile Command headquarters is again offering half-hour holiday visits. Soldiers and civilians can reserve a time to speak face-to-face with people sitting in a VTC facility in another part of the U.S.

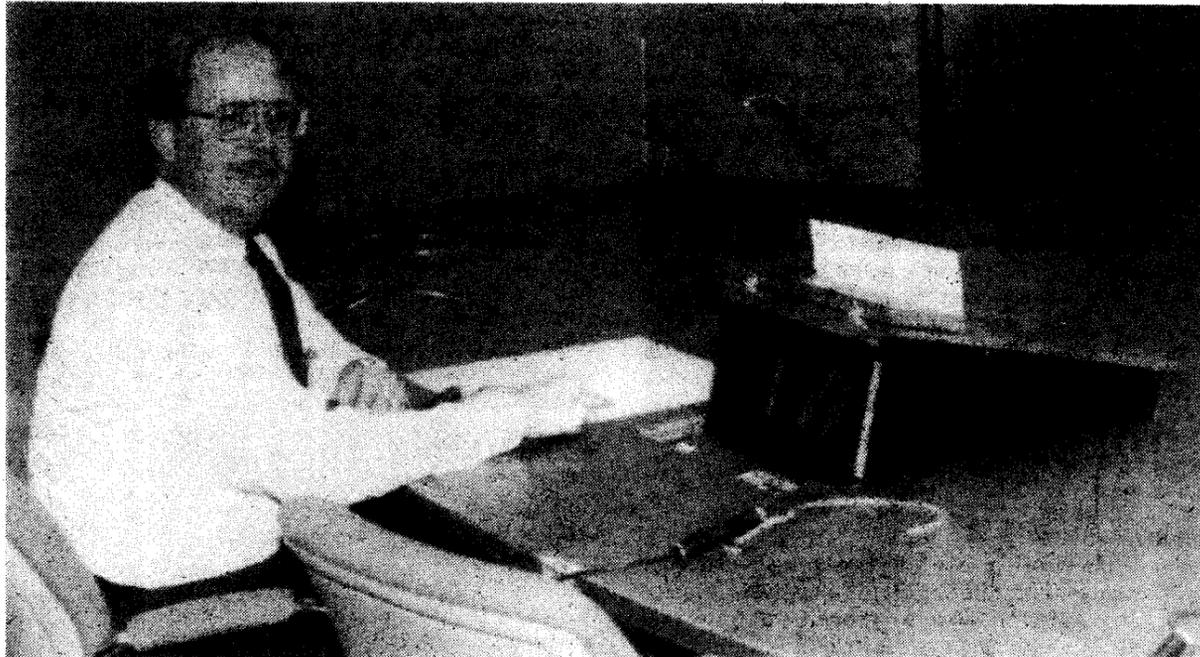

An expanded list of Army and Air Force bases is being part in the holiday visit program this year — just in time for the many separations caused by Operation Desert Shield. "Last year we just had like nine or 10 places available. This year 68 places are participating," said Marvin Solomon, chief of visual information training services section for Army Information Systems Command-MICOM.

"It's for anybody — civilian or military — that has somebody they want to visit with at one of those distant locations on that list," Solomon said. Reservations should be made by Dec. 14 for the holiday visits scheduled for Dec. 17 through Jan. 4.

The visual information folks would like to conduct the visits during regular hours — 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday — at 30 minutes each, but they are willing to accommodate user needs. "We're pretty flexible. We'd like to keep it between the hours of 8 and 4:30. That's not an absolute necessity. If the schedule requires, we can stretch it out even earlier or later than that," Solomon said.

Arrangements must be made to ensure the video teleconferencing facility here and at the other location are available at the same time. Both parties need to make sure they can meet at the same time, too, for their Christmas visit. "Thirty minutes is going to be our standard target, and there may be some variance there depending on the situation," Solomon said.

Up to 12 people can be in the facility, room B-300 of building 5250, for the visit which is free of charge. Users can bring a home video or photograph they would like to show to the other party. They can also bring a blank videotape so their Christmas visit can be taped for future viewing.

READY FOR HOLIDAYS — Don Banes, video teleconference production specialist, sits in the VTC facility which is ready for Christmas holiday visits Dec. 17 through Jan. 4.

The Christmas visit service has been offered as a morale booster in the last two years, but only for the nine to 10 locations within the Army Materiel Command network. This year's list offers seven times as many locations in the U.S. Solomon anticipates more use with the onset of Operation Desert Shield and the resulting cancellation of holiday leaves for soldiers.

"I would hope that this would offset the impact of that, in providing this service. They would at least have a half hour to converse with family and friends. We would certainly encourage they consider it particularly in light that their leaves have been canceled," Solomon said.

An additional impact of Operation Desert Shield is the activation of National Guard and Reserve units.

Many citizen soldiers are still stateside awaiting deployment to Saudi Arabia. "So it looks like this would be a prime year for offering this service," Solomon said.

To reserve a half-hour holiday visit through video teleconferencing, call Linda McDonald 876-5104. Forces Command, headquarters Department of Army and Army Materiel Command have agreed to having Christmas holiday calls Dec. 17 through Jan. 4. Strategic Defense Initiative Organization will have its calls Dec. 18-31. "No weekends or holidays, and air time will be limited to one half hour. Of course there will be exceptions to the rules," stated a message sent

Awareness campaign geared to prevent drunk driving

Personal testimonies by inmates, an open house at the Community Counseling Center and an anti-drug hotline are among the ways Redstone Arsenal will observe national "Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week," Dec. 9-15.

Inmates from the Alabama correctional system's Free by Choice program will talk about how drugs afected their lives 2 p.m. Dec. 10 at the Post Theater. The public is invited to attend.

The Community Counseling Center, building 3490, will have an open house during the week of the observance. Also, counselors at the center will be available that week to answer questions about drugs and alcohol via the hotline 876-7257/7256.

"This week is just to try to curb the DUIs (driving under the influence), drug and alcohol incidents, that might occur during the holidays," said Ruby Turner, the alcohol and drug control officer. "So we're trying to do some prevention so we might not have any drug and alcohol incidents."

Fifty percent of all fatal traffic accidents are alcohol or drug related, according to Ed Fahey, civilian program coordinator at the center. "One fatality affects us all," he said. "There's not one individual, I believe, on this Arsenal who'd like to return from the holidays to see that a colleague has died from an incident."

The counseling center's advice for the holidays includes don't drink and drive; and, if you do drink, drink sensibly and consider designated driver programs or friends who can do the driving. "The law says a certain amount of alcohol in the blood is illegal. But the reality is, everyone of us is impaired to some degree after one drink. It can be that split second that can make the difference," Fahey said. "One drink slows down your reaction time; it affects your visual perception and with some people it affects sense of depth, depth perception, and kinetic sense."

"This depends on the person but, again, you don't need to take that risk to ruin a career or family or your own life," Turner said. "It's just not worth it."

The center has films available on such subjects as the holiday blues, cocaine abuse, alcohol abuse and drunk driving. The center provides free counseling services for military, civilian employees, family members and retirees. It provides counseling for drug and alcohol related problems but can make referrals for people with other problems such as financial, marital, depression or stress. "We don't care what the problem is; if we can't help them, we'll try to get the proper referral to help that individual," Fahey said.

Staff members of the counseling center include Turner, the chief; Fahey, the civilian program coordinator; Reginald Wilson, social service assistant; SFC Michael Passee, NCO-in-charge; William Goddard, clinical director; and counselors Roosevelt Love, Gwendolyn Morse, Patricia Johnson and David Bates.

The center is part of the Personnel and Training Directorate. Col. Michael McGuire leads the directorate; and Joe Winston is its chief of military personnel services and emergency operations division.

For many years, since at least 1971, the Army has been having awareness campaigns to try to prevent driving under the influence or alcohol and drug incidents during the holidays. The counseling center is responsible for Redstone's observance.

"The more people that are aware the less chance there should be of incidents," Fahey said.

COUNSELING CENTER — Ed Fahey is civilian program coordinator at the Community Counseling Center, and Ruby Turner is chief of the center.

Appreciates help

Editor's note: The following letter from a deployed servicemember in Saudi Arabia was addressed to Chaplain (Maj.) David McLean.

I would like to thank you and all of those concerned for sending me the care package. Every single item in the box was used either by myself or by the men and women that work with me.

I can't begin to tell you how much it means to myself and the men and women I work with that there are groups like yourself thinking of us and take the time and trouble to lend us a helping hand.

Again, thank you very much for the tremendous care package that was sent to me.

Unbreakable

Editor:

This letter is being forwarded to you so that you might assist me in informing all the employees located in building 4488 on how to properly operate the numerous fire extinguishers located throughout this building.

First, you must have either a pocket knife or a pair of scissors with you at all times in order to operate these extinguishers. Hold it! A knife or a pair of scissors?

I have recently noticed that the fire extinguishers located throughout the halls of building 4488 have a standard "ring" which must be pulled prior to using these fire extinguishers. However, for some unknown reason, each of these rings is "panduit" to the handle of the extinguisher. So, in order to operate these extinguishers you must first cut or break the panduit prior to removing the ring. Now this sounds trivial in nature because one would assume you could just "pull real hard" on the ring and the panduit would break. Wrong answer!

In case you are unfamiliar with what a panduit actually is, allow me to briefly explain. A panduit is a namebrand for a small plastic strip which is utilized in holding wires or other items together. You push one end of the panduit through the "buckle" at the other end to form a loop or harness. You can pull the end through the buckle but you cannot pull it back out! Again, you might say, "So break this little piece of plastic!" Wrong answer again!

During civil unrest and/or riots, police use panduits as handcuffs! Why? Because you can't break them with your hands. So, my suggestion to the employees of building 4488 is to carry a knife or a pair of scissors or a Bible at all times because otherwise you won't be using the fire extinguishers in this building!

Promise from home

Editor's note: Samuel Wright, a programmer/analyst for World Computer Systems Inc. which is a Missile Command contractor, wrote the following poem entitled "A Promise From Home." He dedicates it to the soldiers who are in Saudi Arabia as well as the ones supporting them here in the U.S. and other countries.

We the family and country of the soldiers
Now standing on Saudi's desert land
Promise to stand up for and support
Each of you while on that desert sand.

You see the many dangers
Things we only hear about
So if you need our help brave ones
Please don't count us out.

Some pass bills and cut your support
This is not the doings of us all
Only those who make and pass bills
We won't let them cause you to fall.

Another Vietnam it will not be
We won't let it happen again
We support you till you come home
And fight for you till the end.

You are the heroes of this day and time
Our children will read about you too
It is our responsibility
To write good stories of you.

Sisters brothers parents and children
Arms locked in a mission
On desert land and shores
In war-like conditions.

You must be family to each other
Until you come home
Stand together as a family
And like a family be strong.

So when you return
The lessons you learn in the field
Teach us along with survival
To deal with our social ills.

Help us put aside prejudice and racism
Help us by standing side by side
Help us to believe in and live for a cause
For which others have died.

Thank you for taking this task
It started when you signed your name
There are some here at home
Who are willing to do the same.

Though we are not there with you
Some stand ready in case
We are called to defend with you
The naked aggression you now face.

Chins up and raise the flags high
All nations must stand as one
To fight against naked aggression
It's not for one country alone.

We will not abandon you
Should war break out there
Though we can't all be with you
We pray, stand strong have no fear.

Some think we fight for oil
This fight's for hope and peace
We join forces with other nations
For our people and Kuwait to be released.

Do the job you have to do
And count on the day to come
When you return from foreign soil
To a hero's welcome.

This time we will account
For the soldiers of Desert Shield
And when you return to your native land
These promises we will fulfill.

Charity campaign sets new record

This year's Huntsville area Combined Federal Campaign collected more than $1,089,000, a record high for the charity drive here.

The total reported Monday was $1,089,096 which surpasses last year's record-setting campaign.

"That's an increase of $69,910 over last year and an all-time high for the CFC," said Jimmy Temple, chairman of the Local Federal Coordinating Committee.

Workers at the Missile Command, the largest of the 31 federal agencies in this area, contributed $331,753 to CFC. "It's a $21,708 increase over last year, and of course that's an all-time high for MICOM," Temple said.

The annual campaign benefits United Way organizations, national voluntary health agencies, international service agencies and local unaffiliated voluntary agencies. There are about 22,000 federal workers in the Huntsville area.

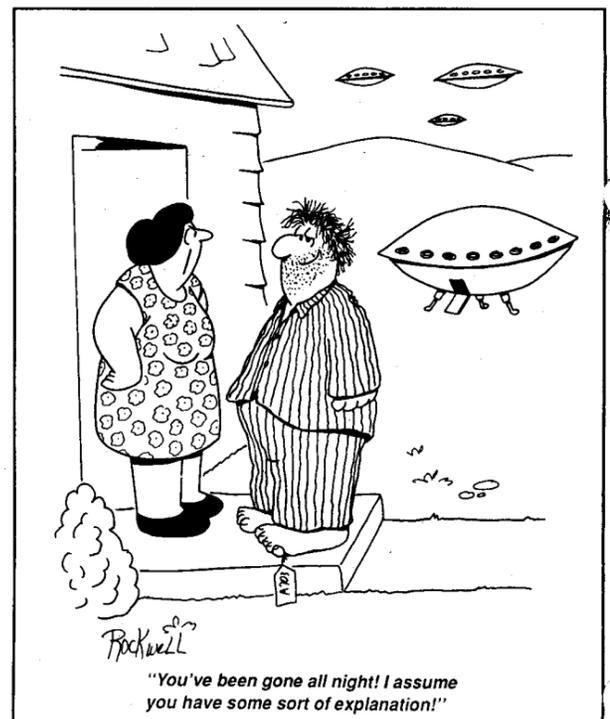

Students stay for holidays

More than 2,000 soldiers and civilians of the Ordnance Missile and Munitions Center and School will be spending their Christmas holiday season on the job at Redstone Arsenal.

In light of Operation Desert Shield, Department of Army has canceled the annual Christmas-New Year exodus for Army schools. The soldiers will still get Dec. 25 and Jan. 1 off, but will be spending the rest of the time in training.

"The troops are going to get the holiday off: Christmas and New Year's. And instead of taking all of this extra time off which we occasionally do, the training will continue," said Ed Ottman, public affairs officer for OMMCS. "It's going to affect between 2,000 and 2,800 civilians and soldiers. Of course there's additional support personnel (of Redstone Arsenal Support Activity)."

The school's 1,800 people — military and civilian — provide missile and munitions training for 1,000 students.

Redstone team to construct foam buildings in Saudi

BY PAM ROGERS

Redstone has taken its know-how to the Middle East in several different ways, but the latest effort might make working conditions for some soldiers just a little more comfortable.

Volunteers from the U.S. Army Test, Measurement and Diagnostic Equipment Group left Sunday for a three-week mission to construct rigid, polyurethane foam buildings shaped something like quonset huts.

The construction method for the foam buildings was originated by the Army Corps of Engineers, according to Joe Rivamonte, director of group operations.

"They demonstrated it to us, and we were interested in them for rapid deployment laboratories," he said. Redstone soldiers constructed one of the buildings in 1987 during Operation Bright Star, a desert exercise conducted in Egypt.

The buildings are constructed by inflating a bladder on site of the building, and spraying the inside with polyurethane foam. The foam sets up quickly, has the strength of plywood, and has an extremely high R-factor, or insulation property, according to Rivamonte. "They need virtually nothing for heating or cooling," he said.

The group will construct three to five of the buildings, which will be 60 feet long and 25 feet wide. They will be used as office and work space for TMDE soldiers and for civilian Logistic Assistance Representatives, Rivamonte said.

Christmas trees available here

'Tis the season for cutting Christmas trees on Redstone Arsenal.

Beginning Dec. 8 all offices, day rooms, military people on active duty, and other activities requiring Christmas trees, are authorized to cut trees on a self-help basis in the area west of Warehouse Road across from building 7435. You have from Saturday until Dec. 24 to get your tree.

Trees should not be cut for commercial or unauthorized use, according to the Directorate of Engineering and Housing. This area has been marked with orange flagging for easy recognition. Cutting operations will be limited to inside the Christmas tree cutting area only.

"Extreme caution should be exercised to prevent unnecessary damage to grassed rights-of-ways," DEH said in a news release. "Tree trimmings should not be left on grassed rights-of-way or access roads."

For more information and a location map, contact Outdoor Recreation at building 5132, phone 876-4868.

Christmas tree lighting has young helper

The lucky youngster who will help light the post Christmas tree Friday has been selected by random drawing.

Dereck Nicholas Kennedy, 3, of Redstone Arsenal, will assist the wife of the post commander in the annual Installation Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony set for 4 p.m. Friday at Bicentennial Chapel. He is the son of SSgt. Gary and Marcie Kennedy; Gary is a member of 95th Maintenance Company (Test Measurement and Diagnostic Equipment).

The youngster's name was drawn at random last week by a member of the chaplain's office. An estimated 150 reservation slips for 3-5 year olds were collected in boxes since Nov. 1.

"We had six boxes placed in strategic locations around post: the PX, Commissary, Post Chapel, Bicentennial Chapel, Fox Hospital's pediatric clinic, and the Child Development Center," said Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Fred Maddox, the assistant post chaplain. Last Friday, with assistance from Capt. Mike DiPatri of Support Troops Battalion, he poured all the slips into one box and sorted through them to make sure there was only one slip per child. They stirred up the slips before Phyllis Gibat, the Catholic parish assistant, drew out the name of young Kennedy.

Kennedy will assist Sandra Chen in the ceremonial flipping of the switch for the Christmas tree lights after Maj. Gen. William Chen, commander of the Missile Command and Redstone Arsenal, delivers holiday greetings. All are invited to the annual event Friday in front of Bicentennial Chapel.

The tree was donated three years ago by the Widows or Widowers (WOW) group with a plaque dedicating it to American prisoners of war and those missing in action. As in past years, the tree lighting will include a visit by Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus. Each child is asked to bring Santa a canned food item which will be collected for the Christmas Food Basket Program.

Post basketball teams in action this weekend

The men's and women's post basketball teams of Redstone Arsenal will play Maxwell Air Force Base here Dec. 8-9.

The Rockettes will open their season with games 3 p.m. Saturday and noon Sunday. The men's team, the Rockets, play 5 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday.

"We've lost three close games, but we've added a couple of new players and we should be able to bounce back this weekend. Having Connery Charles back will also give us an added boost," said Freddie Bogus, a member of the Rockets who is averaging 10 points per game over the last three games.

William Kelly is averaging 17.3, while Roderick Bates is averaging 15.6 over the last three games for the Rockets.

Games are held at Pagano Gym. Admission is free.

Stained glass panels to be installed at Bicentennial Chapel

GEN. GEORGE WASHINGTON IN PRAYER WITH SOLDIERS — Four stained glass panels depicting this Revolutionary War scene will be installed above the front entrance at the Bicentennial Chapel in June or July 1991. Overall size will be six and a half feet wide by 13 feet high.

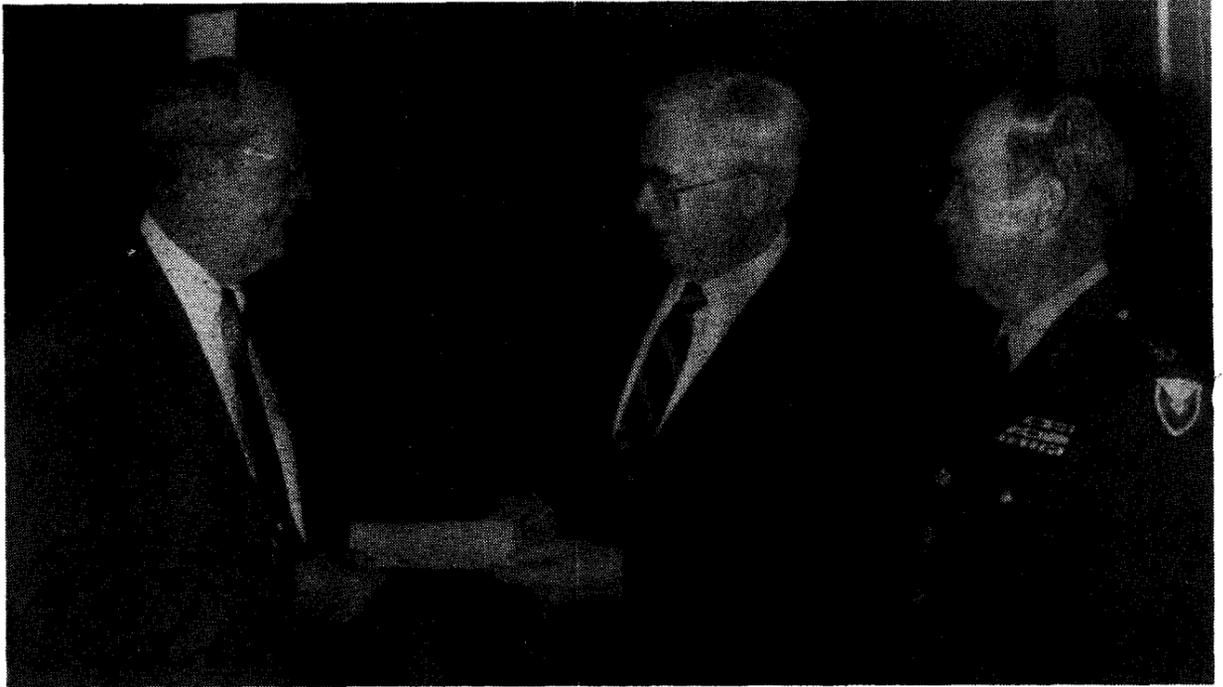

BY SANDA LAGER

Thanks to AUSA and other donors in the community, the Bicentennial Chapel will soon have a stained glass window at its front entrance.

The Bicentennial Chapel Historical Society established the goal in 1988 of raising funds and receiving donations to purchase a stained glass window in keeping with the Bicentennial theme of the chapel.

Eventually 13 additional stained glass windows, also with religious themes and relating to the original 13 states, will be installed in the chapel, according to retired Maj. Gen. George Turnmeyer, president of the historical society. Turnmeyer was the Missile Command's commander when the chapel opened in 1976.

One stop postal shop opens at Post Exchange

A new store providing postal services has opened at the Post Exchange.

Postman Plus — "your one stop postal shop" — handles packing, wrapping, shipping, business services and more. "Let us wrap it, pack it, and ship it," states the store's publicity material, "Overnight air and ground delivery services with: United Parcel Service, Federal Express, Postal Service, all at one stop!"

The store is open during PX hours: 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. Jacqueline Glasgow, wife of Redstone soldier Willie Glasgow, is the manager.

"This is the only one in this area. The rest of them are out in other bases," Glasgow said, referring to stores under Postman Plus Inc. which is based in Towson, Md. Other locations include Fort Monmouth, N.J., Fort Dix, N.J., McGuire Air Force Base, N.J., Dover Air Force Base, Delaware, and Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

Glasgow's co-workers include daughter Jennifer Glasgow and Lisa Bogus. The store opened Monday, Nov. 19; customers can call in their orders. The phone numbers are 881-5329 or 881-5433 (fax machine).

Boy Scouts make wreaths to sell at shopping area

Redstone Arsenal's Boy Scout Troop 308 has begun a fund-raising event to sell Christmas candy wreaths which the Scouts, their families and their leaders have been making for more than a month.

The Scouts have made about 100 of the wreaths which consist of many pieces of hard, wrapped candy tied to a metal, coat hanger core decorated with a colorful bow.

Scouts will sell the wreaths on weekends before Christmas in front of the Post Exchange/Commissary complex. Price is $8 per wreath.

All proceeds from the candy wreath sales will be used to support Troop 308's Scouting program for this year, according to Col. Gary Stewart, chairman of the troop committee for Troop 308.

Achievement school helps youngsters reach potential

BY SKIP VAUGHN

A private, non-profit school in Huntsville specializes in helping children with learning disabilities.

The Huntsville Achievement School has been in operation since 1963, but many members of the local community are unaware of the service it provides. It serves children that have learning problems from birth through age 16.

"It's not a widely known resource; but in every organization that you have, somebody in that organization will have a need for a service that the school can address," said Henry Fail, chief of the technical analysis and support office at Missile Logistics Center. He is a member of the school's board of directors.

The achievement school is the only school of its kind in this area, according to Beverly Branson, the school's director. "What makes it unique is the very small structured classes, individualized attention, parent involvement," she said. "These are kids that just fall between the cracks. They don't really qualify for special education and yet they're not working up to their level for the school-age children; and our job is to get them up.

"Our goal is to get them up to as near grade level or working at their potential and then putting them back into the mainstream — either public school or another private school," Branson said. "I would say the biggest percent of these kids have been able to go on and finish their education. We have one who's now a doctor in South Carolina; another one who's first mate on a barge line out of New Orleans; some with master's degrees; and some who are in the armed services."

In the school's 27 years, about 20 students a year have been returned to the mainstream. Enrollment is limited to 40 students in order to have no more than 10 to 12 children per class; the school has 32 students at present. "These are the kids who usually become dropouts or problem students without special help," Branson said.

The four teachers include Stephaney Davis, wife of Army CWO 3 John P. Davis; Fran Holcomb, Starlene Jenkins and Gail Sodek. Nancy Miller is the speech pathologist, and Mary Jo Dreaden is Branson's secretary. The school is open 10 months a year; it's closed July and August. Hours are 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday. It offers extended day service from 3-5:30. Students are placed in classes according to their abilities. The upper school covers kindergarten through eighth grade; and the preschool is for birth through age 5.

"The gross and fine motor and perceptual training is part of our program," Branson said, "or adaptive physical education every day." Children usually remain at the school from one to two years, depending on the problem.

"In the preschool area we have children that have been diagnosed as autistic, down syndrome, birth defects, hyperactive, and developmentally delayed," Branson said. "In the upper school we have of course children with dyslexia; attention deficit disorder syndrome (ADD) — a long time ago it used to be called short attention span; we have slow learners, and children that have just gotten behind and lack motivation; children that just don't know how to take tests, notes. The thing is about these kids in upper school: Most of them have average or above average IQs or intelligence, but are still not able to function in a regular classroom at this time; and that's where we come in."

Back in 1963, the school was started by a group of parents who had children with special needs. These parents got together and for one year worked with the children on developing their motor skills. By the end of the year, the children had improved enough that they needed academic training. The parents hired three teachers, including Branson, to teach the 17 children. "They borrowed her until they could replace her, and they're still trying to find a way to replace her," quipped her husband, Joe.

"Of course this is my life now," Branson said. "I've been one of the few lucky ones that I've loved every day that I've gone to work."

November was a big month for the school which is located at 406 1/2 Governors Drive. The Huntsville chapter of the 40/8 veterans group donated money for music items including records and record players; and donated a flag that had flown over the national capitol. Lutheran Brotherhood donated materials and labor for shelves in the storage room; furnished paint and labor for painting the classrooms; and provided the fencing in the playground area. Two individuals donated a flagpole and erected it with the help of Boy Scouts. A Boy Scout troop and Cub Scout pack was also started at the school during November. Interested business people have agreed to take turns serving as Scoutmasters every two months. "Now we're in the midst of trying to form a Girl Scout troop," Branson said.

The achievement school receives all of its funds through tuition and donations. "We do get some donations from civic organizations, and some groups like Boeing, GMAC, Moose Lodge and Knights of Columbus," Branson said.

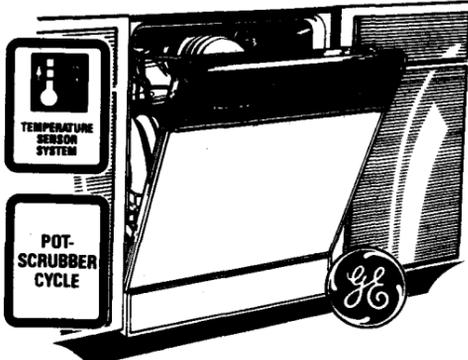

Those who would like more information on the school — which serves average, ordinary children with learning difficulties — call the office 539-1772/1773.

"The school provides a service that does take care in some manner of those kids who otherwise would fall through the cracks in the public school system," board member Fail said. "We provide that service that is just not provided elsewhere for the child that is not severely handicapped, but with a learning difficulty."

Logistics division displays its support for the deployed

A Missile Logistics Center division that catalogues missile items decided to do something extra to show its support for the soldiers deployed for Operation Desert Shield.

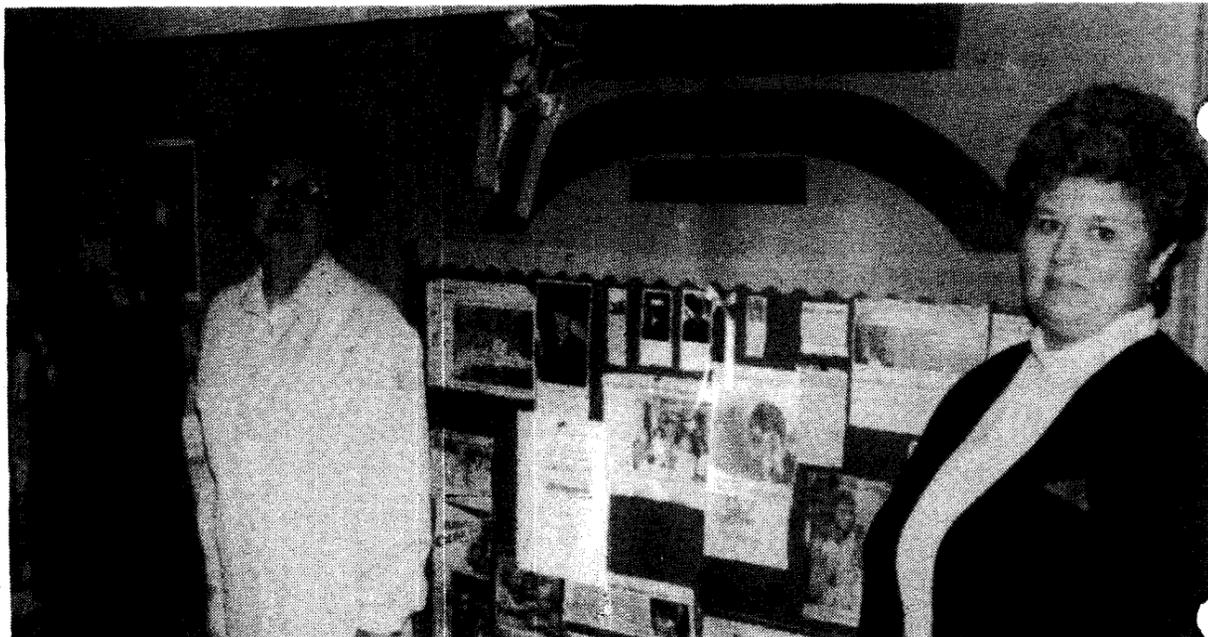

Members of the Logistics Data Management Division created a colorful display of photographs and newspaper clippings. The display is arranged on a partition at the division in building 5678.

"We wanted to do something to show our support for the soldiers overseas," said Kaye Campbell, one of the 56 members of the division which is part of the Materiel Management Directorate. Mary Gibson originated the idea, and Marilyn Bolyard did the artwork. Monroe Pressnell is chief of the division.

The display includes a red, white and blue bow next to the heading "MMD supports our troops" on red construction paper in black lettering. Below that are the messages "We honor our heroes!" and "Remember their family and friends." There are photographs of deployed servicemembers who are either family members or friends of division workers.

"It's been almost a couple of months now. We've got it pretty much full now. People have been bringing in pictures; before, it was just articles out of the paper," Campbell said.

Two members of the division, Freddie Martin and Jimmy Mastin, belong to an Army Reserve unit which has been activated for duty in Saudi Arabia. Martin and Mastin are in the supply portion of the 2369th Signal Detachment which was among seven units placed on alert recently by the 125th U.S. Army Reserve Command in Nashville. The 2369th is a communications unit that operates and maintains communications electronics and non-tactical air traffic control/navigation aids facilities for Camp Shelby, Miss. "Jimmy is Freddie's supply sergeant within the unit," Campbell said. Martin and Mastin received their active-duty orders Nov. 28 and left the following day for Camp Shelby.

The display already includes photographs of two of Martin's relatives. His brother Spec. Ronald W. Martin of 123rd Supply and Service Battalion, Alabama National Guard in Anniston, has served in Saudi Arabia since September. His nephew Seaman Kent D. Martin of Oxford, Ala., serves aboard the U.S.S. Midway aircraft carrier, and has been in the Persian Gulf since October.

Most recovered bicycles wind up as disposed property

An investigator in the Provost Marshal Office would love to return recovered bicycles to their rightful owners in time for Christmas.

"This isn't a sleigh and I'm no Santa," Investigator Don Wilson said while standing next to a truckload of recovered bicycles. "I'm not a Scrooge either and would prefer to give these bikes back."

As an additional duty of his investigator position in the PMO Investigations Branch, Wilson serves as found property custodian. He accounts for and processes found and abandoned property coming under the control of the Provost Marshal Office. Most of the property consists of bicycles. Regulations require that the property be kept for 60 days before being turned in to the Defense Reutilization and Marketing Office where it is disposed of.

"The bad thing about it is almost all of them go to DRMO rather than back to the proper owners," Wilson said. Nearly all of the bikes could have been returned to their owners if they had been registered on post — as required by regulation — and if they had been marked with the owner's Social Security number on the frame. Of course nothing is foolproof, Wilson added.

Occasionally, unregistered and unmarked bikes are returned to their owners — but not often. You have to convince Wilson or one of the other investigators that they have your bike, and that's not always easy. "I had a blue 10 speed" or "Let me look through your stuff" isn't going to work. If a caller, by describing circumstances of the loss and the bike, indicates that a bike may be theirs, it will be shown to them. The individual will then be required to sign and be sworn to a statement attesting to ownership. These procedures are necessary to reduce the chance of someone making a false claim. Because the bike is either the property of the rightful owner or the government, someone making a false claim would be committing a larceny.

Property retained by the Provost Marshal Office is periodically advertised in the Redstone Rocket and Daily Bulletin along with the telephone number (876-2090/3449) to call in response.

"The bottom line is, if you register it, mark it and secure it, you'll stand a much better chance of keeping it or getting it back if it's taken. Then I won't have to be filling up this truck nearly so often," Wilson said.

Civilian volunteer leaving for duty in Saudi Arabia

BY SANDA LAGER

A MICOM employee will be on his way to Saudi Arabia soon, responding to the Army Materiel Command's call for civilian volunteers to provide support services for Operation Desert Shield.

Daryl White, chief of cost analysis division, Resource Management Directorate and detailed as executive secretary of the Vision 2000 office, will leave Friday for Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. He will arrive in Saudi Arabia about a week later, he said.

Civilian volunteers from all AMC commodity commands are forming the U.S. Army Support Group, consisting of about 750 people, who will provide supply and maintenance support to Desert Shield units.

Five other Redstone Arsenal civilian workers have applied as volunteers to go to Saudi Arabia, according to the Depot Systems Command, Chambersburg, Pa., the agency responsible for receiving, processing and approving civilian applications.

White will supervise 65 workers responsible for the plans, operations and support of the U.S. Army Support Group. Workers assigned to the support group — welders, mechanics, painters, for example — will have a tremendous impact on the readiness of equipment necessary for the fighting troops, he said.

White's duties as head of the Plans, Operations and Support Office will encompass finance and accounting, personnel, facility engineer services and logistical support.

The unit will be located in Ad Dammam, on the east coast of the gulf, White said.

Plans are that he will work 12 hour days six days each week. Volunteers will be in a TDY status for a period of 179 days; housing and meals will be provided by the government. The foreign post differential pay is not authorized until civilians complete 42 days continuous service, White said.

"We're building the organization from the ground up," said White, a GM-15 whose career as an Army civilian includes work for the U.S. Army Training and Doctrine Command, U.S. Army Forces Command and U.S. Army-Europe. He served three years in the Army in Germany, from 1970-73, prior to his civilian service.

White came to Redstone two years ago — his first assignment in AMC — as chief of the cost analysis division.

Prior to Missile Command, his experience was working with the active forces; and he finds AMC, and specifically its logistics mission, interesting, comparable to "big business — like General Motors."

He said going to Saudi Arabia is his way of repaying

"Sure, I see Saudi now as a potentially dangerous place, but once I get there, and you know you have the best trained Army in the world on your side, you get down to doing your job and everything else dissipates."

the Army for allowing him, as a civilian, to attend the Army War College in 1988 — an opportunity afforded few civilians.

He recalled classroom sessions that addressed military intervention in a theater of operations similar to Southwest Asia.

"Here's a unique opportunity to test what I learned," not only in the Army War College, but to put into practice the concepts learned through experience during the 1973 reorganization of the Theater Army Support Command in Germany and other studies he has been involved in since then.

"When Desert Shield first started and I read about the involvement of the people in the Emergency Operations Center and the Logistics Operations Center, I knew that I wanted to get involved — to make a contribution.

"I do consider it a patriotic call. I'm going (to Saudi Arabia) on my own terms. When I was in the military I didn't have any choice; I was drafted. But now I have the chance to serve my country on my own terms with people having similar interests."

White said the build-up in Saudi Arabia, with active duty, reserve units, National Guard units and civilians working together side by side, is a perfect example of the nation's defense machine working as it was intended — all entities coming together, doing what they are trained to do best, for the common purpose of getting the job done in support of the national interests of the United States.

White doesn't discount the danger he's putting himself in should hostilities break out. Civilian volunteers are required to sign an agreement to remain in Southwest Asia should fighting start.

"Sure, I see Saudi now as a potentially dangerous place, but once I get there, and you know you have the best trained Army in the world on your side, you get down to doing your job and everything else dissipates," White said.

White's two daughters, ages 10 and 12, and 15-year-old son live in Georgia with their mother. He said he has explained to them why he's going and they understand and support him in his decision.

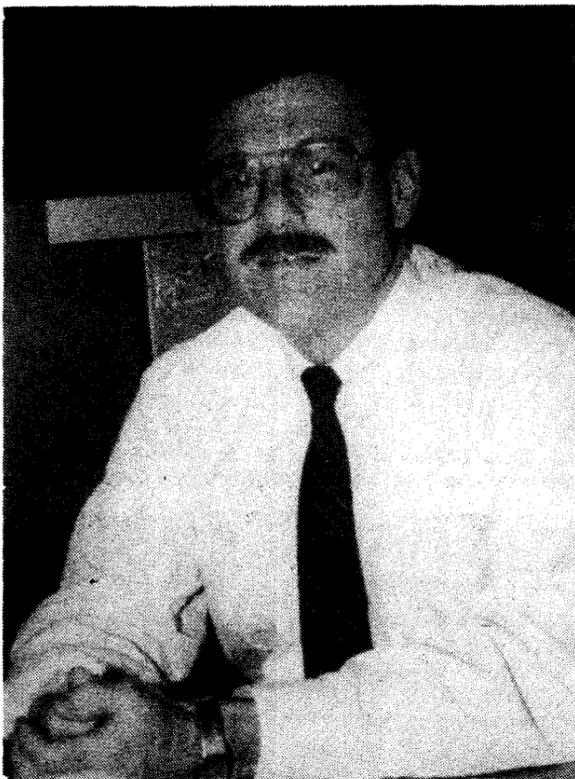

"They understand why we're there. They go to school with kids who have parents serving in Saudi, there's a lot of support (of Desert Shield) where they live (near Fort Gordon, Ga.) and their grandfather is retired military."

White, who earned an undergraduate degree in history from Elmhurst College, Ill., and a master's in business administration from the University of Utah, looks forward to being in a place while history is being made.

"For the first time in my life I won't have to read, and get through filters what happened. This is an opportunity to get firsthand information.

"What we're going to be doing there will have a direct impact. It won't take long to see the results. Our customers, the troops, will let us know how good a job we're doing. And we have to remember, they're the people with the guns!

"I'm proud to be a representative of MICOM. Before I arrived here in 1988 I heard many good things about the Missile Command. Since I've been here I've experienced them. I will sleep well at night knowing the folks here are continuing to provide excellent support to Desert Shield. See you in six months!"

Midshipmen have edge in 91st meeting with Army

BY SKIP VAUGHN

This year's Army-Navy game has special meaning because of the many U.S. servicemembers deployed in Saudi Arabia.

The game Saturday in Philadelphia will be the 91st meeting between the two oldest service academies. Navy holds a slight edge with 42 wins to Army's 41; there have been seven ties.

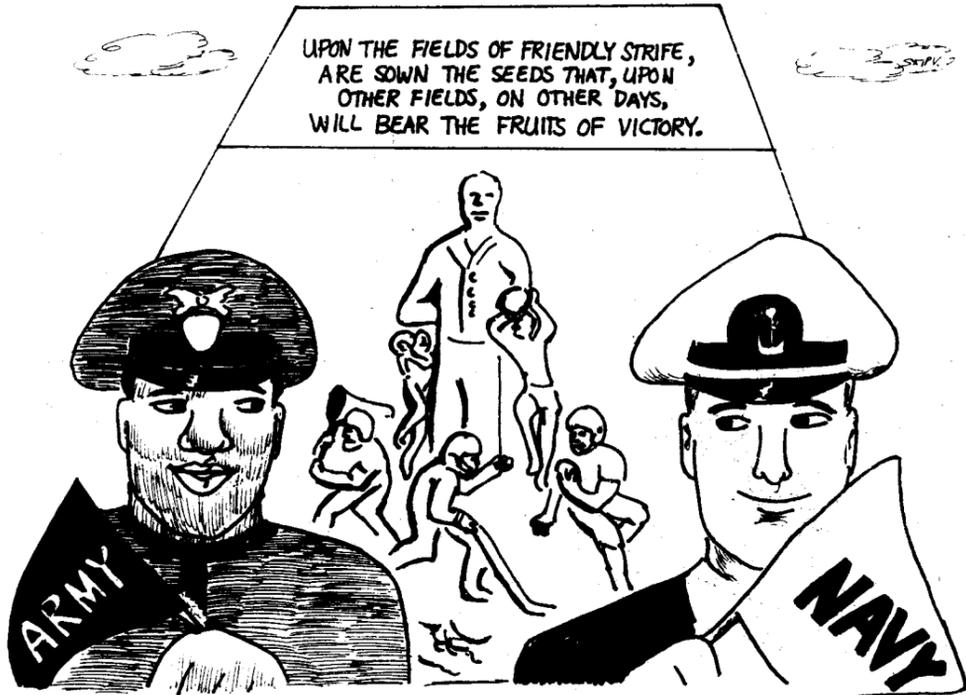

The series began in 1890 after a challenge issued by the Naval Academy was accepted by the Cadets. A cadet named Dennis Michie served as the coach, playing captain, trainer and business manager for the first Army football squad. According to "The Illustrated History of Sports at the U.S. Military Academy," the team's uniforms consisted of canvas jackets, black socks, white breeches and a black woolen cap. Team members purchased the uniforms.

A more experienced Navy team won the first game 24-0 but, just one year later, Army defeated the Midshipmen 32-16. Michie, Army's star, and Worth Bagley, Navy's great quarterback, shook hands and vowed to meet again as a mark of friendship. Both men were killed in action during the war against Spain in 1898.

Through the years, Army's "Black Knights of the Hudson" have been led by such athletes as running backs Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis in the 1940s. The Navy Midshipmen had quarterback Roger Staubach in the 1960s and tailback Napoleon McCallum in the early 1980s.

Both teams enter this year's contest with 5-5 records. Army beat Holy Cross 24-7, Virginia Military Institute 41-17, Lafayette 56-0, Rutgers 35-31 and Vanderbilt 42-38; the Cadets lost to Wake Forest 52-14, Duke 17-16, Boston College 41-20, Syracuse 26-14 and Air Force 15-3.

Navy beat Richmond 28-17, Villanova 23-21, Akron 17-13, Toledo 14-10 and Delaware 31-27; the Midshipmen lost to Virginia 56-14, Boston College 28-17,

Air Force 24-7, James Madison 16-7 and Notre Dame 52-31.

Last year the score was Navy 19, Army 17. Navy seems to have picked up a lot of confidence since scoring 31 points against Notre Dame. The pick here is...Navy.

On Saturday many members of the U.S. armed forces, some of whom may have played in a previous Army-Navy contest, will be listening to the game while standing watch in the Persian Gulf.

Skip's Picks delivered a 6-2 record last week, bringing the season totals to 328-123-10 for 73 percent. Bowl game predictions will be made next week. Here is my pick for the final game of the regular season in major college football:

Army vs. Navy — Navy by 3.

Project deputy gets award from the secretary of Army

BY PAM ROGERS

The deputy project manager of one of the Army's more complex project offices says his job is one of staying aware of what's going on around him.

With a multitude of possible warheads, some in development and others in production, with other missiles configured to fit its launchers, and with a multinational scope of development and production, the Multiple Launch Missile System is one of the most dynamic the Army has today, and is a major component of Operation Desert Shield.

Dennis Vaughn, deputy project manager for the MLRS, was presented with the prestigious Decoration for Exceptional Civilian Service by Michael P.W. Stone during a ceremony in Washington Nov. 15 for his dedication to duty and accomplishments in managing the program.

The Decoration for Exceptional Civilian Service is the highest honorary award granted by the Secretary of the Army to civilian employees.

Since becoming deputy project manager in 1987, Vaughn has helped lead MLRS during a period of multiple acquisition milestones, including the search and destroy armor warhead transition to full scale development and completion of full scale development of the German AT2 warhead. At the same time, European production of the MLRS began, with Vaughn playing a large part.

Vaughn is proud of MLRS, which he describes as a family of systems.

"They are systems which are in multiyear production, and the main program has been in full scale production for seven years. Being international is one of the special features," he said.

The reason for the success of MLRS is the staff working in the project office, according to Vaughn.

"MLRS won the award. What I did was happen to be here.

"We have a very capable, strong management team. I try to stay aware of what they're doing and give guidance," he said.

Army Chief of Staff Gen. Carl E. Vuono was also present at the awards ceremony last month, and something he said stuck in Vaughn's mind.

"Gen. Vuono mentioned that MLRS is one of our more successful systems. We're very proud of it. We think it is certainly one of the mainstays of the Army's field artillery," Vaughn said.

And what do the customers — the soldiers in the field — think of MLRS?

"They're really thrilled. Col. (William) Hecker (MLRS project manager) just got back from Germany, and he got a very enthusiastic response from soldiers who had been doing practice firings. They all like it."

Vaughn, a native of Horse Cave, Ky., is married to the former Joyce Davis. "We started going steady in the eighth grade," he said. They live in Madison.

He received a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Tennessee Tech University in Cookeville, Tenn., and a master of arts in management from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The Vaughns have three children. Robert is a West Point graduate who is now employed by Kimberly-Clark. Ronald is an assistant baseball coach at Middle Tennessee State University in Murfreesboro, Tenn. Julie is an engineer with Sverdrup Technology Inc. in Huntsville. They have one grandchild.

Unit addresses listed for deployed soldiers

Many people have called the Public Affairs Office and the Chaplain's Family Support Group asking for addresses for Redstone soldiers deployed to the Middle East.

Ellie Lee, leader of the support group, has provided the following addresses. There are local soldiers at each of them.

- HHC, 197th Infantry Brigade; APO NY 09315.
- 34th Ordnance Company; 2/1 ADA; 11th ADA Brigade; APO NY 09616.
- HHC, 2nd Brigade; 24th Infantry Division; APO NY 09315.
- 608th Ordnance Battalion; APO NY 09618.

Lee said that if you don't have the name of a specific soldier, address the packages to "Commander" at each address. That way mail will be distributed to soldiers who may not be getting as much mail as others.

Suicide prevention focus of seminar scheduled Dec. 11

A suicide risk reduction seminar will be held 10 a.m. Dec. 11 at the Post Theater.

Maj. Mark Kirk, deputy commander of clinical services at Fox Army Community Hospital, is to conduct the training. The public is invited.

"It's identification of signs and symptoms of suicide tendencies, just to educate commanders or supervisors. It's recommended for the public," said Ruby Turner, chief of Community Counseling Center.

Redstone has a Suicide Prevention Task Force which is led by Col. Michael McGuire, director of personnel and training. A subcommittee has been reworking the post suicide prevention plan. Joe Winston, chief of military personnel services and emergency operations division, was appointed to lead this subcommittee. Members include Sal Riccardi, family advocacy program manager at Army Community Service, Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Fred Maddox, Ed Fahey of Community Counseling Center, and Kirk.

Winston provided the following news release which he said is in connection with the command's Suicide Prevention Program:

"Each year, several instances are reported where Serviceman's Group Life Insurance (SGLI) proceeds are paid to beneficiaries whom the deceased servicemember may not have desired to receive payment. This problem is caused by soldiers who annotate the beneficiary block of SGLI Form to read 'By Law' instead of listing beneficiaries by name. When the term 'By Law' is used, SGLI proceeds are automatically paid to survivors in the following order:

- "1. Surviving spouse; if none, is payable to...
- "2. Children in equal shares with the share of any deceased child distributed among the descendants of that child; if none is payable to...

"3. Biological parent(s) in equal shares; if none, is payable to...

"4. A duly appointed executor or administrator of the deceased soldier's estate; and, if none, to...

"5. Other next of kin.

"'By Law' means biological, or natural parents. Although soldiers are discouraged from using the 'By Law' designation and are counseled on the above order of precedence, many still make a conscious decision to do so. The main reason for this is that the soldier finds it easier to indicate 'By Law' than to write the name, complete address, relationship to insured, and percent of share to be paid for both principal and contingent beneficiaries. Some soldiers also state that since they will be dead anyway, they are not concerned with what will happen to their SGLI proceeds. However, the dollar amount of the normal SGLI policy, $50,000, is not trivial. As with any insurance, the payment is intended to free the beneficiary from any immediate financial problems caused by the policyholder's death. Whoever is receiving financial support from the soldier — be it a spouse, child, or parent — will need the SGLI proceeds to offset the loss of such support," the release continued.

"Designation of beneficiaries by name is particularly important for single soldiers who have no surviving parents or who for some reason do not desire their parents to receive payment. Insurance proceeds are paid to the named beneficiary since insurance is a contract between the soldier and the insurance company. The beneficiary of an insurance policy cannot be changed by a will, but only by completing the change of beneficiary form. Each policy should be closely read to see if the policy is in effect during an armed conflict, declared war, etc. Soldiers desiring to update or change the beneficiaries on their current SGLI Form may do so by contacting the Personnel Information Branch, Military Personnel Office, at 842-0882/1295 for an appointment," the release concluded.

Alliance Short-Term Multi Market Trust seeks higher yields than CDs and money market funds by investing in high quality, short-term securities around the world. And the Fund offers you two ways to invest with Class "A" and Class "B" shares.

Class A shares' yield of 10.59%, calculated according to SEC regulations, represents an annualization of the dividends paid on Fund shares during the 30 days ended 5/31/90 and is based on the maximum offering price on that day. Total return since inception (5/5/89) of 10.59% assumes reinvestment of dividends and the maximum 3% sales charge.

Class B shares are subject to back-end sales charge if shares are redeemed during the first 3 years (3% year 1; 2% year 2 and 1% year 3). The Fund's Class B shares' 10.12% yield, calculated according to SEC regulations, represents an annualization of the dividends paid on Fund shares during the 30 days ended 5/31/90. Total return since inception (2/5/90) of 3.40% assumes reinvestment of dividends.

Neither class of shares of the Fund is guaranteed and past performance is not an indication of future performance. Net asset value and yield for both classes will fluctuate with changes in interest rates and other market conditions, so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. CDs are insured and generally have fixed interest rates.

Call me at the number above for a free brochure and a prospectus which contains more complete information including all charges and expenses which you should read carefully before you invest.

Army 'Stop Loss' extends overseas

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Approximately 1,000 Army Materiel Command soldiers overseas — enlisted, warrant officers and officers — could be affected by the Army's new temporary involuntary foreign service tour extension policy, according to Sgt. Maj. Clarence L. Porter, AMC deputy chief of staff for personnel sergeant major.

The Army has halted end-of-service discharges and voluntary retirements and will involuntarily extend foreign service tours for almost all soldiers, officers and enlisted, until further notice.

The Nov. 21 announcement of an expanded "Stop Loss" program accompanies a new freeze on reassignments for soldiers stationed overseas and the cancellation of the traditional Christmas holiday break at Army service schools. The reason: worldwide readiness and continuing support to Operation Desert Shield.

"We have to be able to keep all our units manned and ready while at the same time, deploying additional forces to Southwest Asia," said Brig. Gen. Theodore Stroup, the director of Military Personnel Management in the office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel. (Adapted from AMC news release)

Assisted Living Or A Nursing Home?

Among our seniors, only a very small percentage, approximately 5%, need the comprehensive skilled nursing care provided in a nursing home.

Assisted Living, the alterantive, provides the personal help that a senior may require to continue to live independently.

- * medication reminders
- * assistance with dressing and bathing
- * homemaking services
- * fine dining
- * planned social events
- * transportation
- * other hospitality services

Residents do not require twenty-four hour skilled nursing care. They might need reminders to take prescribed medications, or assistance with bathing and dressing.

The cost of Assisted Living is significantly less than a nursing home and all amenities are included in an affordable monthly rent.

For your peace of mind and your loved one's greatest independence — consider Assisted Living at Wyndham Park. Visit or call today for more information.

NCO Self-Development Test to begin phasing in

BY SANDA LAGER

Noncommissioned officers and other soldiers will find major changes in the way their skills and proficiency are validated as the NCO Self-Development Test program is phased in.

The SDT replaced the Skill Qualification Test for privates, privates first class, specialists and corporals Nov. 30. The SQT will remain in effect for sergeants, staff sergeants and sergeants first class until the SDT is developed, with the goal for implementation being Oct. 1, 1991. Only sergeants and above will take the SDT in the future.

"All Redstone Arsenal units currently are requisitioning the materials soldiers and NCOs will need," said CSM Isaac Clifton.

Materials needed to study for the SDT include FM-25-101 Battle Focused Training, FM-22-100 Leadership, FM-22-101 Leadership Counseling and FM-22-102 Soldier Team Development. These manuals will be issued to each eligible soldier when supplies are received, Clifton said.

The other source continues to be the MOS-specific Soldier's Manual, Clifton added.

Sergeants will be issued the training set when attending their first NCO class, the Primary Leadership Development course. All other NCOs will receive training materials through their units.

Clifton said the SQT, with the emphasis on battle focus, is related to mission and equipment of a particular unit. The SDT, on the other hand, samples across specialty and skill levels, thus making soldiers more versatile.

The three phases of SQT include written, hands on and commanders evaluation sections, while the three categories of SDT are leadership, training and military occupational specialty section.

Like the SQT, the SDT will be linked directly to promotion, assignments, school selection and retention.

"Every NCO should have questions about the SDT. Questions should be directed to the appropriate sergeant major," Clifton said.

Resource managers hold reception in honor of retiree

A familiar face at Missile Command headquarters is missing for good reason these days.

Joe Prescott, a management analyst at Resource Management Directorate, has retired after 37 years of government service. He retired Aug. 31 and received his retirement certificate in a reception held in his honor Nov. 16 at MICOM.

Prescott worked in the management analysis control branch of the productivity and management division, Resource Management Directorate.

"Joe was remarkable in his dedication, devotion to duty, his loyalty to the organization and fairness," said Jan Barton, chief of the branch, who was his supervisor. "He was a true professional who consistently performed in an exemplary manner throughout his career."

Prescott was born in Elba, Ala., on Feb. 29, 1932. He joined the Air Force in 1951 and received an honorable discharge with Good Conduct and National Defense Service Medals in 1957.

He got his first training and experience in work measurement in the military and transferred those skills and added to them as a civilian employee with the Air Force at Brookley Air Force Base in Mobile. In 1965, Prescott accepted a job offer from the Procurement Directorate at Redstone to work in their work measurement program. Eventually he wound up working with, then operating, the command's work measurement program. In the late 1970s, all of the command's work measurement functions and resources were transferred to what is now the U.S. Army Management Engineering Agency. Prescott elected not to transfer with the functions, but stayed on with the Comptroller, now the Resource Management Directorate, conducting management studies and working on special projects. He often acted as the personal representative of the comptroller on ad hoc groups during the early 1980s.

RECOGNITION — Prescott receives his retirement certificate from Col. David Roesler, director of resource management for the Missile Command.

Activated guardsmen take up new duties in Mississippi

Two workers in the Missile Logistics Center left for Camp Shelby, Miss., last week and may be on their way to the Persian Gulf if they're needed.

Last week they were civilian workers in the Logistics Data Management Division and were members of the National Guard.

Now Sgt. Jimmy Mastin and SFC Freddie Martin of the 2369th Signal Detachment in Chattanooga will be manning Camp Shelby and will be placed into units leaving for the Middle East if any are short a person with either man's specialty.

The mission of the unit that both belong to is to provide communication services for Camp Shelby. Mastin is a supply sergeant and Martin is chief of the supply branch for the unit.

Both men have families here, so it wasn't easy to leave, especially so near Christmas. Martin and his wife, Mae, have a 14-month-old baby named Christopher. Mastin and his wife, Delores, have a son named Juan who's 10.

ON THEIR WAY — Mastin, left, and Martin pose before the Desert Shield bulletin board workers in their area constructed. Both men have been put on active duty at Camp Shelby, Miss.

Benefit road race has good turnout

A good turnout helped a road race here Saturday raise more than $1,000 for the Redstone Arsenal Desert Shield Family Support Group.

There were 270 finishers in the Desert Shield 10-kilometer (6.2 mile) race and 62 finishers in the 5K fun run. The event raised $1,083 for the support group for families of deployed soldiers, according to Capt. Andrea Bransford, commander of B Company, 832nd Ordnance Battalion.

Kyle Rose won the 10K in 33 minutes, 20 seconds. Ginny Hornberger was the top female finisher in 40:15.

In the 5K, Boyce Hornberger won in 17:50. Jane

Mengel was the top female finisher in that race in 22:36.

The Desert Shield race was sponsored by B Company and the 832nd Ordnance Battalion. 2nd Lt. Dan Peterson, executive officer for B Company, was the race director. The Chaplain's Office was also involved.

The following are the age group winners for the 10K:

Male: 17-under — David Cain (36:29). 18-25 — Gregory Berns (35:01). 26-35 — Tom Shossau (36:30). 36-45 — Clint K. Jones (38:07). 45-over — Dwight McPherson (39:45).

Female: 18-25 — Cheryl Silfee (40:52). 26-35 — Mehelle Whitt (45:53). 36-45 — Pam Marshall (44:16). 45-over — Sandra Berg (48:54).

NCO WIVES GIFTWRAPPING — Martha Welch of the NCO Wives Club wraps a gift for customer Mary Wilkins of Fort Worth, Texas, at the Post Exchange. The club's annual giftwrapping booth began Nov. 23 and will continue during PX hours until Dec. 24. The booth, which raises funds for the club's community projects, is located next to the Commissary in the lobby of the PX.

CHANGE OF COMMAND CEREMONY — Brig. Gen. Robert Drolet, right, program executive officer for air defense, presents the Line of Sight-Forward-Heavy project manager's charter to Col. James Patterson in a ceremony at the project office Nov. 26. Patterson replaces Col. John Gamino, who had been project manager since December 1986. The LOS-F-H is a component of the Army's Forward Area Air Defense.

MILITARY AWARD — Redstone Blood Coordinator Ruth Miller (left) and Ramona Roy, chief of the Support Operations Office for the Redstone Arsenal Support Activity, hold a plaque the American Red Cross presented to the Arsenal for support of the blood program. Redstone was recognized for the highest blood donations of all military installations in Alabama. Arsenal contributions for July 1989 to June 1990 totaled 5,602. The Red Cross needs 750 units of blood each day to meet the needs of patients in 126 hospitals it serves across the state.

T-SHIRT PROCEEDS BENEFIT SOLDIERS — Diane Weston, center, displays a T-shirt being sold by the Redstone-Huntsville chapter, Association of the United States Army, to benefit the Chaplain's Family Support Group. The Family Support Group was created to assist families of those deployed in Desert Shield. Bob Johnson, left, president of AUSA's Redstone-Huntsville chapter, presented proceeds to Chaplain (Col.) Billy Whiteside. Additional proceeds earned from the sale will also be donated to the fund. T-shirts are $12 and available in these sizes: S, M, L, XL, XXL and XXXL. Call Bob Johnson, 880-4600, for information.
